KING PROMISES ASSISTANCE TO FLOOD VICTIMS

Victor Emmanuel Promptly Visited the Survivors--Many Families Still Missing—List of Dead Incomplete.

DEEDS OF HEROISM.

BERGAMO, December 4 (Canadian Press). — King Victor Emmanuel is now at the scene of the disaster which has laid waste the valleys for many miles around Bergamo.

Despite the rain and cold and terrible conditions of the terrain, the King insisted upon making as extensive an inspection as possible. He left nothing undone to inspire hope in the survivors. He promised ample assistance to repair the vast losses, which are estimated at 200,000,000 lire.

The King visited as far as he was able the ruined villages and talked with some of the injured in the hospitals.

Stopping where the village of Corna once stood, the King was soon surrounded by peasants, mountaineers, and farmers, who gave him a hearty welcome, their cries of "Viva!" being in strange contrast to the desolation of the scene.

Victor Emmanuel climbed over great mountains of debris and finally came upon the gorge where the Dezzo torrent drops into the Oglio River, and from here he was able to realise the immensity of the disaster.

Dead Exceed 600.

The list of dead numbers more than 600, according to the latest available figures.

At Coler, which forms part of Dezzo, there are only five survivors out of 17 inhabitants. At Corna, 190 perished; at Dezzo, 219; at Bueggio, 14; at another small village, 7; while the various electric stations lost 60 men.

Whole families are still missing, and in many cases several members of individual families; therefore, the casualty list has not been completed. Already 200 dead have been taken from the mud which the flood left in its wake.

"How many have you lost in your family?" is a common question exchanged amongst the inhabitants of the valley, and five, or six, is the number generally given in reply.

It was comparatively early in the morning when the great dike guarding the Gleno Lake broke, and the sweep of the waters caught hundreds while they were still abed.

The searchers have found many of the dead thrown up against the foundation walls of their houses, while thirty-five were come upon against the foundation of a church. Most of these were so disfigured as to be unrecognisable.

Hero of Telephone.

The telephone operator at Mazzuna, who was on duty in the electric light station, ordered his wife and children to take refuge on higher ground while he kept his post, warning the inhabitants down the valley of the danger that was about to overwhelm them. He remained on duty until the water swept the station away, and he was lost in the flood.

Great activity prevailed throughout the valley on Monday, military cantions, automobiles, carriages, and every kind of conveyance being utilized to transport clothing, food, and tents for the survivors.

A far-reaching search is being made for those who perished, for the submerged valley is fifteen miles in extent, and the force of the waters was so powerful that even parts of the dam itself were carried down to the village of Lovere, at the head of Lake Iseo.

The soldiers have built barracks along the valley, and in this way many of the refugees, who were forced to sleep out of doors last night, have been taken care of.

Huts for Homeless.

The Royal Engineers and others are constructing wooden huts for the thousands of homeless.

Several women in the village of Bueggio were saved, as they were in a church which resisted the flood, but the parish priest, Pietro Rota, who attempted to rescue others, was dashed against a pillar of the belfry, and badly injured.

Paid $525,000 For A Manitoba Farm

WINNIPEG, December 4. — One of the largest farm land deals in recent years is now in progress of consummation, involving 5,000 acre farm of Hon. Aime Bernard, at Dacota Siding, on the Canadian National Railways, a short distance west of Winnipeg, it was announced on Monday. The sale price has been fixed at $525,000, or $105 an acre, including equipments.

M. G. O'Connell of New Orleans, La., is the prospective purchaser. He intends to move here in the spring, bringing with him 100 families. Bernard is now on his way south to close the deal.

DENIES SPREAD IN SHOE PRICES

Unfair Comparison in British Election Speech, Says Agent of Canadian Makers.

MONTREAL, Dec. 4.—"The comparison between prices of shoes in England and Canada is absurd," said S Roy Weaver of the Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Canada, when shown the London despatch to the effect that a campaign speaker in the British election alleged that shoes selling retail in Canada at $15 per pair could be purchased retail in England at $8.40 and that the difference was due to the Canadian tariff. Mr. Weaver added that British shoes now entered Canada at a duty of only 15 3-4 cents., applicable on the invoice price to the importer.

"There is a wide difference in qualities between British shoes," he said. "Some cost as much as $40 per pair in London, England, but it would be unfair to compare that price with the price of Canadian shoes which sell retail at from $6 up. No retailer in Great Britain could continue long to do business if he sold at $6.40 the quality of shoes which retail in Canada at $15 per pair. Customs records show that 17,273 pair of British leather shoes in men's sizes were imported into Canada during October at an average valuation of $3.07 and that customs duty was paid only on this amount. To hold the tariff responsible for a disparity in price of $6.60 per pair is as ridiculous as the comparison itself."

British Competition.

"The Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Canada also takes exception to the statement of J. R. Adams, Acting British Trade Commissioner here that British imports of boots and shoes are not harming the Canadian manufacturing industry."

"The statement that British imports are only displacing goods from the United States is not correct," Mr. Weaver said. "Some of our best Canadian factories have been suffering from British competition and with such competition spreading into the lower prices grades the situation is serious for the Canadian factories and their employees at a time when the shoe factories here are operating at only about two-thirds capacity.

"Mr. Adams' own figures show that in September of this year the value of imports of boots and shoes from the United Kingdom exceeded that of imports from the United States .British imports are running ahead of those of last year by about 118 per cent and constitute a more serious menace to the Canadian shoe trade."

PLEDGE TO HORSE OWNERS.

LONDON, December 4. — Canadian Press Cable. — The race horse owners' and breeders' association is asking the candidates of all the parties, in the present election, firstly: If they will support racing as at present conducted so that British supremacy in horse breeding may be maintained; secondly, do they agree that people should have liberty in sports and recreations under such rules as are laid down from time to time by those who understand sport.

More than seventy five per cent.of the candidates in the last election rendered an affirmative reply to these questions.

Swept the Boards in the Oat Awards With Alberta Taking Eight First Prizes

STARRED IN SHEEP.

CHICAGO, Ill., December 4 (Canadian Press). — Canada made a clean sweep of the oat awards, taking twenty-eight of the thirty-five prizes, at the International Live Stock Exposition here yesterday.

The Province of Alberta took eight of the first eleven prizes, while two went to Montana and one of Saskatchewan.

J. W. Biglands, of Lacombe, Alta., won the first prize, J. Smith of Wolf Creek, Alta., was second, while third place went to L. E. Peterson, of Victor, Montana.

The Alberta entries captured the next four places, Alex. Graham of Vermillion, F. S. Grisdale of Olds, and the Lucas Brothers, William and John, of Cayley, taking them in the order named.

H. W. Lee of Highgate, Ont., placed in a number of the sheep classes, as did James Parkinson, of Guelph, Ont., and James Campbell, of Thedford, Ont., and their chances of taking the championship in their divisions are excellent.

Shorthorn Class.

The titular awards in the Shorthorn bull class three years or over went to Maxwellton Monarch, five years old, owned by J. Alexander & Sons, of Aurora, Illinois.

This giant bull, pronounced the champion of his class, has won already fifty grand prizes, and is regarded as having a chance for the grand champion prize.

Won With Sheep.

Four class and three reserve grand championships were awarded to Canada on Monday afternoon in the sheep division.

The heaviest winner was H. W. Lee, of Highgate, Ont., who was first in the fat Lincolns. He won the reserve championship in the same division, and also won the reserve championship in the same division in the fat Cotswolds.

James Snell of Clinton, Ont., won the grand championship in the fat Leicesters on a lamb, while A. W. Whitelaw, of Guelph, won the reserve award on a yearling.

The grand champion of 1922 in all classes, Robert McEwen, of London, Ont., placed first in the fat Southdowns, as he did last year. Purdue University was second.

Purdue won the fat Hampshires championship. Another college in the States won the fat Oxfords prize Iowa State University capturing the award on a yearling.

In the breeding Shorthorn division of the cattle, Maxwellton Monarch, owned by John Alexander & Sons of Aurora, won the championship, with Augusta King, owned by Edellyn Farms, Wilson, Illinois, the reserve champion.

The States colleges starred in the hogs, the University of Nebraska taking the championship in the Galloways, Iowa State in the fat Chester whites, and the University of Minnesota in the fat Berkshires.

A Few Acclamations Recorded and Number By-Laws Passed.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 4.— Featured by several mayoralty acclamations, nominations for municipal elections in various cities and towns of Saskatchewan and Alberta were held yesterday.

Saskatchewan reported four mayoralty acclamations. Mayor S. C. Burton was re-elected by acclamation for a second term in Regina; Arthur H. Gardiner at Sutherland, J. B. Gibbons at Yorkton, and T. C. Gibson at Yorkton, and T. C. Davis at Prince Albert. This makes Mr. Davis' fourth term by successive acclamations

The only Alberta acclamation reported was that of Walter Huckvale, who was re-elected mayor of Medicine Hat.

This feature consists in presenting a cup of coffee without charge to sleeping car passengers who enter the club of buffet compartment cars in the morning.

STRANGE THEORY IN DAUDET CASE

French Royalist Leader Believes Son's Suicide Influenced By Anarchists

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Formal charges made by Leon Daudet, the royalist leader, of assassination and abduction in connection with the death of his 14 year old son, Philippe, yesterday set in motion an investigation into the strange mystery.

M. Daudet explained to the public prosecutor, M Plouharan, his theory of "moral assassination," charging that anarchists got control of the boy and exercised a sinister influence over him which culminated in a state of mind that might have ended in Philippe, who was named after the pretender to the French throne, dramatically killing his own father.

In this state of mind, said M. Daudet, and with the knowledge that anarchists held Philippe's letter avowing himself an anarchist, the boy saw no way out of his predicament but by means of suicide. Philippe's conduct, however, is explained by some of the physicians and psychologists as possibly having been due to a dual personality as they declare the boy's nervous system was sick.

The next step in the inquiry will be the exhumation of the body today, an autopsy and an examination of certain anarchists. M. Daudet's charge of assassination was made against an unidentified person. The police are convinced the case is one of plain suicide, and consider the matter will be closed as far as they are concerned as soon as they file their report with the investigating magistrate. M. Barnaud. Their report includes the testimony of the chauffeur of the taxicab in which the boy was shot, the certificate of the doctors at the hospital and a copy of the Police Commissioner's blotter.

The police will assist M. Daudet in running down any likely clues he may submit, but they declare that the burden of proof of assassination rests with the father of the dead boy.

BEERY HECKLER GETS PLATFORM

LONDON, December 3. Canadian Press cable. — In reply to the enquiry as to why the police do not more often intervene to suppress the rowdyism which has marked many meetings in the present election campaign it is pointed out that constables can act only when complaint is lodged by those responsible for convening the meeting. There naturally is reluctance by party managers to summon the assistance of the police for experience has shown that their own followers are quick to resent the interference of the police at least until a free fight breaks out and somebody is in real danger of getting hurt.

The kind of disturber who often appears in the north country meetings is the independent minded elector who has fortified himself with a few pints. An experienced and tactful chairman often invites this kind of a beery interrupter to a seat on the platform. The audience appreciating the real worth of the disturbance, urges the interrupter to accept the position of honor. Arrived at the platform he gazes at the company around and beneath him with the lack-lustre eye referred to by Touchstone, and in most cases becomes so impressed that he very soon drops asleep.

CONGRESS HELD UP BY BALLOTS OF INSURGENTS

House of Representatives Forced to Adjourn After Failing to Elect Speaker —Senate Was Tranquil.

'BLOC' SHOWS POWER.

WASHINGTON, December 4 (Canadian Press).— Republican insurgents prevented the organisation yesterday of the Sixty-eighth Congress.

Hardly had the new House and Senate convened at noon than the Progressive group in the House made good its threat to block the election of a Speaker.

Four ballots were taken without result, and the House adjourned until noon to-day when Republican organisation leaders will renew their efforts to re-elect Speaker Gillett.

In contrast with the storm in the House was an uneventful forty-five minutes' session of the Senate. Although an organisation fight there is in the background, there was no effort to force it yesterday, and there were indications that it would be deferred at least until after Presiden Coolidge has delivered his first annual message to Congress.

Delay President.

The President cannot deliver his message, however, until the House is organised, nor can the new Congress function. Some leaders said that even the Senate would be unable to transact any business other than that of receiving and acting upon nominations and treaties, which is solely a Senate function.

Representative Longworth, the majority leader, declared that there would be no compromises with the insurgents as a group, but that organisation leaders would treat with the individual mmebers just the same as with any others of their part.

Against "Old Guard."

Representative Nelson, of Wisconsin, chairman of the Progressive bloc, emphasised that the fight of his bloc was not against Speaker Gillett as an individual, but was being waged solely with the view to forcing the "Old Guard" leaders to give the House opportunity to amend its rules when a vote comes on their adoption, which will be as soon as the Speaker and other officers are elected.

While declaring that the Democrats in the House would give solid support to Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, for Speaker, as they did on the four ballots yesterday, some leaders of the minority party said that if the Republican insurgents were seeking only to have the House given an opportunity to vote on amendments to the rules, they would have no difficulty in accomplishing their purpose. The Democrats, these leaders said, also desired changes in the rules, and yesterday's balloting showed that their votes, added to those of the Progressives, constituted a majority.

Insurgent Majority.

Throughout the balloting for Speaker yesterday, the Republican insurgents cast seventeen votes for Cooper of Wisconsin, one of the leaders of their movement. This number of itself constitutes the balance of power, both on organisation and legislation, but they claimed that in addition they could command several of the five who steadily voted for Madden of Illinois, chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Alban Germain, K.C., to Defend Abbe Delorme.

MONTREAL, Dec. 4. — Alban Germain, K.C., has agreed to appear as the defending counsel for Father Delorme in place of Messrs. Alleyn Taschereau, K.C., of Quebec and C. H. Cahan, K.C. it was announced here to-day. The two latter lawyers appeared in the priest's defence last summer when he was placed on trial here charged with the murder of his half brother Raoul Delorme. Mr. German consulted with Father Delorme at Bordeaux Jail this afternoon in preparation for the re-opening of the trial at the assizes next March.

WILL NOT PAY POLICE SAY ALDERMEN FIRMLY AT LAST COUNCIL MEET

Long Debate Ends Impotently With Only Unpleasant Courses Open to the City Council—No Desire to See Policemen Suffer, But Will Sit Pat.

MAYOR'S ADDRESS

Following a discussion that lasted until 11.30 last night the City Council disbanded without reaching a decision to pay the Police Force, the Mayor and Aldermen remaining in doubt as to the action the policemen will take as a result. From the debate it appears to some of the Aldermen that the position of the Council is precarious in any event. If the Police Force decides to cease work the City Council cannot hire other men, having no jurisdiction in the appointment of policemen and having no money to pay them had they the power. If, on the other hand the men on the force decide to sue the city individually they will certainly win their case, City Solicitor Joseph Wearing informed the Council. The Police Commission will not appoint other men to replace the present Force should they resign, since the Commissioners consider they have done their duty. In any event, they have no money to pay either these men or a new force.

A plan for taking money from some other department's appropriation to pay the force was abandoned when it was made clear that there was not a sufficient balance remaining from any other appropriation to meet the salaries and expenses of the Police Department until the end of the year. City Solicitor Wearing also informed Council that any irregular method of that nature migh be met by an injunction from a citizen to prevent the action.

A new fund to take care of the Police Department expenses for the balance of the year could not be raised, it was said, without an appeal to the ratepayers.

When the City Council disbanded last night, therefore, at the conclusion of the last regular meeting of its term, it faced an unprotected city, individual suits by the members of the police force, or an injunction.

"I realized at the time we would be up against this very thing," declared Alderman Nagel Phelan, Chairman of the Finance Committee. "We told the Commission that when the $25,000 was expended we could not pay any more."

"We Have No Money"

The discussion was opened by Alderman Turner's question on a letter from R. R. Hall, K.C. which had been read and received. He was of the opinion that it should have been reserved for general business, but the attitude of the majority was that it was useless to discuss it.

When Mayor Taylor asked for items of General Business, Alderman Turner asked what action the Council intended taking in regard toMr. Hall's letter. The communication intimated that Council might pay the members of the police force without prejudicing its case in any way.

"What are we going to do about it?" Alderman Turner asked. "Does it mean we are not going to pay the police?"

Mayor Taylor—"We have no money."

Alderman Turner—"Is there any truth in the threat that the police may retire?"

Mayor Taylor—"We can just await results, that's all."

Alderman Holloway thought the Council should make a careful study of the situation. "It is no fault of the men of the police force," he said. "Some of them may not have much money ahead, and it is only a short time to Christmas. They will be short of funds through no fault of their own. If we pay them it will not hurt our case."

Alderman Turner—"They are policing the city, and they have to be paid."

Alderman Maher—"These men who are doing the work will possibly be without money around Christmas. They are not responsible for the situation; it is the Commission and those over them who are responsible. If there is any way out of it whereby we can prevent suffering to them without hurting our case, I think we should take it. We must consider the moral as well as the legal side. Had the Commission attempted to

WILL CONSIDER MANDATE CLAIM

Declaration of U. S. Secretary Will Be Discussed By League of Nations.

GENEVA, December 3. — The declaration of Secretary of State Hughes that the United States desires equal opportunities in the mandated districts will hold the attention of the League of Nations when the mandate problem comes up at the session of the League's Council, which begins its sessions in Paris, December 10th.

Officials of the League say that they will warmly welcome any United States criticism as it likely will lead to increased efficiency and fairness by the mandatory powers. Mean time it has become known that the supervisory powers and capitalists in those countries are hesitating to invest capital in mandated districts through fear of the non-permanency of the mandate system. This, it is said, is retarding development, and the situation probably will be discussed at the Paris meeting.

CANADA IMPRESSED BRITISH VISITOR.

Cites Prosperity Here As An Argument For Tariff in Old Country.

LONDON, December 4. Canadian Press cable. — Sir Robert Clough, a former member of the House of Commons for Keighley, Yorkshire, who has just returned from a visit to Canada, expresses the opinion that Premier Baldwin's policy should appeal to the workers if only there was time to put it clearly before them.

"During the visits I have paid to Canada," says Sir Robert, "I have noticed a standard of prosperity which I would be gratified to see among our own workers. Everybody there is well dressed and all seem to go about with an air of prosperity. General contentment is self evident which is contrary to the gradual and general lowering of the standard of living, recently so regretable a feature in this country. Almost all the inhabitants in Canada seem to have money for the purchase of automobiles . I was informed by one of my hosts that his laundress came to work in her motor car. I think our free trade orators would find a difficulty in finding a parallel for that here. If there is any suffering at all in Canada it is only from the tightness of money which at the present time is universal."

THREE BANDITS LOOTED OFFICE IN BEACHVILLE

POLICE HAD TIP.

INGERSOLL, Dec. 4. — Two strangers appeared in a Studebaker Six car at the quarry office of the Standard White Line Company, Beachville, yesterday afternoon and after a very brief and business-like effort, walked out with approximately $3,500 in cash.

In the company's office at the time was Miss Francis Lasenby, also a Mr Moyer, members of the office staff. A workman from the quarry, was also present when the gunmen walked in and asked them to step aside without any noise and thus save trouble. They walked over to the safe, picked up a hundred dollars or so, and seemed disappointed.

Turning, however, they observed the company's pay envelopes lying on a table with the cash made up for all the workmen in separate envelopes. They promptly scooped this up and then walked leisurely from the office to the waiting car. Quite calmly they walked out, while a third sat with the motor running. One dropped a Colt automatic as he got into the car.

The hold-up occurred about 4:15 p.m. Chief Holmes had been on the trail of the trio since about two o'clock, having been tipped off to the fact that three men with a car answering this description were changing American numbers for Ontario numbers on Harris street at that time. He searched all the garages and streets here and had but returned to his office when he was called to Beachville on the above case.

One of the men was about six feet in height, heavy jawed and dark, wearing glasses. The other was a shorter man of about forty, wearing a Mackinaw coat and khaki trousers.

ROUMANIAN TERRITORY IS DEMANDED BY JUGOSLAVIA

BUCHAREST, December 4 (Associated Press). — A lively sensation has been created in the Roumanian capital by the publication of an article in the Belgrade Tribune, outlining new territorial demands to be made on Roumania.

The Tribune, which is regarded as the personal organ of Premier Pashitch, points out that the war efforts of Jugoslavia have been inadequately rewarded in the distribution of territory as between Jugoslavia and Roumania.

It is pointed out in the article that Roumania must cede to Jugoslavia additional territory down to the Tcherna River.

SOLEMN WARNINGS GIVEN METHODISTS

OTTAWA, Dec. 4. —(Canadian Press).—What he called a "very solemn and earnest warning" was given yesterday to delegates to the Methodist district meeting held here yesterday by Rev. Dr. Ernest Thom as of Toronto, Field Secretary of the Department of Evangelism and Social service of the Methodist church of Canada, in respect to the prohibition issue in the province.

Rev. Dr. Thomas said that in last two campaigns the Temperance forces fought against an empty exchequer but they would not fight this time, but against a full exchequer.

In Ontario, the situation was hopeful and at present there were no indications of serious complications.

It may be we shall form a provincial federation in Ontario, said the doctor, after intimating something of the arangements that had been discussed in Toronto.

LINDSAY VOTED TAX EXEMPTION TO KNITTING CO.

The Municipal Elections Moved Forward From New Year's Day Brought Out Satisfactory Vote.

WM. GRAHAM, MAYOR

(Special to The Examiner.)

LINDSAY, December 4. — Departing for the first time from an old New Year's custom, Lindsay held its municipal elections yesterday, and although the aggregate vote was considered comparatively light, citizens generally were satisfied with the poll of electors.

William Graham was elected Mayor for 1924, with a plurality of 518 in a three-cornered contest, defeating Robert Chambers and E. E. W. McGaffey. All three candidates were municipal veterans.

The final results announced last night were:

Graham, 1,056; Chambers, 538; McGaffey, 328.

Ald. L. Richman defeated Ald. F. Brow.. by a majority of 41 votes for the second deputy-reeveship, Richman having 975 to Brown's 934.

Seven Aldermen.

Nine candidates contested the seven vacancies in the aldermanic board with the following results:

Defeated — J. Hall, 813; H. Elliot, 776.

J. D. Flavelle Continues.

Lindsay's first citizen, J. D. Flavelle, was re-elected Water Commissioner for the twenty-first successive year. He defeated J. Healy by a majority of 521, with the total poll of 1,200 to 649.

Mr. Flavelle has been a continuous member of the Commission since its institution.

By-law Carried.

With 15 votes in excess of the requisite two-thirds majority the ratepayers endorsed the by-law granting the James Horn Knitting Company exemption from taxation, except for schools and local improvements, for ten years.

The result was. For the by-law 718, against 336.

TORONTO LADIES SEE A REAL LIFE BOOTLEGGER AREA

J. A. McCausland, M.P.P. Invites Several Ladies to the Haunts of Bootleggers and Real Life.

TORONTO, Dec. 4. —(Canadian Press.)— At last night's O. T. A. meeting of the North Toronto Conservatives Association, J. A. McCausland, M.L.A., formally invited several women in the audience whom he refrered to as W.C.T.U. ladies to accompany him after the meeting and he would show them "real life" in the haunts of the bootlegger.

"The ladies are the ones I want to talk to to-night," he began.

"I know the rest of my audience agrees with me, and if I can persuade them to see my way, I shall be satisfied." Proceeding, the speaker said that Sir William Hearst had wrecked his political life on the temperance question, that the Conservative party had never been a temperance reform party, that eighty per cent of the Church of England people were Tories and that not 20 p.c. of that number were temperance people, that the province had put in the present government in an effort to rid itself of Raneyism and fanatical laws that had accompanied it, that doctors were "sick and tired" of the Act, and drug stores were doing a flourishing business in the sale of whiskey.

"I invite any of the W.C.T.U. ladies who don't know of present conditions to come with me and I'll give them the time of their lives," he offered.

As soon as the Legislature opened, Mr. McCausland said, he would move for a vote of the people on repeal of the O.T.A., "and you are bound to get that vote, the Conservative government cannot hold their seats if they do not grant it," he concluded.

The Association passed a resolution expressing the opinion "that the O.T.A. has been in operation a sufficient length of time to allow the electors of the province to judge of its merits or demerits and urges that an early opportunity be given for the people to re-express their views by means of a plebiscite."

Roberts' Libel Action Was Adjourned Again.

MONTREAL, Dec. 3. —Another delay in the trial of John H. Roberts charged with criminal libel was granted here to-day after a lengthy argument between counsel for the prosecution and defence. The case was adjourned to Dec. 10 for the filing of a justification plea. The charge is one of criminal libel alleged to have been incurred by Roberts in articles criticizing the local stock broking firm of Logan and Bryan which appeared in a local weekly publication of which Roberts is the editor.

GERMAN FOOD PRICES LOWER

BERLIN, Dec. 4. — The first welcome signs of cheaper living in Germany became apparent on Monday, when the butchers reduced meat prices, from 20 to 30 per cent., as a result of the action of the Food Minister, who on Friday last told the representatives of the meat trade that severer measures would be adopted if profiteering continued.

The process of reducing prices was partly assisted by the gradual coming into circulation of more rentenmarks, the new paper marks issued on a gold basis, thus enabling the breeders to dispose of their cattle and receive in return a relatively stable currency.

Fish and vegetables also had a cheaper tendency to-day and attempts will immediately follow to enforce lower prices for bread, milk, fats and other inland produce which is unlikely to come down except under dictatorial pressure. Foreign produce, on the other hand, the experts say, cannot be expected to follow suit until German exchange shows material improvement.

Higginbotham of Calgary, who has been sent to Toronto by the Alberta Government to represent the Home Bank depositors of Calgary and Blairmore at a mass meeting of Home Bank depositors at the Massey Hall on Thursday. Ross of Moose Jaw, representing the Saskatchewan depositors are also in the city gathering information and are already in touch with the depositors committee. Depositors Met

Without dissenting vote; representative meeting of West Toronto depositors in Home Bank held last night, endorsed resolution caling on Ontario Government to increase number of provincial savings bank branches and asking Dominion Parliament to amendment bank act so as to make fitting inspection of chartered banks obligatory and establish federal bank with branches in all of large cities on all of provinces of Dominion. Adoption of thes resolutions followed lengthy discussion on best means and liquidating Home Bank assets, during which some criticism was levelled at depositors committee. Although several members of latter body answered objections raised, meeting by very large majority finally passed motion recommending that liquidation be placed in hands of trust company. This resolution was qualified by clause which directed that liquidator be paid not more than 3 1-2 per cent. on assets.

WAIT AND SEE.

A word of warning may not be out of season in connection with the municipal election.

It is simply this, that the electors should be careful not to bind themselves too early in the campaign by promises to support this or that candidate.

Until the nomination proceedings are over and the complete field of candidates is made clear, it is foolish to pledge support to any particular aspirant, merely because the latter may happen to be a good fellow who has solicited the votes of his friends.

It may happen that the first man who asks for your support is the weakest and most impossible candidate in the whole list and you don't want to be tied up to a weakling when there is the opportunity to vote for a qualified candidate.

Municipal elections should not be decided upon personal grounds, that is the hail-fellow-well-met type sort of candidate should no the chosen merely because he is a good mixer and has a smile and a handshake to offer.

These things may be his only assets and there is no logic in pledging yourself to such a man when you are not in a position to know the composition of the field.

Until after nomination day the wise elector will simply tell canvassers for his vote that he prefers to adopt a "wait and see" policy.

There is no use making a stab in the dark.

WHY LINGER SO LONG?

A mayoralty aspirant in Oshawa in announcing his candidature last week nttered a few words of wisdom that the Examiner wishes might find a responsive echo in Peterborough.

"I welcome an opportunity", declared he, "of making my position clear at the earliest date because last minutes scrambles and declarations as usually evidenced are unfair to the electors, keeping them in the dark too long and not allowing sufficient time to inquire into and discuss the relative merits of the prospective candidates."

That is precisely the Examiner's view in this matter and because of the reasons outlined by the Oshawa candidate we have endeavored without a great deal of success, it must be admitted, to induce prospective aspirants for office to announce themselves as in the field in time to give the campaign a chance to develop.

This hanging back until the last possible moment is scarcely fair to the electorate, however advantageous it may be from a strategic view point and the Examiner is convinced that an early declaration from such citizens as have definitely decided to allow their names to go before the people will do much to clear the air, pave the way for a more representative field of candidates and afford a better chance than usual to secure for this city an efficient administration of its affairs.

The man who has something constructive to offer the ratepayers has no reason to dread an early announcement of his candidature.

A CHANCE FOR THE YOUNGSTERS.

With the coming of snow in the northern part of the Province comes also the story of the first coasting accident, Port Arthur reporting a smash-up in which four youngsters were injured when their bob sleigh crashed into an automobile.

The accident should be a warning to municipal councils everywhere that some provision should be made to provide children with facilities for safe coasting, either in public parks or by diverting traffic off certain streets during coasting hours.

Sleigh-riding appeals to all Canadian children, and it is a healthful, vigorous pastime that makes sturdier youngsters out of those who have a chance to frequently indulge in this exercise.

But there are new conditions to-day that call for attention.

The large number of motor cars on city streets makes coasting on the hills that were the favourite resort for the boys and girls of yesterday a perilous pleasure.

On none of the city hills, with the traffic conditions as they exist to-day, can it be said that sleigh-riding is safe, and unless some provision is made along the lines suggested, many children will be robbed of a good deal of brawn-building amusement, and others who take a chance in spite of the danger, will be running the risk of a serious, even a fatal, accident.

The City Council would do well to pay some attention to this question, a matter of considerable importance to Peterborough's youngsters and their parents.

THE O.H.A. MEMORIAL.

The Ontario Hockey Association is to be congratulated upon the decision unanimously reached at its annual meeting to establish a war memorial in the form of a scholarship at the University of Toronto for which Ontario men who served overseas or their sons or daughters will be eligible

It is fiting that the big hockey association should keep green the memory of the small army of village, town and city players who during the war years substituted a rifle for a hockey stick and played the game overseas.

Men whose names were household ones because of their prowess on the ice proved to be as gallant soldiers and game fighters as they had been wonderful players.

Some of them never came back from the great adventure. Men like George Richardson and Alan Davidson of Kingston, heroes of many a hard fought battle in the rinks of Ontario are sleeping beneath wooden crosses in France and Flanders.

The Association under whose guidance they once played does well to honour the memory or such gallant sportsmen and brave soldiers and has been happy in its choice of a memorial inasmuch as the scholarship that has been provided will not only each year bring back memories of the O.H.A. players whoe gave their lives but will afford a chance for advancement either some comrade who escaped from the war-hell, or to the child of a soldier who fought overseas.

President W. A. Fry whose motion to establish a memorial scholarship deserves general thanks for the visiion that inspired such a worth while memorial.

CANADA'S FIRE LOSSES.

Emphasis has frequently been laid in these columns on the fallacy of comparing per capita fire loss figures of Canada. with those of other countries. This is so obvious as scarcely to need proof, and yet such figures are time and again quoted to show our losses as being exceptionally heavy. True, our per capita losses are exceptionally heavy, but this is only a partial truth. When it is remembered that per capital ownership of property is much greater in Canada than in European countries, and that by the very nature of our building materials our structures are more inflammable, the mistaken conclusion is apparent. There is no proof that we are more careless than other people.

It is therefore a relief to see in the Quarterly of the National Fire Protection Association, Boston, an article dealing with these facts. Charles E. Worthington, one of the members of the association, writes:

"For purposes of comparison, assume a community of 100 houses where under average conditions we might expect a certain definite fire loss each year. Compare this with another community similar in every way except that there are 500 houses instead of 100. In this village of 500 houses we should expect five times the fire loss of the village of 100 houses If the population were the same in each case the per capita loss would be five tim esas great in the 500-house community with 100 houses. The difference between the two does not reflect upon the carefulness or fire prevention precautions of the village with the larger number of houses, for when fire losses are referred to total amount of property instead of to number of inhabitants they are of the same relative amount in each case.

"While this is a rather extreme example, it serves to illustrate the recent developmnts in the United States and Canada. We have been growing from the status of the community of 100 houses to that of the community of 100 houses to that of the community of 500 houses, while our population has increased comparatively little. According to the United States Census Bureau, in 1920 the total wealth of the United States if pro-rated among the population would have given each individual a share of $2,800. Two year later, in 1922, the Census estimates that this share is $3,600, an increase in two yearse of 30 per cent Assuming that in 1922 we burned our property at the same rate as in 1920, we should expect 30 per cent. more fire loss. As a matter of fact, statistics show that the increase in fire loss between 1920 and 1922 is only about 19 per cent.

"While this increase in wealth has been taking place very rapidly, the increase in population has been at a much slower rate, normal increase in the United States being approximately 1½ per cent. annually. This is only one-tenth of the rate of increase in property."

It is evidently fairer to compare fire losses to property, or fire losses to insurance carried, or merely take premium rates, and Mr Worthington cites, as proof of changing conditions, the steady tendency of the average fire insurance rate to decrease and the marked annual increase of volume of premiums. He adds: "Insurance rates are based upon average losses, and, although lagging in any change, serve somewhat as an index of losses. Nobody buys insurance for the mere fun of paying premiums, and the amount of insurance is always an index of the total of property. Because of certain disturbing features these decreases and increases will not comform to the increas of wealth in the same year and afford merel yincidental confirmation."—Monetary Times.

REPATRIATION PROBLEMS.

With the movement on foot to encourage the return of those Canadians who have left their native land to seek fortune elsewhere, there can be nothing but sympathy, says the Montreal Star. The tendency noted here by the colonization representative of the Canadian National Railways, for French-Canadians in the United States to return and settle in Quebec, is one that will be welcomed by all who have the interests of the Province at heart. The general principle of repatriation, indeed, is one that should command the intelligent and practical support of the progressive Canadian throughout the Dominion. We want our own to come back to us after experience gained outside Canada, and to settle here and give their own country and their own people the benefit of that experience. But if we are to persuade them to return—and to remain, for that is the chief achievement of repatriation,—we must see to it that the conditions they find here on their return are such as will make it attractive to them to setle.

No man, no family, under ordinary circumsances, will voluntarily give up a comfortable position and home in a place where progress is in evidence and life moves energetically and divertingly, for work and residence under conditions where life is duller, remuneration lower, and the incentive to be ambitious less potent. If Canadians are to be drawn back to Canada, they must be shown that they can come back to conditions in every way and in every direction as pleasant and as conducive to the enjoyment of life as those they leave. Repatriation will never be accomplished as a steady, successful policy by mere patriotic speeches. Oratory is all very well as an election weapon, but it neither fills stomachs nor adds to the repatriation stream, it is necessary to set in motion such steps as are best calculated to enhance the attractions of living. There are a hundred odd directions in which such steps can be taken, it is a matter that intimately concerns both the individual citizen and the government

When I meet a man with a given name that would be more appropriate for a Pullman car than a real human being, I can easily guess who had the say at his home about the time he was born.

A common expression among salesmen these days is "I'm in the real estate, advertising or life insurance game." Since "Game" suggests "gamble" or "chance" and it is not every man who like to look upon his insurance policy or real estate buy as being a "chance". I don't know what it might be just as well to use the word "business," instead of "game."

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, December 4. — Receipts at the Union Stock Yards yesterday were only moderate, being 3,394 cattle, 329 calves, 3,743 hogs, and 1,464 sheep and lambs. Trading in cattle opened very slowly and had a draggy tendency all morning. The sale at the Exhibition did not help prices and has hurt the baby beef trade owing to the low prices established at the auction.

Light butchers' heifers of only killable quality sold at $4.10 a cwt., and a few choice heifers sold up to $6.25 a cwt. Baby beeves were easier and few went over 9 cents a pound.

Butchers' cows and bulls were not quite as active as last week, especially the latter. Choice cows sold up to 5 1-2 cents. Feeders were in good demand yesterday, both for home farms and export and prices were therefore firmer. Most of the stocker trade was waiting until the butchers' had been well picked over.

Only a fair-sized run of calves aided in keeping this market steady. Good calves, but not choice, sold at 10 cents a pound, and mediums at 8 cents. The heavy calves are still selling at unsatisfactory prices, with the majority not bringing much over 5 cents a pound. One choice calf sold at 11 1-2 cents.

Lambs strengthened materially from last Thursday, when bunches sold as low as 9 1-4 cents. Choice light lambs made 10 1-2 cents yesterday morning, and most of the light lambs brought 10 cents or better, with the usual discount of $1.50 a cwt. on the bucks. Heavy lambs are only good for about 9 cents a pound. The choice sheep in were held at 7 cents a pound, and sellers were strong on the asked prices.

There was a good deal of haggling over hog prices again yesterday, and the price is unsettled. Commission men expect the base price of $7.50 a cwt. f.o.b. established last Wednesday to hold.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Wheat took an upward swing in price during the late dealings to-day, helped by a decrease of the United States and Canadian visible supply totals and by a reduction of winter crop acreage in Kansas. The market closed firm 1-4 and 3-8c. to 1c. net higher, December $1.04 7-8 to $1.05, and May $1.10 5-8 to $1.10 3-4. Corn finished unchanged to 3-8c. up; oats at 1-8 to 1-4c. advance, and provisions showing a rise that varied from 5c. to 35c.

Active purchasing for eastern account lifted the wheat market to the day's top level just before the close, notwithstanding that a large decrease of the visible supply is frequent prior to the close of lake navigation and may be counter-balanced when all the grain gets to eastern ports. The Kansas State estimate that seeded acreage had diminished nearly 16 per cent. was distinctly more bullish than had generally been looked for.

Eastern selling made the corn market inclined to drag despite wet weather and scantiness of receipts. Oats were higher owing to liberal shipments from here.

Provisions ascended with hogs.

POLICE MAY HAVE PULL' BUT NOT ON DOORBELLS

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 4.—(Uniter Press).—Women in the northern part of this town admit they never see a policeman, but they believe they are always around. When a delegation made charges to the city council that they never saw a policeman, Chief of Police Moyer made a novel proposition to prove the efficiency of his patrolmen. "Let the policeman ring your doorbell every time they pass, then you will know they are on duty." Moyer advised. The women, having visions of being frequently awakened at night, declined the proposition. The council then concluded the policeman were doing their duty.

This is the Room That Light Made

The old-fashioned parlor with the shades pulled down—what has become of it? It passed with the passing of the kerosene lamp, and the living room took its place. Parlors were gloomy—living rooms glow. Folks "sat" in those days; now they play. And the magic that has wrought the change is the magic of good light.

Let your living room glow with the sun by day and with Edison MAZDA Lamps at night. Of all your rooms it deserves the best light; for it is the room that light made.

RESORT ACTIVITY AROUND HASTINGS

The Way Property Is Changing Hands It Looks Like Another Big Year.

HASTINGS, Dec. 4.—Signs point to an influx of tourists on the shores of the Trent and Rice Lake for the coming season.

Mrs. Ferguson of the Island of that name has started operations for the erection of a large addition to her home which when completed will accommodate from forty to fifty guests.

This in addition to the large Club House to be erected by Mr. F. Field who purchased a portion of the island from Mrs. Ferguson.

A local syndicate have already secured an option on fifteen acres a short distance west of the village where they purpose erecting half a dozen cottages and disposing of lots.

A real estate dealer stated he had sold a summer cottage to a local buyer in June and in September he resold it to a Buffalo tourist and in October again turned it over to a couple of business men from Toronto.

BUCKINGHAM, Eng., Dec. 4—(Associated Press)—The next Mayoress of this borough will have presented to her a chain made from 800 "threepenny pieces," which were paid as a fine of 10 pounds imposed on Councillor Roper who refused to accept the position of Mayor. Councillor Roper handed over these 800 small coins and will have them made into a chain for future Mayoresses.

HASTINGS WILL SCON BE HALF CENTURY OLD

HASTINGS, Dec. 4—In January next, Hastings will attain its fiftieth anniversary of incorporation as a village.

Hastings is a village situated on the River Trent, on the north side, are picturesque hills now spotted by beautiful churches, schools and Opera House.

The C.N.R. runs along the south side of the river almost through the centre of the village lying about 12 miles east of Rice Lake, 10 miles from Campbellford, Warkworth, Roseneath; 23 miles from Peterboro and 30 miles from Cobourg the county town.

At first it was inhabited by the Indians. After a time immigrants came from different counties and settled along the river and now it is almost entirely inhabited by white people. The Indians settling in a colony of their own about 11 miles from here, known as Alderville.

The First House.

In the year 1834 the only house by the site of Hastings was a small frame one on the north side where the post office now stands and operated as a grist mill by Hon. Jonothan Crooks until the year 1850 when he sold the property to Henry Fowld & Son.

It was called New Castle District. After a time a man name Jonothan Crooks named it Crooks Rapids after himself.

In the the year 1851 when Henry Fowlds & Sons bought this village from Crooks they changed the name to Hastings and called it after a town in England.

From the building of the locks at Crook's Rapids in 1837-8 this place gradually grew into a thriving village of much importance. Timothy Coughlan was the first hotel-keeper and merchant.

Made Rapid Progress.

In the year 1851 the most marked progress took place. A new grist and flour mill was added to the old one, a saw mill of great power and numerous saws capable of manufacturing large quantities of lumber yearly for the foreign markets was speedily erected. Other factories filled with valuable machinery came in later years. Adjoining the saw mill was a large woolen factory which was swept away by a most destructive fire in 1803, which also consumed the saw mill and its contents and also a large planning mill and sash and door factory just erected by Henry Lye.

The great loss for a time checked the progress of the village and paralyzed the enterprise of several active and industrious citizens.

The First Church.

The first Presbyterian church was erected in 1858; the Episcopal church in 1863; the Wesley Methodist church in 1864, and the Roman Catholic church in 1865; also a brick school situated where the new one stands.

The first printing press in 1864 was introduced into the village by Mr. A. E. Hayter, the paper being called the Hastings Messenger.

The first steam boat from Hastings called the Forest City launched in 1858 was used for the transportation of goods, passengers and lumber.

Hastings was incorporated in 1874, the first council being as follows:

Reeve—Timothy Coughlan.

Clerk—John Quinn.

While these men were in office, Lord and Lady Duffern passed through Hastings on the Steamer Isaac Betts and were greeted at the locks by the Reeve and Council and the red coats.

Mr. Timothy Coughlan read the address of welcome and Mrs. James Fowlds presented Lady Duffern with a boquet of wild tansy.

Hastings As It Stands Today.

Hastings at the present time has a population of about 800. It has 4 churches, a Protestant and Separate School, Opera House, two hotels, two banks, three blacksmith shops, three garages, one foundry, two elevators, one planning mill, one power house, several general stores, two doctors, one livery and the second largest tannery in Canada.

Hastings also has in the person of Mr. John Coughlan the first white male child born in Hastings, also the third white male child, Mr. Alexander Wilson, who has been clerk of the municipality for 33 consecutive years.

BALDWIN'S CONCLUDING SPEECH IN LIVERPOOL EPITOMIZES HIS POLICY

"Treat the Foreigner As He Treats Us," Says the British Premier, Promising Tariff Protection of Employment If Given Mandate.

LADY ASTOR BITTER.

LONDON, Dec 4—Premier Baldwin delivered his last important speech of the election campaign last night to a big assembly at Liverpool. He declared;

"I have appealed to the country for a mandate, and if I get it, I shall exercise it to the full."

He reproached the Liberal leaders for maintaining complete silence on the question of the policy of discrimination against British ships which "is threatened from all over the world," and asserted that the British ideal for shipping was "equality of opportunity in all parts of the world."

Continuing, Mr. Baldwin said: "We are told that protection will ruin our industries, but how is it that the United States has exploited here immense national resources during generations of protection, until to-day she sustains a population of over one hundred million, with the highest standard of life achieved in the world."

"I want to treat the foreigner as he treats us, until he learns to treat us a little better," the Premier added

Safeguard Employment

Asserting that it was not intended to tax simple articles of food, or raw materials, the Prime Minister went on: "I propose to put a tax on manufactured goods in all cases where the importation of those goods is throwing our men out of work— a tax sufficient to meet the unfair advantage that the foreigner gets from currency and wages, so that our own people may have a fair chance of competing and finding a livelihood."

Lloyd Georges Speech

Mr. Lloyd George, speaking at Norwich yesterday, said that the United States had been much quoted by the protectionists, but in the Spring of 1918 poor, broken free-trade Great Britain had carried more than half the reinforcements of the wealthy protectionist country across the Atlantic. This very week the United States Shipping Board had been explaining its inability to compete with Britain, because one result of the tariffs was to increase the cost of ship-building materials, so that ships could be built on the Clyde 25 per cent. cheaper than in the United States.

"The Atlantic is a free trader," exclaimed Mr. Lloyd George. Elsewhere, alluding to how Great Britain had financed her protectionist allies in the war to the tune of two billion pounds, of which she had not been paid a shilling, Mr. Lloyd George said: "Tell me a tariff reform country in Europe that stands up with the dollar like our sovereign does."

Mr. Lloyd George is displaying astonishing physical energy. It is estimated that when the campaign is finished he will have made sixty speeches, containing about 200,000 words, while Premier Baldwin's total is expected to be something like 60,000 words.

Labor Peeves Lady

Lady Astor's campaign at Plymouth is daily growing more bitter; her meetings are characterized by constant noisy interruptions from the Laborites, who are seeking to make capital out of the fact that she was formerly an American.

At her meeting to-day she was greeted with shouts of "Go back to America we don't want you!"

Lady Astor; promptly retorted: "No, I'm going back to Westminster you've got to have me whether you want me or not."

The United States as an object lesson comes oftener into the election speeches than any other country in references to th Fordney Tariff, the United States shipping industry and the Baldwin debt funding settlement. Perhaps the most disputed point is whether the high tariff has been responsible for the disappearance of the unemployment problem in the United States.

Churchill's Criticism

Premier Baldwin, up to the present, has not deigned to reply to the numerous attacks relative to his part in the debt funding, the latest of which was made by Winston Church ill. Speaking in London, yesterday, Mr. Churchill declared that there had been no need to act with such precipitation A tactful and wise policy carried out by experienced states men would have led to the United States being brought into some general scheme of European settlement, so that Great Britain would not have been in the position of the only nation compelled to pay.

Mr. Churchill is still distinguished as being the most heckled among the leader. He is the object of persistent and vitriolic attacks and interruptions by the Laborites, who make it a point always to invade his meetings.

GERMAN WOMEN ASK FOR FOOD

Wives of High Government Officials, Including Frau Ebert and Frau Stresemann, Issue Appeal

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—(United Press)—Unless the German people are fed, and fed quickly, Germany must retrograde to the condition of a minor power, according to an appeal signed by the wives of high Government officials, including Frau Ebert and Frau Stressemann.

The appeal, issued through the Reichshilfe, declares:

"The German nation hungers!

"Thousands of brothers and sisters are no longer able to nourish themselves.

"Therefore, women and men of Germany, we call you in our extremity for co-operation—help in this distress.

"It is now necessary to remove hunger and misery in order to keep the German nation from steps of despair through which the unit of the empire will be destroyed and Germany would retrograde to the condition of a minor power.

"The battle against hunger and need is a humane duty; it it likewise a duty to the vaterland for preservation of the State.

"The organization of Reichshilfe will devote itself fully to this task.

"The Reichshilfe, formed from all classes regardless of political viewpoint, will help through portable kitchens to insure the nourishment of the poverty-striken elements of the nations.

"Extreme need requires haste."

The appeal is signed by the Food Minister also, giving governmental sanction to the cry for aid. The purpose is to co-ordinate all the various little "aid" organizations, eliminating waste and duplication.

The assistance of the President's wife and the Chancellor's wife, as well as many wives of other leading citizens, was enlisted to give the organization the assurance of consideration in collecting funds and materials.

FAILED TO WAKE FRENCH GUARDS.

May Steal Effil Tower, Say Parisians in Reading of Versailles Burglary.

By JOHN O'BRIEN

PARIS, Dec. 4.—(United Press)—"Somebody will steal the Eiffel Tower next and be on his way to the Belgian frontier before we hear about it." is what old Parisians murmured over their aperitifs when they read in the afternoon papers the story of how Messrs. Nouvain and accomplices got away from the Chateau of Versailles with two price less Gobelin tapestries.

The tapestries measured each about one hundred and forty square feet. There were no less than fourteen watchmen, who are supposed to make their rounds hourly. The gold thread used in the figures —the real object of the theft, it is believed—weighed altogether about 70 pounds. Nouvain told the examining magistrate that when he and his pals loosed the second tapestry from the wall, it dropped to the floor with a noise of thunder.

"We were so afraid that it would arouse the watchmen," he continued, "that we hid in a dark corner for a quarter of an hour, waiting for a chance to run As nobody came along, we gathered up our bundles and walked out quietly."

THE OLD RUBBER BOTTLE

KINSTON, N.C., Dec. 4.—(United Press).—A whiskey case was being tried in a local court. One side called a lanky youth.

"And you say you saw this man with liquor?" asked an attorney. "How much did he have?"

"Five gallons," replied the witness.

"What did he have it in?" asked the lawyer.

"A quart bottle," was the response.

The lawyer staggered.

"The bottle weren't quite full," added the witness blandly.

"Step down," commanded the attorney.

The police said the witness had been an inmate of an institution for mental defectives.

Beautiful Models for Women

WOMEN skaters will take pride in the beautiful models of C.C.M. Automobile Skates designed especially for them.

Model F, for example, is a little jewel among skates. Wonderfully light, yet exceedingly strong. Shaped for speedy, graceful skating. And so brilliantly finished it shines like a piece of new silver.

With a pair of these on your feet you can skim over the ice with the ease and grace of a swallow, and enjoy every minute.

These beautiful C.C.M. Women's models are made of the same Chrome Nickel Steel as in the models used by the champion hockey players and the C.C.M. Speed Skates used by Miss Gladys Robinson, the Women's International Speed Champion.

The blades are hard as glass outside, but with an interior "core" of tough steel that makes C.C.M. Automobile Skates practically unbreakable.

Ask your dealer to show you C.C.M. models for ladies. If you are a "figure" skater, ask to see the C.C.M. Figure Skate and the Winter Club. There are also C.C.M. models for men and boys—for everybody —for pleasure skating, hockey and racing.

SUIT WILL BE ENTERED SAYS POLICE FORCE

In the Meantime the Men Will Carry On and Protect the Citizens.

ACTION TONIGHT

Suit will be entered in Division Court this evening by the policemen for their salaries from November 15 to 30, which they did not receive, the Examiner was informed to-day. On application to Alderman Nagel Phelan, Chairman of the Finance committee, and other civic authorities, the men were informed that there is no money available to discharge the city's obligation to them.

Meanwhile, the police force will remain on duty. Chief Newhall said he would not leave the city unprotected because of the dispute between the Police Commission and the City Council. Inspector James Reid said he would continue to look after the public interest, and the remainder of the force backed up their leaders.

It is expected that the case will be hurried to a hearing.

FAUNCE MADE A POINTED REPLY

Says All Churches Have Their Difficulties in These Chaotic Days.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 4.—(Canadian Press).—President Wm. H. P. Faunce, D.D., president of Brown University, this morning declined to reply to an attack upon him by Dr. T. T. Shields, president of the Baptist Union of North America, in which Dr. Shields said the conferring of an honorary degree by McMaster University of Toronto upon Dr. Faunce was a disgrace to the Baptist denomination.

Dr. Faunce said: "The Baptists' Bible Union now holding meetings in New York represents a novel movement on the part of a very small minority. It aims to establish new schools and new missionary societies which shall be centres of rigid and a re-actionary doctrine. It seems likely to slough off from the Baptists and establish a new denomination in close sympathy with the Second Adventists. All denominations have their difficulties in these chaotic days. The only remedy is for Christian men quietly to live a Christian life and believe the morning sun will rise."

Today's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.— (United Press) In the early dealings, stocks continued under the influence of the uncertainty over the outcome of the speakership contest in the House. Considerable selling had been impelled in the previous session by the dead lock in the lower body of Congress and this pressure was still in evidence at the start of trading. Davison Chemical displayed special weakness, breaking to 67 against Monday's high of 73 3-4.

Wall street began to comprehend toward the end of the first houl that the representatives who are obstructing the re-election of Speaker Gillett were doing so with definite political purposes in view and that they would acquiesce in his selection when they had accomplished their ends.

This realization caused a gradual recovery from the early selling movement and prices showed a great ly improved tone toward eleven a.m. Cast Iron pipe rebounded four points from its early low and good sized rallies took place in Baldwin and other industrial leaders. Fresh forward movements started in many sections. Chesapeake and Ohio featured the rails and associated dry goods the industrial specialties.

DAME CLARA BUTT

This world famous contralto is now touring Canada from Halifax to Victoria and return. Assisting her is her husband, Kennerley Rumford, the popular English baritone, W. H. Squire, 'cellist and composer, and Ivor Newton, the well known pianist. This is the most extensive tour ever attempted in the Dominion and is the direct result of the spectacular success that attended the tour of this celebrated contralto two years ago. Only appearances outside Canada will be at Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis and New York. Her final appearance will be in the famous Bagby series at the Waldorf Hotel, New York.

Years ago the voice of Dame Clara was heralded as the most phenomenal in the annals of the concert stage. To hear her in a single number is to cherish the experience of a life-time.

Dame Clara is making a public appeal in the interests of the West Ham Central Mission on this tour. The famous Cuddley Dolls are made by the Three Arts Women's Employment Workroom, sponsored by Dame Clara Butt and Miss Ellen Terry, the noted actress, to assist destitute professionals find means of self support. These models were taken from a mere rag doll, one which Dame Clara had carried as a mascot on her concert tour.

Of course, Dame Clara has kept the original model for the Cuddley Dolls and as a mascot she regards it with higher favor than ever. Naturally the famous mascot will hold a place of honor in her entourage during the trans-continental tour through the Dominion.

JAN CHRISTIAN SMUTS RETURNED TO AFRICA

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Dec. 4.—(Canadian Press Cable).—General Jan Christian Smuts, Premier of South Africa, was given a rousing reception on his arrival home from London, where he attended the Imperial conference.

Referring to a plan which he proposes rfor rehabilitation of Germany he said it was based on a scheme of reconstruction carried out in Austria. With disappearance of a present Ruhr policy Germany would recover very rapidly, he added.

He declined to express an opinion on the British elections. But stated that Premier Baldwin was "an honest, straightforward Englishman." Premier Smuts also, declared that in Earl of Athlone, brother of Queen Mary, he had secured for South Africa "jewel of a Governor-General.

A Valuable Work of Art

G. K. Chesterton, in his book entitled "Whats Wrong with the World" refers in one chapter to the little lad who was afterwards King Alfred, the Great of England, learning his lessons at his mother's knee. His lesson books were the illuminated volumes of the old time: ". . . that were wrought in the monks' slow manner, with silver and sanguine shell. And their pictures were little and terrible keyholes to heaven and hell."

To Peterboro has lately come a reproduction of the work of those men who toiled with loving hands through decades of years in tiny cells to work out in colours and fine handicraft the stories of the Bible. Anyone who has ever chanced in a museum on one of these old and priceless books will appreciate the labour of love and the fine artistic sense of such work.

Rev. G. J. Bousfield, rector of St Luke's Anglican church, is carrying around with careful hands these days a volume whose worth would be hard to estimate in dollars and cents; and illuminated hand-wrought book of the Communion Service of the Anglican church, fashioned through long years of patient work in spare hours by his father, Rev. George Bousfield, rector of St. Margaret's Anglican church, Ottawa

It is hard to describe adequately the odd and exquisite beauty of the volume, its large fibre parchment pages bound in heavy pebbled navy leather, lined with moire silk, each separate page guarded by an interlining of thick silk tissue paper.

Its creator decribes the style as being of the early fourteenth century English type of illuminating, modernized, each page having a differing original design, but subject to the same general principles. The general characteristics show a peculiar prolongation of the ornament of the initial letter to make the border; the use of white line work in varying designs to enrich the colours; the inclusion of heraldic animal figures as ornamental additions; the gold erbed dots; the various forms of foliage on grounds of gold and colours and the use of graceful line designs for outer and inner ornamentation of letters.

Executed entirely by hand, the minute beauty of the twenty-one large pages unfolds itself to the eye. The service, in its varying Latin and English, is traced in the firm, close script of the style, and the borders, the huge initials, and the intersections are ornamentd with infinitesimal designs and concepts in beautiful colours. The pages have been stained a faint brown to imitate more closely the old parchment of illuminated volumes, and on this dull colour glow the cerulean blues, the ruby reds, the fine golds and silvers of the artist who wrought in careful, painstaking fashion, with fine brush work, these lovely conceptions of the illuminated communion service.

One page contains in an oval the figure of the dying Christ, suspended on the Rood that was in reality the Tree of Life, the four-life-giving Gospel streams flowing from His feet, around and about Him the twelve mystical fruits of His Sacrifice. Another shows in conventionalized form the purple petals of the unfolding Passion Flower. Symbolism is the keynote of the volume. Reappearing throughout the various designs is the ancient symbol of Jehovah; the triangle enclosing the "yod", the butterfly as the emblem of resurrection; the Lamb of God, the five-pointed star with its mystical significance; springlike flowers showing the Resurrection; the bread and cup of the Eucharistic sacrifice; the sacred Dove; the cross and crown in repeated symbolical forms. The use of animal forms adds a touch of realism, as in the case of the deer startled into a protective attitude, and the All Seeing Eye, denoting God's providence, the cat, emblematic of cunning, dragons twining about the borders of one page.

Tiny inset miniatures show the progression of the Nicene Creed; Christ as the Good Shepherd; the incense of sacrifice ascending to God from the hands of His servants; angels with six golden wings kneeling in adoration; in fact, every good thing from art and nature seems to have been drawn on to fulfil the artist's conception of beauty in his work of love.

Rev. Mr. Bousfield of Ottawa, has practiced illuminating in all its various periods, from the Celtic down to the sixteenth century style. The King's Cornation address, and an address to the Prince of Wales, both presented by the city of Ottawa, were his work. The former, kept with the monarch's private jewels, was executed in fifteenth century style, the latter in sixteenth century form. Two other addresses which went to Europe were done in the period work of the fourteenth and sixteenth centuries.

The volume now in the keeping of his son, Rev. C. J. Bousfield, will be kept in the hands of the family, according to the desire of its creator.

MANY WOMEN CANDIDATES IN PRESENT ELECTION

LONDON, Dec. 4. — (Canadian Press).—The total number of women candidates in the present election is thirty-four, as against thirty-three in the last general election and sixteen in the general election of 1918. The votes polled for women candidates last year totalled 228,000. Three women members of the House of Commons, Lady Astor, Mrs. Wintringsam and Mrs. Philipson, are in the field again and may be re-elected. It is considered unlikely that many of the others will succeed at the polls, and many of them are fighting an acknowledged forlorn hope.

ELECT OFFICERS OF WAR VETERANS

Dr. N. H. Sutton Returned to the Presidency for the Year.

Last evening the members of the Great War Veterans' Association met and elected officers for the coming year. Dr. N. H. Sutton presided. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. A vote of thanks to all those who assisted on Poppy Day, and also to the Children's Aid Society for the loan of their boxes, was passed. It was stated by Dr. Sutton that all the poppies that the Association received were made by the Veteraft Company, which is a returned soldiers' company. The total net receipts for the dances so far this year has amounted to $153.10. It was decided to allow the P.A.A.A. to use the top floor of the hall for boxing purposes during the winter. It was also decided to invite the City Council to meet at the hall and have them tell the returned men what they are doing and the important facts of civic government for 1924.

The Association has decided to enter two teams in the Winter Softball League, two teams in the Billiard League and a senior hockey team in the City League if the league is formed.

XX. (Continued)

He walked down the avenue as rapidly as possible, his hands in his pockets, his head bent to the wind, no longer transported; forcing his mind to dwell on the warmth of his rooms and his bed. . . . His head ached. He'd go to the office tomorrow and write his column there. Then think things out. How was he to win such a woman? Make her sure of herself? Convert her doubts into a passionate certainty? She, with her highly technical past! Make no mistakes? If he made a precipitate ass of himself—what comparisons! . . . His warm bed . . . the complete and personal isolation of his rooms . . . he had never given even a tea to women . . . he gave his dinners in restaurants. . . . How many more blocks? The snow was thicker. He couldn't even see the arcade of Madison Square Garden, although a faint diffused radiance high in the air was no doubt the corown of lights on the Metropolitan Tower. . . . Had he made a wrong move in bolting——"

His thoughts and counter-thoughts came to an abrupt end. At the corner of Thirtieth street he collided with a small figure in a fur coat and nearly knocked it over. He was for striding on with a muttered apology, when the girl caught him by the arm with a light laugh.

"Lee Clavering! What luck! Take me home..."

He was looking down into the dark naughty little face of Janet Oglethorpe, granddaughter of the redoubtable Jane.

"What on earth are you doing here?" he asked stupidly.

"Perhaps I'll tell you and perhaps I won't. On second thoughts don't take me home. Take me to one of those all-night restaurants. That's just the one thing I haven't seen, and I'm hungry."

He subtly became an uncle. "I'll do nothing of the sort. You ought to be ashamed of yourself—alone in the streets at this hour of the night. It must be one o'clock. I shall take you home. I suppose you have a latch-key, but for two cents I'd ring the bell and hand you over to your mother."

"Mother went to Florida today and dad's duck hunting in South Carolina. Aunt Mollie's too deaf to hear doorbells and believes anything I tell her."

"I am astonished that your mother left you behind to your own devices."

"I wouldn't go. She's given me up—used to my devices. Besides, I've one or two on her and she doesn't dare give me away to dad. He thinks I'm a darling spoilt child. Not that I'd mind much if he didn't, but it's more convenient."

"You little wretch! I believe you've been drinking."

"So I have! So I have! But I've got an asbestos lining and could stand another tall one. Ah!" Her eyes sparkled. "Suppose you take me to your rooms——"

"I'll take you home——"

"You'll take me to one of those all-nighters——"

"I shall not."

"Then ta ta! I'll go home by myself. I've had too good a time tonight to bother with old fogies."

She started up the street and Clavering hesitated but a moment. Her home was on East Sixty-fifth street. Heaven only knew what might happen to her. Moreover, although her mother was one of those women whose insatiable demand for admiration bored him, he had no more devoted friends than her father and her grandmother. Furthermore, his curiosity was roused. What had the little devil been up to?

He overtook the Oglethorpe flapper and seizing her hand drew it through his arm.

"I'll take you where you can get a sandwich," he said. "But I'll not take you to a restaurant. Too likely to meet newspaper men."

"Anything to drink?"

"Ice cream soda."

"Good Lord!"

"You needn't drink it. But you'll get nothing else. Come along or I'll pick you up and carry you to the nearest garage."

She trotted obediently beside him, a fragile dainty figure; carried limply, however, and little more distinguished than flappers of inferior origin. He led her to a rather luxurious delicatessen not far from his hotel, kept by enterprising Italians who never closed their doors. They seated themselves uncomfortably at the high counter, and the sleepy attendant served them with sandwiches, then retired to the back of the shop. He was settling himself to alert repose when Miss Oglethorpe suddenly changed her mind and ordered a chocolate ice cream soda. Then she ordered another, and she ate six sandwiches, a slice of cake and two bananas.

"Great heaven!" exclaimed Clavering. "You must have the stomach of an ostrich."

"Can eat nails and drink fire water."

"Well, you won't two years hence, and you'll look it, too."

"Oh, no I won't. I'll marry when I'm nineteen and a half and settle down."

"I should say you were heading the other way. Where have you been tonight?"

"Donny Farren gave a party in his rooms and passed out just as he was about to take me home. I loosened his collar and put a pillow under his head, but I couldn't lift him, even to the sofa. Too fat."

"I suppose you pride yourself on being a good sport."

"Rather. If Donny'd been ill I'd have stayed with him all night, but he was dead to the world."

"You say he had a party. Why didn't some of the others take you home?"

"Ever hear about three being a crowd? Donny, naturally, was all for taking me home, and didn't show any signs of collapse till the last minute."

"But I should think that for decency's sake you'd all have gone down together."

"Lord! How old fashioned you are. I was finishing a cigarette and never thought of it." She opened a little gold mesh bag, took out a cigarette and lit it. Her cheeks were flushed under the rouge and her large black eyes glittered in her fluid little face. She was one of the beauties of the season's debutantes, but scornful of nature. Her olive complexion was thickly powdered and there was a delicate smudge of black under her lower lashes and even on her eyelids. He had never seen her quite so blatantly made up before, but then he had seen little of her since the beginning of her first season. He rarely went to parties, and she was almost as rarely in her own home or her grandmother's. Her short hair curled about her face. In spite of her paint she looked like a child—a greedy child playing with life.

"Look here!" he said. "How far do you go?"

"Wouuldn't you like to know?"

"I should. Not for personal reasons, for girls of your age bore me to extinction, but you've a certain sociological interest. I wonder if you are really any worse than your predecessors?"

"I guess girls have always been human enough, but we have more opportunities. We've made 'em. This is our age and we're enjoying it to the limit. God! What stupid times girls must have had—some of them do yet. They're naturally goody-goody, or their parents are too much for them. Not many, though. Parents have taken a back seat."

"I don't quite see what you get out of it—guzzling, and smoking your nerves out by the roots, and making yourselves cheap with men little older than yourselves."

"You don't see, I suppose, why girls should have their fling, or"—her voice wavered curiously—"why youth takes naturally to youth. I suppose you think that is a cruel thing for a girl to say."

"Not in the least," he answered cheerfully. "Don't mind a bit. But what do you get out of it—that's what I'm curious to know."

She tossed her head and blew a perfect ring. "Don't you know that girls never really enjoyed life before?"

"It depends upon the point of view, I should think."

"No, there's a lot more in it than you guess. The girls used to sit around waiting for men to call and wondering if they'd condescend to show up at the next dance; while the men fairly raced after the girls with whom they could have a free and easy time—no company manners, no chaperons, no prudish affectations about kisses and things. No fear of shocking if they wanted to let go—the strain must have been awful."

"I Had Terrible Backache From Kidney Disease"

Mrs. M. A. McNeill, Canaan Sta., N.B., writes:

"I was troubled for years with terrible backache, resulting from kidney disease. At times in each month I remained in bed, the pain was more than I could stand, and to walk was almost impossible. I used about $50.00 worth of other medicines, but with little results. Now I am completely better, after using only five boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

THE TEACHERS' CONVENTION

At the Teachers' Convention Sister Paula of St. Peter's School read a paper on "Politeness in Our Schools." As the paper was of general public interest the teachers desired that it be printed in full.

The Value of Politeness in Our Schools

"If you sit down at set of sun,
And count the acts that you have done;
And counting, find one self-denying deed, one word
That eased the heart of him that heard;
One glance most kind
That fell like sunshine where it went:
Then you may count that day well spent."

Many a story-writer has affected us with the innocence of childhood; many a poet has enraptured us with the beauties of boyhood and girlhood; many a moralist has painted for us the beauties of childhood; but only here and there has some one portrayed the good manners of children. Perhaps they have considered the subject to be too generic, too elusive for sympathetic treatment. Whatever the reason, the word represents an untouched field, and he who enters therein must be a guide unto himself. And yet politeness is of vital importance. The little, half-heard undertones of kindness in a person's life are what makes the whole tone sweet and deep under the stroke of God's hand.

"For manners are not idle, but the fruit
Of loyal nature and of noble mind."

Politeness represents a great deal more than social observances; it stands as the outward expression of some of the deepest springs of conduct. There is something noble in its origin—the laws of hospitality, reverence for innocence and weakness, or the sensitiveness of personal honour, the instinct of what is due to oneself.

Courtesy may be innate, or acquired by long training and self-discipline. It does not matter. No one asks its origin in us; but everyone recognizes its presence and does honour to the possessor. Politeness bears a similarity to health, beauty, learning and talent, of which you can, tell, indeed, their presence or absence but to express in words the ideas involved creates a difficulty. Politeness bears various names. We encounter it under deportment, courtesy, good manners and deference. To me, the simplest form, politeness, penetrates to the root of the virtue itself. Politeness is the most priceless of earthly virtues because it is grounded on some of the most fundamental and most plausible qualities that humanity possesses, and is attended by a retinue comprised of all the others. With courtesy blossom its inseparable companions, kindness and thoughtfulness. The tendrils of these triune traits are so intertwined that one cannot exist unless in the company of its cherished associates. Kindness, perhaps, is the central sun which shines upon and matures the fruits of the others. It creates thoughtfulness, and this, in turn, begets politeness.

Much of our peace and happiness in this world depends on the disposition of our fellow beings towards us. "Do as you would be done by" is an adage of as intrinsic value nowadays as it was in its original sense. Whether I like it or not, am my brother's keeper. I may not be able to do much, but I can do a little by word or act to show that I possess that touch of nature which makes the whole world akin. Emerson, the noted exponent of courtesy, affirms that good manners rule the world. They make friends, procure trade, provide the key for the portal of social intercourse, further diplomacy, disarm hostility and secure co-operation. They contribute to the comfort and enjoyment of man. Man must learn his correct relation to man and the acquisition of the lesson must be brought home so effectually that he will remember the lesson and its practice during life. The great trouble with mankind is selfishness. To counteract this, the limitations on personal action must be instilled into the children. They are the present worth and the future promise of the human race. Consequently they must learn that one's own rights end exactly where another's rights begin. It is essential that they be imbued with the knowledge of the limitless joy that is experienced only by serving others.

It is our privilege, and, if rightly taken, our constant joy to co-operate with God in His great work of accomplishing and perfecting the designs of creation. The renewal of the world, its conservation in a healthy spirit, the destiny of its future citizens is in the hands of the teacher of today in a much more emphatic sense than ever before. The home spirit is declining; the parents are hurrying from their home cares, called thence by the insistent, strident notes of multitudinous social duties. They have relegated the upbringing of their children, their priceless treasures, almost entirely into the hands of the teachers.

Then, if we must assume this almost superhuman task, it is meet that we should plan ways and means to shoulder our responsibility. The most efficacious means to aid in the formation of the child's plastic mind, in the moulding of his young body into the lines of grace and charm, and in the making of his young life fine and beautiful is courtesy.

Safely feed the little ones. We may feed them, and yet in our very good-heartedness, which is sometimes a weakness, we may overfeed them, or feed them at the wrong time, or in a manner too hasty, or in morsels too big for the little minds. How many parents are careless in the nourishment they provide for the development of the characters of their children. The majority sadly neglect their little ones by failing to provide any food that may be assimilated into the essence of meekness and courtesy. Generally the family conseht to regard manners as extinct, and, only too late, wake up to the fact that the children are rough, self-assertive and unmannerly. Then the school is held accountable and must bear its mead of blame. Let us endeavor to supply the home deficiencies by studying the child in all his faculties, to the depths of his being, that thoroughly known, we may view him circumspectly and do all to advance him in safety along the rugged path which leads to the attainment of manly ideals.

Primarily, in our inculcation of politeness, we must look into ourselves and ascertain the extent with which this spirit imbues our own character. For of all lessons, the best is the living lesson. As Milton would have the poet himself a poem, so the excellent teacher will be courtesy incarnate. Courtesy is a product of good motives. At the bottom of good manners there are always three factors—self-sacrifice, self-control, self-respect. Is our foundation built on these essentials? Our characters, not our achievements, give abiding value to our work. And if we possess the requisite qualities the achievements will necessarily be their products. Essentially, every teacher must be a rainbow maker, a dispenser of happiness, giving forth smiles and good cheer. A spirit of kindness and thoughtfulness results, and this leads to the courteous treatment of our thoughtfulness results, and this leads to the courteous treatment of our pupils. The essence of our politeness is naturally reflected in the good manners of our pupils.

What is our next step after our introspective glances have met with approval? How can we infuse these impressionable minds with kindness? By moulding it into the daily habits of our pupils: teach it as one would a game. Enumerate the rules; then practice, practice, practice. At first the courteous act requires conscious effort. Persistent practice, however, crystallizes this conscious effort into confirmed habit. "Sow an act," says the proverb, "reap a habit; sow a habit, reap a character." In this materialistic age is it not to our advantage to habituate our pupils to politeness, that virtue so important in the social atmosphere which permeates so many of their daily actions? Not possessing it, they are asked no favours, and receive few. If a little child performs an act of courtesy once, the tiny record is imprinted in his mind. Next time the record is more clearly defined, and finally he automatically performs the action whenever the proper stimulus is encountered.

In each nature selfishness presents itself in some form. Yes, our poor human nature is prone to lead us along the downward path, unless constantly uplifted from its thraldom. Its great artifice, self-love, must be studied in each individual in order that the forward may be repressed, the shy or indolent stimulated, the dreamy quickened into attention, and all other defects recognized and taken, literally, in hand to be modified to a better form. The counsels we impart must be definite and clear and oft-repeated. If the repetition has in it the element of impatience, it becomes faultfinding or nagging. Children hate nagging: we all do. Repeat, but be serious and kind about it—not irritable. Quiet insistence is not nagging. Repeat what? These directions we give our pupils as to what they may not do, or must do, that others may not be inconvenienced. The category would comprise an infinite number of divers rules.

Let me enumerate a few of the outstanding ones:

Children should not run in crowds, shouting on the streets; this annoys their elders whom they meet. Children in doing it betray ill-manners.

School children should avoid slovenly positions in the class-room. These negligent postures manifest lack of respect to those present. Children will not persist in these careless habits if they know them to be offensive to one whom they respect. Should it not be a duty of the Primary and the Junior Class teachers to teach correct sitting positions and insist on their being adhered to? Little children are amenable to good order. How humiliating to a pupil in a senior grade or in the High School, where all may possibly be strangers to him, to be reminded that his manners in this regard are offensive.

Pupils should avoid staring the one who is interrogated. It is confusing to a child, who is being corrected for instance, if a dozen others turn and stare. Therefore how inconsiderate on the part of these—how ill-mannered. But why should it be necessary to speak of this fault in, I shall not say the High School, but the Entrance Class, Third Class? Such a fault betokens that rude curiosity about the business of others that should be repressed early and effectively. It is a flagrant breach of good manners.

We should instruct our pupils to ask pardon if their manners are unintentionally annoying or disturbing, e.g., if a ruler or a book fall, the owner should rise and say "I'm sorry."

Children should not drop paper on the floor. It is an untidy habit and besides it makes work for others. If paper is there, they should be led to train themselves to see it and pick it up. A spirit of neatness is instilled, and what is even more admirable, spirit of helpfulness towards others.

They should avoid boisterous talking and laughing. The tones of the voice proclaim quite accurately the distinctive underlying qualities of a person, especially of a girl. "Her voice was ever soft, gentle and low—an excellent thing in women."

Children should rise when an older person enters the room, remain standing until the courtesy is acknowledged or until the older person is seated.

They should never laugh at the accidents or misfortunes of others, even if there is a ridiculous side. Nothing shows ill-breeding so surely. Lack of consideration is frequently shown to the aged, much to our discredit as a nation.

"He who laughs at others woes, Finds few friends and many foes."

Children should be essentially respectful and helpful to the teacher. They should be on the alert to render her a service—clean brushes and

GIRLS CROWD MOVIELAND BUT FEW FIND POSITION

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., December 4 (Associated Press). — Scores of young girls, movie struck, arrive here every week, most of them with no recommendations beyond flattering notices in home-town papers, according to the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, which has started a campaign to warn young persons throughout the country of the futility of finding screen jobs, unless they are qualified and have been encouraged to apply at the studios.

The Chamber of Commerce estimates the population of Hollywood at 85,000, of whom, it states, less than 15,000 are engaged in the film industry.

The girls who drop in from the ends of the earth all are willing to become stars, but most of them are unable to find even minor parts. With their funs exhausted, many of them turn out to be a problem for social and civic workers.

The Chamber is endeavouring to spread broadcast information about how few the chances are for cinema glory and how many are the trials and privations on the path to such an ambition.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION

black-boards, arrange books, offer a chair, etc. These are gentlemanly actions. Older pupils, boys particularly, often think it savours of effeminacy to render such services.

The older children impelled by their enthusiasm and energy, often unintentionally trespass upon the rights of the younger and weaker. Here, on the playground, a boy should receive his first lessons in respecting the rights of others, and in feeling the limitations which society and public opinion set upon his actions.

I might go on and on. The foregoing is merely suggestive. Of course, I do not mean that we should make a multitude of rules; the end would be lost in the means. But the children should know what is expected of them and should be reminded every time they fail. It is useless to refer to matters of this kind once or twice, or even to continue for a week or a month and then cease. It is the quiet, persistent, patient, persevering reminding from week to week, from month to month, from year to year, that will have the desired effect.

This patient repetition does not suppose slowness or dullness: on the contrary, it must be accompanied with alertness and rapidity. We must not stop to nap like the hare, nor drag wearily on like his tardy rival, but must combine the virtues of the two. We get out of a thing only as much as we put into it.

The same returns must be not expected from all. A great deal depends on the nature of the child. It is useless to press for what cannot be given; it is unfair not to exact the best that everyone is able to give. We must surround our efforts by the chime of cheer rather than the dirge of discord. Let us strive to bring some cheer, not only to each day's work but to each lesson. We were not made to be sad, and unless the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune make us so, we are not so. And if we meet a pupil who is "sour and sad" like Wednesday's child, we should make life brighter for him.

In this connection, I remember a case that occurred in our own school some time ago. The teachers spoke, one day, of a boy whose lessons were unprepared, and whose appearance was untidy; they spoke with reason. He had spent the previous night till daybreak ministering to the wants of his sick mother. Their means did not permit the procuring of a nurse. This is rare, but it serves to prove that we are ignorant of the home surroundings.

The parents who burden their children unnecessarily do them an irreparable wrong, but little plants stretch to the sunlight, darken their dwelling as we may, and could we not provide a little of that sunlight at school if we tried? The frown, the scolding voice, the impatience with childish folly are contrary to the teaching profession. There should be no dark days for children. It is easy to make them happy.

The teacher who has attained success in her quest after the general uplifting of her pupils, has displayed untiring energy, ceaseless labour and admirable perseverance. But she is repaid by the satisfaction she experiences in seeing the improvement manifested. Politeness appears in them like a special sense superadded to the ordinary endowments of nature, giving presence of mind and self-possession; arming the whole being against surprise or awkwardness or indiscretion. It controls what has so long appeared to exercise control over it—the conditions of social intercourse.

In her untiring self-sacrificing efforts no thought of value accruing to herself has asserted itself. But quietly and imperceptibly her personal reward, material but none the less desirable, has been accumulating and this something inestimable, one day asserts itself in its invaluable form—the general good order which prevails in the school.

The present and the future are full of new possibilities and of unknown quantities; we can be more successful discoverers and explorers in the child realm than ever before. Let us be up and doing. Think what we want our pupils to be ten, twenty years hence and labour to set up now the ideals and lofty aspirations to which through years their souls shall grow. Under our care the thoughtful heart will produce the flower of kineness exuding its perfume, politeness. The aroma will spread with undiminished fragrance from teacher to pupils, from pupils to companions and will be thus dispersed throughout the school and home environments. We provide the soil, the sunshine, the air and the moisture necessary to fructify the plants entrusted to our care. By using the instincts and devotion paramount in every child, we train them to display the exactions of politeness—the perpetual give up, give way, give thanks, make a fitting answer, pause, think of others, wait and serve, which require watchfulness and self-sacrifice. And in our efforts to instil such, each one of us may say in accord with Belloc:

"Of courtesy,—it is not less
Than courage of heart or holiness,
Yet in my walks it seems to me

29 CURTAIN CALLS

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—An ovation paralleling that which greeted Mme. Duse's first appearance at the Metropolitan Opera House a few weeks ago was extended to her upon the conclusion of her New York engagement yesterday afternoon with the performance of "La Citta Morta" at the Century Theatre. Mme. Duse was required to respond to twenty-seven curtain calls from the enthusiastic and cheering audience, and there was a large group of admirers who waited in the rain for a sight of her as she entered her automobile upon leaving the theatre.

FUNDAMENTAL MEETING WAS HELD LAST NIGHT

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. — (Canadian Press.)—A Canadian last night entered a controversy that is being waged in the Baptist denomination between fundamentalists and the so-called "modernist" factions.

Dr. T. T. Shields, Toronto, speaking at Fundamentist meeting in Calvery church last night, declared that he had refused last week to attend the installation services of a new Chancellor of McMaster University, Toronto, because Dr. W. H. P. Faunce, of Brown University, was among those to receive degrees.

"I refused to stand on the same platform with one who would deny the divinity of Christ," said Dr. Shields. "I consider conferring of a degree on Dr. Faunce a dishonour to the University and a disgrace to the Baptist denomination."

How Love For Convict Cost Lives of Six Men

Six lives—the toll of a woman's love.

Back in a little Kentucky town, a woman loved a convict. He loved her. She, determined to have him, committed the act that resulted in the "Siege of Eddyville." Three "lifters" tried to shoot their way to freedom, killing three men who were in their way. But they paid the price—death.

A little band of Salvation Army workers in a small Kentucky town, not more than 20 miles from Louisville, is holding a street corner "meeting." The musicians strike up a tune, and a clear, rich young voice is raised as a girl not more than 20 years old, sings "Jesus Saves."

This girl, as pretty a girl as Kentucky usually produces, is Lillian Manger, the daughter of the leader of this little Salvation Army band, and the woman who loved too well.

Lillian craved nice clothes and the other little luxuries so much the delight of the young girl today. But circumstances at home prohibited it, for a Salvation Army captain, with others at home besides Lillian to care for, could not buy them on his meager salary.

Split With Parents

Moving with her parents to Newcastle, Ind., Lillian found work as a cashier in a restaurant, despite the protests at home. But the venture was not a success. She fell out with her parents and was afraid to return home. One day a man paid his check at the counter and noticed that she seemed blue.

"What is the trouble?" he asked.

"Oh, nothing," she replied. But the man, who understood women, was not satisfied with the reply and continued his questioning until the girl, glad in finding some one in whom she might confide her trouble, told her story.

"Look here," he said, "I can help you out and you must let me. Here." drawing some money from his pocket, "take this and pay your board bill. Then go home and tell your parents you are sorry."

"But who are you?" asked the girl. "I can't accept this from a stranger."

A Friend in Need

"My name is Monte Walters," replied the stranger. "My friends know me as 'Tex.' But never mind the thanks and protests. Do as I told you."

Now Walters, as the facts have been learned, was a young man of the world, good-looking and fairly well educated. He had not always hued to the straight and narrow path, but for several months, while in Newcastle before having met Lillian, he had been going straight. And so he continued, as this little encounter in the restaurant resulted in the two becoming fast friends, even, in fact, bidding fair to ripening into something more serious.

But the shadow of a stalking officer of the law ever haunted Walters footsteps. He mustn't continue going with this little girl. If found in his company she might be arrested, too. Then, again, he didn't want her to know of his past. So a story was framed.

"I'm going West," he told her one night. "Maybe I can send for you after awhile."

"Send for me nothing; I'll go with you," Lillian replied, sobbing. "I'll follow you to the end of the world. I can't live without you."

Battle Together

So they were married and started down the long road of life together. They moved to Guthrie Center, Ia., and lived with 'Tex's' parents, who had no idea but that 'Tex' was the good little boy he had been when living at home. 'Tex' found work, and what a difference it was to receive that pay check at the end of each week, honestly earned, and to go home each night to the arms of a loving wife. What a difference from that of the hunted criminal, ever crouching in out of the way places, wondering what moment a police officer was going to tap you on the shoulder and say, "the chief wants to see you!"

But it didn't last. Lillian, Tex saw, didn't have all the nice clothes the other women wore. Why couldn't she have them? If he couldn't buy them out of his salary he knew a way that he could. Of course, this reasoning was done without asking Lillian her wishes. She, in all probability, would have vetoed the proposal as she was happy where she was.

A month later found Tex and Lillian in Flemingsburg, Ky., and a few days later in Louisville. Here it was that Lillian learned the character of the man she had married.

Faces Conflict

"Tex" was a crook—she would leave him. Tex had saved her life—she would stand by him. Her parents would be heartbroken when they learned her husband was a gunman—she would leave him. He had taken care of her, protected her—she must stand by him. He worshipped her enough to do anything for her—except go straight. Probably she could save him if she didn't desert him in this great hour of need. She would stand by, and she did.

The life of this daughter of a Salvation Army captain then became that of the woman of the underworld—still not of the underworld. Her job was to shadow Tex, to be near him, to protect him.

A big "job" was to be pulled. Tex gained the aid of two other men, and a milkman, who usually carried much money with him on his route was held up. But the "job" went wrong. The milkman was slain, and Tex and his companions were caught. Lillian, who had been a block away from the scene of the murder, was arrested, too.

"Peaches" on Pals

Seeing that his wife might be sent up, too, Tex told the officers she was innocent and that if they would let her go he would tell the whole story. Lillian was released and Tex and the other two men were sent up for life.

Tex was taken to the Frankfort Reformatory, but threats of the other two men, on whom he had "peached," caused the authorities to move him to the Eddyville prison. And to the town of Eddyville came Lillian—just to be near "Dear Tex." Her visits to the prison were frequent. She seemed such a nice little woman that the guards did not trouble to search her.

On one of these visits she slipped Tex a package when nobody was watching. Tex wanted to get out and she wanted to help him. The package contained revolvers, and thus was made possible the terrible prison tragedy.

With two other life termers Tex made a dash for liberty. Three guards were killed, but the convicts, seeing their way to the outside still blocked, barricaded themselves in the mess hall, where, for four days and nights, they were under fire. They were found dead in the ruins of the hall, shot through the head. They gave no quarter and expected none.

And the last thoughts of this gunman were of the woman he loved. Near his body lay a note, penned on prison stationary. It said:

"Love to you, beloved. I am wounded and surrounded by guards. Goodby."

DOMINICK MAGGIO WAS FOUND DEAD IN HOUSE

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(Canadian Press.) — Dominick Maggio, who laughed three weeks ago when he received a letter signed with a smeary black hand and demanding money or his life, was shot dead early to-day in his Brooklyn home after his wife, three children and himself had been chloroformed. Gas masks, an empty chloroform bottle, the murder gun and two empty cartridges were left by the slayers beside the victim's bed.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

WHAT IS JAZZ?

To the Editor of THE EXAMINER:

Sir:—This is the jazz age and it has only just begun. It is particularly bad amongst so-called Christian people in so-called Christian countries. The Near East and the Far East are no worse in any particular than they ever were but the worst—it has broken loose from all restraint. Chiefly is this true of North America which a few years ago prided itself on being so good that nature and the Creator of nature could no longer be taken as models. They were not good and pious enough. This conviction of superiority resulted in madness and that madness has taken the form of jazz which being a corruption of the word "crazy," justly describes the mental, spiritual and physical condition of those "good" people who love excitement and a fight. Not that they are warriors bold. Oh, no! It is the ballot and the policeman's billy that they use. They themselves couldn't fight a flea. But they love the game of "be good—I'm boss." It suits that form of mentality which, when it cuts loose, becomes jazzy or crazy and ends as North America is ending—in hell.

Physical excitement is the end and aim of jazz. Riot is the mother of passion and passion is the mother of the lowest vices in the human anatomy.

We can't explain it more clearly. If we tried we should be up for indecent exposure. Nevertheless, it is horrible. It is the madness of sex. Now, do you know what it is? The nervous system is a peculiar thing. When once we lose control of it it runs away with us and stops only in the strait-jacket, at the asylum. It spreads like any other plague. It first of all attacks those whose spiritual pride is such that they ignore God, God's laws and the plan of nature. Then they ignore human rights, the rights of other people, usually better in every way, train themselves, and when they reach that point they anger those whom they seek to coerce with the inevitable result that the latter go mad too and do all in their power to smash up the social order.

Winters of Washington society picture a condition of things in the U. S. That is almost beyond belief. Sex and the madness of sex as expressed in jazz have gained a complete ascendancy over the rising generation. The old order was smashed by the self-styled goody-goodies who rode roughshod over decent people and their example has been followed gladly with the result that from the pulpit which has wrecked the Bible to the purlieus of the lowest dance-hall all is havoc, horror and hell. Who cares to be decent any longer and why should they?

It is no longer deserving. It is to become the slave of those whose pride has made them mad. The prophecy says that when we go mad we shall be destroyed, and thanks to those who propose to govern by the law of their own sweet will, and not by the divine law of liberty, repentance and piety, we are on the brink of destruction. Where once was liberty now all is licence and worse than licence. We are in the deadly grip of that monster of excitement and evil passion—jazz.

The British Elections

(By WICKHAM STEED)

(Wickham Steed, Former Editor of The London Times, Editor of Review of Reviews, Registered in Accordance with the Copyright Act).

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Forecasts of the results are now being used as electoral arguments. Each party in turn asserts that its chances of victory are so good that a slight additional effort on the part of the voters on Thursday is certain to give it a complete triumph. Among the forecasters, Asquith is the safest. "Whatever the precise composition of the new House of Commons and the exact numerical proportion between one party and another, Baldwin will not be given the mandate he asks for," Asquith declared yesterday. "The election will not supply him, or anybody associated with him, with a majority adequate in numbers or authority to dethrone Free Trade in this country."

It is a curious circumstance that the Conservative prophets do not contradict Asquith. The rosiest Conservative forecasts do not give Baldwin more than 321 seats, compared with 346 in the last Parliament. Thus they admit the probable loss of 25 seats, counting 50 on a division in the lobbies. When the abstention or opposition of two dozen Conservative Free Traders is also accounted for, Baldwin's majority evaporates, even on the most favorable reckoning. Lloyd George and Winston Churchill are bolder than Asquith. They now predict several millions majority for Free Trade, but they still avoid saying whether they reckon the Labor vote as a vote for Free Trade.

Baldwin joins issue with them in this and not altogether without reason. With three distinct parties in the state, he claimed that whoever wins must do so on a minority of the total vote, but that the policy of the party which wins might command more than a minority of its supporters in this country. The real dog fight was between Liberals and Labor, he declared. The Laborites did not love him, but they hated the Liberals.

Where Laborites are fighting Liberals and Liberals who are supporting Free Trade got beaten, would the Labor victory be a triumph for Free Trade? he asked. The Labor party were fighting for their own policy, not for Free Trade.

This is the first official hint that Baldwin, if he secures a small numerical majority, may attempt to carry out his policy by an agreement or even by coalition with Labor. Despite Labor professions of hostility to Baldwin's proposals, it is not certain whether the Laborites would not prefer a period of co-operation with the Tories to a fresh general election, a few weeks or months hense. If, however, Baldwin fails to get a numerical majority, the outlook for the House of Commons will be chaotic.

From direct experience of his constituency in a southern English county, I am inclined to believe that Baldwin will not get a numerical majority, his constituency having been a Conservative stronghold. It includes several small manufacturing towns and a large area of farm land. Last year the Liberal candidate was hopelessly beaten, and his meetings were sparsely attended. This year the Liberal meetings are crowded by eager and attentive audiences, including a large proportion of working men and women, who cheer every reference to Free Trade. The farm laborers are also supporting the Liberal candidate, saying that they wont let Baldwin rob their stomachs. Though the local manufacturers, like the majority of manufacturers throughout England, favor Protection, the majority of their workmen seem inclined in the other direction, and they will likely vote Liberal where they do not vote Labor.

A good deal of the organized rowdyism is now noticeable in some London constituencies. Winston Churchill, who spoke twice in London yesterday, had a hostile reception, the window of his car being smashed. He is saddled in the popular imagination with the responsibility for the Dardanelles failure, and he is also believed to be a warmonger on the principles of Lloyd George; on the other hand, is wildly cheered and carried shoulder high wherever he goes. After a successful tour of East Anglia yesterday, he started for South Wales to-day, and will finish up with Brighton and London to-morrow.

Among the most incalculable of the influences in the closing stages of the campaign is the deep interest of the electorate in the European situation. Candidates find that questions in reparations and the settlement of Europe are those put the most often by their hearers, and that they are the hardest to answer. This interest may turn hundreds of thousands of votes one way or the other, according as the electors believe that Lloyd George is chiefly answerable for the European muddle or that he is the best man to settle it. But before Thursday night or Friday morning nobody will be able to guess exactly how this or any other influence has worked.

WATER LEVELS GAVE TROUBLE TO INDUSTRIES ON OTONABEE ON BUILDING THE FIRST LOCK

Dam at Hastings Raised Water Level at Peterboro to Relief of the Steamer Trade But Causing Trouble to Residents Whose Lands Were Flooded—Dr. Gilchrist's Mills Injured.

DISTILLERY FLOODED.

(By F. H. DOBBIN)

Not all the men of years ago, identified with the early progress of the town of Peterborough and District, were exclusively of the town plot. Out in the townships were many men of sterling character, competent grasp of affairs, industrious and such as set the pace for others to follow and endeavor to excel. Especially noticeable were those of shrewd common sense, and who held, in some respects, a vision of the future of the district, and an appreciation of the natural resources both on and under the soil, all awaiting development in the future. Those who at a time when the many hesitated to make investments in the much needed mills and other enterprises, required to supply the needs of settlers did not hesitate to take a stake in the land and venture.

Such a man was John Gilchrist, primarily of Keene, in the township of Otonabee and County of Peterborough. A certified medical practitioner. Measured by the extent of his several activities he was indeed much more. Merchant, mill owner, farmer, lumberman and distiller. All of these engagements furnished much needed employment, and were valued accordingly.

Early Settlers

The first settlers to take up lands, now covered by the site of the village of Keene, were Thomas and Andrew Carr, both Scotchmen. Thomas had lived for several years in the West Indies, but returned to Edinburgh, passed through an operation for a diseased knee, and with his brother came out in 1819, taking up 200 acres, placed as noted above.

Dr. Gilchrist came to Keene in 1824, and the year following put up a grist mill with one run of stones and a saw mill with one upright saw. The water to furnish power to carry on these industries was diverted from the Indian River for a half-mile above the location, the tail race to discharge into the river just above the bridge at the river crossing as we see it today. He opened the first store in the village in 1829-30, to be followed shortly afterwards by Dougal Campbell and Foley & Glover. Archibald Nelson kept tavern and a Mrs. Hartley provided similar accommodation.

While Dr. Gilchrist had his headquarters at Keene, he opened a medical office at Peterborough, and carried on practice very successfully, his house being kept for him by a sister. Not content with all these enterprises on his hands he dipped into politics and for a term or two represented the District in the Upper Canada legislature. He was a staunch Baldwin reformer, and was one of those put in jail, for a short term for participation in the rebellion of 1837. He removed, in after years, to Port Hope, where he passed away. Having lived about as active a life as any man might hope for and accomplish.

Fly in Ointment

So much for the man. How about his enterprises. There seems to be ever and often a fly in the ointment. Some unforseen hindrance that crops up to spoil plans and projects. And it is in this relation that this writing is written. For a time things ran smoothly at the grist and saw mill until that disturbing factor, to be afterwards known as "navigation," came on the scene and began to trouble the waters of Rice Lake and the river Otonabee. Together with certain—at that time—national propositions that a line of canal communication, entirely inside Canada should prevail, by means of the Ottawa river, the Rideau canal, along the shore of Lake Ontario, and up the Trent river and lakes above, to debouch somewheres on Georgian Bay, or carry along to the western shore of Lake Simcoe. The whole entirely free from American domination, as having been displayed during the war of 1812, a trifle over twenty years before. A Mr. Baird reported, and in 1836-38 the lock at Peterborough, on the Otonabee river was built, and in 1837 a lock and dam were built at Crook's Rapids (now Hastings) at a cost of £7062. 0. 0. This dam and lock was a source of much trouble to Dr. Gilchrist, as follows:

The immediate effect was to raise the level of the waters of Rice Lake about three feet, and this added depth of water extended all the way up the Otonabee to Peterborough, much to the relief, among others, of one Capt. George May, of Peterborough, whose steamers "Forester" and "Royal George" had contracted the disagreeable habit of running aground at divers points on the river. Three feet additional depth all along the river flooded considerable of the low lands in North and South Monaghan, and damages were spoken of, bu the inhabitants let it go at that, for at least a spell. Afterwards there was trouble galore.

Mills Held Up

Now three feet of water, backed up on the tail race of Dr. Gilchrist's saw and grist mills, was a most disturbing situation. Assuredly so. The head of water was never good, and to lie down under the infliction was not to be thought of. Not only were the mills impeded, but the distillery was flooded out, a deplorable infliction and a great hindrance to certain trade, but the road to reach the mills, along the west side of the river (Indian river), or what there was of it within the village limits, was rendered useless. Additional outrage, viz., several dwellings built by Dr. Gilchrist along the road for the living in of his many employees acquired we feet or footings, which ever be the correct expression. Taken all in all there was considerable industrial gloom over the neighborhood.

But the medical practitioner and owner was resoureeful, and did what many a man has done, and will perpetrate for years to come, got after the Government for heaps of damages. Like all governmental proceedings, the departments asked for a bill of particulars. Guesses and estimates would not be accepted. Asked for clear and undeniable evidence. So a commission of two, from Toronto, came along and poked into all sorts of places, and asked many unpleasant questions, and called for statements on paper, all of which was somewhat disconcerting, to a man who had many patients on his hands.

From a fyle of old papers, containing the incidents of the long contended claims and ultimate settlements the following interesting relations are extracted. Possibly because there was less of it, a sort of open and shut proposition, and one good to commence on, the matter of damages to the distillery was gone into first, and the commission viewed the deceased industry. Evidence was taken, from those who were employed in the place and sundry others who had convictions. During the inspection of the commission such products as were in stock, and out of reach of the water, were open to inspection and to sampling. With unsteadying effect, at times.

A Thirsty Longing

In these now days of prohibition and bootlegging, and a general thirsty longing for something with a kick in it, and many people trying to make the original and only, by stealth, as it were, the following is repectfully tendered. As a complete exposition of the manner and cost of making liquor in the good old days when there was nothing of excise and little of license. The Commissioners put a series of questions, (about the distillery, be it remembered) and wrote the answers. The evidence as following is inferred to be that of Dr. Gilchrist, seeking damages:

1. Supposing a distillery to consume 6 bushels of grain or chop, per day, what do you consider the average price per bushel? Ans.—2s. 3d. to 2s. 4d. per bush.

2. How many gallons of whiskey will 6 bushels of grain produce? Ans.—22¼ gals. But to produce this 30 lbs. malt, 10 lbs. flour, and ¼ lb. hops, making 4s. 6d. to be added to the grain.

3. What is the current price per gallon, at the still house? Ans.—1s 6d.

4. What do you consider the price of labor for converting 6 bushels of grain, or chop, into whiskey? Ans.—The pay of a distiller is higher than a common laborer, and may be rated at, per day, 4s. Half day for another hand, say 2s. Total, 3s. 9d.

6. What profit do you think would be made in an establishment of the above description, taking bad debts into account, or the lapses usual in this trade, per day, or per year. Ans.—One-fifth less to cover all losses.

From the above data we arrive at the following result:

Flour, malt, hops	4s 6d
Labor involved	6s 9d
Fuel, cordwood	3s 9d
	£1 7s 9d
Return would be 22½ gals. at 1s 6d (for one day)	£1 13s 9d
Balance as profit	6s

From which deduct for bad debts, etc., 1s 2d, leaving net profit at 4s 9d per day.

From the above computation it will be seen that the business man of eighty years ago had and held a very good idea of what the manufacutere nowadays figures as "overhead costs."

The owner claimed that the total loss on his distilling business amounted to £113 0. 0. This claim the Department allowed and it was paid. Very good for a start off.

Question Damages

Then the question as to damages for losses entailed in the closing down of the saw mill. Very detailed evidence was given, Roger Bates and Steve Newcombe and John Bawbill, all testifying at length. Several men from Peterborough were called to testify, including Thomas Delehey, Deputy Surveyor, Asa B. Downer and Elias Burnham. These gave evidence as to the height of water in the river at Peterborough, though one does not see clearly what that had to do with the dispute, for Peterborough would be 32 miles, at least, from the seat of action, and up hill into the bargain.

It had taken so long to settle the dispute as to the distillery that four years elapsed before the claim for damages at the sawmill came into hearing. The mill was held up during a part of each season from and including 1839 to 1843. It was acknowledged that the average work of the one saw, per day, was at 4000 ft. board measure. So Dr. Gilchrist claimed a daily loss of £3. 19s. 6d., and which estimate was worked out very minutely. Claim (1839) for 30½ working days at $15.00 per day, was put at $556.50. In 1840 things grew worse for the mill was stopped for 96 days and a bill for $1,411.20 resulted. Adding together the successive losses, as claimed, the total reached the respectable figure of $4,221.00. Most of this was paid.

* * *

Details of the manufacture of lumber are given in the evidence brought forward to determine such losses as were alleged to have been made, owing to high water. The legal standard for saw logs (buy or sell) at the time was 25 x 12, meaning 25 ft. long and 12 inches in diameter. The average price for logs, delivered at the mill, on Rice Lake, was 3s. 6d. per thousand. This price existed for many years. In reply to the question as put, "How many standard logs, on an average, do you consider will turn out 1000 ft. lumber (inch lumber), clear stuff?" The answer was "three logs."

Items of Expense

And it appeared that the following items of expense were involved in cutting 4000 ft. lumber in 24 hours, (with one saw blade, moving up and down).

Wages and board for three men at 3s. 6d. each	10s 6d
12 saw logs	£1 17s 6d
Wear and tear on mill, per day	2s 6d
Total	£2 10s 6d

This figures out, in money of today, at about $3.75 per thousand feet, and in the days as referred to above, lumber was sold at Peterborough for $6.00 per thousand feet, and in the palmy days of the lumber trade, (1858-1872), for even less, such lumber as was not esteemed for export. It was mentioned that payment for logs delivered at the mill was nearly always in barter. The price was worked out as if in cash, but nearly always resulted in payment in goods at the store, for medical services, and in lumber. The question was asked of a witness, "Do you think that any saw mill in the Newcastle District would return a clear profit of £4 per working day to the owner?" and the answer was made that there was "no such mill in the District."

By the year 1843 Dr. Gilchrist had reached the conclusion that high water would be a permanent thing forever, and freshly equipped his saw and grist mills with new wheels, shafting, etc., and calmly billed the Department for £180, for loss of time in the mills, £60. 0. 0., and for renewing the framing of a fanning mill shop, £40. 0. 0. In all £280.

Former Partnership

During the intervals of each season, when the mills were in forced idleness, Dr. Gilchrist looked about for something to do to fill in time, notwithstanding his medical practice and store, to say nothing of the farm. So he formed a partnership with a man, and went into the business of buying timber, logs and certain forest products.

It has been mentioned that Thomas Carr, one of the two pioneer settlers on the Keene townsite, had lived in the West Indies for several years. He found there, that there was a very good demand for barrel staves, made from oak, ash and elm. To form barrels in which to ship the rum, for which the Islands were celebrated. So all along Rice Lake, and indeed inland, men during winters, cut logs, split and with the old stave bench and a drawknife, turned out staves by the thousand. Flour was also exported from the district to Lower Canada, in barrels.

In building the dam and lock at Crooke's Rapids, no provision had been made for sluices, through which to run timber and logs over the dam. Such were promised by the Government, and to be ready for use in the fall of 1840. The sluices were not ready, or indeed touched, at the time that Dr. Gilchrist and his partner were ready to send through an accumulation of sticks of timber, logs and many thousands of staves. The square timber had been rafted and the staves piled on the rafts, to be forwarded down the Trent so far as practicable. On arriving at the dam the sluices were not completed and the drive was held up, indefinitely. During a high wind, one night, the rafts were pounded against the dam, and so hard that the safety of the dam was feared. The lashings of the timber rafts were cut, and the whole collection went over the dam. The Trent, for miles below was covered with floating timber, logs and many thousands of staves. As at that time the law of the river was to take what came to you, people helped themselves with alacrity. And Dr. Gilchrist got him ready another bill of damages and followed it to the bitter end.

An Investigation

There was the usual investigation. Experts and men who worked by the rule-of-thumb estimated for either or both sides. Such of the stock as remained above the dam, and some that was recovered below was retrieved. But the bill to the Department was a whopper, for it itemized that 3626 pieces of timber, destined for the British market, and equal to 176,547 cubic feet was lost. In addition 25,000 standard staves for barrels, and 40,000 West India staves were never recovered and had to be paid for.

* * *

It is an almost infallible rule in engineering and the erection of works and structures that once you disturb Nature, look out for trouble. The raising of the level of the waters in Rice Lake did more than bother Dr. Gilchrist. The Indian reservation at Hiawatha had just been allocated and settled on. Three feet of depth to the lake almost destroyed the beds of wild rice, and the crop took several years to adapt itself to the new conditions. Each stalk had to hustle to grow fully three feet longer to get the rice above water. The old-time swamps and shores, where the musk-rats bred were drowned out, and the inhabitants had to find new quarters. The same conditions prevailed along the Otonabee river, and in addition farm lands were flooded to considerable extent. Men with 100 acres on the river shore found themselves with only a scant forty acres from which to glean a living. But navigation improved to a very considerable extent, and as the regular, and only means of communication was by river and lake, benefits were realized. In winter the forest roads supplied means of access, but were ever in poor condition during spring and autumn months.

Fish from the stream of Arkansas have contributed 500,000 pounds of fish to the markets in one year.

CITY COUNCIL DECIDES TO INCREASE THE RATE POLLING MACHINERY

Two Dollars Increase for the Use of a House—Clerks and Constables to Receive More—Several New Garbage Areas Approved.

STREET CAR FARES

In connection with a bylaw introduced and passed at last night's meeting of the city council, providing polling places, poll clerks and the usual machinery for the municipal ballot on Jan. 1st it was decided to raise the fees allowed the officers and the owners of the polling places. There are sixteen more polling places this term than ever before, necessitated by the fact that women will cast their votes with the men.

The present rate of rental for a polling place is $4 for municipal; $6 for Provincial, and $8 for Dominion, elections.

On motion of Ald. Turner and McIntyre last night, the payment for municipal elections will be increased to $6; the payment to poll clerks will be increased from $4 to $5, and that to constables from $2 to $3; while the payment of $6 to deputy returning officers remains stationary. It was Ald. Turner's opinion that it is not worth while for people to open their homes to the disorganization and noise accompanying a poll for $4.

Ald. Maher originated the plan of paying the constable an extra dollar. "I have a bad reputation in the police question," he said, "but in my opinion there is the worst paid man in the lot. He is worth at least $3."

Ald. Phelan remarked that it will now cost about $125 more to take the vote.

Ald. Crowe cautioned the council "We are using the people's money, and we don't want to be extravagant." The motion carried, with Ald. Crowe strongly objecting.

Curtail Road Activities.

A motion introduced by Ald. Crowe criticizing the Suburban Roads Commission, was lost so far as last night's council was concerned, and forwarded to the legal committee for consideration, from whence it will appear before the new council of 1924.

The gist of the motion was:

"Whereas, our municipal rights are being too frequently imposed on by the Legislature in the creating of boards and commissions, with powers to demand money required for work to be done, and the councils have no voice in the expenditure, which does not meet with our approval, resolved, that all city and town councils of the province petition the legislative assembly at the next sitting through their respective members that the Suburban Roads Commission be required to submit for the approval or amendment, by said councils, its plans and estimated cost of the work to be undertaken and the roads upon which the said work is to be done during the year the approbation is made, and at the end of each year a detailed statement be given to each municipality."

In speaking to the motion, Ald Crowe criticized the Suburban Roads Commission policy in extending Sherbrooke street out the back line. "The citizens say it is ridiculous to do that," he declared, adding, "We want to know where we are at."

Ald. Morrison, city council representative on the Commission, said he was perfectly in accord with the Commission. "We don't do anything unless it is in accord with the road supervisor's plans, the government, and the Act. I personally think the hill at Sherbrooke street has been greatly improved. The Commission is not putting it over anyone. It is not being put over you or the city; everything is aboveboard. There is always a statement that can be published. I don't think Mr. Adams pays without knowing what for."

Mr. Adams: "We pay what the law says. We have no statement."

Ald. Morrison said he could see that a statement was delivered every month if the city desired it.

On suggestion of Ald. McIntyre the motion was dropped from the agenda for last night.

Two Deputations.

Joe Longo supported by A. E. Dixon was a visitor, requesting settlement of damages alleged to have been occasioned his business through the city building a sidewalk and a road in front of his store, and by blocking the entrance resulting in his losing trade. It being the opinion of the City Engineer and the Council that the property had been improved and that the temporary inconvenience was unavoidable a decision to take no action was unanimous.

Frank Reynolds, introduced by Ald. Crowe, said at the time the sewer connection was put into 769 George street a Y was incorporated in order to serve two houses. This was recently removed by the street commissioner, and Reynolds requested either its restoration or a separate connection. City Engineer Parsons denied that orders had issued from his department to remove the Y but declared that such a connection would not be permitted under the plumbing bylaw.

Mr. Wearing said he did not think the city is liable, but he suggested an adjustment. Mayor Taylor remarked that it is a question to be decided between Mr. Reynolds and the man from whom he purchased the house.

Deputy M. O. H. Denied.

A report from the Property Committee that Dr. T. W. H. Young's application for permission to authorize his daughter to take his place during his absence had been refused was taken up and considered.

Ald. Maher suggested that possibly the citizens might benefit by the appointment, and Mayor Taylor and Ald. Holloway also spoke in favor of the appointment. On a suggestion of Ald. Maher, however, that a bylaw be passed appointing an assistant to the Medical Officer of Health, Mr. Wearing informed the Council that it had not the legal power.

The report of the committee recommending that Dr. Young be informed of Council's inability to make the appointment, was adopted.

New Garbage Areas.

On application of residents the extension of the garbage area on Smith street and Victoria avenue between Downie and Dickson streets, was referred to the property committee with power to act, and similar treatment was accorded a suggestion by Ald. Turner naming the west side of Aylmer street north of Smith St. Ald. Maher and Morrison.

The property committee reported that the following have been added to the garbage collection area:

Aberdeen avenue from Benson Avenue to Aylmer street, and including No. 780 Aylmer street; Aylmer street from Aberdeen Avenue to Manning avenue, and Manning avenue, the north side only, from Aylmer street to Benson avenue, and also Nos. 367 or 365 and 369 Edinburgh street.

Licenses Granted.

J. Parrott had his cigarette license renewed for a year, and free of charge. Mr. Parrott conducts a stall on Hunter street, and is at present confined to bed. He forgot he wrote about the cigarette license, which had just expired, and offered to make good any costs in connection with his failure to renew it. Ald. Stocker and Maher.

Messrs. Welsh, Graham and Yeotes applied for billiard licenses, which on motion of Ald. Phelan and Holloway, were granted.

Street Car Fares.

In reply to the city's application to the Hydro Electric Power Commission for a reduced fare on Peterboro street cars, the Commission declared a reduction imporsible. It was added, "If necessary to reduce the fares the city should purchase the railway and operate it at its own expense."

Noise on C.N.R.

A letter from Mr. A. MacNab, C. N. R. station agent, informed council that the matter of noise and vibration caused by trains passing through the city on the C.N.D. had been taken up, and that Mr. MacNab had been informed it is the intention of the management to lay 100 pound steel next spring, and the tracks will be ballasted and raised several inches throughout the city. Mr. MacNab added that the great quantities of grain rolling through the city lately have quite drowned the whisper of death. He suggested a little more patience on the part of the citizens affected.

New Sewer.

The Board of Works recommended that notice be given of the intention to construct a sewer on Princess street, from Lock street to Maude street.

A Full Attendance.

There were present last night Mayor W. H. Taylor, Ald. Robert Morrison, N. Phelan, Joseph Crowe, E. M. Turner, W. Stocker, M. McIntyre, W. T. Holloway, J. W. Meyers, J. O. Fife and M. J. Maher.

City Engineer R. H. Parsons, City Solicitor Jos. Wearing, and City Treasurer Frank Adams were also present in an advisory capacity.

Treat Head Colds With Vicks

"Never Had Anything Better," Says Ontario Man.

At the first sign of a cold in the head, melt a little Vicks VapoRub in a spoon. Inhale the vapors. Then insert some in nostrils, snuffing it well back. You will be delighted to see how quickly it helps to break up a cold.

Another way is to heat a tin cup, put in a teaspoonful of Vicks and inhale the vapors that way. As fast as the vapors lose their strength, throw out the melted Vicks and add fresh.

Vicks VapoRub, the discovery of a Southern druggist, is a combination in salve form of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine, etc. It is the modern, direct treatment for all cold troubles, the successor to goose grease, camphorated oil, liniment, poultices and plasters.

Mr. Thomas Bakewell of 83 Lincoln street, Welland, Ont., says: "I tried Vicks VapoRub and found it satisfactory in every way. As a remedy for a cold in the head I have never had anything better. I melted a spoonful and inhaled it and got immediate relief and was able to go to my work the following morning. I always recommended it to anyone I know who is suffering from a cold the way I did."

Vicks is the ideal treatment for colds—both for grown-ups and for children—because it avoids so much internal dosing. Just as good, too, for cuts, burns, bruises, sores, stings and skin itchings.

At all drug stores, 50c a jar. For free test size package write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul St., W., Montreal, P.Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

OLD MOTHER MENDIT

Nancy took the paper and read as loudly as she could.

"Everybody quiet!" cried Dick Red Cap, the town crier, loudly.

Just then the Riddle Lady arrived, and searching in one of her big pockets, she found the riddle she had just composed. As there were no very hard words in it, she asked Nancy to read it. So Nancy took the paper and read as loudly as she could:

"Old Mother Mendit is long, sharp and thin,
She spends most of her time going out and then in.
Without much of a dress you'll be quite sure to find her,
Except for a train that she drags far behind her.

"They say that her living she earns by fine sewing,
And out to her work she is constantly going,
But though it may be that her nature's quite pushin',
Yet most of the time she's at home in her cushion.

"Gossip has it, my dears, and it's made quite a stir,
That she doesn't take sewing, but sewing takes her!
And it does so terribly that she should go bare,
When she makes clothes for others with kindness and care.

"The train that she wears (or the trains, I should say)
She changes a hundred and ten times a day.
Not that she's conceited or boastful or vain,
But she gives them away over and over again.

"Her heart must be warm, though they say 'tis of steel,
And although she is sharp, she most kindly must feel,
For she gives every stitch that she has to her back,
And comes home with nothing, alas and alack!

"Some people say she just works when she's driven,
So often kind acts fail and no thanks are given.
Just see now, my friends, if her name you can guess,
This queer, funny person who won't Wear a dress!"

Nancy stopped reading and folded up the paper. She had done very well for a little girl only in the third grade at school.

"I think it's scandalous!" declared Missez Grundy. Missez Grundy was Soloman Grundy's wife and he was so particular about things that he even took care to die on a Sunday. So no wonder Widow Grundy was prepared to be shocked at anything.

"I don't know who Old Mother Mendit was and I don't care!" she finished up with a toss of her head as she walked away.

"I know the answer," said the Maiden-All-Forlorn. "Mother Mendit was a needle, wasn't she?"

"Yes," said the Riddle Lady. "And the prize goes to you. It is a case of needles of every size."

"Oh, thank you," said the Maiden-All-Forlorn. "Now I can mend up my husband. He's the Man-All-Tattered-and-Torn, you know." And she went away happy.

MR. G. M. POWELL

Lost Weight Rapidly

Mr. Powell, much alarmed at his condition, tried Dreco and soon finds himself on high road to perfect health again.

"For some time past I had been in a run-down condition," says Mr. G. M. Powell, of 10 Lundy's Lane, Peterborough, Ont. "Although I had always taken the best of care of myself, I was rapidly losing weight. I had a tired, worn-out feeling that I couldn't rid myself of and my appetite was poor. What little I did eat caused intense suffering from indigestion and gas formation on my stomach gave me great distress.

"My kidneys were out of order too and nothing I took seemed to do either them or my stomach any good. Finally, I heard about Dreco and the splendid work it was doing right here in Peterborough. I have taken two bottles of this great remedy and have improved wonderfully. Have already increased my weight and that tired feeling has disappeared.

"What is more to the point, my food digests without the slightest trouble. My appetite is a joy to me and my kidneys are in much better shape than they have been for a long time."

The human body is the most delicate piece of machinery there is. It takes very little to put it out of order. Often you are at a loss to know the cause. You only know the effect, which is suffering. That is the time to let Dreco, the pure herbal system cleanser and rectifier, help you. Dreco contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterborough by Bond's Drug Store. Go there to-day and ask for Mr. Vaughan, the Dreco Expert, and let him explain the merits of this great remedy. There is no charge and he will tell you honestly if he believes Dreco will benefit you. Dreco is also sold in other cities as follows:

Campbellford—J. E. Birks, and by a good druggist everywhere.

British Columbia cedar poles, steel fixtures and heavy wires have been freely [illegible] ing in exceptionally fine service. Seventy-five per cent. o[illegible] are now ready to be connected to the new sub-station, which, it is expected, will be completed in a few weeks.

BANDITS WERE ACTIVE TODAY

Cabby Loaded One in His Taxi and Took Him to Police Station.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(Canadian Press.)—Hold-up men became active early to-day in Manhatten.

Six patrons and the proprietor of a Division street restaurant were lined with their faces against the wall and their pockets emptied by three masked men of money and jewels amounting to several thousand dollars.

Feigning illness a white faced youth entered an all night drug store uptown, bound and gagged the druggist and his assistant, took their jewelry and emptied the cash register.

Ludlow Schirmer lost at cards, and tried to hold up a taxicab driver and pointed a gun in his face. As the chaffeur raised his hands he knocked the gun down, dumped Schirmer into the cab and drove to a police station.

WILL NOT PAY

neet the Council in a friendly spirit he men would not have been placed n this embarrassing situation."

Alderman Crowe—"Why didn't you hink of that some time ago when his thing was starting?"

Alderman Maher—"That particular oint of view had not occurred to me."

Mr. Wearing States Quandary

Alderman Turner—"I doesn't take great deal of imagination to think hat the city will be like if the police orce retired and we had to hire nore."

Mayor Taylor—"We can't hire nore, and the Commission won't hey say they have done their duty."

Mr. Wearing, appealed to for an pinion, said he thinks there is no oubt but that the money could be aid without prejudicing the case, ut added that the Council has not he funds. The police fund has been xhausted, and you cannot borrow oney for the purpose of paying the en without the consent of the rate-ayers. The only way is to take from 'eter to pay Paul."

Mr. Wearing—"You could take rom one department to pay another. am just afraid if the policemen do uit and put in an action in Division 'ourt they will recover against the ity. The Commission has no re-ponsibility whatever; they have no ower to pay or property to attach. 'he policemen have worked for the ity. If every policeman sues the ity it is my opinion he will recover. 'he amounts are all small and there ould be no appeal from the Division ourt. You have to provide protec-ion and pay for it. I don't think ou can get away from paying these en this year."

Alderman Crowe—"We don't ex-ect to get away from it. We are aiting for the judgment."

Alderman Morrison suggested pay-ng the men under protest. "It is not heir fault," he said. "They have heir families to keep and they have o live. It is only throwing away ood money after bad to let them sue he city."

Mayor Taylor—"How are you oing to pay them? Out of your own ocket?"

Alderman Morrison—"That's all ight. You are in the Commission. 'e are behind you as mayor. I on't think the individual policemen hould suffer because of the Com-ission and perhaps other officers."

"Look Before You Leap"

Alderman Meyers remarked that he hought the money would be well pent in buying a motto to hang over he Mayoral dais reading, "Before etting into a pit consider how to get ut." His idea throughout had been, e said, to compromise. "But now re are here it is simply a matter of onsidering how we are to pay them, nd the easiest way is the best way."

Alderman Phelan—"We realized it ould be a fight. It is a hardship on he individual policeman, it is not the olicemen's fault, but I don't see how e can pay them. If they get their oney through the court that is a ifferent thing. If they sue and get he decision then we will know we ave to pay, but we should not pay hem because R. R. Hall or anyone lse writes us."

Alderman Morrison—"I am not aying any attention to R. R. Hall's itter, but you say let them sue. I ave no doubt if they do they will et their money, so there is no use in ur letting them sue."

Alderman Turner—"We are stand-ng by our guns; we are not going to ack down, but I can't see why after ccepting the services of these men e can't pay them the money we we, under protest."

Another appeal to Mr. Wearing iled to bring consolation or guid-nce, he repeating his previous de-aration that he believed the police-en would recover. "Council s in a ole," he said, "because they have ot left sufficient money. If you are oing to pay the men you must take n irregular method, and some citizen ay take an injunction against it."

Alderman Fife—"If a Committee om the Council and the Commission ad met and consulted together the se would have been decided with-ut going to law."

Mr. Wearing and others, "No."

"There is only one way to test a se of this kind," Mr. Wearing added.

Alderman Halloway declared the ouncil has not changed its mind, nd the Aldermen are not rescinding heir former actions.

"I cannot see what satisfaction we n get even if we win," said Alder-an Meyers. "Why we should fight ith each other over an act is not lain to me. No one is at fault but he people who framed the act. We an't blame the Police Commission r what they did and we can't blame he Council for trying to cut the ppropriations."

Ex-M. P. P. Tooms Blamed

Mr. Wearing—"T. Tooms says he ut the act there."

Alderman Meyers—"Yes, he did, nd he thought it was alright, but ow he finds it is all wrong. Why hould we fight and go to law be-ause Tooms put an Act on the tatute book?"

Alderman Crowe—"Because we ave the only Commission that is rbitrary. In all the other places hey come together in an arrange-ent, but our Commission is too far bove us. It is not our place to chase fter them. They should come to us o compromise. When they stand on heir dignity and go to the extreme of heir authority then we as democratic eople have a right to object. We ave rights to stand by. Let it go o a finish."

Alderman Fife (hotly)—"Yes, let it go to a finish. You wouldn't let it go to a committee when it might have been settled. You give everything else to the chairman of a committee but this you refused to refer to a committee."

Alderman Meyers—"The Commission did come to us——"

Alderman Maher—"They came to us and the Chairman of the Commission said he would not give way one iota. They assumed a fighting attitude, and I opposed a committee running after them. I do not agree with the expenditure on the car this year, and if discretion had been used in that way these poor men would not be in the position they are in. We are threatened on all sides and I for one say, 'sit pat'."

Alderman McIntyre brought the Council back to a consideration of its position by asking what the City will do if the police cease work. Alderman Turner too expressed a desire to know the city's plans for that eventuality.

Mayor Taylor intimated that the Council is getting along very nicely on the money appropriations for the year, but there is not enough to pay the police. Some committees ran over their allowances, but others were under, and the budget will break about even, he thinks.

Chairman Would Resign

Alderman Fife—"Leave it to the Chairman of the Finance Committee."

Alderman Phelan—"It won't be paid by me. At the time Judge Huycke said he would not budge one iota I said I would not sign any more cheques, and I am not going to. If the Council wishes to pay the men I am willing to retire as Chairman of the Finance Committee and give my place to anyone who will take it."

Alderman McIntyre—"I am of the same opinion, but what will we do if the police quit? Tell me that."

Alderman Phelan—"It is up to the Police Commission. All they had to do was drop two men. Now it has come to a crisis. There is no reason for the Council to worry any more Commission is at fault. "It is a case that has never been decided before. We advised the Commission in time, but they ran right along on their own rate until the $25,000 ran done. It is their fault that this has come to pass."

Alderman Maher, remarking that no one knows what the Commission does at its meetings, said no reports have appeared since April. "The last meeting of which I saw a report," he said, "was one on April 21. Have there been any meetings, or are the reporters present?"

Reverting to the present situation, Alderman Maher remarked that his previously expressed desire to pay the men had been caused by sentiment. "I am satisfied to bury the sentiment," he declared in what were the closing words of the debate, "and sit pat."

The Police Car

Alderman Crowe broached the question of the police car and the varying statements as to the expenses entailed in running it. "At the trial last week we had our solicitor there," he said. "The Chief said in the witness box the amount spent on the car was less than $600. Where was our City Solicitor with the accounts to show that was not correct, but that the proper figure was over $1,000? I think when a man goes to do a job he should take his tools with him."

Mr. Wearing—"The accounts are in court, filed as an exhibit."

Alderman Crowe—"This $600 is not correct?"

Mr. Wearing—"No. The contrary evidence is filed in court."

Alderman Crowe—"Wouldn't it be perjury in my case if I was to give this evidence the same as the Chief has done?"

Mr. Wearing—"You can do anything you like about it. It had no bearing on the case."

Alderman Crowe—"Well, what are you going to do about it?"

Alderman Maher—"We can't do anything. It is up to the Commissioners.

Closing Session

Mayor Taylor, remarking that last night was the last regular meeting of the City Council this year, thanked the Aldermen for their co-operation. "There has been the greatest harmony," he said, "and we have worked out everything very satisfactorily. The Chairmen of the various committees have watched the workings of their departments, and I believe we shall come out this year without a dollar overdraft so far as appropriations are concerned. The officials in the city buildings have always been courteous to me and willing to render me any assistance I required."

Alderman Crowe, replying, said he was the oldest in age and service, and was very glad to have served under Mayor Taylor's regime for two years.

The Mayor had carried on the work satisfactorily and had filled his position honorably. "The position calls for the very best; a man must be cultured, he must have tact and a way to meet the public, he must be able to make addresses. The position calls for the very best citizen. We haven't had it filled to the fullest extent on several years, but you did it as well and perhaps better than most. I have no fault to find. I think when a man holds a position like that for two years it is sufficient. If no one else aspires to the position I think you are worthy to hold it again. You have done your duty."

THE MAYOR IN GREAT DEMAND

Aldermen All Want Him Back Next Year—Around the Festive Board.

At the close of the last regular meeting of the City Council for 1923 Mayor W. H. Taylor entertained the members of the Council and City officials at supper when amenities were exchanged and hopes expressed by many of the guests that their host would return to the Mayoral chair for another term. Besides the Aldermen there were present, City Solicitor Joseph Wearing; City Engineer, R. H. Parsons; City Treasurer F. Adams; City Clerk S. R. Armstrong and Charles Curtis

In moving a vote of thanks to the Mayor, Alderman Phelan said he had worked well during the two years term of office. "We would like to see him return," he said. The toast was honored in the singing of "He's a jolly good fellow."

Mayor Taylor, responding, said he had enjoyed his work in Council. He had taken an interest in it and every one connected with the city administration had given him every assistance. "I have no regrets for being in public life."

Alderman Maher, speaking as the youngest member of Council, said he had enjoyed very much his year under the present Mayor and had benefitted greatly by his association and the experience gained under him. "I don't regret having offered myself," he said, "I haven't lost anything. I thought at one time I might have lost my reputation, but I hope I haven't. I think we would be glad to see Mayor Taylor return to fill his position again."

Alderman Holloway's Tribute

"I have enjoyed the last two years under Mayor Taylor," said Alderman Holloway. "I think he deserves credit for the way he has carried out the business of the past two years. There are no hard feelings between members of the Council."

Alderman Meyers testified to his pleasure in serving under Mayor Taylor, "I certainly enjoyed my municipal experience under the leadership of the Mayor. I would like to see Mayor Taylor another year in the chair. I enjoyed our meetings and I think a great deal of everyone of the members of the City Council."

Alderman Stocker expressed his thanks for the entertainment provided by Mayor Taylor Reviewing his work as Chairman of the Board of Works, he said he had taken a great interest in it and had spent considerable time on the city's business in that department. "We have done a lot of good work," he declared, adding "there is a lot yet to do." Alderman Stocker paid a tribute to his colleagues on the Board of Works, describing them as very good and efficient men.

Alderman Fife, in his usual jovial manner, entertained the gathering with a story, but refused to be drawn into a discussion of more serious matters.

Alderman Turner referred to the supper as a "farewell banquet" and testified to his pleasure in associating with Mayor Taylor. "I did not make any promises when entering the election, but I have tried to give the best of my knowledge service and ability to the civic business.

"Regarding 1924 I must say I have not come to any decision whether it will be possible for me to consider returning for a second term." He thanked the city officials, especially Mr. Armstrong, Mr. Parsons, and Mr. Adams, for their co-operation. In a special tribute to Mr. Adams, Alderman Turner described him as "a jolly good fellow."

Mayor Helped Him

Alderman McIntyre thanked the Mayor for his co-operation. "You were always ready to help me in any thing I approached you in. I tried to do my duty throughout the last two years. Like Alderman Turner I will have to appear before the people if I am to go back next year."

Alderman Morrison: "We have had a real good, home-like meeting to-night. I hope you will all return next year and help us out. We have had a real good time this year. I have sat with Mayor Taylor five years now and I have been in close touch with him. He has tried to do his duty,, and I hope he may see his way clear to come back again. I hope all the retiring members of the Council will not run for the Mayor's position. I would like to see them come to some conclusion and let one run."

City Clerk Armstrong said in the past two years the Mayor has given close attention to the business of the city, visiting the city buildings several times a day. "Members whose terms expire this year seem reluctant to say what they will do. When the time comes I think we will see the present members in the field and I hope returning to sit in the Council again."

Alderman Stocker Will Run.

The Examiner was informed by Alderman Stocker this morning that he intends to appear before the people for re-election to the City Council as Alderman. Up to to-day only Aldermen Phelan and Stocker have announced their intention to run in the contest on January 1.

HAULTAIN CHURCH HAD GOOD SOCIAL.

Impromptu Program Was Hastily Arranged—Rev. J. L. Hughes Presided.

HAULTAIN, Dec. 4.—On Friday evening last, a concert and social evening was held in Haultain school house, under the auspices of the Anglican church. In spite of the very inclement weather, which prevented many attending who had otherwise planned to be present, the room was comfortably filled, when the time arrived for proceedings to commence. Some disappointment was felt when it was known that the adverse weather conditions prevented the party from Young's Point, and others, who were to assist with the programme, from being present. An impromptu programme was hastily arranged, which was excellent in every way and enjoyed to the full by the appreciative audience. Rev. J. L. Hughes, Incumbent, presided over the gathering. The ladies of the church and friends, had provided a bountiful supply of refreshments to which full justice was done during the interval. The Church Treasury benefited by the sum of over $26.

The following programme was rendered:

TRADING PATENTS LOWER AUTO RATE.

Years Ago Automobile Manufacturers Bucked Each Other, Now They Help Each Other.

One essential reason for the marked decrease in automobile prics, compared with those of 10 or 15 years ago, is the existence of an agreement among manufacturers for the mutual exchange and use of one another's patent rights.

Years ago automobile manufacturers bucked one another. Then, with the Association of Licensed Automobile Manufacturers in control, those who were members had to pay heavy royalties to one group controlling certain essential patents for use of parts without which they could hardly put out a successful car.

In 1900 the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers was formed to combat this control. Ford also took a hand in this fight, until in 1912 the A. L. A. M. was broken up by the courts.

New Organization

Then it was that the N. A. A. M. grew into the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, now existing, and began adding to its old membership those who had been paying royalties into the old A. L. A. M. Now there are 84 passenger car and 59 truck manufacturers in the N. A. C. C., all reaping the benefits of one another's inventions.

Every invention and patent has to be disclosed to the N. A. C. C. by a manufacturer becoming a member, and this information is open to the other membership for their consideration and adoption.

Thus with interchanging patent rights, and more friendly intercourse, the automobile manufacturers have been able to lower their prices considerably.

Standardization has helped them further. In this, the Society of Automotive Engineers has had great influence. Years ago it was the A. L. A. M. rating by which manufacturers built their cars. Now the S. A. E. rating prevails.

From nuts and bolts to axles and springs and important parts of the engine, dimensions of automotive parts have been standardized. With the result that these parts could be made in large quantities to justify a marked decrease in their cost. And lower cost of such standardized parts has brought lower prices for the finished product.

The S. A. E. is continuing its work of standardization, so that automobile owners may expect even further cuts in prices than the remarkable reductions made lately.

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

Treatment of the scalp for dandruff and preventing the loss of hair is a most important part of your health program.

It is just as foolish to rub a bald head with hair tonic and expect hair to grow, as it would be to rub the tonic on an egg and expect it to sprout feathers. The time to prevent dandruff and baldness is when you have hair and not when you haven't.

If you have a tendency to thin skin on your scalp, you will have your troubles keeping baldness away. Thin skin, rather tight over the head, does not permit of a free circulation to nourish the scalp and the hair roots. If your scalp is thick and moves rather freely over the skull bones, your hair will probably stick by you to the last.

Now for the treatment: The two chief aids are cleanliness and scalp massage. A third may be added for good results, brushing the hair. Any good toilet soap or green soap with a little alcohol added will prove effective as a shampoo.

If you insist on a preparation try this one: In one-half pint use 50 parts soft soap, two parts oil of lavender, and 33 parts alcohol.

Massage must be started in early youth, and kept up through your whole life. It is by far the greatest agent to preserve the hair. Use the finger tips to massage the scalp, night and morning.

Brushing should be carried out in a careful and systematic manner. It should be done at night and in the morning. Some other during the day will also prove beneficial. Brush until you feel your scalp warm under the brush movements. It helps to remove the dandruff and stimulates the scalp and hairr oots.

Shaving the head or frequent cutting does not help the growth of the hair.

Cleanliness—A Modern Idea

SHORTLY before the Civil War, Boston made it a prison offence to take a bath except on the advice of a physician. The Philadelphia Council tried to make it illegal to bathe between November 1 and March 15 and failed by one vote. Virginia placed a luxury tax of $30 on each bathtub in the state.

Ideas regarding cleanliness have changed materially since then. In fact, ideas on almost everything have undergone something of a metamorphosis. To-day, these changes are taking place more rapidly than ever before. There has never been a time when evolution hit such a furious pace—when conditions changed so quickly—when standards of living were raised so consistently.

You may not realize it, but advertising is responsible for much of this improvement. Advertising has taken its place as a leading force in solving the wants of the people.

Stop and think how many of the appliances you use, the foods you eat, the clothes you wear and other articles entering into your daily life, were popularized through newspaper advertising.

Then you will realize what a debt you owe to advertising.

SHOCKER TAKES CASE TO JUDGE

Asks to Be Declared Free Agent and Paid Arrears of Salary.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4—Urban Shocker, of the St. Louis Browns, one of the greatest pitchers in the American League today, carried his fight to be declared a free agent to Commissioner Landis on the plea that his liberty had been infringed upon because officials of the St. Louis Club had refused him permission to have his wife accompany rim on a trip with the club.

Shocker was fined $1,000, and suspended, on September 1, when he refused to join the Browns on their last eastern trip of the season after being denied permission to take his wife along. Shocker asks that Commissioner Landis have the $1,000 fine refunded, his salary paid from September 12 to the end of the season, and he be declared a free agnt.

The St. Louis pitcher, who won twenty games and lost 12 during the 1923 season, appeared before Commissioner Landis with his attorney, Jerome J. Duggan, of St. Louis, while Attorney S. W' Swartz, and Business Manager William Freil, represented the Browns. After two hours of argument, Commissioner Landis requested the Browns' attorney to file an answer to the charges of Shocker, with the understanding that the pitcher's attorney would be given time to offer testimony in rebuttal.

HUGGINS KEEPS PRESENT TEAM

Will Bid For Shocker and May Trade Mays to a National League Club.

NEW YORK, December 4. — Miller Huggins, diminutive pilot of the world's champion New York Yankees, declared yesterday that while he expected to stand pat on his present line-up for the 1924 campaign he was open to any deal which might strengthen the club.

Huggins asserted that he would bid for the services of Urban Shocker, the St. Louis pitch , if the Browns put him on the market, but declined to disclose what offer he might make. Huggins traded Shocker to St. Louis in 1918.

Waivers have been asked on Carl Mays, it was revealed by Huggins, who said that all the American League clubs had waived, but that three National League clubs had filed claims for the "submarine ball" twirler. It is possible the Yankees may arrange a deal which will send Mays to the senior circuit, where Huggins believes he might regain his effectiveness.

The Yankee leader, who returned to New York yesterday f : the first time since the world's series, said he also was in the market for a right-handed hitting outfielder.

FUMBLE CAUSED UNIQUE GRID PLAY

BY BILLY EVANS

When the football season is over and the 'Stove League' for gridiron has gone into session for the winter, the Nebraska-Notre Dame game will be played over many a time.

The defeat of Notre Dame by the Cornhuskers was the biggest upset of the year Not a football expert conceded Nebraska a chance. In the parlance of the race track Notre Dame was trimmed by a team that was about a 10 to 1 shot.

Noble, who scored both of Nebraska's touchdowns, did so in a most sensational manner. On one occasion he skirted the end for a 25-yard run. Despite the fact that at least a half dozen Notre Dame players were in his path, he managed to elude them either by sidestepping or stiff-arming every would-be tackler.

Fumble Proves Costly.

The other Nebraska touchdown came after Noble had received a short pass of 10 yards and then covered an equal distance to cross the goal line. Tackled by the great Layden, five yards from his objective, Noble managed to keep his feet, dragging the Notre Dame star over the line with him.

One of the toughest breaks of the game came to Layden, after crossing the goal line, on a long pass from Stuhldreher, dropped the ball after crossing the Nebraska goal line.

However, the biggest thrill of this most sensational game happened in the third quarter. It is questionable if there ever was a play that carried more of the dramatics. It was an incident that carried a double thrill in which the two teams and the partisan rooters played a leading role.

Makes Sensational Run

Notre Dame had the ball on Nebraska's 23-yard line and it looked as if Rockne's team would surely score. Struhldreher called for a play through the Nebraska line.

Some Notre Dame player fumbled the ball A number of players from both teams dived after it, as is the custom in football. Rhoades, husky Nebraska end, recovered the ball, grabbed it on the run, then headed for the Notre Dame goal.

Not a player loomed up in his path, it seemed a certainty that Rhoades would score a touchdown. The Notre Dame stands were aghast. In one brief second the entire situation had been changed. Instead of the "Fighting Irish going over for a touchdown, Nebraska looked to be headed for a third score.

Miller Saved Day

Out in front to a good start Rhoades put white line after line behind him. Ten, 20, 30, 40, 50, 60 yards he covered without the slightest interference.

Nebraska rooters, however, had reckoned without the fleet Don Miller, star Notre Dame back. With a deadly tackle on the Notre Dame five-yard line Miller brought Rhoades heavily to the ground.

The force of the diving tackle, the contact with the ground, plus the speed at which Rhoades was travelling, was too much as Rhoades hit the ground the ball shot from his arms into the air.

For Nebraska it still meant a touchdown if one of their players recovered it back of the goal posts, for Notre Dame it was merely a touchback, rendering void the value of the long run.

Try to dope out a more spectacular play

SPORT NOTES

(Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Dec 3—Those melancholy days are upon us, when from the realms of sport we get—words not deeds.

As football fades from the picture having achieved a success that practically obliterated from these pages the other branches of athletic activity, the insatiable sports lover looks around to see what's next.

Regretfully, it must be recorded that in practically every line of endeavor there is a period of pernicious inactivity.

About the leading event under way appears to be a free-for-all for press agents. From these we glean our week-end sports gossip, somewhat as follows:

Boxing

Senor Luis Firpo, in far-off Buenos Aires, where he has blossomed as a coal and automobile merchant reiterated to-day in a cable to the United Press that he really has signed for a bout with Harry Wills on May 5. Firpo claims to have a contract with Tex Rickard in writing and to me forwarding same to-day Here in New York, the black panther and his manager, Paddy Mullins profess to know nothing of it. Mullins, who a short time ago was shouting about wanting to match Harry with anyone, now does not want to meet Firpo if he can help it, hoping Dempsey will weaken and give Wills a chance at the title.

Racing

Pierre Wertheimer, owner of the crack French three-year-old Epinard, the vernacular for spinach sails to-day on the Paris for America to try to arrange a series of four races for his horse. Despite the failure of Papyrus, the English Derby winner, to acclimate, Wertheimer is willing to take a chance if American opponents to meet Epinard on successive Saturday at distances ranging from six furlongs up to a miles and a half can be found.

Baseball

The wood is crackling briskly in the Winter Stove league, amid talk of trades that will deprive St. Louis of its ablest performers in both leagues. Seven American league clubs still are offering the local town halls for Urban Shocker, while as many National magnates are pawning the family "jools' for a determined attempt to land Rogers Hornsby, when the league meetings at Chicago are held this month. Thus far, neither of the St. Louis stars knows just what is in store for him.

Track and Field

Injuries suffered by Loren Murchison in an automobile accident in Philadelphia on Monday may prove a serious blow to America's Olympic hopes. Outside of having severly strained his back and dislocated his spine, however, "Murch" is all right and says he will foreswear running on the boards this winter in order to be in shape for spring. The A.A.U. sprint champion and his physicians have high hopes he will be able to run his best by the time the Olympteam is picked for the Paris game.

DEFEAT MEMORIAL BY-LAW.

CORNWALL, Dec. 4.— Vincent McDonald was elected Reeve of Cornwall township here yesterday with H. K. McLennan, Deputy Reeve. The by-law to grant $4,500 to assist the town of Cornwall to erect a monument was defeated. The town, however, will probably proceed with the monument without the township's assistance.

REAL RIVAL FOR LEWIS

"TOOTS" MONDT ON FAVORITE PONY

JOE "TOOTS" MONDT, former cow-puncher, looms up as the most formidable rival for the heavyweight wrestling title now held by Ed "Strangler" Lewis.

Mondt hails from Greeley, Colo. He is a hard worker, always in condition. During the summer months when many wrestlers are loafing, Mondt spends his time roughing it in the Ozark mountains.

In his last contest with the champion, Mondt held Lewis to a two-hour draw, there being a time limit Mondt was much the stronger at the finish.

Mondt is promised an early chance with Lewis. In all probability he will be the first man to face the title holder in a championship bout this winter.

BOWLING

LAST NIGHT'S BOWLING AT WATER STREET ALLEYS.

There was plenty of bowling last night at the Water Street Alleys, when five different leagues were in action. In the Westclox Ladies Intershop League, some sensational scores were rolled by the young ladies. Miss D. Hutchinson rolled a dandy score in her second game when she hung up a high single of 161, and she also got the high three games, rolling 364. This is remarkable rolling for the ladies league, when it is considered that some of the girls are rolling their first games in this line of sport. Miss V. Martin and Miss E. Wolf also went over the 300 mark, the former rolling 347 and the latter 343 for three games. The rest of the girls also rolled nice scores. That the ladies are fast picking up the game is clearly indicated by the fact that they are rolling such high scores and the rapid progress they make in learning the game. Larger scores can be expected from the ladies after a few more games. This was a scheduled game and the Orioles took two out of three from the Swallows.

In the Mercantile Five League the Red Ferns took two from the Merchants Press. Some nice bowling was turned in and was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators. Lillow was high man on the evening's play with 538 for three games, and he also had the high single of 203.

In the Westclox Men's Intershop Ten Pin League, the Big Ben won two straight from the Tickers. Yelland was high man with 294 for two games, while De Graw had the high single of 189.

In the City Ten Pin League the Quakers took two out of three from the Lawn Bowlers. All three games were closely contested and some nice scores were rolled. Donnely was high man for three games with 495, and he also had the high single of 191.

The Quaker Oats Ten Pin Intershop League were also over and played a scheduled league game.

TENNIS STAR IN ARGUMENT

Rebutted in Controversy Over Advice From Committee During Davis Cup Game.

NEW YORK, December 3. — Controversy surrounding the play of William T. Tilden in the famous doubles match of this year's Davis Cup challenge round, in which the United States defeated Australia after five record breaking sets, came into prominence to-day when Harold H. Hackett, a member of the Davis Cup Comittee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, replied to the national champion's charges that the committee over stepped itself in giving him advice during the contest at Forest Hills.

Tilden, in an article published recently in American Lawn Tennis, criticised the Cup Committee for requesting him to alter his tactics after the Americans had lost two of the first three sets to the Australians, declaring that "suggestions on methods of play would come better at any other time than between the third and fourth sets," and adding "It is then too late to change."

Branding Tilden's statement as "un called for and erroneous," Hackett asserts that the national champion, "after verbally refusing the advice or instruction to the committee during the intermission, went out on the court and proceeded to follow this advice or instruction to the letter, and the result was he played tennis of the highest calibre, and the match was won."

According to Hackett, whose statement will be contained to-morrow in American Lawn Tennis, criticism of Tilden's performance was based on the failure to play position properly, and give adequate support to Williams. Referring to Tilden's doubles play, Hackett said:

"Unfortunately Tilden considers himself not only the greatest singles player, but also the greatest doubles player. The fact that he chooses to park his intelligence outside the stadium during the doubles match, was naturally entirely unexpected by any of the committee."

Unfamiliarity with the right side of the court and not the fault which the committee criticized, accounted for Tilden's ineffectiveness during the early part of the match, according to the champion's article, which prompted Hackett's reply.

ONE GALLON OF MILK TO HUNDRED PERSONS

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—(United Press) —Berlin receives each day only one liter of milk for every twent-five persons living within its confines.

Only 160,000 liters of milk daily are now furnished to Berlin, which has a population of approximately 4,000,000.

Figuring in American measurements, Berlin gets about one gallon of milk daily to every 100 persons—about enough to whiten the black coffee every German drinks every day.

The milk dealers refuse to send their milk to town, as they obtain their money for it only ten or twelve days after they sell it—and the mark meantime crashes ten times into its depths.

The farmers prefers to feed his milk to his pigs or make cheese and butter, or simply throw the milk away, rather than sell it for paper marks which, by the time he gets them, are literally worthless.

With the introduction of stable moneys it is hoped the farmers—who really have plenty of milk and other food products—will send their goods to the city. Negotiations are underway whereby the farmers will get stable pay for their products within the shortest possible time.

NOW SHOWING

Opening Chapters From the Career of Walter Johnston

In a recent issue of The Dearborn Independent was printed a story on Walter Johnson, written by a man who lives next door to Johnson.

There was an interview with the American League star in which Johnson said that he would pitch one year of minor league ball after his career in the majors ended. One of his best friends owns a leading minor league ball club in the Middle West. This man was Johnson's friend before he reached the major leagues. Years ago Johnson promised him that when he quit pitching in the big leagues he would work in the minors for one year, pitching for his friend's team. He is going to keep his promise.

* * *

Johnson told how he started in base ball. He was born on a farm, four miles from Humboldt, Kas., on Nov. 6, 1887. He was 14 years old before he ever heard of base ball. At this time his family moved to Fullerton, Calif., and Walter started in high school. There, for the first time in his life, he saw a ball game. The school had a team, and he was invited to catch. The other boys did not care for the job. Johnson accepted it. They noticed his throwing and suggested that he try pitching. He did. He was beaten 21 to 0. He has pitched ever since.

After taking his 21 to 0 beating, and school team imported a catcher and booked the victorious team for the following Saturday. That game was a 15-inning 0 to 0 battle, with Johnson pitching. He still regards it as the best game he ever worked.

* * *

On finishing school Johnson went to work in the oil fields. One day he was watching a semi-pro game at Santa Ana, Calif. The manager of one of the teams, recognizing Johnson as the boy who used to pitch in school, asked him to pitch for him. Johnson did. He won. He pitched about one dozen games for this semi-pro team, and received $10. That was less than $1 a game, but it looked like big money to Johnson.

In 1906 a friend got Johnson to join the Tacoma team in the Northwestern League, but about this time the San Francisco earthquake broke up the Pacific Coast League and the Northwestern could get all the seasoned players it wanted, so Johnson did not get a chance.

* * *

Johnson decided to pitch in professional base ball, and he heard there was an opening in a little town in Idaho, called Weiser. So he went to Weiser. On the street he met the same friend who landed him with Tacoma. He got him a job with the Weiser team. Johnson pitched two months. Then the season ended and he returned to the coast.

The following spring the New York Giants trained in California. Johnson asked for a chance to pitch. He showed them what he had and they were willing to take him along and give him a trial, but Johnson says that he knew nothing about the Giants and was afraid they were joking. He concluded it was their plan to take him along and, on reaching some remote part of the country, drop him off the train without funds to return home.

* * *

In the spring of 1907 Johnson was back in Weiser. He received $100 a month for pitching one game a week and on holidays.

"Yes, but the men that went to bat against me did not know much about batting," explained Johnson.

"But you pitched 56 consecutive scoreless innings for Washington," the friend recalled.

"Yes, but I was lucky," replied Johnson.

The defeat that he remembers best happened out in Idaho. Weiser and Caldwell were playing. Johnson was pitching for Weiser, and in order to beat him Caldwell imported Higginbotham, who later pitched for Chicago Nationals, beat Johnson in a hurling dual, 1 to 0. Johnson says he always hated that and still does.

* * *

Most of these facts relating to Johnson have not been published before. They furnish a new impression of a great ball player and a national idol.

The article brings a letter from M. A. Bates, publisher of the Payette Lake Star, of McCall, Ida.

"At the time Johnson was pitching for the Weiser, Ida., team, I was publishing a newspaper, The Parma Herald, in the town of Parma, midway between Weiser and Caldwell, Ida.," writes Mr. Bates. "I was present at the Weiser-Caldwell game where Higginbotham beat Johnson by the score of 1 to 0. As to why Johnson lost that game, I quote from The Parma Herald of July 6, 1907:

"'Many of our citizens attendied the ball game at Caldwell Sunday and saw one of the best exhibitions of pitching ever seen on a western diamond. Caldwell had imported Higginbotham, the champion pitcher from Puget Sound, and Johnson, Weiser's phenomenal 19-year-old was in the box. Johnson was clearly outclassed by Higginbotham, but he gave a marvellous exhibition nevertheless, shutting Caldwell out for 10 innings. In the last half of the eleventh Caldwell secured a run on an error by an infielder and ended the game. Johnson holds the world's record of 85 innings pitched without a score against him. In this game Hanson, of the Nampa team, went behind the bat for Caldwell, which caused Weiser to protest, but the protest was not allowed, and Caldwell showed a release from Nampa. Over 2,000 people witnessed the game.'

"And I might add that an audience of 2,000 for that day and territory was some crowd. And it was some game."

BOXING AT THE VETERANS' HALL

Wilfrid Jones Again Engaged to Take Charge of Classes.

At a meeting of the Executive of the Peterboro A. A. A., held last night, it was decided to enter into an agreement with the Great War Veterans' Association, under which boxing classes will be held at the Veterans' quarters and boxing bouts put on there. The agreement, among other things, provides for the use of the shower baths by the boxers. The Boxing Committee was authorized to engage Wilfred Jones as instructor. Frank Millard is chairman of the Boxing Committee.

As a headliner for the first card of bouts to be put on, the Boxing Committee is making an effort to have Willis Cutt, of Rochester, N.Y., a former local boxer, appear here before the New Year.

The Association hopes to be of some service this coming hockey season in assisting the younger players who take part in the local hockey competitions, and expects to be able to make an announcement of its plans at an early date.

It is the intention of the Association to organize a checker tournament to get under way after the rush of the Christmas season. There are a large number of good checker players in the city, and the proposal to organize local competitions is being well received.

Savannah, Ga., is said to be the largest distributing point on the Atlantic coast for fish and oysters.

REX STOCK CO. IS COMING BACK HERE

From All Reports in the American Newspapers the Show is "Bigger and Better Than Ever."

Little did we think, that when "Rex" (who by the way is about our favourite comedian) said "We'll be back," that he meant it, but it seems he did, for here they come again, and from all reports in the newspapers of the States, "Bigger and better than ever" as they say with the circus.

The company comes direct from Duluth, Minn., where they have been enjoying a long run, to Peterborough, for three days and thence to Kingston for three days, and from then on for a very few weeks, will take up the old "split week" policy that was so popular here on their last engagement. Playing Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Peterborough, and Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Kingston, commencing on December 10 in Peterborough and December 13 in Kingston.

Rex and Zana Vaughn, of course, head the company still, but there are a great many new faces in the cast recruited from the casts around around New York at the beginning of the season. Of the old members all that remain are "Bill" Yule, Billy Seymour and his little red headed wife Hazel Williams, and Charlie Hannah. The scenic department this season is in the hands of Larry Lawrance, late of Sosman & Landis, and one of the finest artists in the country. Needless to say, every play will be lavishly mounted. Our only regret is that the term "limited engagement" is used in connection with their coming. We would like to have them with us for a long long time, but it seems that others have the same ambition, so of course "the Rex Company" has to keep moving. Their first play will be a delightful English comedy, a story of after the war, entitled "Too Many Husbands" by no less a person that Somerset Maughn.—Com.

AT THE CAPITOL.

Out of history's pages, down from the days of the ill-fated English Charles and grom Protector Oliver Cromwell, come the elements for the big feature picture at the Capitol Theatre, "The Fighting Blade." It is not often that the Cavaliers of the King and the Roundheads of the Parliamentarian forces join in making a romance for the screen, and the producers have achieved a notable picture in the story of the young, fierce soldier of fortune, Karl Van Kerstenbrook, from Flanders, and the Royalist maiden, the Lady Thomsine Musgrove.

The Flemish lad, with his sleek black head, his purposeful, stern young face, and his keen, fighting blade, comes to England to avenge the death of his sister. He falls foul, in vanquishing his foe, of a group of Cavaliers, who pursue him. He rescues the Lady Thomsine from drowning, and later is protected by her from his enemies. The lady hides him in her bedroom, and feigns an attack of smallpox to frighten his pursuers. Later, the Roundheads storm and carry Staversham Castle, where the lady has just been forced through a marriage ceremony with the intriguing Viscount Erisey. The mummers in a pageant representing the downfall of Cromwell and "his psalm singers" have been replaced by Roundhead soldiers, while the Cavaliers and their guards become roaring drunk. Details in this portion, with its banquetting hall and feasting, are carried out in splendid fashion, and there is a touch of grim reality about the torturing scene also which precedes it. The Ironsides rout their enemies, and the lady and the castle fall to the lot of Colonel Van Kerstenbroock.

In an entertaining and unusual picture are the elements for a thrilling romance. Through the leafy lanes of the English countryside gallop the Roundhead soldiers; in the lofty castle riot the Cavaliers and their ladies, in spite of velvets, silks and satins, with the lacy ruffles and plumed hat of the time; in her room the lovely maiden wrings her hands in despair, while her hard-visaged, soft-hearted handmaid Joan to comfort her. It is the setting and the story of an olden time, with beauty and romance and love between the Cavalier lady and the Cromwellian soldier, his fighting blade keen and sharp in the duelling scenes with the Cavaliers, with the grim Cromwell taking his place as the moving spirit behind the scenes. It is an old-time melodrama of fire and spirit and youth, with Richard Barthelmess superb as the dashing young hero, and Dorothy Mackail as his lovely sweetheart. Out of the run of the usual type of historical romance it is an extremely entertaining and worth-while picture.

The comedy is a Christie production, with Neal Burns in "Back to the Woods," where Rosie Redwood "pines for a husband."

AT THE ROYAL.

"BIRTH OF A NATION" AS BIG A HIT AS EVER — ORIGINAL MUSIC SCORE AND AUGMENTED ORCHESTRA PLEASES ALL MUSIC LOVERS.

D. W. Griffith's wonder spectacle is back again at the Royal. It opened last night to a large audience. Photoplay making costs too much nowadays to permit another such film and it stands today as it always did the greatest of all feature film productions.

No American film spectacle has enjoyed the vogue or the fame of "The Birth of a Nation" and it stands more as an achievement of the American screen. The story which moves through the most stirring periods of our history lends itself to that form of sweeping drama Mr. Griffith has employed in recent years to astonish the world.

Certainly no screen spectacle in contemporary times has for its lay characters such wonderful figures in our native history as are the protagonists in this elaboration of the Thomas Dixon novels dealing with the events that lead up to the Civil War, the great battles of that conflict and the thrilling days of the reconstruction period when the South had to be reclaimed from a horde of adventurers who landed there with the back wash of war and caused more suffering than the war itself with its bitter disappointments and terrible sacrifices. Running through it are several love stories and touches of romance which materially heightens the action.

In these days of costly production it would be impossible to reproduce "The Birth of a Nation" with its remarkable cast and its great scenes. The public, therefore, is benefited by the shift of times and given an opportunity to see Griffith at his best in a master work which would swamp a National Reserve Bank to produce in these days.

Among the screen favorites and stars who have prominent parts in this story are: Henry B. Walthall, Mae Marsh, Lillian Gish, Miriam Cooper, Mary Alden, Josephine Crowell, Spottiswoode Aitken, Ralph Lewis, Joseph Henabery, Raoul Walsh, Donald Crips, Howard Gaye, George Siegman, Walter Long and Elmer Clifton.

SEA DIVER WINS HARD BOUT WITH DEVIL FISH

TOULON, France, December 4 (United Press). — A fight with a monster devil fish, fathoms deep on the bed of the Mediterranean, amid the tangled wreckage of the sunken French cruiser Liberte, ended in a victory for the famous French diver, Jean Negri.

Conducted with the diver's waning strength alone, pitted against the many-armed monster of the deep, those above were powerless to interfere until Negri, caught in the grip of the octopus' multiple suckers, managed to free his arms, speared the creature, and signalled blithely to be hauled to the surface, towing the devil fish.

NEW GERMAN GOVT. HAS HAD A TEST

Lower Food Prices and a More Stable Mark

(By Carl D. Groat, United Press Staff Correspondent).

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—The first test of the new German Government's strength came to-day with the renewal of sessions of the Reichstag. Speeches were made by Dr. Marx, the latest Chancellor, and by Dr. Stresemann, his predecessor, pointing to lower food prices and a more stable mark — improvements practically imperceptible but improvements not withstanding — were the opening wedge with which the Parliamentary favor was wooed. Dr. Marx had an empowering bill ready for presentation, but the Socialists gave notice that they would oppose its passage, so the new Chancellor may keep it in his pocket, electing instead to try to rule by a paragraph in the constitution which might be interpreted as according him dictatorial powers. Marx does not want to dissolve the Reichstag if he can avoid doing so, and this would be inevitable if he introduced his empowering bill and it failed to pass. There are increasing signs that the Marx Government is likely to be short-lived.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.
Whatever the necessity of the past may have been, at the present time we need to earnestly and fearlessly dig deep for the truth, on account of the rubbish covering it. It is not good to take for granted doctrines simply because they are held in honor, on account of long being accepted by the masses. Those who seek to know truth shall know it and will be able to face higher critic or infidel fearlessly. Fables and doctrines of demons are preached and said to emanate from the Bible. The story of the boy explains it. He told his father that he could get cider out of cotton, but he had to first dip the cotton into cider before he could get cider out of it. 2 Tim. 4, 1, 2, 3, 4. M. WEALTHY WIDOW WEDS YOUTH SHE WOOED BY PROXY

Mother Says Her Son of Sixteen Was Kidnapped By "Old Woman" of 49 Who Is His Grandaunt.

FACE IRONED OUT.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Some astonishing revelations as to the strange love heigra of Mrs. Susan O. Simpson, forty-nine and her grand nephew bridegroom, Burton S. Tucker, sixteen, were divulged yesterday while the two remained very much out of sight and denied themselves to all inquirers.

Meanwhile, the investigating lawyers were forced to content themselves with seeing the Rev. Robert H. Rollins, of Union Hill, who married the couple following their elopement to New York from Boston, and with inquiring into other details of the marriage, which they charge was brought about by coercion.

Calls Her Kidnaper.

Mrs. Simpson-Tucker owns the Hotel Pasadena, No. 1 West Sixty-first street, and is living with her boy-husband near Ridgefield Park, N.J.

In Essex, Mass., Mrs. Joseph Tucker, Burton's mother, who is the wife of the postmaster of Salem, declared the marriage to be a reversal of the thesis that youth must be served asserting that this was a case of elderly years "kidnaping" the affections of youth.

She said in part:

"Mrs. Simpson is the widow of Dr. Joseph Simpson. They lived in New York until they separated, when Dr. Simpson came here to Essex. He said he'd die before he'd pay Mrs. Simpson the alimony she demanded, and die he did.

"Mrs. Simpson is my mother's half-sister. She is a very clever business woman. In her day she has been beautiful. She is handsome now for her age. She is perfectly groomed. She devotes much time to the care of her person. She is one of the women who have benefited by the new facial surgery that lifts the flabby skin of age, eradicates the wrinkles and gives a woman of fifty the appearance of twenty.

"She has had a summer home in Gloucester for years and she has known my son, of course, all his life.

Her Boy Handsome.

"But it was not until last June that she became interested that way in my son, Burton. He is a handsome boy and an athlete. He had just finished two years in Essex High School and had gone to work for his father in the post office.

"She sought him out all summer. She tried for weeks to get him to make a trip to New York with her. When he refused she enlisted the aid of John McGinnis, the son of Mrs. Margaret McGinnis, of Essex. He an Burton have been chums all their lives. John McGinnis last Friday told that Mrs. Simpson offered him $1,000 to persuade Burton to go to New York with her.

They made three trips to New York. They went alone the first trip. John McGinnis accompanied them on subsequent trips.

"Burton told me that on one of the trips Mrs. Simpson hugged and kissed John McGinnis. Then she turned to Burton and said: "There I know you wouldn't do that to me."

"It was on one of these trips, the last I think ,that she literally forced Burton to marry her.

"After that last trip she tried in every possible way to get Burton to come to New York and join her. Burton refused. He told her he wanted to stay at home with his father and mother.

Pal Plays Part.

"Four weeks ago tomorrow, she drove from New York in her car with her chauffeur. She parked the car somewhere in town, a great distance from the house. Then she called up Burton. She told him she was in town and wanted to see him. He refused to see her and told her again that he wanted to stay with his people.

"Mrs. Simpson sought out John McGinnis. She persuaded him to get Burton to go on a fishing trip with him. Burton went. While they were out on the trip, John McGinnis persuaded Burton to see her 'for just ten minutes.'

"The two boys met Mrs. Simpson. She had her car in waiting. They stepped into the car. The chauffeur, carrying out orders given him before the boys arrived drove to Lynn. There they found Mrs. Simpson's lawyer awaiting them.

'Remember that Burton is little more than a child.

'He went to New York with Mrs. Simpson and her lawyer. He has been there ever since.

"I don't know what you'd call it, but I call it kidnaping.

"I shall leave no stone unturned till that marriage is annulled. In fact, it is an illegal marriage on the face of it, both because of my son's youth and because the old woman, Mrs. Simpson, is his great aunt."

"Side Step" Popular With Irene Castle

This she has learned since she became the bride of Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, wealthy Chicago club man. Newspapermen, who have been the principal witnesses of this new step of the famous danseuse, testify that she has mastered it to perfection.

Mrs. McLaughlin and her husband demonstrated the "sidestep" at a hotel here after their arrival from the East when reporters attempted to obtain an interview.

"We're giving no interviews on this trip; sorry," was all the bride would say. Then the McLaughlins disappeared.

According to representatives of the Admiral Oriental line arrangements have been made for the newlyweds to occupy the bridal suite of the steamship President Grant when it sails today for the Far East.

The McLaughlins plan to return Jan. 2.

CLOSE VOTE IN HALIFAX FIGHT

Both Conservatives and Liberals Claim Victory in Federal By-Election To-Day.

HALIFAX, N.S., Dec, 5.—(Canadian Press)—That the greatest element of uncertainty that has marked an electoral contest in recent years in this section of Canada prevails in the campaign that culminates in Halifax county today was the frank admission of prominent leaders in both Conservative and Liberal camps in discussing the probable outcome of the electlion to select a member for the federal vacancy created by the elevation of Hon. A. K. McLean to the presidency of the Exchequer Court of Canada. More optimistic members of the Liberal executive said last night, that while doubt has pervaded their ranks earlier in the campaign, they were satisfied that their superior organization had succeeded and that their candidate, G. A. Redmond would emerge from today's contest with a substantial majority.

Conservatives Confident.

In Conservative headquarters this evening a prominent politician and former members for this constituency said that he was absolutely without doubt as to the success of his candidate, W. A. Black. More Conservative workers in that party, however, admitted the element of doubt but declared that even though the candidate was defeated the result would show a "moral victory" for the party.

Hard Campaign.

While the campaign has not be n exceptionally spectacular it is certain that not for a long time have the two parties worked so hard for their respective candidates. It has been a strenuous campaign beneath the surface and the presence of so many outside workers indicates something of the effort that is being put forth by both parties. The absence of a Labor candidate is said by the Conservatives augur well for their interests, as it is generally believed that the preponderance of the Labor vote will go to the opposition.

CONGRESS IDLE SECOND DAY AS HOUSE BATTLES

Four More Ballots Failed to Elect Speakers — No Wavering By Insurgents In Their Opposition — Armistice Declared To-Day.

PRESIDENT WAITS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(Canadian Press.)—An armistice under which the sixty-eighth United States' Congress may be organized was agreed upon last night by leaders of the Republican insurgents and regular organizations in the House.

Under this agreement, Gillett, of Massachusetts, whose re-election as Speaker has been blocked for two days by insurgents, is to be returned to office. This would clear the way for President Coolidge to deliver his first annual message to Congress on Thursday.

Announcement of the agreement came after a conference between Representative Longworth of Ohio, organization leader, and leaders of the Progressive bloc.

Presaged Yesterday.

The United States Representatives staged four more rounds of balloting yesterday without electing a Speaker, but postsession negotiations between organization and insurgent Republicans hinted at a possible break today.

Meantime the Sixty-Eighth Congress remains mobilized but unorganized. It can do no business, and President Coolidge still awaits notification that it is ready to receive his first annual message.

In the voting yesterday there was no wavering of insurgents, regulars or Democrats. The last ballot stood: Garrett, 198; Gillett, 197; Cooper, 17; Madden, 5.

While the House continued its fight over the Speakership the Senate could only twiddle its thumbs. It met at noon, heard the invocation, and adjourned. The session lasted three minutes.

Truce Suggested.

The first signs of armistice negotiation between Republican regulars and insurgents in the House came in a statement issued by Representative Longworth, of Ohio, the majority leader, immediately after the adjournment. He made the declaration that "the House will have complete opportunity to adopt such rules as the majority may desire." The demand of the insurgents has been that the House have this opportunity.

After this statement had been published, leaders of the Progressive bloc announced that they had arranged for a conference with Mr. Longworth to discuss the whole situation.

There was nothing spectacular about the fight. While there were some expectations early in the day that a break might come, it soon became apparent that all the contending forces were strongly entrenched.

At times less than half the members of the House were on the floor, but they always remained within call.

Would Re-elect Gillett.

Should a break come to-day, Speaker Gillett would be re-elected by virtue of the votes which have been cast for Cooper and Madden, and President Coolidge would be able to address Congress.

There is a tacit understanding among the groups in the Senate that any fight over re-organization will be delayed until after President Coolidge has addressed Congress. And the probabilities are that there will be no fight until after the suggested placing of senators on committees has been announced by the Republicans dealing with this matter.

DOG CATCHER THREATENS TO RUN FOR ALDERMANIC BOARD

Points to His Record of Service With the City in Various Positions—Has Clean Sheet as Life Guard at Bathing Beach

James Gates today told The Examiner that he is reasonably sure he will run for the position ta Alderman in next year's council In fact, he was on his way to interview City Clerk Armstrong on the subject this afternoon. He has already lined up his sponsors, he intimated, and believes that his past record of service to the city qualifies him for the position.

Mr. Gates has given four years' service at the bathing beaches in the summer and as dog-catcher in the annual spring round-up. At the bathing beaches, he says, with few conveniences to facilitate his work and with practically no life-saving apparatus, he has not had a drowning fatality in all the four years. This excels the much-lauded Toronto record, where bathing beaches are equipped with everything the Safety League can suggest for the prevention of accidents.

Mr. Gates was chosen for the position at the bathing beaches over a long line of applicants, and expects the same success in his campaign for the position of Alderman.

As dog catcher he had not so much opposition to overcome, but his duties in this regard led him into contact with almost every citizen in the city.

Constructive criticism is Mr. Gates' forte. He suggested, for instance, the stringing of chains around the piers below the Inverlea bathing beach, for the possible salvation of swimmers carried out of their depth by the current. His advice was not acted upon, but he managed to keep swimmers within the safety zone.

Mr. Gates has just finished a term of work in connection with the city's road and storm drain projects.

CAMPAIGN THUNDERING TO WHIRLWIND CLIMAX OF ELECTION ORATORY

Party Protagonists Hurry Around Constituencies With Churchill and Lloyd George Setting the Pace--Laborites Mocked Austen Chamberlain.

BALDWIN'S SON ILL.

LONDON, December 5. — With only one more day available for campaigning, electioneering yesterday reached a climax of intensity. There was a perfect tornado of speeches, manifestoes, statements and counter-statements, accusations and counter-accurations, on all points calculated to influence the voters on Thursday. The principal figures in the campaign hurried from constituency to constituency making last hour speeches and appeals in behalf of their respective candidates.

The most remarkable in this test of endurance are Lloyd George and Winston Churchill, and the most striking exception is Herbert Asquith, who having a stiff contest to meet, has confined his efforts to his own constituency, Paisley.

Somewhat noticeable is that wheth er through lack of funds, or through having but a few press organs, the Labor campaign appears to be conducted with less noise and stressthan either the Conservative or Liberal campaigns, but nevertheless the Labor leaders all have full confidence that their party will gain in strength in the new Parliament.

Orderly Campaign.

The campaign has been accompanied by the usual personalities but with the exception of the case of Mr Churchill, who displays most pronounced antagonism toward the Labor party and whose meetings therefore have been the most disturbed by Labor interrupters, the campaign on the whole has been conducted fairly and orderly. The central Conservative office yesterday disclaimed the election placards representing Mr. Lloyd George as a "vain talker" to which he made objection in vigorous terms on Saturday.

According to some reports, the Conservatives are showing less confidence in the outcome of the balloting Thursday. This may possibly be due to the puzzling attitude of some of the leading London papers, which usually support the Conservatives, but on this occasion are very ambiguous in their election advice, and one having an enormous circulation throughout the country, even frankly advising the Conservatives to vote Liberal, to avoid a protectionist policy.

Baldwin at Home.

Premier Baldwin has returned to his own constituency, where he will remain until the end of the elections. He made a speech at Malvern last night and will tour other towns in the neighborhood to-day, addressing local meetings. He has issued from Downing street his final manifesto, appealing to the electors of the whole country to support his policy. This document is a detailed re-statement of his arguments and a reply to the many criticisms from the opposing camps.

The Prime Minister's main contention is that his policy will not increase the price of commodities, and that should it produce rings and trust to raise prices, the government will know how to deal with this evil also.

After exciting experiences in London, Mr. Churchill returned to his own constituency in Leicester to-day where he addressed eight meetings, the principal one of business men to whom he delivered a strong attack on the policy of a capital levy. He argued that any saving to the national exchequer thereby effected would be offset by the fall of exchange in the United States, due to a financial panic.

Mrs. Churchill is helping her husband's campaign by addressing numerous meetings.

With Other Leaders.

Mr. Lloyd George is continuing his campaign in Carnarvon, where he again had a great reception. J. Ramsay MacDonald, the leader of the Labor Opposition, is making a whirlwind tour of his own constituency, and has adressed a number of meeting at Aberavon and neighboring places.

Premier Baldwin's Socialist son, Oliver, is ill, and has been obliged to desist from further campaigning in behalf of the Labor Party.

Lady Astor and her Labor opponent, Captain Brennan, employed the day in an extensive cruise around the Plymouth constituency, carrying all their programmes personally into the homes of the electors and devoting themselves especially to attempts to influence the women voters in their support.

Broke up Meeting.

Austen Chamberlain, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, had a hostile reception at West Bromwich last night, where he was to speak in behalf of the Conservative candidate. A crowd of Labor sympathisers invaded the hall, some in fancy dress, and one sporting a silk hat and a monocle in imitation of Mr. Chamberlain. The scene was one of great disorder for half an hour before the arrival of Chamberlain and all his efforts to speak were drowned by cat-calls and abusive epithets, which continued for another half hour, when the candidate and the former Chancellor abandoned their attempts to get a hearing and left the hall.

LONDON, December 5. Canadian Press Cable. — Charles F. White, Liberal, who was a member of the House of Commons for West Derbyshire since 1918, and was a candidate in the present election, died yesterday. The election in West Derbyshire becomes void in consequence.

The seat has been held by members of the Cavendish family for almost two centuries until 1918, when Charles F. White, who started work in the riding ten years ago to secure it for the Liberal party, defeated Lord Kerry, a brother of the Duchess of Devonshire.

White last year defeated the Marquis of Hartington, son of the Duke of Devonshire, who in this election was again oposing him.

Cupid Losing Grip On London Lovers

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Engaged couples whose marriages have been announced for various dates have been "thinking things over," with the result that fifteen such marriages were cancelled last week. This practice has been growing of late, according to a London Registrar, who said that he never had known such a year for cancelled marriages.

The discovery of some defect in character of the prospective bride or bridegroom is given as the chief reason for the change of heart, but the difficulty of getting possession of a house or apartment is another contributory cause.

GERMANS MUST MAKE GREATEST OF SACRIFICES

New Chancellor Says the Government Faces Financial Task Without Parallel in History of the World.

FOR UNITED NATION.

BERLIN, Dec. 5.— One of the many obstacles to the Government's porposed "authorization law" was removed last evening when the Socialists, from whom chief opposition was expected in the Reichstag, resolved, after a long party debate, not to obstruct the bill which would empower the Reich Government to carry out such financial, economic and social measures as it deems essential and urgent. The vote was 74 to 55, but it carried with it the provision that approval of the Reichstag's standing committee must be secured beforehand.

The Reichstag had a large attendance yesterday on the occasion of the initial appearance before it of Wilhelm Marx, the new Chancellor and his cabinet. During the Chancellor's address he received only a few interruptions from the Opposition. Altogether the reception of the new government was more auspicious than had been forecast in some quarters.

For German Unity.

In introducing his government the Chancellor said it was neither against the Right nor the Left, but that it was against all who wished to rob the German people of what remained to it, namely, the unity of the nation.

In the domain of finance the Chancellor declared the Government faced a task unparalleled in the history of the world and the German people must realize that, if it was not to sink into a hopeless whirlpool of destruction, the hour had come to make the greatest sacrifice. It must be understood that financial problems for Germany was a question to be or not to be.

National Integrity.

Announcement was made by the Chancellor that for the present the Government would be unable to dispense with the military state of emergency, to which he attributed the state of peace now prevailing throughout the country. In concluding he said the Government would pay particular attention to the occupied regions and, in full agreement with the Federal States, firmly insist on these regions remaining a part of the Reich.

After the Chancellors' address the House quietly adjourned.

LIBEL HEARING IN SHERBROOKE

Witness Denied Startling Statement Alleged to Have Been Made By Him.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Dec. 5.—Startling evidence featured the reopening of the Nicol-Noel libel action here yesterday Choquet, a former clerk of Victor Benoit, Sherbrooke hotelkeeper and a barber named Aabe put in an affidavit this afternoon that Benoit had made the following declaration to Choquet last Thursday: "Things looked bad for Nicol this morning. The cat was almost out of the bag. That's how things turn out when a man has done enough."

Benoit said: "I do not recall" when asked whether he had made the statement.

Evidence by Dr. Noel in the morning was to the affect that he had never told anyone that Mr. Nicol was grafting on liquor licenses that he has never asked the provincial government for $100,000 in aid of the Noel post-graduate medical research hospital and that Mr. Nicol in no way aided him to borrow $47,000 from Senator J. M. Wilson. Dr. Noels case was closed and evidence for Mr. Nicol in rebuttal was opened Sheriff Therrien and Wilfrid Lazure, one of Mr. Nicol's counsel were the witnesses and their evidence was in connection with the anti-conscription campaign of 1917.

Predictions were that the case would end tomorrow. The hearing was adjourned this afternoon until to-morrow.

The case is the hearing of a libel action brought by Hon. Jacob Nicol Provincial Treasurer, against Dr. J. E. Noel of Sherbrooke in connection with affidavits collected by the latter claiming that the provincial treasurer was interested in the granting of liquor licenses.

Dog's Death Watch Over Master's Body

SUDBURY, Dec. 5.—(Canadian Press)—The body of Dr. Frederick Charles Frank, age 49, was found in his office Tuesday morning with his faithful dog on guard over it.

Dr. Frank had suffered from apoplexy and went out hunting rabbits Monday, remarking that he would try to walk it off. When he did not return, his son-in-law, Dr. Woods, went to his office yesterday morning and found the body. Apparently he had had the stroke in woods and had fallen but had been able to get up and return to his office where he sat down and a final stroke had taken him off. Dr. Frank came to Northern Ontario two years ago from Shelbourne where he practiced dentistry many years. The body was taken to Orangeville last night for interment.

GIRL ABDUCTED GOING TO CHOIR

Regains Consciousness In Vancouver Hospital — Can't Account For Wearing Her Hiking Suit.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Dec. 5.—(Canadian Press) — Nell Austin, Seattle schoolteacher, yesterday recovered consciousness in a hospital here sufficiently to talk, and declared that when she vanished Sunday evening after leaving her home to sing in a church choir, she was kidnapped by two men.

The following statement was given out as having been dictated by Miss Austin to police officials, and to her sisters, Misses Leila and Georgia Austin, who came here when she was found in a suburb Wednesday night:

"I left home at 6.30 Sunday night for church and on my way within two blocks of the church, two men rushed after me and caught me by the arms. They threw me into a motor car. I tried to cry out, but they kept their hands over my mouth. From that time until I regained consciousness in the Vancouver hospital, I remember nothing.

"I cannot account for the clothes I was wearing. When I left home, I was wearing my black velvet dress. How I came to have my hiking suit on is a mystery to me."

Miss Austin was to weak to talk further, it was announced. The teacher's sisters had strenuously denied assertions of the Seattle police that she left home voluntarily, after a dispute with her sisters.

WARD PATTERSON DIED YESTERDAY

Was Prominently Identified With Sportdom in the City.

Ward Patterson, an enthusiastic supporter of baseball and other sports in the city, died suddenly yesterday afternoon. He was in his usual good health, apparently, at 4 o'clock, and followed his usual practice of lying down for a rest. About 5 o'clock Mrs. Patterson noticed that he was pale, and on examination found that he was dead.

Mr. Patterson was vice-president of the O.B.A.A. about three years ago, and this year held a prominent position in the Peterboro City League. In his death the sporting fraternity in the city has suffered an irreparable loss.

Deceased was forty-four years of age and was born in Asphodel town ship. Nine years ago he came to Peterboro to reside. Besides his wife, he leaves one son Percy, and one daughter, Dorothy.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow morning at his late residence in the Nova Scotia apartments, at 10.45 after which the remains will be taken to Havelock. Rev. A. J. Langford will officiate.

FOUND BODY OF BOY NEAR HOME AFTER 8 YEARS

A Fortune Was Spent in Search For Little Jimmie Glass Over Two Continents--May Have Drowned

IDENTIFY SKELETON.

SCRANTON, Dec. 5.—Search of two continents — North and South America —for Jimmie Glass, four-year-old son of Charles Glass, a Jersey City newspaperman, who disappeared from the summer home of his parents in Greeley, Pa., eight years ago, ended yesterday when the parents positively identified a skeleton which was found a short distance from the place they had lived as that of their child.

The bones were found in a swamp yesterday by Otto Winkler, of Lackawaxen, while hunting deer. At first he thought the skeleton was that of a deer, but upon closer examination that the feet bones were encased in shoes. He picked up the shoes and the skull and carried them to his home town.

The shoes found with the skeleton were examined, and stamped on the leather was the trademark "Coward" The father felt satisfied that the skeleton was that of his son, because the child wore a pair of Coward shoes when he disappeared. It is believed that he wandered away from home, following a pet dog, and that he drowned in the swamp.

$100,000 Spent on Search

A search, which encompassed the globe, lasted more than eight years, to cost $100,000, occupy the time of world-famed detectives, began May 13, 1915, when four-year-old Jimmie Glass mysteriously disappeared.

Actual clues were few, but "tips" came in an unceasing number to the parents and each clue was closely investigated. The case attracted world wide attention as the search spread. Sir Basil Thompson, former director of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation of Scotland Yard, was one of those who worked n the case. Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, likewise aided in the search, which led to every part of the United States, South America and Europe.

The Glass family had moved the morning before the child disappeared to their home at Greeley, Pa., to pass the summer. The small country house, about two minutes' walk from the village and surrounded by broad open fields, in all directions, seemed to guarantee the quiet that was thought desirable for the children.

The following morning Jimmie, Blanche, and Madeline, the three little children, enjoyed their first country breakfast. Mrs. Glass started for the post office, accompanied by her two daughters. The walk, apparently, held no fascination for Jimmie, and when his mother asked him to come along he waved his brand-new little shovel, crying, "I am going to dig for a gold mine!"

No Clue in Neighborhood

That was the last seen of Jimmie Glass. Five minutes later the mother and the two girls returned, but the boy had disappeared. When he did not return in the afternoon the villagers were organized and the search started. An investigation disclosed that no scream had been heard, no vehicle had been seen to pass, no stranger was noticed in the vicinity no unusual occurrence had taken place during those short few minutes.

Bloodhounds were put on the trail the woods nearby beaten by hundreds of villagers, cisterns and wells drained, lonely houses ransacked, a dam dynamited and the water drawn off and gipsy camps were searched, but no single clue rewarded the searchers.

Soon the search spread and almost daily reports reached the family of the finding of "Jimmy." One day it would be in a town in a nearby county, another a telegram would arrive with the news that Jimmy was safe and sound in Texas or the West, and occasionally the cables would bring the news that Jimmy was in Argentina or Honolulu.

Letters from all over the country poured in constantly offering sympathy and suggestions. Blackmailers and crooks spied the opportunity and requests for ransoms of varying amounts became a regularity.

All the time Mrs. Glass, whose husband was an auditor of the Erie Railroad and a former newspaperman, felt confident that gypsies were responsible for the kidnapping of her child. She never gave up hope, but believed that her boy was alive and safe in the hands of some travelling band.

Police of the nation, all of whom virtually at one time or another joined in the search, were frankly puzzled. No apparent motive could be supplied and the police, hindered rather than aided by the multiple clues, groped all the dark and soon all but the parents gave up the search.

MANY TO SPEND CHRISTMAS IN THE OLD COUNTRY.

So great is the feeling amongst Old Country people to visit their old homes during the Christmas season, that special sailings must be arranged each year to accommodate those who wish to arrive there a short time ahead or just in time for the festivities.

This is recognised by the Canadian Pacific, whose trains will carry passengers direct to the ship's side at St. John, N.B., from which port will sail the following Canadian Pacific steamships: To Liverpool, December 7th, s.s. "Montclare"; December 14th, s.s. "Montcalm"; to Cherbourg, Southampton, and Antwerp, December 13th, s.s. "Melita"; to Belfast and Glasgow, December 15th, s.s. "Marloch."

Two trains leave Montreal Windsor tSation the day prior to sailing date, Train No. 40 leaving at 12 noon daily except Saturday, and Train No. 16, leaving at 7 p.m. daily. Both trains carry special sleeping cars through to Wharf.

Connecting trains from Toronto, 8.50 a.m and 11 p.m.

Direct to the ship's side — then Europe!

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the bottle. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you 16 ounces of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

BOYS ELECTIONS CREATE INTEREST

The two candidates for election to Boys' Parliament have been giving their qualifications in the various Sunday schools of the city.

The person chosen to represent the city in Toronto should know the present programme adopted by the various Sunday schools of the province, known as the Canadian Standard Efficiency Training Programme. Trevor Miller shows his qualification in the fact that he was in the first C.S.E.T. Group formed in this city, and has a knowledge as a boy of the programme ;he has been in charge of Trail Ranger and Tuxis Squares for four years, which gives him a knowledge of the programme as a leader. He has also attended Taylor Statten's leadership camp in Algonquin Park, where a large amount of time was spent in consideration of the various phases of boys' work, the Trail Ranger and Tuxis programme especially.

It looks as though Trevor could represent us well in the Boys' Parliament, and bring back information of value to us.

NEW LAW PASSED THAT ALL FRENCH HAVE THREE BABES

No Man Can Be Elected to a Public Office Unless He Has at Least Three Children.

PARIS, Dec. 5.— (Canadian Press.)— Concerned at the deficient birth rate, Senator Massabau has introduced a bill providing that no man can be elected to public office unless he has at least three children of his own or adopted. The effect of the proposed law would be to make such men as Premier Poincare, Aristide Briand, Rene Viviani and Louis Barthou ineligible for public service even as select men in the smallest township.

"We have been taken unawares," said Senator Labrousse, when the measure was introduced in Senior House of Parliament. "I move that we only pronounce on this bill when each of us shall have had time to have three children."

TROOPS OCCUPYING RUHR TO CAMP OUTSIDE CITY

PARIS, Dec. 5.—(Canadian Press)—Troops occupying the Ruhr are gradually to be concentrated in the camps outside the city, it was explained by the French Government officials to-day. The design is to make the occupation less burdensome and irritating to Germans in reward for their apparent disposition to abandon their hostility toward occupation and to cooperate with allied regime.

There is no idea of evacuating the Ruhr at present.

SECRET OF HIS SUCCESS

One of the most noted, successful and richest men of this country in a recent article said, "Whatever I am and whatever success I have attained in this world I owe it all to my wife. From the day I first knew her she has been an inspiration and the greatest helpmate of my life." Health is the first essential of every woman who wants to be a successful wife and to hold the love and admiration of her husband. If a woman finds her energies flagging and dark circles appearing under her eyes, she has backache, headaches, nervousness and "the blues," she should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the medicine which holds the record of helping 98 out of every 100 women who try it. There is nothing better.

FRIENDS HONOUR MANVERS COUPLE AT ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. William Hannah Married Fifty Years—A Presentation.

BETHANY, Dec. 5. — Mr. and Mrs. William Hannah, of 8th concession of Manvers township, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on Monday. Old friends and new were in attendance and many delightful reminiscences exchanged. Fifty years ago Mr. Hannah and Miss Mary Sisson were united in marriage by the Rev. John Vickers of St. Mary's parish. They were attended by Mr. Jackson Hannah and Miss Wilkinson, now Mrs. Gillis of Cavan. They took up their residence where they now live on the beautiful Orchard Farm, which is the outcome of many years of industry by Mr. Hannah.

After a sumptuous dinner was served to the guests present Rev. Fierheller and Rev. Weir reviewed briefly the many happy years of wedded life that had fallen to the lot of Mr. and Mrs. Hannah, expressing hope that much happiness was still in store for them. Toasts were then given by friends who had attended the ceremony in 1873. A pair of easy chairs were presented by the family and a purse of gold and other valuable gifts by the guests. This part of the ceremony was keenly felt by the bride and groom.

Mr. Hannah, on behalf of himself and wife, expressed himself very suitably. Mr. and Mrs. Hannah are hale and hearty and if the expressions of those present are fulfilled, they will live an unlimited number of years to make use of the gifts. Mr. Jackson Hannah of Whitby was the only one present who attended the wedding in 1873. Mrs. Gillis, who acted as bridesmaid, was unable to be present. Mr. and Mrs. Hannah's children are: Mr. Harry Hannah, Gelert, Ont; Mrs. Fitzgerald, of Peterborough, and William at home. The grandchildren number four.

After an evening of songs, cards and other music, in which the bride and groom participated in freely, was closed by singing Auld Lang Syne.

Those present from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Hughes, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hopwood, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. M. H Sisson, Lindsay, and Mr. and Mrs. Rev. Weir, Omemee.

For Organization and Unification Among the Liberals Before the Toronto Business Men's Liberal Club.

At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Sinclair announced the appointment of Hon. Nelson Parliament, late Speaker of the Legislature, to act as first lieutenant under him in the strenuous work of organization which he proposed to institute throughout Ontario.

THE MISTAKE THE ROMANS MADE.

The Roman soldier stood supreme in fighting power, so long as he lived on simple, natural foods. When he took to pampering his palate, he became as other men, full of ills and weaknesses. Then he failed.

Perhaps he was not to blame, for in those day strengthening foods meant unpalatable eating. But a delightful, vigor-building food has been prepared for us that is at the same time a treat to the palate in any of the many forms in which it may be served. Roman Meal is that food.

In winter weather Roman Meal is of distinct advantage. Most foods of civilized races are "Excess Acid" and form acid blood. These acids must be passed out of the blood or we are immediately ill. In summer they leave by the skin, in winter by the air passages—nose, throat, lungs, etc. There passages they irritate, causing colds, catarrh, bronchitis, tonsilitis, flu, pneumonia, etc.

Roman Meal is 400 parts in each 1,000 "Excess Alkali." It keeps the blood alkaline (opposite of acid) and thus keeps the body energized and vigorous to resist colds, catarrh and all irritations and diseases of the air passages.

Roman Meal makes delicious porridge, pancackes, gems, muffins, johnny cake, pudding, etc. You can go several hours longer on an entire breakfast of Roman without becoming hungry, than any other food, because it is so nourishing. At all grocers.

When you are baking pastry it is a wise precaution to put salt under the tins to prevent the contents from scorching.

COUNTY COUNCIL MET AT COBOURG

Wardenship Will Go to Northumberland This Year.

COBOURG, December 4. — The December session of the Counties Council met last night in their opening meeting, Warden Smith of Port Hope presiding. There is apparently very little of outstanding importance to come before the council at this session which will be devoted principally to routine business and winding up the work of the year, during which considerable road construction and re-surfacing has been in progress, and also the erection of a large number of bridges. Others require attention and will in all probability figure in the Finance Committee's programme for another year, but that will be up to the incoming council.

Next year the honors of the Wardenship fall to Northumberland county, as on arrangement, to alternate this honor between the united counties of Northumberland and Durham. The arrangement was entered into some years ago and has been strictly adhered to since. It is at this session of the council that Dame Rumour asserted feelers are thrown out to prospective aspirants to ascertain their chances, always provided of course that they are returned by their municipalities.

ACID ON COPPER.

If you use acids to clean copper and brasses, remember that unless all traces of the acid are immediately removed, the tarnish will reappear very quickly. Wash them off in clear water after polishing them, and rub with oil.

CLEANING COMBS.

Combs should be cleaned by soaking them in cool water to which a few drops of ammonia have been added, if you wish to loosen the dirt without discoloring the comb.

ANOTHER TORONTO SHOOTING MATCH OVER SMALL SUM

TORONTO, December 5 (Canadian Press). — Following a bitter quarrel last evening over the arrears in rent for a room he had occupied in the home of Mrs. Eva Thompson, Lawrence C. Smith, aged 38, fatally shot Mrs. Thompson in front of her home and then put a revolver bullet through his brain.

Smith died a few minutes after his admittance to the Western Hospital, while Mrs. Thompson, who had been shot through the left thigh, succumbed to the shock some hours later in the Western Hospital.

Mrs. Thompson was a widow, 42 years of age.

Smith, who was a one-legged man, is believed to have been a widower.

According to Thomas Gillespie, another roomer at the Thompson home, Smith had been drinking heavily for some time past and had been much away from his room. His drinking led to is neglecting to pay his room rent regularly, the result being that Mrs. Thompson, when he entered the house last evening, demanded that she be paid.

This Mrs. Thompson refused to do. She seized the telephone, and was about to call the police when Smith snatched the instrument from her, at the same time snapping the cord.

Mrs. Thompson hurried downstairs and out of the house with the intention of getting a policeman.

Smith followed and fired at her, wounding her in the thigh. Then he turned the weapon on himself and shot through the head, dropped on the sidewalk beside his victim.

WHAT AN OLD TAX BILL REVEALED IN YEAR 1861

One Dollar and Nine Cents For House and Two Hundred Acres of Land in North Monaghan.

NORTH MONAGHAN, Dec. 4. —Talking about taxes the other day to a lifelong resident of North Monaghan he said that just the other day he came across some old tax bills and amongst them was the bill for 1861 The taxes that year for house, etc. and 200 acres of land was just one dollar and nine cents. That was before the advent of Provincial Highways.

Election Talk

Election talk in North Monaghan is very quiet this year. There are two factors to account for this:

First—This year's Council has worked together with perfect harmony and in the opinion of those competent to judge, there never was a council that pulled together as this one has done.

The second reason is the reduced tax bills this year. One man on the market Saturday mentioned thirty-three dollars and another man twenty-one dollars as their respective reductions. These amounts are noticeable and are real savings and as every taxpayer has saved something it makes them inclined to say these men are doing things. Let them alone.

And so prospective candidates are shy at coming forward.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1923.

THE LEGISLATURE MUST ACT.

The tangle into which the controversy as to the power of the City Council to trim the estimates of the Police Commission has developed would have been unheard of had the Drury Government in dealing with this matter taken care to see that all elements of doubt were removed.

If the intention was to give the Council the power to cut down police estimates as they wished the wording should have been made clear enough to make misunderstanding impossible.

The present situation in Peterborough might have been reached in any other city in Ontario, or in all of them, and the whole Province thrown into a turmoil.

The possibility of such a development should cause the whole matter to receive the earliest possible attention from the new Legislature.

It should be set forth beyond any cavil either that the Council has the power to trim estimates or that it has no such power.

There should be no need of going to the courts for a decision, and any chance of a repetition of the present impossible situation must be eliminated.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

An unusual spirit has crept into the present British election campaign, according to despatches from the Old Land.

In numerous constituencies there has been organized rowdyism breaking up meetings and making it impossible for speakers to get a hearing.

Heckling, of course, has always been a feature of election fights in England. It has added a flavour to many a meeting that would otherwise have been dead and dull, and has been accepted by most political speakers as an inevitable part of the campaign.

In the present election, however, heckling has been succeeded by something less subtle and more effective—rampant rowdyism that refuses to let speakers of the opposition be heard.

And the offenders are followers of the Labour party, whose leaders have always preached on every occasion the doctrine of freedom of speech.

Evidently they must have meant free speech for themselves, for they have been showing a marked reluctance in many constituencies to allow their opponents half a chance to discuss the issues of the day.

Little will be gained by such tactics, which merely go to show that the plea of Labour for freedom of speech is after all only a catch phrase with no real significance.

If they really believed in it Labour leaders would keep their followers in order at opposition meetings.

LADY DIANA ARRIVES.

New York's pride is salved. Lady Diana Manners has arrived. The gracious beauty whose form and features have been seen on many a motion picture in England—unfortunately Canada's subservience to the American producer prevents the free circulation of British films here—has come to the United States, not to act in a picture, but to take part in a stage drama, says the Montreal Star. The New York producers have felt for a long time that with the Oberammergan Passion Play and Lady Diana Manners, both the exclusive property of Europe, life still left something for them to be desired. Now the Passion Players are coming, and Lady Diana has come. What more could even a New York theatrical producer want?

What nobody seems to have remarked, or commented on, is the simple but significant fact that Lady Diana Manners affords a striking instance of a born aristocrat who has entered into competition with other members of her own sex in a grim contest and has won by virtue of her intrinsic merits as an artist. She has proved that she can act for the movies, and she has shown that she is not only willing but able to do anything any other movie actress can do for the screen. She has succeeded by the acid test of the camera and the public—her first films were shown without her name—and she has at the same time retained her popularity with her own set. Yet we venture to hazard a guess that when "The Miracle" is advertised on Broadway, the name of Lady Diana Manners will be like that of Abou Ben Adhem—it will lead all the rest. By such devious ways does democracy average itself upon those who happen casually to remember that they are opponents of the democratic spirit.

PLAYING SANTA CLAUS.

This year's Council has pleaded poverty so persistently and preached the necessity of economy so fervidly that it is difficult to reconcile with such pleading and such preaching their decision to increase the pay of the officials concerned with the municipal elections and the allowance to be paid the owners of premises used for polling places.

The expense of taking the vote will be increased by $125, it is estimated—not a very formidable matter it is true, but yet difficult to justify in the light of the general attitude of the Council towards new expenditures.

The remuneration hitherto in force has been high enough to ensure securing sufficient officials to do the work without a great deal of trouble, and while the increase will be accepted by the officials as a welcome New Year's gift, there is reason to doubt whether the ratepayers generally will accept it in the same spirit.

So many worthy enterprises have been denied assistance or given only a fraction of what they asked for from the Council under the pleas of hard times and an impoverished city treasury that the action of the city fathers in nonchalantly tossing out an unnecessary $125 to officials who have given no public intimation of their belief that the old rate was not high enough, will come almost as a shock.

Possibly, however, the Aldermen have been engulfed by an early wave of Christmas spirit, and in looking about to discover a stocking to fill saw the small army of election officials as the most worthy recipients of a gift from Santa Claus—in this case the City Council.

It's always nice to play Santa Claus—and when it's done with somebody else's money the ointment is without a single fly.

EARLIER ELECTIONS.

Although St. Catharines, trying the early election experiment for the first time on Monday, reports that the change had little effect on the size of the vote and only one-third of the electors exercised their franchise, the evidence from other Ontario municipalities in which elections were held this week justifies the choosing of the first Monday in December in preference to New Year's Day.

Brockville reports the heaviest vote in the history of municipal politics, there were lively contests in many other municipalities, and Lindsay's first experience with the early date is described as satisfactory.

Those cities and towns that took advantage of the opportunity to hold their elections before the holiday season gain by the change, even if the size of the vote had not increased, inasmuch as they have the stage cleared for the Christmas trade with no political activities to interfere and the holiday season is not interrupted by the clamour of the vote-hunting candidates.

Theoretically New Year's Day should be an ideal municipal election day.

With everybody off work, it would seem that a very large percentage of the possible vote would be registered.

But a thorough trial has proved the fallacy of the theory.

It has shown that many people refuse to permit the election to interfere with their holiday pleasure—and they simply decline to vote.

In view of that fact, the experience of other municipalities with the December plan and the advantage of getting the elections out of the way well in advance of Christmas, the question of Peterborough adopting the earlier date is worthy of earnest consideration.

PUBLIC CAN HELP.

Colonel C. R. McCullough, addressing a local church organization the other evening, made some telling criticisms of Canada's present economic position, says the Hamilton Spectator. Fortunate as our situation is by comparison with many other nations, there is not the slightest question that it could be made much more favorable still through the adoption of such expedients as those recommended by the speaker. All that is necessary is to enlist the earnest co-operation of the individual, and an improvement would come as a matter of course. In the first place, there is the question of trading with the United States. Canada buys over two hundred million dollars' worth of goods from the United States in excess of the value of those she sells there. We send in our raw material and buy it back, at greatly enchanced prices, in the form of manufactured goods. Thus we are not merely dissipating our national resources, but we are depriving our own countrymen of the opportunity of employment. When it comes to selling our finished products to the United States, we find a much less willing disposition to accept them, and so the process goes on, a process increasingly menacing to our national interests.

What is the remedy? It rests largely in the hands of the Canadian purchasers. By patronizing home industry, much can be done; but the solution does not wholly lie with the general buying public, as Mr. McCullough shows. "What's the matter with us, anyway?" he asked. Here we have the richest resources above and below the soil, but lack the qualities, apparently, necessary for the conversion of those resources into actual wealth. It is a somewhat severe indictment of Canadian enterprise; but is it not deserved? With materials in abundance, the initiative to work up those materials into the finished products is missing. Why should this be, and how long shall it be? One reason for the condition was touched on by the speaker, when he said: "Research must busy itself in Canada." The crude methods which served for pioneering days must be brought to an end—hewing the timber and shipping it abroad, neglecting our wonderful resources in minerals, etc., for the temporary, illusive advantage of selling what comes ready to hand to anyone disposed to buy it. This is a scientific age, and scientific methods will have to be applied to our industry and commerce, if we are to maintain and improve our position in the face of prevailing competition and hard bargaining.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Tomorrow will decide how close to the mark are the British election sharps.

Queen's footballers have decided that in other seasons study must have first place over rugby. And considering the length to which the Canadian football season has grown nobody can blame the students for arriving at that conclusion.

Half the deaths from motor car accidents in Chicago this year were of people who tried to cross streets in the middle of a block. "Jay walking" is becoming more dangerous daily.

Those municipalities that adopted the first Monday in December as election day have the fuss and excitement all over now and have nothing to do but enjoy the coming holiday festivities.

A mayoralty candidate named Lemon was defeated in St. Thomas on Tuesday. Shakespeare notwithstanding, there is something in a name.

Two of the British political parties will be able to sing this week: "Thursday always was my Jonah day."

Lloyd George's tour of the United States and Canada was apparently merely a warm up for the battle of the hustings at home.

LEGAL ACTION OVER FREE TRADE LETTER

Wholesale Firm Threatened the Daily Chronicle If Letter Was Published.

LONDON, Dec. 4. — (Canadian Press Cable.) — A curious election incident had a sequel in court today when the Daily Chronicle gave an undertaking not to reproduce a letter issued by a well-known firm of wholesale and warehousemen informing their customers that in the event of the imposition of a tax on imported manufactures the amount of duty must be added to the price of the articles ordered.

Free trade newspapers throughout the countryside have been "splashing" the letter in their issues until now the firm in question has determined, if possible, to put a stop to it. The firm threatened to institute legal proceedings against the offending papers for alleged infringement of copyright.

Nothing however, prevents the papers from "reporting the proceedings," including a copy of the offending letter, which as a result is having a greater vogue than ever.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, December 5. — There were very few good butchers in the pens yesterday, and most of the dealing was in the common to medium kind. Packers are picking up bunches of thin animals for 3 cents a pound, and these are filling the bill for the cut prices on beef in some retail stores. Some with a little more substance are going at $4.10 to $4.25 a cwt. Good, handy and medium weight butchers when available are costing from $6.00 to $6.75 a cwt. Most of this week's baby beeves are not up to standard. They are not well rounded out, and the prices are running from 7 to 8 1-2 cents a pound, with an odd choice top up to 10 cents.

There is a good run of feeders and stockers this week, and prices are a shade firmer. For the feeder without much breed from 900 to 1,000 pounds, $4.55 to $5.00 is being paid, and for those around 800 pounds the average price is $4.00. Butchers' cows are steady with the large proportion of business in the medium class at $3.50 to $3.75 a cwt. The run of canners is pretty much over, and fewer are being received. Two bunches of medium weight butchers' steers sold yesterday morning at $6.35 a cwt. Business was decidedly slow in all kinds of cattle yesterday morning.

Calves off the road and only away from the market a few hours are selling firm at 11 1-2 cents a pound. Other choice calves are making 10 1-2 to 11 cents a pound.

Lambs took a strong turn on Monday afternoon when some sold at 11 cents. Yesterday morning they were stronger again, and the general market for choice light lambs was 11 cents, a rise of nearly a dollar a cwt. from last week. One small bunch of select lambs was sold by F. Dunn at 12 cents and a deck of choice ones of nice weights brought 11 1-2 cents a pound.

Hogs were quoted unsteady yesterday morning at $7.25 a cwt. f.o.b. bid by the packers. This was another drop of 25 cents a cwt. and general dissatisfaction was reported through the country. Some sales were said to have been made at $7.85 a cwt. fed and watered.

The hog market was unchanged at $7.15 for thick smooths and $7.85 1-2 for select bacons.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, December 5 (Canadian Press). — The tone of the market for spot oats was firm yesterday. There was no change in the flour situation. A fair business is continuing in millfeed, and the demand for rolled oats is fair. The tone of the baled hay market is firm. A very firm feeling prevails in the buttor market, and the late advance in prices is being more than maintained. The cheese market shows little change. Business in eggs is steady.

Egg quotations yesterday were — Extras 40, firsts 35, seconds 30.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, December 5 (Canadian Tress). — Active buying on the part of houses with Eastern connections brought amout a material advance yesterday in the price of wheat. Gossip was persistent as to the likelihood of some development at Washington that would be helpful toward a higher range of values for agricultural products.

The market closed firm at 5-8 to 1c net gain, with December $1.05 5-8 and May $1.11 1-2 to $1.11 5-8.

Corn finished 3-8c to 7-8c up; oats showing 1-4c to 1-2c rise; and provisions varying from 5c decline to 12c advance.

It was a current prediction that sooner or later the tariff on wheat will come up for change by Congress, and it was pointed out that primary arrivals of wheat yesterday exceeded those of a year ago because of the inclusion of 544,000 bushels of duty-paid Canadian wheat received at Toledo. Canadian marketings continue to run much larger than last year, but a somewhat prevalent view here was that European supplies are much less abundant than recent reports had led many traders to believe.

Corn and oats were independently strong. Corn receipes were small, country offerings limited, and consignment notices decreasing. Oats delivered were being generally ordered out for shipments.

Provisions averaged higher, responsive to changes in grain and hogs.

Blackhand Letter Preceded Murder of New York Cobbler

NEW YORK, December 5. — Two mysterious slayings, one bearing evidence of vengeance wrought by members of a blackhand society, the other a tragedy of the hazardous bootlegging game, were high spots yesterday in a period of criminal activity, in which rum runners, highjackers, hold up men, pickpockets, burglars and forgers took part.

All the elements of the underworld seemed at work and as a result all the forces and experts of the law were spurred into action. Customs agents, Coast Guards, prohibition enforcement officers, members of the police homicide and plainclothes men were occupied.

Dominick Maggio, known as the "singing cobbler," was shot dead in his bed in Brooklyn, after he and his wife and three children had been sprayed with chloroform.

Three weeks ago, Dominick, while tapping away at a boot sole, saw a piece of paper smeared with a black hand, pushed under his shop door. His little boy handed it to him. It warned him that his enemies were determined to have vengeance for an act unstated, but that his life would be spared if he paid $1000. Dominick laughed and burned the paper.

His murderers entered his house through a rear window, sprayed the drug and then fired. The first shot struck Dominick in the chest and he leaped from his bed in an attempt to protect himself. Another shot felled him and he died.

His wife, only semi-conscious from the fumes of the drug that had been sprayed with an atomizer, heard the shots and made a feeble attempt to aid him, but she was felled by a blow on the head. With her children she was taken to a hospital.

After Mrs. Maggio had been revived she told a story of her husband's enemies that led to the arrest of two men as suspects.

One established an alibi and was released but the other was held for examination.

Mrs. Maggio said there were three men in the murder party. They entered through a rear window of the apartment and began spraying the drug. It took immediate effect on the children but Maggio and his wife were only dazed.

Maggio, who was a cobbler, leaped from the bed after the first shot was fired and attempted to protect himself but the second bullet finished him. His wife then screamed, bringing policemen.

ROAD CONFERENCE DISCUSSES SIGNS

A Recommendation Was Approved Emphasizing the Advisability of Provincial Control of All Signs on the Highways

WINNIPEG, December 5 (Canadian Press). — The adoption of uniform standard types of danger and other warning signs by all the Provinces of the Dominion was recommended by a resolution passed by the Interprovincial Good Roads Conference in session here.

This, it was declared in an official statement issued yesterday afternoon, is in the public interest, and the conference will recommend the adoption of certain standards covering size, location, distance, visibility, and design.

A recommendation was approved emphasising the advisabilty of Provincial control of all signs on the highways and disapproval of commercial signs, which obscure the vision and may be considered a menace to travel.

Safety on the highways was fully discussed, and it was declared essential from the standpoint of safety to pedestrians, and the preservation of roads, that uniform speed laws be adopted

Various matters affecting the construction and maintenance of roads and regulations governing the use of same were dealt with during the past two days, and uniformity of legislation was a dominating factor in the discussion of the problem.

It was unanimously decided that co-operative buying on the part of the Provinces should be adopted in cases where a saving can be effected.

The encouragement of tourists' camps, as a result of the increased number of tourists using camping equipment, was strongly recommended by the conference.

It was declared that regulations governing all such camss, especially in the matter of hygiene and preservation of the forests from destructive fires, should be made.

BRITISH LABOR LOSING GROUND

LONDON, Dec. 4.— (United Press.)— The British election campaign is closing amid outbursts of heckling, rowdyism and strife. Reports that Labor is going to lose ground, with the Liberals taking second place and the Conservatives winning by a small majority has stirred some of the more active British electors to violence. Organized gangs pester the Liberal and Conservative candidates alike. One Conservative woman candidate was kicked and mauled by Labor sympathizers, three gunmen broke up a Liberal candidate's meeting, the telephone wires at the Conservatives' headquarters were cut. Lloyd George, easily the leading figure of the campaign, is out of town. Winston Churchill, who spoke for the Liberals last night, was jeered, jostled and threatened by a Labor mob, which smashed the windows of his limousine.

FARM RECEIPTS HAVE DECLINED

Price of Cattle and Hogs Considerably Reduced But Overhead Stays High.

CAVAN, Dec. 5.—It is not very encouraging to farmers this fall when they come to sell a batch of pigs which were raised with the intention of selling to pay taxes, threshing and a few other expenses. Just now pigs are selling at between seven and eight cents, while taxes in Cavan on a hundred acres, with good buildings, are one hundred dollars and over. It takes a good batch of pigs to pay taxes alone. When the feed eaten by them is considered, there is nothing for the labour of feeding them. The cattle market is the same; no demand for any thing but the best and the price for the best not more than the cost of production.

The Ladies' Aid of Cavan Methodist Church will meet on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Will Douglas.

Mr. T. A. Kelly spent a few days of last week in Peterboro visiting his sister, Mrs. Fisher.

Mr. Louis Hutchison visited friends in Toronto and attended the Winter Fair.

Mr. Leonard McNeil spent a day in Toronto last week.

Miss Frances Hall, who has been visiting friends in Manvers, her cousin Miss Touchbourn at Ida, and Mrs. Moore in Peterboro, has returned to her home in South Monaghan.

Still Plowing

The mild weather is helping the farmers out, who were behind with their plowing; several are plowing every day.

There has been quite a little rain lately, but still not nearly enough has fallen to benefit materially the wells.

FOR THE COUGH THAT STICKS

Common Cough Syrups Won't Help —You've Got to Make Your Own.

CHEAP AND BEST

For any kind of a cough, but especially for the stubborn one that persists and keeps you awake nights this home made cough mixture will quickly loosen the phlegm, allay the inflammation and stop the cough.

You can make it yourself at home in two minutes by following these instructins:

Get from any druggist one ounce of Parmint (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar and enought water to make one half pint—that's all there is to it, and children like it.

Like a soothing, healing poultice one costly substance in this home made mixture spreads itself completely over the membrane of the throat. This causes the most stubborn hang-on cought to cease almost instantly. No ordinary slow-acting cough syrup contains this expensive ingredient.

It's a mighty fine remedy for chest colds and acute nasal catarrh, and remember that any remedy that overcomes catarrh, partially or wholly, is bound to be of benefit to those who are troubled with head noises and catarrhal deafness.

Get Parmint and get better.

POT COVERS.

Barn Destroyed By Upset of Lantern

BROCKVILLE, Dec. 5.—(Canadian Press).—When Amos Throop, farmer, at Elizabethtown was ascending a ladder carrying a lighted lantern early yesterday the ladder broke and the upsetting lantern started a blaze which destroyed the barn, 15 tons of hay, two horses, three cows and a hog.

KNOX CHURCH MEN ENJOYED BANQUET

A banquet on Monday night in Knox Presbyterian Church given by the ladies of the congregation took the form of an inspirational gathering at which the men of the church were entertained. There was a real get-together spirit, and the enthusiasm of both young and old men was marked. As an outcome of the banquet a handsome sum was subscribed as a nest-egg for the canvassers, who this week open their campaign for an anniversary offering. Sunday next will be observed as the anniversary of the church, and $2,500 has been set as the objective.

H. J. McCannon, chairman, gave the canvassers a word of encouragement in the campaign, which is being carried on from Tuesday to Friday, closing at 8 o'clock on the last day. Throughout the affair Mr. McCannon was the moving spirit behind all the jollity, which made the banquet a so conspicuous success, his witty sallies keeping the audience in good humour.

Following the banquet, addresses were given by Ian McKenzie, representing the young men, and Andrew McKenzie, who gave an illustrated talk which traced the history of the Sunday School from a barn on Aylmer street, which the Misses Dixon and Mrs. Walsh were instrumental in starting about 50 years ago, down to the present splendid building Malcolm Clark, representing the Session, spoke in an optimistic manner regarding the future of Knox Church.

Frank Grey spoke on behalf of the Board of Managers, striking a note of optimism in surveying the prospects for the coming year and congratulating the board on its accomplishments in the past.

Rev. M. C. MacKinnon said he was proud to follow in the footsteps of those who had so successfully preceded him in the ministry in Knox Church, Rev. H. J. Keith and Rev. J. A. MacKenzie. There is a great work to be done in this congregation, he said, and pledged his best efforts and those of his wife to the furtherance of the work which had been so auspiciously commenced.

Community Singing.

Community singing conducted by Alex. Dick in his usual inimitable manner, contributed to the pleasure of the evening, and a banjo solo by Frank Clark was greatly enjoyed.

Mr. Thompson, another Scotch singer, contributed to the success of the entertainment; Mr. Fantom of Toronto rendered enjoyable solos, and John Anderson was another popular singer.

Votes of thanks were heartily accorded, Messrs. Yale and Mulligan proposing that to the ladies and Messrs. Croft and Laing that to the artists who contributed so well to the success of the evening.

Two Hotels Burned In Western Town

EXPENSE, Sask., Dec. 4.—Fanned by a high wind here early this morning, fire reduced two hotels and two business premises to smouldering ruins, causing a loss estimated at $20,000. The fire is believed to have originated in a butcher shop in which a stove had been left burning during the night.

GERMAN BABIES CAUSE WORRIES

BERLIN, Dec. 5.—(Canadian Press).—The high cost of living hounds Germans from the cradle to the grave.

Layettes for the baby are so expensive few families can afford them. A child's shirt cost from 12 to 20 billion marks in November. Even a second-hand perambulator costs 30 gold marks, and the mid-wives and doctors have all placed their fees on a gold-mark basis.

It costs trillions of marks to outfit a new arrival in a German family in these days of declining paper marks, and the trillions are lacking in all families excepting those of profiteers.

A girl baby is more of a tragedy than a boy baby in the average German family today, because of the dowry which must go with every German girl who finds a husband. No girl without a dowry can avoid being an old maid in Germany, and there is little prospect of the average German family accumulating enough surplus to endow daughters with sufficient linen and money to make them attractive to German men who have such a large assortment of women to choose from because of the great excess of the female population.

THE RADIO GAME MOVING SLOW IN GREAT BRITAIN.

The British Broadcasting Company Has Firm Grip on Receiving Sets of Every Description.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The radio game as it is played by the private citizen interested in receiving is moving slow in Great Britain.

Broadcasting is also done on a much broader band of wave-lengths than in the United States, with the result that most of the commercial receiving sets manufactured are made to tune wavelengths from two hundred to several thousand meters. "The effect of this in my opinion is to reduce their sensitivity to a certain extent, as it necessitates bank winding, large condensers, adjustable radio frequency transformers, etc." The public is very much interested in radio, and despite the red tape, and the real severe penalties imposed on illegal operators, there are many unlicensed sets.

"I was much amused at the owner of a store in Edinburgh, Scotland, who specialized in radio receiving equipment. He told me that the biggest percentage of his visitors were radio enthusiasts who spent hours of his valuable time discussing circuits. He did not know the word for this type of radio man, but he is undoubtedly running up against the good old radio "bam."

There is nothing like the variety of receiving equipment and apparatus here that there is in the United States, except in the way of tubes. There is certainly a glorious display of the latter, which embody every principle known and unknown in radio. One striking feature of the trade is the fact that there is practically no competition from the outside, as the duty is very high and only recently a law was passed prohibiting the use, for a period of two years, of all imported radio receiving apparatus.

DISCOVER COAL FIELD THROUGH LIGHTNING

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 5.—(Associated Press).—A flash of lightning, well over a hundred years ago, caused the discovery of coal in the Mississippi valley, according to the written word of Father Louis Hennepin, whose records are on file on the shelves of the local historical society.

The monks of La Trappe located in Madison County in 1807 and Father Louis was their historian. That year they found themselves short of fuel, his narrative shows. Their blacksmiths complained of the lack. On being informed that the earth, near the foot of a tree which had been struck by lightning, was afire, the monks went to the spot. Digging a little below the surface they discovered a vein of coal, the first in the northwest territory.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

FARM BOY'S WAGE

Norwood,
Nov. 30, 1923.

To THE EXAMINER,
Peterboro, Ont.

In your issue of Nov. 28th, there appears a letter from Mr. M. V. Murphy of Ennismore, which is more of less directed at myself and in which Mr. Murphy, with true Celtic eloquence, dilates on his treatment of Eddie Martin.

It is obvious that a report in your paper of several days ago regarding wages has aroused Mr. Murphy's ire to a considerable extent. I may state that any information I may have on the subject came from Eddie Martin, himself, and whether or not the information is correct, I think that Eddie believed it to be true. However, since Mr. Murphy has seen fit to blossom forth into print on the subject, I cannot understand why he does not mention the exact amount that he is paying Martin instead of "beating around the bush" as is clearly indicated at two different points in his letter.

Mr. Murphy further states that Eddie came to him "uneducated and untrained for work," and that he was sent to school until he was over school age. When the fact that the boy was but 11 years old is taken into consideration, this is by no means remarkable.

In the six years that Eddie has been on the farm, I quite believe that his training for work has been thorough, but I cannot say the same for his school education. The boy told me that he had passed from the senior third class into the junior fourth, but did not go any further. From my own observations I know the boy can read, but has never had much encouragement to do so and has but very faint knowledge of current events.

In a problem in simple addition that came to 46 he had to make three attempts to get the right answer. His hand-writing is just fair. The point I wish to make is this—Eddie Martin is by no means mentally deficient nor is he a dull boy, but I do think that he shows lack of education even though "he was sent to school until over school age." I think that possibly the attendance register of the school which he attended would furnish the explanation for this condition.

Further Mr. Murphy states: "Eddie who when he left me was in no need whatever of sympathy." This is a point I cannot discuss as considerable time had elapsed between the time that Eddie left Ennismore and when I met him in Norwood, at which time he was in need of something more substantial than sympathy. He had no money, no job, nothing to eat and nowhere to stay. I gave him board and lodging and a job as helper although he was a total stranger to me. The arrangements as to wages were temporary, until I found out if he could stay. I agreed to pay him $10.00 per month and his board for the first month, with a raise at the end of that time if his work proved satisfactory.

When I read in your paper that the boys were thought to be lost in the lake, I immediately called your office on the 'phone as to their whereabouts, to save any further anxiety on the part of their friends, and the remark I made to your reporter which apparently started the fireworks, was this: "The boy says he was getting $20.00 per year and his board and clothes, and if he was not getting any more than that, I do not wonder that he ran away."

I do not see any reason to withdraw this statement, as it does not cast any reflections on anybody unless it is the truth. If it is otherwise, I think the matter can be very easily rectified.

In conclusion, nobody with any common sense will dispute that the agricultural industry is the very back-bone of our country, but I would draw attention to the fact that some cream tests higher than others whether it be the "cream of humanity" or the dairy variety.

Oh Gurrls! Sir Harry Powders Too--His Knees. of Course, That Is

BY JACK JUNGMEYER

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—The most distinguished and capable itinerant housewife in the world is Lady Annie Lauder, wife of Sir Harry.

Now in the twentieth tour with her famous "Scotch Laddie" husband, and the third globe-circling trip, she boasts of having temporarily converted into a home ships' cabins, Pullman compartments and hotel suites in nearly every important city on the map.

Wherever her distinguished spouse park his crooked stick and tam, there, thanks to Lady Lauder's versatility from many wanderings, he finds comforting echoes of the big house of Dunoon on the Clyde.

"Being a wife," she asserts in vigorous Scotch, "doesn't mean joost presiding overrr a man's home. It is Sir Harry's business to travel, and so I travel with him. We make it a point to nave at least a semblance of our domestic life wherrrever we go. It doesn't take long to put a Skotch atmosphere into any lodgings."

Knits His Socks.

Smilingly alert, high color on her cheek, hazel eyes shining whimisically, she was knitting a pair of kilties, having preceded her husband to a Los Angeles hotel.

"I mend 'em joost from time to time," she chuckled. "Yes—I'm auld fashioned. If a woman wants her husband to get on then she must give him all her time.

"In Skotland we gurrrls look up to our fathers and brothers first, and when we marry, of course we look up to the big, strong fellow our husband is.

"The modern woman—ah, you have me now! I don't know what's best for her. Perrhaps the trouble is that she's all taken and no give.

"My family and his were shocked," she said, "when Harry proposed giving up an honest, brawny man's job as miner to go singing. They though the devil had taken him." Then her remininscences swung to wooing.

Childhood Romance.

"He'd liked me since I was a gurrrl of 14. To me he dedicated his songs 'Roamin' in the Gloamin', and 'Bonnie Wee Annie.'

LADY LAUDER A ND SIR HARRY

"Dont' think I'm taking credit for his success—he'd made good anyhow, but maybe he'd not be singing at all if he hadn't been throost into the cold worrld as a lad of 12, with his father dead and six wee brothers and sisters to think about.

"That's what sent him up my country, to the mines, to develop a brrrawny boy's lungs. Then he got to singin'—and the world knows the rest.

"In those days Harry's stage clothes were vairrry poor. But today the big strong fellow has the best money can buy, and—"she laughed—"I wish he were as immaculate at home and when we go walking as he is on the stage."

HOW SIR HARRY KEEPS HIS KNEES WHITE

"Many curious young gurrls have asked me, 'How does Sir Harry manage to have such white knees?'" says his wife, Lady Annie Lauder, whose sense of humor quite equals that of her famous husband.

"The same way you keep your complexions white,' I answer,

"'But how, but how?' they keep asking.

"'You powder your noses, my dears—while he powders his knees. You see it's really vairrry simple."

A JURY THREATENED HER SAYS JURYWOMAN

Judge Cannot Do Anything About It—She Was One Dissentient Voice in Twelve.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4. —After having been locked up all night with the rest of a jury in a damage case in the Common Please Court here, Mrs. Orville B. Jones, a resident of Carnegie, a suburb, made a complaint to Judge John C. Haymaker in court when the jury was discharged as disagreeing.

"One of the men told me that if I were a man he would tell me what he would do to me and that I would be in the morgue instead of the jury room," Mrs. Jones declared. "Another man told me that when he got out of the jury room he would have me reported to the Black Hand Society and have them take care of me for not consenting to their verdict I was insulted, intimidated and compelled to listen to perfectly horrid language. I don't think a woman should be subjected to such hideous treatment, your Honor.

Mrs. Jones told the Court that the vote stood 11 to 1 and that she was the one who refused to "come over." She stated that the terrible treatment continued while she remained in the room, and that even while she was eating her dinner she was browbeaten and mistreated.

"I am sorry that you have been subjected to such treatment," Judge Haymaker said. "I do not see what I can do for you. This is just one of the unpleasant features of the newly acquired right of women. No gentle man would subject a woman to such treatment as you were evidently given, but unfortunately, there is nothing that I can do."

The case was a damage suit filed by Mike Long, a produce dealer, against the Pennsylvania Railroad, involving a shipment of grapes.

One other woman sat on the jury.

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

The varieties of bootleg beverages that flood the cities, towns and wayside stations at present are almost legion. It is the duty of every physician to warn his patients or anyone with whom he may come in friendly contact against drinking this "stuff."

The United States Internal Revenue Department during the past three years has analyzed some 75,000 samples or brands of this man-killer. They are skillfully concocted in many cases, but all are rank poison. One can hardly understand how a man will put something in his stomach which deals a death blow. They contain, besides aldehydes and acetaldehyde, many other poisons from the metals of the distilling process, and coloring matter which is rich in tissue-destroying doses.

Hooch is poisonous for the reason that special distillation is necessary to drive off the poisons. This the amateur or home process does not accomplish. In addition to this the alcohol is often not grain alcohol, but a poisonous substitute of a greatly inferior quality. Even wood alcohol and denatured alcohol, methyl and benzine are component parts.

These poisonous drinks attack in some measure all parts of the body but particularly the higher brain centers, the spinal cord, the nervous system, especially the optic nerve, the stomach and the digestive system. Paralysis and conditions which have the symptoms of locomotor ataxia result from brain and spinal-cord afflictions. Partial and sometimes permanent blindness result from the poisons attacking the optic nerve. Serious heart dilatioh often results and death soon follows. As far as available figures show, more than 10,000 deaths have occurred during the past two years as a direct result of this folly of drinking.

The most serious phase of all is the condition of the individual in the lowering of physical condition and demoralization of manhood in reproducing the species. Think of the handicap imposed on the offspring of such debasers of mind and body. How many will be foolish enough to sacrifice their lives at Thanksgiving is a question.

Refuse any friendly drink of "pure goods."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

When you serve a salad or dessert do you think how attractive to look at you can make it as well as how good to eat?

And when you must use up left-over meats in croquettes or creamed on toast do you ever think that a tiny sprig of parsley dropped here and there on the platter lifts the dish several notches higher in the estimation of the family?

There are so many simple garnishes that are inexpensive and require no special tools that it seems a pity the average housewife overlooks the possibilities at her hand.

Cold roast or broiled meat, thinly sliced and arranged neatly on a platter in an overlapping fashion, is twice as appetizing as if carelessly served.

Just a sprinkling of paprika the last thing before sending a platter of creamed dried beef on toast to the table adds an intriguing touch to an everyday standby.

Hard-Boiled Eggs

Hard-boiled eggs are an effective garnish. They are cut in rings across the egg or lengthwise. The white then makes petal-shaped sections and the yolk is riced to form the center of the daisy. Can't you imagine a mound of dark green spinach with one of these posies in the center, and a ring of fluffy rice surrounding the base of the mound? Serve a rich white sauce or a smooth cheese sauce in a seperate dish and the whole provides nourishment as well as beauty. This combination might be used as the main dish for luncheon or with the meat course for dinner.

Mere throads of canned pimento through a cabbage salad or any vegetable or meat salad masked with mayonnaise add much to the dish.

Head lettuce is high, but if the outside leaves are cut in "ribbons" and used as a salad garnish there is no waste to the head. These tiny green ribbons are lovely worked into nests for individual salads or used to surround a large molded salad.

Left-Overs

A left-over vegetable salad molded in jelly or simply mounded on a bed of lettuce shreds, masked with yellow mayonnaise and "trimmed" with threads of scarlet pimento, thin slices of olives, tiny diamonds of pickled beets can be evolved in the home kitchen.

With the vegetable cutters and pastry tubes now on the market all sorts of marvelous things are done. Mashed potatoes blossom into roses with hearts of creamed carrots. Turnips are cut in marbles and piled in little mounds before the sauce is poured over them. Or potatoes cut with the same vegetable cutter are parboiled in salted water, drained and sauted in bacon fat or butter to a delicious brown and served as a garnish for a steak.

Maraschino cherries are cut in quarters and used quite as effectively as a whole cherry for garnishing desserts.

Flavor to Pudding

A bit of sparkling currant jelly dropped on each dish of everyday rice pudding does wonders for the pudding. Shreds of candied orange peel can be used in the same way.

Sections or slices of lemon sprinkled with minced parsley garnish the fish platter as well as furnishing the necessary piquant touch to the fish.

If you start garnishing your dishes you will find it fascinating work and be surprised at the many possibilities before you every day. The garnish habit grows and adds much to the interest in serving meals. It is an actual kitchen economy, often utilizing left-overs for the "garniture" and determining to a great degree the palatableness of an uninteresting dish by making it "look good enough to eat."

SOMETHING TO EAT

"Is it something to eat?" asked Missez Jack Sprat.

This was the next riddle the Riddle Lady wrote. All the Riddle Landers were there to hear. Nancy and Nick too.

"Oh, hi diddle diddle!
Now here is a riddle,
And see if the answer you know;
I am something to eat,
But I'm not at all sweet,
Like little black Topsy, I grow.

"No, not on a tree,
Or an island at sea,
Or up north 'mid the snow and the ice,
I come from the south,
Where the moon man's poor mouth
Got burnt on pea porridge and rice.

"I have to be roasted,
And quite brownly toasted,
Before you'll enjoy a bite,
Though my shell's a bit woody,
Inside is a goody,
Or two I should say, to be right.

"Sometimes they just sell me,
But often they shell me,
And salt me to suit the queen's taste,
But sometimes they grind me,
And so you will find me,
In little glass jars as a paste.

"All elephants love me,
Though so far above me,
And many times larger in size,
They do not despise me,
Indeed they all prize me,
As likewise today in the prize."

"That's an easy one," smiled the Riddle Lady.

"Is it something to eat?" asked Missez Jack Sprat.

"Yes!" said the Riddle Lady.

"Then I wish I'd win it," sighed Missez Sprat. "But I won't. I never guessed anything in my life and I know I'm not going to now."

"Is it a pie?" asked Jack Horner.

"My, no!" laughed the Riddle Lady. "Who ever heard of salt in a pie? Besides I said it had a shell—not a crust. And I never saw an elephant eat a pie, did you?"

"No," Jack had to admit, "but maybe nodody ever tried it. I bet you an elephant could eat a pie at one bite."

"Well, that isn't the answer," declared the Riddle Lady. "Has anybody guessed the answer?"

"I know! I know! I know!" sang Nancy. "It's a peanut!"

"Right!" exclaimed the Riddle Lady. "And the prize is a whole bag of them."

"I just knew it was something to eat!" wheezed fat Missez Sprat, crowding nearer.

All the Riddle Landers had some —for it was a big bag—and Missez Sprat was satisfied. But Jack Horner can't see yet why he wasn't right.

REV. T. H. PERRY JOINS FACULTY

Was a Former Pastor of St. Luke's Church, Peterborough.

The Halifax Evening Mail records the appointment of Rev. T. H. Perry to a divinity chair at King's College. Rev. Mr. Perry was a former rector of St. Luke's Church, this city, and is a brother of Archdeacon Perry, who conducted a mission at All Saints' Church a short time ago. The Halifax Evening Mail has the following to say of Rev. Mr. Perry:

"Rev. T. H. Perry was first appointed rector of St. Matthias Church ten years ago, when he succeeded Rev. C. Masters. Before coming to Halifax, he was for two years curate in the Church of the Ascension, Hamilton, Ont. Mr. Perry is a Master of Arts of Toronto University, and won the gold medal for oratory, while at college. In 1921, accompanied by Mrs. and Master Perry, he went across the ocean, and took an inter-denominational post graduate course for two years at Edinburg University, where he specialized in systematic theology, apologetics and natural science. Mr. Perry was the recipient of several testimonials at the conclusion of his course, one being from one of the leading theologians in Scotland, who said, in part: 'I was impressed with his ardent devotion to study, his wide reading, and his evident resolve to make himself master of the subjects on which he was engaged. No one could have employed his time and gifts more diligently. It was clear to me that his interest in theology, and especially in its doctrinal aspects, was profound and unremitting, and that he had a salutory and inspiring sense of the greatness of theological problems. I am persuaded that in any teaching post to which he may be appointed, he will strive to the utmost to equip students for an intelligent and devout service in the ministry.'

"Under the care of Rev. T. H. Perry, the parish of St. Matthias' has prospered. The membership of the church has greatly increased, its rector in addition to being a popular and successful pastor among his people, having unusual ability as a preacher, his sermons on important problems of church and world life, always able and eloquent discourses, placing him in the front rank of local speakers of merit. Since he became rector, the new parish church was opened, the choir includes some of the leading vocalists in the city, and the services are always, genuinely hearty and inspiring."

LURE GERMAN CHILDREN TO CROWD MOVIE HOUSE

BERLIN, Dec. 5.—(Associated Press).—German parents complain bitterly that their children flock evenings to the movie houses and stay up late to watch blood-curdling dramas. The laws against young children being abroad at night alone apparently are not enforced.

Crowded housing conditions and lack of heat and light in the homes are given as reasons for the disposition of the youngsters to take to the cinemas.

Staircases are no longer lighted in many apartment houses in Berlin, the landlords saying the expense is too great. Signs reading as follows are not infrequent: "This house is closed at dusk; persons entering later do so at their own risk."

All Are Delighted with Vicks

Ontario Families Find it Wonderful for Cold Troubles

Ontario people became acquainted last winter with Vicks VapoRub, the vaporizing salve for all cold troubles.

In the hundreds of homes where it has been tried, Vicks is already a stand-by for croup, children's colds, bronchitis, catarrh and various skin hurts and itchings.

Vicks, the discovery of a North Carolina druggist, is a combination in salve form of the old time-tried remedies, Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Oil of Turpentine and other volatile oils.

When Vicks is applied it has two immediate actions. Externally, it is absorbed through and stimulates the skin, relieving the soreness and tightness of the chest. Internally, the volatile ingredients, released as vapors by the body heat, are inhaled directly into the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and relieving the congestion and inflammation.

For croup and common colds you just rub Vicks over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. One application at bed-time usually prevents a threatened attack of croup. Colds are ordinarily broken up over night. Croup attacks are usually eased in 15 minutes.

For deep chest colds, tonsilitis, bronchitis, or incipient pneumonia, hot, wet towels should first be applied over the throat and chest, to open the pores of the skin and then use Vicks. For head colds, asthmatic or catarrhal troubles, insert a little Vicks up the nostrils, snuffing well back. Also melt some in a spoon or tin cup and inhale the vapors arising.

In the United States where Vicks originated, it is almost universally used in preference to internal "dosing." Mothers prefer it for children's cold troubles because it acts directly and quickly, and because it is applied externally and hence does not disturb the most delicate stomach. It is fine, also, for cuts, burns, scalds, bruises, sores, bites, stings, itching skin troubles and other forms of skin inflammation.

50c a jar at all drug stores

If you prefer to test Vicks before purchasing, cut out this coupon and mail it to the Vick Chemical Company, 344 St. Paul street, W., Montreal, P. Q. A free test size package will be sent you promptly.

ABSORBED through the skin, and, at the same time,

INHALED, as a vapor, Vicks is the modern DIRECT treatment for all cold troubles.

Reports from Ontario People

Last winter each Ontario druggist gave away to his customers samples of Vicks, with the understanding that they would test this new remedy and report the results. We are giving below a few reports from the many that were received.

PETERBOROUGH

Mr. William E. Payton of 320 King street, Peterborough, Ont., says: "I was very bad with asthma one night. I was using a remedy, but got no relief. I recommend Vicks to everyone suffering from a cold or asthma."

OSHAWA

Mr. Richard Smith of 236 Celina street, Oshawa, Ont., writes: "I am pleased to say that Vicks VapoRub rid me of a cold which I had on my chest. I rubbed it on first, then put on a hot flannel. I found it to be very good."

Mrs. S. M. Barnett of 28 Wellington street, Lindsay, Ont., says: "I cannot praise Vicks VapoRub too highly. It is a wonderful preventive for colds and kept me from having a cold all last winter. Vicks is also beneficial for catarrh and has greatly relieved me."

BELLEVILLE

CASTLETON

Mrs. Henry Hearns of Castleton, Ont., writes: "I had been bothered with my chest and a nasty cough for a long time. I rubbed my chest with Vicks and it did me a great deal of good."

A BLINDED GIRL PRAYS FOR SIGHT

To Run Down the Axe Wielder Who Doomed Her to Blindness and Has Terrified the Whole City For the Past Three Years.

By Roy J. Gibbons

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 5.—Struck down and fated for blindness by the same ax which killed her father, Ethel Kline, each day here, prays for recovery of her dwindling sight that she may avenge herself on "Birminghams Boogie."

The murderous blade which stretched forth her aged parent in death also clove her own skull, leaving a ragged fragment of bone impinging down upon one of the nerves of her brain. It is this injury that is robbing her of sight.

Works for Clews

But even as the light fails, Ethel in fortitude born of revenge, gropes her way to the tiny shop wherein the tragedy was enacted.

And there in gathering darkness she works untiringly for possible clews that shall bring the monster to his doom.

The rest of her time—save these few minutes each day—is taken up feeling for articles behind the counter of a local five-and-ten-cent store, where the management, out of pity, is permitting her to remain that she may earn enough money for an operation.

'And when I am well again," the child—for she is but 16 says, "then that I may have revenge!"

Small Stores Victims

Like a beast came back from some predatory age when men were but maurading monsters, "the boogy" has spared none in pursuit of fiendish pleasure— pleasure which only comes with butchery of his victims.

Running amuck through the city this monster has fatally cleaved the skulls of 24 victims. He has horribly maimed 15 others.

Wives with infants in their arms he has struck down. Nurseries he has turned into shambles. Blood and terror have followed in his wake.

It is needless to say that Birmingham is roused to fury over the brutal depredations and that even strong men fear to be alone upon the streets at night.

Police repeatedly warn small shop owners— usual victims of the monster—to close stores at nightfall. These merchants have also been urged to keep firearms in readiness behind counters for emergency.

In certain sections of the city, where the ax-man has taken heavy toll, vigilante bodies have been organized.

Three Years' Terror

Often the ax-man has robbed after killing. But more frequently he left without touching a thing.

It is this inconsistent phase to his makeup which is giving police such trouble.

They cannot be sure whether they are dealing with burglar or demon.

For almost three years the killings have gone on unabated. Now slacking a while. Then recurring with startling frequency.

And no one has ever lived to tell of seeing the monster.

SHELL-TORN VERDUN BUILDS SPORT ARENA

Standard Athletic Stadium For Which London Subscribed 350,000 Francs Is Being Erected.

VERDUN, Dec. 5.—(Associated Press).—A standard athletic stadium, with regulation rugby and association football fields, running tracks, velodrome, grandstands and club house, being erected on the edge of this battered city, simultaneously with the work of reconstructing homes to provide shelter for the war victims, is evidence of the place which outdoor sports and athletics now occupy in French life.

"London Park" as the new grounds will be known, in grateful appreciation of the fact that 350,000 francs of the amount necessary for the expense involved were subscribed in London, is to be officially inaugurated by Premier Poincare next summer. Invitations will be sent to celebrated foreign athletes and their participation is expected greatly to enhance the ceremony from an athletic point of view.

A straightway cinder path chute of 200 metres is now completed and the plans call for a circular cinder track of 500 metres. Seating accommodations will be provided for 10,000 spectators with additional room for 20,000 standees.

The work commenced last summer has been somewhat delayed, owing to the fact that the site of the stadium is between the Tour des Champs and the Porte Chaussee in the centre of the worst shell torn area surrounding the town, and workmen had to proceed very carefully as their picks on many occasions turned up duds which exploded with belated fury.

TWO CANDIDATES NOW IN PROSPECT

Mayor W. H. Taylor and Ald. W. T. Holloway Take the Plunge.

Mayor W. H. Taylor will again be a candidate for the Mayoralty next year, he announced to the Examiner to-day. He has been approached he said, by a great many people who urged him to contest the position, and his present Council spoke almost unamiously in favor of his return.

With Alderman W. T. Holloway announced to-day as another contestant, and Alderman Nagel Phelan in the background, unannounced but spoken of as a probable figure in the contest, the prospects are that a great variety of qualities will be represented, from which the citizens may make their selection an January 1. There are several more, both aldermen and private citizens, who are mentioned in connection with the contest for the seat of the First Magistrate of Peterboro.'

BOBBED HAIR WINS IN PARIS FASHIONS

These outstanding features may be summarized: Long skirts have gone, and evening gowns are definitely shorter—at least by three inches. "Nude" is practically the sole color for stockings, the white and colored hose having disappeared.

Bobbed hair has again come triumphantly into its own, even the richest and most fastidious society leaders now being partisans of shorn curls and shaven necks, and the "Gaby Deslys" ostrich head-dress is back in favor, the same as huge fans.

THE LABOR TAXATION MAKES ENGLAND GASP

What Men of Wealth Will Have to Consider When They Go to the Polls Tomorrow.

LONDON, Dec. 5.— (United Press.)—While America is studying the Mellon tax reduction plan, England is gasping at the list of figures in the levy on capital which is the chief plank in the Laborite platform of the present general election.

When Britons go to the polls on Thursday they will have studied the following figures, which represent what men of various fortunes would have to surrender if the capital levy was adopted:

$50,000—$2,750.
$75,000—$7,750.
$100,000—$14,000.
$150,000—$29,000.
$250,000—$64,000.
$500,000—$164,00.
$1,000,000—$389,000.
$2,500,000—$1,39,000.
$5,000,000—$2,514,000.

The assessments were arrived at by taking percentages which rise with the amount of wealth as do income tax surcharges.

For instance if Henry Ford lived in England and the Laborite plan were adopted, he would have to pay five per cent. on that part of his fortune between $25,000 and $30,000, 10 per cent. on that part between $30,000 and $40,000 and so on by five per cent increases until he would be paying sixty per cent. on all his wealth above $5,000,000.

Baldwin Stock Up.

Premier Baldwin's stock went up to-day on the eve of the general election. The Conservatives are expected to obtain a majority of forty.

Lloyd George is certain to gain many seats but his party still remains in the minority.

Betting on the stock exchange as the campaigners finished in a whirl of frantic oratory was as follows:

Four to one on the Conservatives.
Three to one against the Liberals.
Two hundred to one against Labor.

Baldwin is believed to be as good as returned to power, which means that Great Britain may try an adjustable, protractive tariff for its domestic ills.

Leaders of the three main parties issued final appeals to-day. Baldwin gave out a lengthy manifesto defying the cry raised by the Liberals and the Laborites that the Conservative policy means a tax on food.

The fact that the latter are concentrating on this point at the last minute is taken to indicate pessimism regarding their own policies. As a result the stock exchange, which a week ago conceded Baldwin a majority of 30, now raises to 40.

Labor's chagrin over its impending loss of second place in the standing of parties is reflected in intense rowdyism which was maintained today. Austen Chamberlain was howled down last night at West Bromwhich and to-day the police were kept busy at various rally meetings.

To-morrow approximately 15,000,000 voters will elect 615 of the 1,400 candidates

HEAVY LOSS FOR LOCAL BASEBALL

Late Ward Patterson Had Been a Bulwark of the Game in This City.

Baseball in Peterborough has lost one of its strongest bulwarks, and most enthusiastic workers in the person of Mr. Ward Patterson, whose sudden death yesterday afternoon has been a shock to the community.

With the exception of Messrs. J. J. Solomon and Alex. Kay, no person had been more responsible for the successful development of baseball in Peterborough than Mr. Patterson. Associated with Mr. Solomon some years ago in the revival of the City League, the first step towards the winning of four provincial championships this year, he was also interested in the first entrance of Peterborough in the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association, of which association he served for some time as vice-president. The highest office in the gift of the Association, the presidency, could have been his, but he declined the honour, preferring to interest himself in local baseball activities. He gave good service for several seasons as a member of the executive of the Peterborough Baseball Club, but his greatest interest centred in the City League, of which he was president during the past season.

His diplomacy, zeal and perseverance at the beginning of the season this year were chiefly responsible for the success of the year's operations. When the prospects of forming several of the series, notably the intermediate, were not of the brightest, Mr. Patterson's indefatigable efforts saved the day and made it possible for the C.G.E. team to qualify for the O.B.A.A. play-offs and eventually win the Ontario title He had always been a friend of the young ball player, having great faith in the possibilities offered by the young material, and his interest was manifested in many ways. More than one Peterborough team returning defeated after an invasion of another city, has found the reception committee to meet them at the station in the early hours of the morning, to consist only of the president of the City League, for Mr. Patterson had always made it a point to be on hand to greet them.

He will be greatly missed by baseball players and fans, not only in Peterborough, but throughout the district.

PRINT TESTIMONY OF WHEAT ENQUIRY

Western Canada Placed in Good Light at Hearing.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(Canadian Press). — The Canadian Government, it was reported here today, will have recent testimony in the wheat tariff hearing before the Tariff Commission printed, and will circulate it widely in the interest of increased immigration to the farm lands of Western Canada. Representative Anderson of Minnesota and other witnesses, in seeking to promote the cause of a higher wheat tariff, made such a strong showing as to the capacity of the agricultural regions of Western Canada to produce wheat at low cost that Canadian Government officials, it is stated, have perceived it will be valuable in convincing intending immigrants abroad to settle in Canada.

NEW SCHOOL IS REPORTED UPON BY J. A. McKONE

BOARD OF EDUCATION

On the present property and taking into consideration similar buildings in other cities, a combination school would cost 375,000, and the equipment would cost $25,000 more, J. A. McKone reported to the Board of Education at its last regular meeting last night.

The Government grant would amount to $135,000, and the city would pay about $265,000. This, Mr McKone remarked, is only $50,000 higher than a remodelled Collegiate. Plans for the school had been drawn and submitted to the Educational Department and approved by them, but the Industrial Advisory Board turned the plans back to the committee for approval of H R. H. Kenner and A. F. Hagerman.

Mr. Morris said no disapproval was voiced by the Advisory Industrial Committee at the meeting when they referred the plans back for approval. The only difficulty brought up had been satisfactorily disposed of, and if the Committee had had a quorum at its last meeting it might have approved the plans.

Roland Denne expressed the opinion that other prices should be obtained. "You have only Mr. Blackwell's figures," he said. "You have no tenders. He says it should be built for that price, but he does not say it will be."

The question was left in abevance.

Congratulate Rugby Players.

On a proposal from Dr. F. C. Neal the secretary will write the manager of the P.C.I. rugby team, congratulating the players on their success, and especially on the enviable record they have for sportsmanship.

"They were gentlemen on the field and off," Dr. Neal was told by an observer of the games.

Queen Alexandra School applied through the Home and School Association for uniforms for the new Cadet Corps.

On the motion of Mr. Denne, authorisation was granted in the usual way.

Scholarship Winners.

Upper School—1, Ruth Sharpe; 2, Robert Fowler.

Junior Middle School—1, William Yelland; 2, Kathleen Benson.

On the motion of Mr. Denne and Dr. Neal, cheques will be issued to the successful pupils.

Diphtheria Immunization.

Dr. A. W. McPherson, School Medical Officer, appeared in regard to the diphtheria immunization sanctioned by the Board of Education. Dr. McPherson said his letter from the board instructed him not to innoculate any except those who could afford to pay for the service. "It is difficult to differentiate," he said,"and to innoculate all without discrimination would make it much more effective as a health measure."

Dr. Neal said it was not the desire of the Board to intrude on the work of the medical profession. "I want to see as many as possible of the children immunized, but I would like to see the medical profession behind the movement."

Messrs. McKone and Denne moved that the matter be left in the hands of Dr. McPherson to take what action he deems appropriate. Dr. Neal suggested that he bring the question up at a meeting of the Medical ociety to be held to-night.

An interesting point made by Dr. McPherson was the report that in the Prince of Wales School, which will be the first treated, there are 200 applicants for innoculation.

Medical Report.

During the month of November,according to Dr. McPherson's report, there were 98 children examined, and 38 defective slips sent out. These were for enlarged tonsils, 17; defective teeth, 29; enlarged thyroid, 6; and malnutrition, 8. There were 280 children examined by the nurse. Thirty were excluded from school, 14 for rash, and 18 for uncleanliness. The nurse made 58 calls.

The absentee report showed 47 cases of sickness, including four of scarlet fever. There were no truants, but 11 irregulars. Because of having no boots, five children were absent until the Home and School Association stepped in to render aid, and four children had no clothing.

Twenty five new families arrived in the city during the month, as against one family removed from the city.

Ten aplications were made under the Adolescent Act, of which five were granted working certificates, and one was given a home permit.

King George School made application through Mrs. Grierson, of the Home and School Association, for attention to its grounds, which it is claimed are not suitable for the children to play upon. A landscape gardener will be called upon to give his opinion at the earliest possible moment.

ROCHESTER, Dec. 5.—(CanadianPress).—With the police satisfied that Miss Ellen Madigan, 24-year old Canadian school teacher, and Matthew Russell, 31, former Holyoke, Mass, business man, meant no harm by their visit to this city, technical charges of vagrancy against the pair are expected to be dropped. Miss Madigan is expected to leave for home to-day with her father, J. P. Madigan of Toronto.

Madigan cleared up some of the mystery surrounding his daughter's strange behavior, when he told the police that she had been confined at various intervals during the past few years in several Canadian Sanitariums, because of an acute nervous condition brought on by overwork, while a student at the University of Toronto, from which she was graduated with high honors.

KING GEORGE SCHOOL HAD A GOOD MEETING

An open meeting of the Home and School Association of the King George School was held last evening, with a very large attendance. The evening was marked by a spirited and, at times, heated discussion of the merits and demerits of the toxin anti-toxin inoculation proposed for test in local schools, Dr. N. H. Sutton advancing the desirable elements of the scheme, and Mr. Joseph Grierson taking up the cudgels against it.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin gave an interesting talk on the workings of the Mothers' Allowance Commission. Refreshments were served, and a musical programme rendered, with instrumental selections by Miss Lucille Doris and a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Doris, given by Miss Alma Beavis, who sang "Lassie o' Mine" in fine voice.

Canadian Stock Exchange And Mines — New York Stock Exchange and Curb Prices

Today's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, December 5 (United Press). — Stocks developed strength in the early dealings to-day, reflecting the sentiment felt in Wall Street over the compromise with the House Radicals, which appeared to assure the re-election of Speaker Gillett.

Together with President Coolidge's victory over Senator Johnson in South Dakota this was taken as a highly constructive development from a conservative standpoint, and the active issues scored substantial advances in the first fifteen minutes. The Eries continued the spectacular features of the rails, the common reaching a new high on the movement above 21. Stocks maintained extraordinary activity in the first hour, stirred up by the huge turnover in Erie Common, which went through the 1920 high to the best level since 1918. This display of strength was followed by bullish demonstrations in many sections of the list. Mack Trucks featured the industrial specialties, recovering the loss suffered as a result of the disappointment over the failure to enlarge the dividend return this week. It was felt that action regarding the increase could not be long postponed in view of the company's earnings

CANADIAN GENERAL DEAL PROGRESSES

Export Markets Will Be Open to the Canadian Company.

TORONTO, December 5. — Considerable interest is being shown in the consummation of the arrangement between Canadian General Electric Co. and the General Electric Company of Schenectady.

The offer of the American company is open for acceptance until 15th December, and the approach of that date has induced investors to consider the matter in its various aspects.

It is understood that a very substantial amount of the old common stock has already been turned in to the company. Large additional blocks of common shares are in the hands of brokers, and will presumably be held until the eve of the option period.

Divergent views have been expressed by holders of the common stock. Practically everyone wishes the deal to go through. Some shareholders would prefer to hold their common stock in the expectation of receiving two shares of the common stock after the reorganisation.

These investors point out that the American company is taking over $2,000,000 of th new common stock to hold in the treasury. It is considered that the $50 common shares will be an attractive security, particularly if the Canadian company branches out into profitable export business.

The fact that the Canadian company will now have access to the markets of the British Empire instead of merely the Canadian market as heretofore, introduces the possibility of wider activity. Then, too, it is felt that the closer relationship between the Canadian company and the American concern will lead to the introduction of executives from Schenectady.

There are numerous exponents of the merits of the new common stock. However, the new preference stock is also claiming a fair amount of attention on the Toronto market, and there are numerous buyers who are making their purchases conditional to the ratification of the proposed agreement

These new preference shares are being sold at about $52.50. The vendors thus secure $62.50 in American funds, plus the market price for the new preferred, which is being traded in on the basis of "if, as and when issued."

There seems little doubt in Toronto Stock Exchange circles but that sufficient stock will be turned in to permit of the offer being accepted if, indeed, such is not already the case.

From a Canadian standpoint, one of the most desirable features of the arrangement is that export markets which have hitherto been closed will hereafter be open to the Canadian organisation.

THE FINAL CAMPAIGN SPEECHES TODAY MAY BE FULL OF THUNDER

Some of the British Newspapers Have Had a Busy Time Trying to Straddle the Fence

DAILY MAIL TURNS HANDSPRING

(By Wickham Steed, former editor the London Times, editor Review of Reviews, registered in accordance with the copyright act 1923.)

LONDON, Dec. 5.—This election began with a surprise, has been fought in a muddle and looks like ending in confusion. The course of the campaign has been the exact opposite of last year's. Then the issue was confused at first, but gradually it became the question whether a government based on the majority of a single party should duplicate the government of a discredited coalition. Those who had insisted from the beginning of the campaign that this was the sole issue then, saw waverers and doubters come into line and help to clarify the minds of the electors.

This year Baldwin began by proposing the tariff as a cure for unemployment but promised not to tax food and only to apply the tariff tentatively as experience or necessity might suggest. Thus he made discontented not only the extreme tariff reformers and Conservative free traders, but the imperal preference supporters as well—the "whole hoggers" generally. His opponents fastened on the admission that protection would involve some increase in prices and urged the electorate to vote against this Tory attempt to filch from the pockets of the poor people and diminish the buying power of the war pensions.

Lloyd George especially insisted that unemployment is due to the condition of Europe, which Baldwin has failed to improve.

At the beginning of the campaign a fresh crisis in Anglo-French and Franco-German relations seemed imminent. But either because it was frightened at the prospect of the return of Lloyd George to office or it was realizing the dangers of exasperating Germany still further, while estranging England, the French government changed its tone and tactics, and began to seek an understanding with England, and to mitigate its methods of dealing with Germany.

Whether this change on the part of Poincare is sincere or merely a matter of tactics, the sequel alone can show.

Meanwhile the principal organs of the British press have been undergoing a strange evolution. The Tory die-hards, the Morning Post alone, has been steadfast throughout for Baldwin. The Times wavered the first week, appearing almost to oppose him, but gradually it decided to back him, and it is now strongly Conservative. The Beaverbrook and Rothermere newspaper trust sought to oppose and undermine Baldwin's position directly and indirectly in a dozen ways. Lord Beaverbrook advised his headers to vote Tory or Liberal according to the local conditions, but consistently damned Baldwin as a feeble minded protectionist, lukewarm on the subject of imperial preferences.

Lord Rothermere on the other hand attempted to boycott the election until the end of last week. Then he advised everybody to vote Liberal because the British foreign policy under a man like Viscount Grey would be friendly to France, and he continued this line of argument until yesterday.

To day the Rothermere organs led by the Daily Mail, turn clean around and describe the peril to British industry if Liberalism insists on an economic policy which does nothing but trust to Providence, and they praise Baldwin's speeches on tariff reform as having surpassed the anticipations of his friends and the calculations of his opponents.

Unless the Liberals are ready at the last moment to promise to maintain and develop the safeguarding of the Industries Act, Lord Rothermere now declares everybody should vote Conservative, providing that Baldwin will promise to cooperate with France in Europe.

Rothermere terms the Liberal accusation that Baldwin's policy will increase the cost of the people's food "as a complete falsehood." He even swallows his own denunciations of Baldwin's proposed subsidy to agriculture and now declares that although insufficient it will be helpful.

It is unknown whether the Conservative organizers have made a twelfth-hour agreement with Rothermere. Baldwin's final manifesto to the electors published this morning, certainly goes some way to fulfil Lord Rothermere's conditions. It denies that Baldwin's policy will increase the cost of living, declares that the proposed tariff will cure unemployment and states that the government hopes by friendly cooperation with France. Italy and Belgium that Europe will gradually be brought back to peace and prosperity. No other party in the state has shown greater anxiety or determination to preserve the friendship which united this country to France. In our endeavours to promote a settlemen we shall continue to be mindful of the ties and the sentiment uniting two great countries and seek to reconcile them with the interests of the British empire, which must always remain our primary consideration.

To-morrow (polling day) may possibly bring the complete conversion of Rothermere to Baldwin's policy—not because Rothermere loves Baldwin, but because he fears labor victor victory with its levy on capital.

The Laborites are continuing their campaign with the utmost vigor, indulging in organized rowdyism in many places, and shouting down impartially Liberals like Winston Churchill, and Conservatives like Austin Chamberlain.

In these circumstances great interest attaches to Lloyd George's final speeches in London and Brighton today. He may try to recapture his faithless Rothermere.

CITY GRAVEL PIT GOOD INVESTMENT

Alderman Stocker's Figures Show Profit to the City of $2,313.90

Figures submitted to the Board of Works by its chairman, Alderman Walter Stocker, indicate that the gravel pit this year paid its own purchase price and gave the city a profit of $2,313.90. Alderman Stocker's reports follows:

Labor at pit and hauling	$ 9801.09	$7352.48
Preparing site for crusher		136.80
Repairs, etc., to crusher	598.79	734.59
Misc. and power	154.93	380.28
Cost of gravel at pit at 10c. per yd.	492.90	550.00
	$11047.71	$9154.15
Loads crushed	3286	3668
Cost per load	$ 3.36	$2.50
Cost per yard	$ 2.24	$1.67

The saving in cost is 57c. per yard or a saving on the 1923 output of 5,500 yards of $3,135.00.

In addition to crushed stone produced, the city sold $208.90 worth of top soil from this pit and also used back of the curb on Hunter street $170.00 worth more, making a total for top soil sold and used of $378.90.

Assuming the new pit cost $1,750.00, the saving on this year's operation has paid for the pit and given the city a profit of $2,313.90.

THE DAME CLARA BUTT CONCERT

(By Jeannette).

The Grand Opera House was crowded to the roof last evening for the very successful concert given by Dame Clara Butt and Company, under the auspices of the Peterboro Male Voice Choir. The boxes, the lower floor, including an extra row of seats placed inside the orchestra railing, and the balcony, were all filled, a couple of hundred people occupied the gallery, and an adventuresome half dozen of ladies sat in chairs behind the artists on the stage. Patrons were present from Lindsay, Millbrook, Lakefield and Campbellford.

The concert was an artistic triumph, and the twelve hundred or more citizens of Peterboro who attended the event last evening would probably be quite ready to acknowledge this morning with enthusiasm the enterprise of the Male Voice Choir in providing such a wonderful treat for its patrons.

Dame Clara Butt received an ovation on her appearance. Even those who declare that this singer has passed the zenith of her fame will admit that it was a glorious and unforgettable contralto voice that poured out its beautiful tones last evening in the strains of the singer's "star" song, "Abide With Me," and the wonderful opening number, Beethoven's "Creation's Hymn." It is a voice that induces an "Oliver Twist" attitude. One craves for more and more. The singer, who, it is said, seldom sings many encores, was quite generous in her response to the waves of repeated and tumultuous applause that greeted her every effort.

It is useless to speak of technical perfection or expressive rendition or freedom of tone or any of the things that one might say about an ordinary singer, when speaking of Dame Clara Butt. They are all there, with everything else that is needed for pure vocalism of the highest order. One gets the impression that the ease and spontaneity of the song that comes liquid from her throat is the heaped-up product of a training that was finished long ago. It is the matured beauty of a wonderful instrument, with the massed experience of long, triumphant years behind it. Probably in the experience of Peterboro audiences such a voice has never been heard, nor will be heard here for many years to come. It is a vocal instrument of organ quality, with a rare beauty of timbre and an extraordinary range, used with consummate skill by a statuesque and perfect specimen of womanhood, whose voice, in its rich, massive depths and pure tones, matches her stature of over six feet. Regal in bearing, with a gracious and serene personality, Madame Butt appeared in a gown of white, a double row of pearls about her neck, a sparkling tiara on her dark head. The touches of black in her costume's draperies and the black lining to her long, fish-tail train symbolized the recent bereavement which she suffered in the death of her son.

Twice, Dame Butt appeared in solo work, and then in duett with her husband, Kennerley Rumford. Her selections were simple and of the lighter numbers in her repertoire. "Creation's Hymn" was the full-voiced opening number of a group of three brief songs, that included the light little love ditty, "Sonntag," and the descriptive, anvil-like, ringing chords of "Der Schmied" (The Forge).

As an encore to the enthusiasm that rose in waves from an excited house, the singer came back to give in French "Les Papillons" (The Butterflies). The extraordinary beauty of her middle register was exemplified in the delicate softness with which the rich voice tempered to the airiness of this number, and the versatility of the singer showed itself momentarily in the old Irish song, "I Know My Love," with which she surprised her hearers, the glorious tones rolling out in the brogue of the love-lorn maiden, sighing for her fickle lover. There was dreamy quietness in "The Beautiful Land of Nod," and an overpowering, majestic, devotional force in the mighty prayer, "Abide With Me," sung by request, that held a hushed house spellbound, to burst forth later into a whirlwind of applause. The gracious singer came out once more to give, again by special request, Elgar's "Land of Hope and Glory." She asked her audience to join with her in the chorus for this number, and they responded in a manner that reflected credit on their musical ability. Led by the artist herself, the majestic music filled the house.

Mr. Kennerley Rumford, the possessor of a fine baritone voice, handled with finished ease, captured his audience with his first finely-sung selection, the difficult aria, "Largo al Factotum," the song of Figaro in the "Barber of Seville." Sung in Italian, the artist demonstrated in its tricky prestissimo passages his vocal command and histrionic ability, singing with characteristic rapid fervor and temperamental verve the boastful lines of the self-confident, lyric-minded knight of the razor. To repeated, loud applause, Mr. Rumford came back for an affecting rendition of the sentimental "When the Swallows Homeward Fly."

A group of three songs, unfamiliar in rhythm and setting, constituted Mr. Rumford's second contribution to the programme. "Sea Fever" was a throaty number, with half tones predominating in its peculiar nautical atmosphere; "Why So Pale and Wan?" was sung in the speaking fashion, and "The Yeomen of England" brought out in large degree the patriotic force and fervour of the deep, rich voice, with its sustained finish.

As an encore, Mr. Rumford sang "In an Old-Fashioned Town," to a piano accompaniment by the composer himself, W. H. Squire, one of the members of the quartette of musicians.

W. H. Squire, the 'cellist of the evening, made a marked impression on his audience, both with the quality of his art and the pleasing personality which radiated through his music. A composer of note, the only composition from his pen that graced last evening's programme was the song above referred to. As solo violoncello numbers, he played a group of four selections that displayed the versatile quality of his muse. Schubert's "Ave Maria" was the first contribution, the liquid strains of the golden, reverent harmonies flowing from the facile fingers and the skilful bow, with an ease and skill that made his music a rare delight. Popper's "Butterfly" followed, descriptive, played with a dancing bow, its rapid measures sliding up and down with dainty, elfin grace.

Gluck's Minuet from "Orfeo" came next, the artist absorbed in the legato, singing quality of the minor melody. To the applause which filled the house, the musician responded with Dunkler's "Drinking Song," played with consummate skill, its descriptive measures done in jolly staccato fashion, its slurred chords interspersed with bits of pizzicato musical mirth. Interpretive ability in musical rendition brought laughter from an audience listening in pleased surprise to the humour of the picked strings, and applause sent Mr. Squire back for the familiar "La Cinquantaine" number, the refrain repeated in delicate harmonics.

The quartette of world-famous musicians, the like of whom, with regard to musical perfection and ability, it has seldom been the good fortune of Peterboro to hear together on a concert platform, included a pianist, whose work as a soloist and accompanist, was outstanding. Mr. Newton's intelligent pianoforte support of the various artists added much to the charm of their music, and his solo numbers were a brilliant exposition of technical mastery and virile musicianship. He played a Scherzo by Chopin, and the lovely Liebestraume by Liszt, the latter with a dreamy, graceful tone that echoed in the sweetness of the rippling cadenzas.

Together, as an opening number, Mr. Newton at the piano and Mr. Squire with the violoncello, played Rubinstein's Sonata in D Major (last movement, allegro molto) in a manner that captured their hearers, and brought hearty applause.

As a final selection, the charming duett, "The Keys of Heaven," sung with superb, flexible voices and a quality of dramatic interpretation that added immensely to its value, was given by Dame Clara Butt and Mr. Kennerley Rumford, who responded to the resulting applause with the introduction of the National Anthem.

An introduction to the programme was made last evening by the honorary president of the Male Voice Choir, J. M. Greene, who, in a few brief, well-chosen words, thanked the audience for their response to the efforts of the Choir in striving to bring to the city some of the most outstanding musicians in the Empire.

Dame Clara Butt and her company left last evening for Ottawa, where they appear to-night. To-morrow evening, they give a concert in Kingston, appearing on Friday in New York City, and sailing for England on Saturday.

A pleasing innovation last evening was the printed programme which gave the words of the various songs in detail, the artists announcing their numbers from the stage.

DOUKHOBOR COMMUNITY MAY BREAK UP SOON

VEREGIN, Sask., Dec. 5.—(Canadian Press.) — Action which may mean the breaking up of the Doukhobor community, was taken to-day when Simon Ghorkof, member of sect, was arraigned on a charge of stealing grain from the community. Simon, his father and two brothers are charged with theft on the ground that they held their own crop and kept the money instead of turning it over to the community.

The whole argument is the question of right, and observers say it will decide the fate of the community.

XX. (Continued)

"You know what men are. They like to call a spade a spade and be damned to it. Our sort didn't have a chance. They couldn't compete. So, we made up our minds to compete in the only way possible. We leave off our corsets at dances so they can get a new thrill out of us, then sit in an automobile and drink and have little petting parties of two. And we slip out and have an occasional lark like tonight. We're not to be worried about, either."

"Why cryptic after your really admirable frankness? But there's always a point beyond which women will never go when confessing their souls. . . . I suppose you think you're as hard as nails. Do you really imagine that you will ever be able to fall in love and marry and want children?"

"Don't men?"

"Ancient standards are not annihilated in one generation."

"There's got to be a beginning to everything, hasn't there? One would think the world stood still, to hear you talk. But anything new always makes the fogies sick."

"Nothing makes me as sick as your bad manners—you and all your tribe. Men, at least, don't lose their breeding if they choose to sow wild oats. But women go the whole hog or none."

"Other times, other manners. We make our own, and you have to put up with them whether you like it or not. See?"

"I see that you are even sillier than I thought. You need nothing so much as a sound spanking."

"He went forward and raised her hand to his lips."

"Your own manners are none too good. You've handed me one insult after another."

"I've merely talked to you as your father would if he were not blind. Besides, it would probably make you sick to be 'respected.' Come along. We'll go round to a garage and get a taxi. Why on earth didn't you ring for a taxi from Farren's?"

"I tried to, but it's an apartment house and there was no one downstairs to make the connection. Too late. So I fooled it." She yawned prodigiously. "I'm ready at last for my little bunk. Hope you've enjoyed this more than I have. You'd be a scream at a petting party."

Clavering paid his small account and they issued into the storm once more. It was impossible to talk. In the taxi she went to sleep. Thank Heaven! He had had enough of her. Odious brat. More than once he had had a sudden vision of Mary Zattiany during that astonishing conversation at the counter. The "past" she had suggested to his tormented mind was almost literary by contrast. She, herself, a queen granting favors, beside this little fashionable nearstrumpet. They didn't breathe the same air, nor walk on the same plane. Who, even if this little fool were merely demi-vierge, would hesitate between them? One played the game in the grand manner, the other like a glorified gutter-snipe. But he was thankful for the diversion, and when he reached his own bed he fell asleep immediately and did not turn over for seven hours.

XXI.

He had informed Madame Zattiany's butler over the telephone that he would call that evening at half-past nine, but he returned to his rooms after a day at the office with lagging steps. He dreaded another evening in that library by the fire. It was beyond his imagination to foresee how she would treat him, what role she would choose to play, and although he was grimly determined to play whatever role she assigned to him (for the present!) he hated the prospect. He was in no mood for a "game." This wooing was like nothing his imagination had ever prefigured. To be put on trial . . . to sit with the woman in the great solitude of the house and the very air vibrating between them . . . or frozen . . . self-conscious as a schoolboy up for inspection . . . afraid of making a false move. . . . What in God's name would they talk about? Politics? Books? Art? Banalities! . . . he'd half a mind to go to Florida after all . . . or join Jim Oglethorpe in South California: he had a standing invitation . . . he'd return by the next train; he'd felt as if existing in a vacuum all day. . . .

When he reached his rooms he found his problem solved for the moment—possibly. A telephone slip informed him that Madame Zattiany would be at home, and a note from Mrs. Oglethorpe enclosed tickets for her box at the opera that night.

If she would only go!

He called the house. The butler answered and retired to summon Madame Zattiany. Her voice came clear and cool over the telephone. He invited her to go to Sherry's for dinner and to hear Farrar in "Butterfly" afterward. "I must tell you that we shall sit in a box," he added. "Mrs. Oglethorpe's."

"Oh!" There was a pause that seemed eternal. Then she laughed suddenly, a laugh of intense amusement that ended on a note of recklessness. "Well! Why not? Yes, I will go. Very many thanks."

"Good. It means an early dinner. I'll call for you at a quarter to seven."

"I'm promptness itself. Au 'voir."

So that was that! One night's respite. He'd leave her at her door. He wondered if his voice had been as impersonal as her own; he had almost barked into the telephone and had probably overdone it. But was any man ever in such a ghastly position before? Well, he'd lose the game before he'd make a fool of himself again. . . . Ass . . . he'd had the game in his own hands last night . . . could have switched off any moment. He'd let go and delivered himself into hers.

He took a cold shower, and made a meticulous toilet.

This will flush the previous day's indigestive waste, sour bile and poisons from the system before more food is taken. Tanol Calomel Tablets are recommended because they have no bad after effect. No salts or seidlits are necessary to remove them from the system, as they are self-eliminating. Get a few of these tablets from the druggist and you will feel 100 per cent. better. LITTLE WANT ADS.

At this time of the year, there are any number of things that are badly needed, either by the man or woman.

These things can be done without, but the Summer is going to be not ... happy without them, and they need not cost you nearly as much as you think, if you only use the Want Ads. to get them.

So many lose a vast amount of pleasure simply because they have never learned the value of a simple little appeal to the Examiner Want ... Column. Don't let this bright month of June go by without satisfying little extra Summer wants through the Want Ads.

DE LAVAL WIN SECOND GAME AND TIE SERIES

Defeated Belmont Club By 15-11 In Final Round of Softball League — Four Runs in Ninth Put the Separator Team in the Running.

FREE HITTING AFFAIR

The De Laval tied up the series for the championship of the Soft Ball League last evening when they romped home with a 15 to 11 victory over the Belmonts. The Belmonts took the first game in the tenth innings and they were picked by many to win the second fixture, but the De Laval upset all the dope.

Both teams played classy ball and errors were at a premium. In this department the De Laval showed a great improvement over the previous night's play. The teams played close ball with very few overthrows or other costly "boners." Two double plays featured the battle, one being staged by McIntyre unassisted, coming at a time when the Belmonts were showing up dangerous.

The game was a "wartest" from start to finish. The batters leaned on them hard and heavy and the outfielders had a busy evening. Heckman, playing left field for the Belmonts, accepted six hot liners without a miss. Bullied made a beautiful catch when he got Haskill's liner in the ninth by a running shoe-string grab. "Ab" Frick collected two home runs and always came through with a hit when it was needed. Holyman got the longest hit of the year on his home run.

The record crowd of the season was on hand last evening and nearly raised the roof off the armouries at every shout.

Summary of the Game.

For the De Laval in the first innings, Ward reached third, but there he died. The Belmonts took an early lead, coming across with two runs. Lowe got a double, but overran the base. Heckman doubled and Stuart walked. Both came home on a hefty clout by Holyman.

The De Laval failed to score in the second and the Belmonts added another one and nearly got more.

The De Laval opened with one in the third, but the Belmonts also got one, making their count four.

The Separator crew tied the score in the fourth when they clouted Holyman for four hits. The Belmonts went fishing in their half, McIntyre's double play retiring them without a run.

The De Laval added two more in the fifth and still were in the lead at the end of the innings, as they succeeded in holding the Belmonts to one run.

A homer by Frick and four other hits gave the De Laval four runs in the sixth. But the Belmonts came back strong and obtained three on De Laval misplays.

The De Laval added one in the seventh, their chances being cut short by a Belmont double play. The De Laval held the Belmonts to two in their half of the same innings.

The Belmonts retired the De Laval in order on the eighth but did not succeed in getting any themselves.

The De Laval put the game on ice in the ninth by collecting four runs on good sound hits. The Belmonts came to bat determined, but the best they could do was to get a single counter across.

GROCERY CLERK SOLD COAL OIL FOR VINEGAR

KINGSTON, Dec. 4.—A clerk in a grocery store gave Mrs. Walter Truman, Rideau street, coal oil for vinegar, and as a result considerable damage was done to her home when she poured the liquid over some pickles on a hot fire. The stove was wrecked and other damage done. Fortunately, no one was hurt.

SIKI WITH A JAG BLOCKS BROADWAY

Did a War Dance That Held Up Traffic--Escaped in Taxi.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.— Battling Siki, the Singular Senegalese, who achieved pugilistic fame by knocking out Georges Carpentier, provided Broadway with a thrill to-day with the aid of a quantity of synthetic gin, a wrinkled dress suit, and a pair of expensive patent leather shoes.

He obviously had made a night of it, and part of the day, when he appeared on Broadway, at Forty-Fourth Street. He craved attention. So he emitted one of his native war cries. He got attention. The crowd that blocked traffic formed a ring and the Singular One executed as nifty a war dance as ever was trod upon the hot sands of his native Senegal.

He moved up a block, to Forty-Fifth Street, taking his audience and his enthusiasm with him. He repeated his performance at each cross-town street until he reached Forty-Eighth, when he was told that the police were on his trail. He disappeared into a taxicab, bound for the black belt in Harlem.

It was Siki's first escape from his manager in a week. His last adventure occurred when he fled his training camp with $1,000 which rolled away in a flood of alcohol.

His manager was still looking for him to-night.

NORTH COUNTRY WANTS GOOD SKIING SEASON

DULUTH, Minn., Dec. 5.—(Associated Press).—Skiing, long one of the most popular sports in the north country, promises to have an unusual successful season during the coming winter, according to reports from local clubs and from clubs throughout the Iron Range country.

Prominent among the leading ski clubs are those at Duluth and Coleraine. The latter place has one of the best steel scaffolds in the country. Duluth, with several of its many hills marked with slides of all descriptions, also will have a large new scaffold.

The Olympic tryouts are scheduled for this winter, and the indications point to Minneapolis as the place where they will be held.

The Duluth Ski Club plans to send entries to the 1924 national tournament, which will be held in Vermont, and also representatives to bid for the 1925 meet. The last national meet held in Duluth was in 1914.

NEW BAT A HANDICAP.

Ken Williams, after beating Babe Ruth out for the home-run honors in the American League in 1922, hit upon an idea that he felt sure would send him far out ahead of Ruth in 1923. He added six ounces to the weight of the bat he was using. Instead of helping him it slowed his swing up and handicapped his slugging ability.

GIRL CHAMPS TO ENTER OLYMPICS

EDMONTON, Alberta, Dec. 5.—A group of high school graduates of this city, claiming the basketball championship of the world, will go to Paris next year to defend their claim against the nations of the world in the Olympic tournament.

It sounds rather startling to the natives to hear their girls' team referred to as the world's best. Basketball isn't very old here, and isn't generally played. What's more, Edmonton is not especially noted as an athletic center. Chances are most of the teams against which the home girls play in the Olympic will never have heard of Edmonton.

Not so many years ago Edmonton was just a trading post on the edge of the Canadian wilderness, a bleak, drab stretch, frequented by trappers, Indians and Eskimos. Ten years ago the same high school from which the present girls' championship team was recruited was a magnificent one-room structure, made of roughly hewn logs.

What with hockey, skating and curling already in the field, basketball had a hard time getting a foothold. The Edmonton girls took it in their junior days and formed a team that has remained pretty much intact ever since.

This probably accounts for their astonishing success. Working together for years as a unit they have developed team skill and combination play to the highest possible pitch.

A year ago they won international distinction by defeating the Cleveland Knits, holders of the world's title, and unbeaten for years. Later they defeated the Chicago Brownies another team with a wide American reputation. The Edmonton girls' string of victories over Canadian teams is long and unbroken.

The team is captained by Winifred Martin, called the greatest feminine guard in the game. Eleanor Mountfield and Mary Dunn are the other guards. Nellie Perry, Abbie Scott and Dorothy Johnson are the forwards and Connie Smith, center.

Can Young Cochran Trim Willie Hoppe?

Is Willie Hoppe to be dethroned again?

The great billiard champion is to meet young Welker Cochran in a play off for the 18.2 balk line championship at Chicago, Dec. 17, 18, 19.

In the reecnt championship proper, with all the leading cue wizards of the country competing, Hoppe and Cochran finished in a tie for the topmost laurels.

Hoppe has held the title continuously since 1912 with the exception of a brief lapse in 1921 when he relinquished the throne to Young Jake Schaefer.

Cochran is probably the most dangerous aspirant to Hoppe's crown at present. His record is noteworthy. In 1921 he compiled the 18.2 record run of 384. In the recent tournament he trimmed both Hoppe and Schaefer.

With an average of 31¼ he defeated Hoppe, 500 to 230. Against Schaefer he averaged 62½ and scored 500 while the champion of 1921 was collecting 54.

The thing that kept Cochran from winning the title outright was his unexpected defeat at the cue of Hagenlocher. This match was played in the afternoon following Cochran's win over Hoppe the night before. Cochran said he was so worked up over his defeat of Hoppe that sleep would not come to him and against Hagenlocher he was unusually nervous.

HOW'S THIS, MR. ABBOTT?

TOMMY GIBBONS

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec 5, — There is nothing unusual about a fighter who plays golf. But there is something unusual about a fighter who plays golf well, and with form. You see here Tommy Gibbns, the heavyweight who surprised the world and the Island of Yap by staying 15 rounds with Jack Demsey at Shelby, Mont., last summer. You see Tommy swatting a golf ball on the local municipal links, and you see him swatting it with style. Fine follow through, weight on left foot, head down and the right arm in close to the body. Mr. Bob Abbott, of Peterborough, could ask no more.

Northern O.H.A. Abide By No 'Pro.' Coach Rule

SUDBURY, Dec. 5.—As Clause 2 of the N.O.H.A. constitution makes all O. H. A. rulings effective in the northern circuit, professional coaches will now be barred for hockey teams in the north country The new ruling will hit at North Bay, where Burgoyne has just taken charge of the Trappers under a season's contract. It will affect the Soo Greyhounds and some other of the northern clubs which have had assistance of old professionals in directing their teams. Sudbury Wolves are not affected as they had no professional coach recently, but if the rule had not been put into effect it is probable that Sudbury would have been in the field for a coach this year as the team must depend largely on youngsters.

FOOTBALL NOTICE.

The Canadian Woollen Football Club will hold their annual meeting on Thursday evening, December 6, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 8 p.m. Will all members, and those interested in the club's welfare please be present as important business is to be transacted, also the election of officers for the coming season of 1924.

TILDEN MAY QUIT DAVIS CUP TEAM

Disgusted With the Star Chamber Methods of Committee.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.— The controversy between William T. Tilden, II., United States national singles and doubles tennis champion, and Harold H. Hackett, a member of the United States Davis Cup Committee, which resulted yesterday in a declaration by the champion that he may never again appear on a United States Davis Cup team, is to come before the United States Lawn Tennis Association at its annual meeting. Tilden said to-night that he would attend the meeting to "see that the matter is taken up," and that he intended to do "some of the threshing."

Replying to criticism of Mr. Hackett that Tilden had chosen "to park his intelligence outside the stadium," and had failed to play his position properly during the challenge round of the doubles match against Australia in the Davis Cup competition last Fall, the champion declared that he was "so disgusted with the star chamber methods of the committee," that he had no intention of playing Davis Cup matches again, "unless this procedure is broken up." He said that he did not know who would play in the United States' doubles team until 36 hours before the match, and that he and his partner, Richard N. Williams, had never played together and had little chance to practice.

"The Davis Cup matches have grown so much," said Tilden, "that they are now of national and international importance, and it is wrong that a little group of men should keep the details to themselves until the very last minute The secrecy made by the Davis Cup Committee is a weak line in America's defense of the Cup It is a danger point which I believe may result in our losing the trophy in the near future as we did in 1914."

Sarazen and Havers Matched For 72 Holes.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.— T. W. Niblett, representing Arthur G. Havers, British open golf champion, and Gene Sarazen, United States' professional titleholder, signed agreements to-day whereby Havers and Sarazen are to meet in a 72-hole match in California in January, it was announced by Robert E. Harlow, promoter of the match.

Havers and Sarazen were to meet in New York last October, but the death of Havers' father caused cancellation of the match. The British titlist is due to arrive in the United States, December 19.

The first 36 holes of the Sarazen-Havers match will be played in San Francisco, and the second 36 at Los Angeles, on or about January 18 and 20.

SCHALK STILL BEST.

Despite the fact that he is slipping, that he had a poor year at the bat and his throwing arm isn't quite as good as it used to be, Ray Schalk is still about the most valuable catcher in the American League. Wonderful mechanical ability back of the bat and a great head tell the story.

Cobourg and District

COBOURG, Dec. 4.—Lionel Wallace, son of Mr. Thomas Wallace, Gore's Landing, is receiving treatment here for an injured eye. While playing with another boy he was accidentally struck in the eye with a stone. Physicians found it necessary to remove the eye in order to preserve the sight of the other. The young boy is getting along nicely.

The services in the various churches Sunday were of an exceptionally interesting character all of the local pastors being with their own congregations. This includes the Congregational churches, where Rev. James W. Pedley, of Toronto, is so ably supplying the work here and at Coldsprings. Dr. Pedley is an extremely vigorous, earnest speaker and he is drawing many interested hearers. He is one of three brothers, sons of the parsonage, who entered the ministry. Rev. Hilton Pedley, for many years a missionary in Japan is one, and the late Rev. Dr. Hugh Pedley, a former pastor of Immanuel church, Montreal, and a well-known writer as well as a pulpiteer, was the other. Their late father was formerly pastor of the Cobourg and Coldsprings churches and their former homer was in this locality.

The Presbyterian Church

Charles Sheldon in his book, "What Would Jesus Do," puts before his readers the problem and the necessity of shaping life after the Divine pattern and Rev. W. A. Bremner, pastor at the Presbyterian church, is drawing valuable lessons from Sunday to Sunday, from the life of the early Christian church, fathered by the Divine founder. His subject Sunday morning was a timely and a heart-searching one. It was the "Beginning of Revivals in the Early Church." In the evening he took for his theme that illuminating and absorbing incident, "Paul's Discovery on the Road to Damascus."

In addition to the Sunday School and Bible Classes there is held each afternoon a Young People's Bible Study Class at St. Andrew's church.

Mr. Wm. Duncan, the new organist, was in charge of the musical service for the day.

The Methodist Church

Rev. R. Forbes Stillman, pastor of this church, preached on Sunday at both services. In the morning service he spoke on God's great gift of salvation to all men that will come unto Him. "That being justified by His grace we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life." He referred to the different conceptions regarding salvation, and man's responsibility in accepting or refusing. There are those who believe that the gift of eternal life is for the predestined. There are those who believe that it is universal, to the extent that all will be saved, whatever there conception of God or response to his wooing voice. Mr. Stillman showed there was in the hearts of non-Christian nations a feeling out after God, although perhaps unconsciously at time. Some stress the uselessness of sending the Gospel to such, on this ground, but it does not rid the Christian world of responsibility. He closed with a plea to all to heed the will of conscience, the pleading of God in the individual heart and to come into that communion and fellowship with the Father and with His Son Jesus Christ, which is the privilege of all who hear the Gospel message.

A twilight organ recital is being given in this church every third week by the organist, Mr. Frank Parkinson, and these are being much enjoyed.

St. Peter's Church

At St. Peter's church, the rector, Rev. Canon Sawers, took his work on Sunday and was greeted with large and deeply interested congregations. The spiritual life of this church has been deepened as a result of the successful mission recently held there, while a week ago the service was made memorable by the solemn ceremony of depositing the colors of the old 40th Regiment. Canon Sawers delivered earnest, inspiring sermons Sunday, it being the first Sunday in Advent.

The Christmas Music

That reminds also that the Yuletide season is approaching and all the church choirs have got down to hard practice in connection with their special programs of Christmas music that are to be put on.

The Baptist Church

At the Baptist church in the morning, the pastor, Rev. J. N. Norton, brought a timely heart-searching message home to his hearers in an earnest virile way, based on the theme, "The Sacrifice which God Requires of Us." The Sunday School in the afternoon was well attended and the pastor preached an able sermon at night.

Salvation Army

Capt. Dunkley and Lieut. Barrons, officers in charge of the Salvation Army, here, are winning high commendation by their zealous work, Staff Captain Lewis, of Toronto, was here on Saturday and Sunday assisting in the services.

St. Michael's Ladies

The ladies of St. Michael's church are very active. At the present time they are arranging for a bazaar with tearoom and besides the sale of many articles, dancing every evening. It will be held for three days, and is expected to be a noteworthy event.

The Camborne Church

Rev. F. J. Horwood, Muse Bac., took for his theme Sunday "The Model Young Man," one of four in a series which he has arranged for.

The missionary anniversary on this circuit passed off very successfully. A week ago yesterday special missionary sermons were preached at all of the appointments. This was followed by a missionary canvass during the week. This circuit raised over one thousand dollars last year, and this year will raise eleven hundred dollars, it is expected.

The Community Spirit

A reciprocal spirit exists among the ladies of the Camborne community and interchanges between the Women's Missionary Societies and the Young People's Leagues are quite frequent.

Last Wednesday was the occasion of the annual Thankoffering of the Congregational W.M.S. and the Camborne W.M.S. attended and gave a much enjoyed programme.

At Brighton

Timely subjects marked the services of Brighton Methodist church on Sunday. There, Rev. J. S. L. Wilson, B.A., B.D., a former Cobourg pastor, is in charge. Mr. Wilson at the evening service is taking up problems of the future life in a way that is likely to set people thinking. Mr. Wilson is a careful Bible student and well-read along these lines. His subject last night was "Heaven, Its Nature, Location, Occupations and Companionship." Mr. Wilson devoted a part of the morning service to a talk to boys and girls on "Fox Hunting," in which he explained what the little foxes or faults are, which destroy the influence and power for good in boys and girls and in older people, too.

Boy of Quinte Winter School

The Executive of the Bay of Quinte conference Winter School of which Rev. Capt. Harston, Woodville, is president, and Rev. H. A. Bunt, Canton, is secretary, are busy making final arrangements for the 1924 school which is to be held in Cobourg the second week in January. This is one week later than last year, but it is thought that the charge of date will be an advantage. Well known workers among young people are to be here and the School will present, it is expected, splendid opportunities for mission study and Bible teaching.

Rev. Mr. Woodger, of Trenton, a former popular Marmora pastor, preached at the anniversary services of Wooler Methodist church, of which Rev. Mr. Bick is pastor, Sunday. The latter took the morning service at Grace Methodist church, Trenton.

The bricks for the first brick house in Philadelphia, built by William Penn, were brought from England at a cost of $25,000.

De Laval's splendid win in the second game of the softball finals last night makes a third game necessary, and the championship will be decided to-morrow night The contest promises to draw a record attendance.

Cobourg hockey fans are enthused over the prospects for a winning Junior O.H.A. team. The Lakeshore club has a large number of candidates ready for the fray.

The proposal to enter a team in the Senior City Hockey League, to play under the colours of the Great War Veterans' Association, has been approved by the executive of the Association.

It has been suggested that the reorganisation of the Junior City Hockey League be held up until the Junior O.H.A team is selected.

SOCIALISTS GAIN IN AUSTRIAN ELECTIONS

VIENNA, Dec. 5.—(Associated Press).—The Socialists made a decided gain in the recent election of members to the National Assembly. They lost but one seat, while the Conservative parties lost seventeen. This assembly has 18 fewer members than the last one. It is held in some quarters that the Socialist success was largely due to organization; they got out their vote, while the Conservatives did not.

The result is a keen disappointment to the Seipl Government. The Chancellor's success in gaining the League of Nations loan, which virtually saved the country from disruption and possible partition; the general revival of business, and the betterment of conditions in all classes, had been thought to insure a decided conservative majority. As it is the Government is no more powerful than it was, and must face the same old conditions unless the Socialists change their minds and consent to a coalition.

LATE SEASON IS SAVING FODDER

Cattle Still In Pasture and Mild Weather Has Been Light on Farmers' Fuel Supply.

BAILIEBORO, Dec. 4.—The mild weather still prevails, with not more rain than the dry earth can drink in. It is several years since such a warm open fall has been enjoyed in this district. Cattle and horses are still enjoying the freedom of the pasture during the day time, and come home at night seeming satisfied with what they pick up during the day. Many farmers have practically all of their winter's feed in the barn as yet, as the stock are getting plenty of old grass to satisfy them.

Some of the farmers are still ploughing, although the majority have completed their ploughing some weeks ago and are now busily engaged hauling their grain to the elevators.

The warm weather is also helping out the fuel question wonderfully. Although the majority of farmers have some coal in their cellars, still had the winter been a long and severe one, the question of fuel might have been a serious one.

It is rather a difficult job to secure good wood in this district, as the wood is getting scarce, and those who are not fortunate enough to have a wood of their own, have to depend largely upon the coal-oil in summer and coal in the winter.

Ducks Still at Lake

There are still quite a number of wild ducks on the lake. The ducks commonly known as the whistlers are still remaining, also several small flocks of black ducks were noticed feeding near the shore last week.

The hunters claim that these ducks are very timid, and it is difficult to get within shooting range of the flocks.

Personals

Reeve Anderson and daughter, Marjory, motored to Toronto on Sunday and were the guests of the former's daughter, Mrs. D. Latimer. Mr. Anderson reported that he had never motored to Toronto when the roads had been so good all the way there.

Mr. Ernest Brundrett, of Port Hope, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barnard over the week-end.

Mr. Wilfred Johnston left for Toronto last week and is expecting to secure a position there.

HOCKEY NEWS

LOCAL OPTION AGAIN.

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—It is reported that the Ontario Government is to grant a local option system, whereby municipalities may go wet even though the Province as a whole remains dry.

FLANNEL COLLARS.

For tailored frocks there are very snappy collars of flannel with picot edges or pique edged with ginghams. Calico is not to be despised for trimming purposes either.

SOFT BALL FINALS

To-morrow evening at seven-thirty the De Laval and the Belmonts clash at the Armouries in the final game for the City Championship. The win for the De Laval last night tied the two teams and a third game is necessary. The largest crowd of the season is expected to turn out.

"BIRTH OF A NATION" WITH ORIGINAL MUSIC SCORE WILL BE SCREENED LAST TIME TONIGHT AT 8 P. M.

The Royal has been getting large crowds with D. W. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation," despite the fact that it has been shown in Peterboro on previous occasions. After all is said and done there are very few productions that can approach the "Birth of a Nation" for real entertainment, and the writer enjoyed it just as much as when it first came here. It might also be mentioned that this is a new print and the projection is perfect also the Royal Orchestra was at their best last night.

"SENTIMENTAL LORD SAP," FOR ROYAL THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Another comedy success from the Old Country is the main attraction at the Royal commencing Thursday. It comes highly recommended by Toronto audiences and judging from the success of productions of this type at the Royal this one will be just as popular.

Horde of Infants Causes Sensation in "Virginian" Studio

Babies!

Male and female.

Thirty-one of them.

All healthy, twisting and squirming.

Many varieties, both bottle and otherwise.

Some blue-eyed, some brown-eyed, some hazel, some indeterminate.

Various dispositions, ranging from placid to turbulent.

The babies were "extras," in Tom Forman's production of "The Virginian," coming to Royal Theatre. Kenneth Harlan, playing the title role, had the task of switching them around in their cradles, changing their little dresses and otherwise "mixing them up," a practical joke on their unsuspecting parents. Owen Wister's hero plays this prank while the parents are dancing and enjoying themselves at a house-warming.

Here are the various comments, made by directors and leading players at the B. P. Schulberg studios, when they saw the day-nursery in full swing:

Florence Vidor: "Shades of Brigham Young."

Ethel Shannon: "Whose birthday?"

Kenneth Harlan: "What has happened?"

Victor Schertzinger: "Music hath charms."

Tom Forman: "Help!"

COBOURG NEWS

COBOURG, Dec. 5.—In considering the high cost of living in these days of soaring prices, a thought might well be spared by those who habitually indulge to excess to the high cost of drinking, especially if the "cop" happens to come along. A citizen of a rural municipality who was charged in the Police Court here with a violation of the O.T.A., paid altogether $38.45 into the exchequer of his country.

Sudden Death of Former Resident.

The death is announced to have taken place very suddenly at Greylock, Mass., of Mr. Thomas Grant, a former well-known resident of Cobourg. Mr. Grant was employed for some time at the Cobourg Woollen Mills. He was a bachelor. A sister, Mrs. John Erskine, resides here, and a brother, Mr. Donald Grant, in Toronto.

Real Estate Transfers.

There is not very much doing in the real estate line in this locality at the present time.

Mrs. Annie Robertson has sold a property on Station Street, Cobourg, to A. Holloway.

Mr. Geo. Blakeley, Coldsprings, is stated to have purchased Mr. Alfred Johnston's farm near Castleton.

Dr. H. W. A. Zealand has purchased a house in Port Hope from Mr. Hugh Radcliffe, who recently removed from Port Hope to Rochester with his family, where he has taken up residence.

Wood $12 a Cord.

Farmers who have wood lots are offering beech, birch and maple body wood at $12 a cord, with $1 extra for cutting into stove lengths. Mixed wood is offered at $9 a cord, and slabs at $7 a cord in four-foot lengths. Owing to the more abundant coal supply this season, not nearly as much wood is being brought into the town as last winter, but a considerable trade is going on at the present time.

Coal is $16.

Anthracite coal, stove, egg and nut sizes are selling in Cobourg now at $16 a ton. The Alberta coal brought in by the Town Council found a very ready sale, and some citizens are strong in their praise of it.

Military Dances.

The Cobourg Heavy Battery held a meeting last night to make final arrangements for their first dance of the season. They have arranged to hold dances three nights a week at the Armouries, Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, during December and January, at "pavilion prices."

Rev. Torrie at Colborne.

Evangelist Alexander Torrie, of Toronto, held special services which were attended with much interest in the Colborne Baptist Church last week. Rev. L. H. Coles is pastor of the Colborne and Wicklow Baptist Churches.

Tendered Resignation.

Mrs. Kennedy has tendered her resignation as assistant teacher on the Colborne High School staff.

IN MEMORIAM

FORSYTH—In loving memory of Mrs. David Forsyth, who died December, 5th, 1921:
A loved one has gone from our circle
On earth we will meet her no more
She has gone to her home in heaven
And all her sufferings are o'er.

Oh, dear mother, how I miss you,
How I need your tender care,
How I am longing to be with you
But we are parted for a while,

But I know that you are dwelling
In a fairer brighter land
Where no pain can ever enter
For you're cared for by God's hand.

Down here it is very lonesome,
Where there is no love like yours;
Mother, I will soon be with you
Up there in the golden shore.

I hope to meet you up in heaven
When my work on earth is o'er
I will clasp your hand rejoicing
And we will never part no more.

A PRESENTATION TO MR. AND MRS. WILSON

Fortieth Anniversary of Wedding Celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Alvan Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Wilson, 243 Westcott street, were taken by surprise on Monday evening, when members of the Ladies' Aid Society, and their husbands, numbering about 50 altogether, gathered at their home in celebration of the fortieth anniversary of their marriage. Mr. Wilson has been a faithful worker on the Trustee Board ever since the building of the church, sixteen years ago, and Mrs. Wilson has been president of the Ladies' Aid Society for the past twelve years. Their friends and co-workers wished to show in tangible fashion their appreciation of the valuable work done by both in the service of the church.

A musical programme was rendered during the evening, Mr. F. Pratt acting as chairman. Mrs. E. Kitney and Mr. F. Pratt gave vocal solos, and Ashton Fife gave a reading. The numbers were much applauded. Musical accompaniments were supplied by F. Chenhall, organist of St. James' Church.

A presentation to Mrs. Wilson of a toilet set in Frency ivory, and of an umbrella to Mr. Wilson, made in the name of those present, by Mrs. Pratt and Mrs. H. Fry, followed with an address read by Mrs. Mann:

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Wilson: A few of you mrany friends have gathered this evening on this, the fortieth anniversary of your wedding day, to bring you greetings, congratulations, and these gifts of remembrance that you may sometimes think of us as not unmindful of your excellent qualities. Throughout the years that have passed, your happy union has been blessed with years of abundant fruition and of faithful service in the interests of home, church and community life. To all of these interests you have made no small contribution to their success and progress. Always ready to help and encourage in every good cause, your cheerfulness and ready response to service has been an inspiration that many of your friends have sought to emulate. Your many friends join in sincerest good wishes that every joy may be yours in the evening time of life."

DOURO FARMER WINS A WATCH

Won Stock Judging Competition at Fall Fair—Steel for Cement Plant

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 4.—Richard H. Graham, of Douro, was the winner of the gold watch donated by G. A. Brethen, M.P., as the prize in the stock judging competition held at the Norwood Fair this year. The watch is a very handsome one and has this inscription engraved on the inside of the case: "Presented by G. A. Brethen, M.P., to the winner of the stock judging, Norwood Fair, 1923. Won by R. H. Graham."

Mr. Graham entered the county competition two years ago and has had gratifying success ever since. He took second place in the Swine competition in Peterboro last year, winning a $50.00 cash prize and a pure bred sow.

In the summer of 1921 he went to Ottawa and in the stock judging competition he took first place in Eastern Ontario. There were thirty-four contestants. Last winter he took a short course at Guelph and again visited Ottawa during the summer. Mr. Graham has been appointed a government judge and during the past season judged at the fairs in Venier and Warren in Northern Ontario, being the youngest government judge in Eastern Ontario.

This is a well merited honor won by a Lakefield boy and Mr. Graham is the recipient of congratulations and good wishes for future success. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Graham.

Contract Let

A very large steel contract has been let for the super-structure of the Canada Cement Co's new plant which is being built in Lakefield. This plant will be a very large one with an immense capacity for product and will not only be the largest in Ontario but will compare favorably in size with the largest factories in this part of the province.

NEW POST OFFICE AT BROWNTOWN

Will Supply the Needs of the Citizens in the South End.

On the first of November the Peterboro Post Office started a mail carrier system in Browntown which has been very succesful. The first man to receive a parcel by the new system was John Brownlee, a basket maker. On the first of December the Post Office started a new Post Office in Brownton at the home of Mrs. J. Thorne, corner of May and Western avenues. Mrs. Thorne is now supplying the office with all necessities This Post Office will be named the Morrow Post Office. At the present time money orders are not being issued there but this service will follow later.

The local office is being relieved of a great deal of work by this office and the residents of that section of the city are being served much better than before.

At the Hunter street office the English Christmas parcels are beginning to move quite freely now. The latest British mail will be on December 9th.

All parcels for Great Britain and Ireland can be insured for 12c for anything up to $50 and 30c for anything up to $100. After to-morrow when the British mail closes the Western parcels will start. The public are requested to send all their parcels as soon as possible so that they will not all be coming in at the last day and so that they will reach their destination before Christmas. The public are also warned to pack their parcels properly, for if an article is worth sending it must be worth good packing.

POLICE CHIEF SAYS CAR COST $506.63

For Overhauling—Denies Aldermen's Statements That Over $1,000 Was Spent for Purpose.

Chief Newhall, referring to the inference conveyed in Alderman Crowe's question regarding the Chief's testimony in the matter of expenditures on the police car when he said, "Wouldn't it be perjury in my case if I gave evidence the same as the Chief has done," told The Examiner to-day he will be glad to meet any action brought against him. "If Aldermen Crowe, Maher or any other alderman or any person feels that he has any charge against me there is nothing to prevent him from laying it, and I will gladly meet any one of them. In fact, I will welcome it, as it is time an end was put to these unfounded, malicious and misleading stories."

"My statement regarding the police car," the Chief continued, "has always been the same. I say that less than $600 was spent on overhauling the car for 1923. As a matter of fact the exact amount was $506.63, according to this statement from White and Ackford."

PEOPLE ARE STILL ALARMED AT FIRE MOUNT VESUVIUS

NAPLES, Dec 5— (United Press) The Vesusvius cone is entirely enveloped in flames and occasional streams of incandescant lava boil over the rim of the volcano's crater. Last night the sky was lighted by intense flames shooting up from the interior where is apparently the fiery furnace where once exploring parties were able to descend. The activity has been noticeable for some days past and has increased.

The glare is more pronounced and the population of the surrounding countryside is correspondingly more alarmed The people of Naples are particularly disturbed.

Professor Malladra, leading scientific observers of Mount Vesuvius' activities, has issued a new researching communique stating that the situation is not alarming.

One official declared "if promises made us are fulfilled, everybody is in for a big surprise." Labor spokesman said "we shall certainly have 171 members returned and probably more. We shall still be His Majesty's opposition.

ITALIAN DAM BURST AND FLOODED LARGE VALLEY

DOMODOSSOLA, Italy, December 5 (United States). — Another Italian dam has burst, flooding a mountain valley.

This time there were no casualties.

The Toce River Dam, known to American tourists who have made the trip from Switzerland to Italy through the Simplon Tunnel, went out yesterday under the pressure of the rain-swollen waters, and a landslide.

The Formazza Valley, at the Italian entrance to the Tunnel, is a lake, across which engineers are throwing bridges to rescue the persons who fled to the hillsides when the dam burst.

BRITAIN MAY REVERSE FREE TRADE POLICY IN ELECTORS' VOTE TODAY

Premier Baldwin Issues Appeal of Rare Brevity For Authority to Change the British Fiscal Policy — May Know People's Answer To-Night.

A LEAP IN THE DARK.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—(Canadian Press).—On the eve of polling day Premier Baldwin issued what is assuredly one of the simplest and briefest election appeals in the history of British electioneering. In it he says:

"I appeal to my fellow countrymen and women to give me their support in the fight against unemployment. I ask this for their own sake and for the sake of the rising generation.

(Sgd.) "Stanley Baldwin."

This almost naive way of asking the country for a mandate to reverse almost completely its fiscal policy is characteristic of the Premier's whole election campaign, which, on his part, has been conducted with a complete absence of personalities; all his speeches have been addressed to the task of explaining, without the aid of rhetoric, his proposed policy and its implications.

Will Know Tonight.

Today will give him his answer from the country, for the results of some 195 of the 549 constituencies to be polled will be known tonight, and should suffice to give an indication of how the electorate is going. They are chiefly the great London and Provincial boroughs, but a sufficient sprinkling of county results will be announced tonight to show the trend of the rural vote. Virtually the complete results will be known Friday night.

So great is the interest to learn the outcome of the elections that exceptional methods have been arranged for displaying the figures in many prominent places, while the London tubes, busses and suburban train services will operate two hours later than customary to enable those awaiting the latest count to reach their homes, and there will undoubtedly be intense excitement and liveliness in the West End streets, clubs and public halls, where the figures are to be announced.

There are so many features differentiating this contest from previous elections, and so many interests involved, that more than ever has the excitement to learn the outcome been maintained to the last moment, and this is intensified by the complete impossibility of predicting the results.

Revolutionary Changes.

First, there was the suddenness with which the elections were sprung upon the country, with only the short space of three weeks to discover revolutionary fiscal changes, which the last time they were proposed by Joseph Chamberlain, were discussed by the country for about two years before the elections were held.

Second, there was great interest in the future of Mr. Lloyd George and the question of whether his invigorating influence would revive the country's interests in Liberalism, which apparently had been largely lost.

Third, the question has arisen as to whether there will be a revival of some sort of coalition, since many capable observers believe that no single party will in the future be able to command a sufficient majority in Parliament to carry any big policy.

And, fourth, there is the fact that the Conservatives themselves are divided on the policy of protection and some important personages, like Lord Balfour, have held completely aloof from the struggle, while the Conservative press has been most ambiguous.

A Leap in the Dark.

For these and many other reasons, no general election of recent years has been such a leap in the dark. Mr. Winston Churchill has ventured the prediction that if protection is defeated at this election it will not be proposed again for a whole generation.

The speeches and manifestoes last night were numberless, but there is little new to be said on the situation. Premier Baldwin, Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Asquith, Mr. Churchill, and J. Ramsay MacDonald, were all making final efforts to win votes in various parts of the country.

Mr. Churchill at Leicester, protested strongly against the Prime Minister's statement in his recent speech that if he got a parliamentary majority, even though was based on a minority of the electorate he would use that majority to force his protectionist proposals through Parliament.

"I call that a constitutional outrage," said Mr. Churchill to-day. "It is an act which carries us back to days when tyrannical ministers sought to rule the country against its will."

Mr. Churchill was again subjected to much interruption and heckling, but there was no serious disorder.

Baldwin's Warning.

Premier Baldwin, in his final address at Bewdley, warned his constituents that once Germany was rehabilitated she would need to export enormously to pay her reparations.

"Let her export to Russia, or anywhere," he added, "but don't let us become the shock absorbers for the German reparations. We must have the machinery ready for the protection of our own home markets when Central Europe gets stabilized."

Protect Industries.

Lord Robert Cecil (recently raised to the peerage) who has spoken little throughout the campaign, made a speech at Letchworth last night. He said universal free trade would be a good thing, but even he, a free trader in principle, when he saw high er and higher tariff walls raised against Great Britain, was convinced that Britain must do something to protect her industries.

Mr. Lloyd George, speaking at Brighton last night, was considerably interrupted by hecklers. He declared himself ready to work, as he had worked before, with anyone who he considered was doing his best to serve his country's interests.

"No Bananas" Refrain.

Lord Derby at Blackpool expressed protectionist views almost exclusively from the standpoint of the interests of the cotton industry. A ludicrous remark took some of the edge of his peroration. The dominions, he said, were asking Great Britain to meet them half way. "This election is going to be the determining point as to whether we say, Yes"—a voice —"We have no bananas." After joining in the merriment, Lord Derby completed his sentence, "or no."

Later, Lord Derby's mention of Lloyd George's name evoked cheers and boos. "No," shouted Derby, "I will never stand at a Conservative meeting and hear that man's name booed. I know what that man did in the war but I am not without hope that even Lloyd George when he realizes the opportunity offered by the dominions and colonies, might even say to his own people: "We must not be too late."

Urge Government To Assume Forests

QUEBEC, Dec. 6.—(Canadian Press). — The suggestion that the Government should take over the control of the protection of the forests of the Province, instead of voting a subsidy of $3,000 to the forest reserve owners and the statement that the greater part of the forest fires were caused by Indians and hunters, were the features of the afternoon's session of the Colonization Congress which is sitting here.

MANY APPEALS FOR CLEMENCY

Murderer Sentenced to Hang on Friday Shows No Sign of Worry.

SWEETSBURG, Que., Dec. 6.—Very strong representations for clemency are being made to Sir Lomer Gouin, Minister of Justice in the case of Raoul Brodeur, the 27 year old murderer of Henrie Roy, Waterloo farmer. Brodeur is condemned to hang next Friday morning.

Not only does the entire population of this district desire commutation of the sentence, but the municipal councils of the district, the jury who found him guilty, the judge who presided at the trial and the crown prosecutor have adopted resolutions and signed requests for clemency. In their petition the jury who brought in the verdict of guilty point out that their deliberations lasted the whole of one day before they could arrive at their decision.

In the meantime Brodeur is showing no sign of worry. He eats hearty meals, chats pleasantly with Father A. R. Desaulniers, prison chaplain, and tries to console his aged father who constantly visits him.

FORT WILLIAM, December 6. — Yesterday again, with the insurance rate taking another advance at one o'clock his morning the lake shippers' clearance association, is unable to give out the list of vessels which are clearing, as was the case on the evening of November 30. It is expected that about the same quantity of grain was shipped last night as on the former date, namely, six and a half million bushels.

RANKS RIDDLED AS UNEMPLOYED MOB TOWN HALL

Seven Killed and Thirty Wounded in Westphalian Town—People Demanded Larger Doles.

ATTACKED POLICE.

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Seven persons were killed and thirty wounded in a clash yesterday between unemployed and the police at Watne, Westphalia.

The unemployed, discontended over the amount paid them as unemployed doles, tried to storm the Town Hall. They attacked the police with stones and revolvers, whereupon the police returned their fire. French troops finally restored order.

LLOYD GEORGE'S FINAL MESSAGE

Trade Must Be Free If It Is to Grow, He Says In London Appeal.

LONDON, Dec. 6. — (Canadian Press.)—Lloyd George followed up his appeal to the electors of London at Camberwell yesterday by a message to the Liberal Evening Star saying:

"London, the greatest city in the world, is in danger. She lives by trade as no other city in the world lives by it, and trade, if it is to grow, must be free. London does one-third of the total overseas trade of Great Britain and receives more than one-third of her imports.

"On the basis of this great trade, itself a gift of free trade, London has become the financial centre of the whole world and the source of the development of our mighty empire. To limit these activities by tariffs would deal a deadly blow at the work and wages of the citizens of London.

"Londoners, I am sure, will weigh the vital facts carefully and vote for the Liberal party, which gave the country free trade and remains its chief and determined champion."

CONFERENCE ON NATURAL RESOURCES TO BE HELD

EDMONTON, December 6. — A date for the next and perhaps the final conference on the natural resources question is now being arranged between the provincial and federal governments. With the return from England of Hon. Mackenzie King the way is open for resuming negotiations in this direction, the conference having been postponed from the early autumn on account of the Prime Minister's absence from Ottawa.

Premier Greenfield has already received an inquiry from Hon. Charles Stewart as to whether a date in the first part of January will be acceptable. The premier is desirous, however, of bringing the meeting on somewhat earlier and has wired back that a date in the third week of December would be preferable.

800 DEATHS IN 1923 LAID TO RUM POISON.

PHILADELPHIA, December 6. —A surey of the records in the office of Coroner Knight in City Hall made yesterday by Frank Paul, a special investigator, disclosed the drinking of poisonous liquor has directly or indirectly caused the deaths of 800 persons in Philadelphia during the last eleven months.

"The human slaughter," as it is called by Detective Paul, started in the month of January, when 307 persons died from various diseases or accidents, the primary cause of which was traced back to the over-indulgence of "moonshine" or "poisonous liquor."

DEATH RESULTED FROM BURNS IN COTTON BIN

HAMILTON, Dec. 6.—(Canadian Press.) — Robert Holrum and William Murray, employees of the Canadian Colored Cotton Company, who were trapped in a bin yesterday afternoon with blazing cotton, died during the night from frightful burns which they sustained.

GERMANY OVERCOMING DISEASES OF FILTH

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—(Associated Press).—Typhus and trachoma, diseases of filth and poverty, gradually are being brought under control in Germany. Diphtheria and scarlet fever also show decreases. Practically all contagious diseases are disappearing in proportion to the time elapsed since the war.

Premier's Clothes Not Fashionable

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Discussing the sartorial aspects of the clothes worn by the Dominion premiers at the Imperial conference the Men's Wear Organizer in a illustrated criticism summarized its observations as follows:

Mr. Massey, of New Zealand: "His jacket has been cut for comfort and makes no pretense of being any fashion at all: The useful outside breast pocket is missing. He has no use for a permanent turnup; he even delights in an unrolled umbrella."

Mr. Mackenzie King, of Canada: "He has, we fear, no respect for his tailor. His coat is a poor fit; the pockets are used as hand-rests, and his trousers are sadly in need of 'uplift.'

General Smuts, head of the Union of South Africa, whose photograph shows him to be the worst-dressed one of the group, is let off lightly because "he has too much important business on his mind to bother about the age, the fit or the quality of his suits."

In the opinion of this critical journal, Premier Bruce, of Australia, "alone takes his tailoring seriously and fashionably."

FIVE TURN ON THE DIAMONDS

Men Held as Material Witnesses Say Both Brothers Were at the Murder Scene.

NEW YORK, December 6. — Police headquarters yesterday revealed that every one of the five men held as material witnesses in the case has made a statement declaring that both Joseph Diamond and his elder brother, Barlow Morris Diamond, were at the scene when William S. Barlow and William H. McLaughlin, messengers of the West End Bank, were shot to death and robbed of $43,607 at the B. M. T. elevated station at New Utrecht Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, Brooklyn.

Both brothers have insisted that while Joseph turned the murder car over to three men, the actual slayers, he did not remain for the attack, and that Barlow Diamond was a block away in another automobile.

The evidence made known yesterday also explains the indifference of the police to the story of the Diamonds that there were three men, now fugitives, in the group described by the brothers as the slayers.

The police are now proceeding on the theory that the third man, the chauffeur, was Joseph. They are, nevertheless, searching for all three men named by the Diamonds, believing them to have been deeply involved in the plot.

SIR DONALD MANN IS ON WAY TO DOMINION

LONDON, December 6. Canadian Press. — On learning of the death at Toronto of Sir William Mackenzie yesterday, Sir Donald Mann who has been in London for three weeks at once cancelled his arrangements to visit Moscow, and is preparaing to return to Canada on Friday. He hopes to make his projected trip to the Russias later.

Sir Donald has received daily cables about Sir William Mackenzie's condition, and the last message before the news of his death stated that Sir William was a "little better."

PRAGUE WILL EXPORT SUGAR

PRAGUE, Dec. 6.—(Associated Press).—The sugar crop of Czecho-Slovakia is so good this year that, after meeting local needs to the extent of 330,000 tons, the republic will have 570,000 tons for export.

THE WEATHER.

After a remarkably fine fall, we are now being favored with copious rains. These have been very badly needed. Not only was the power situation becoming precarious, owing to low water in the river, but farmers' wells, besides many of the numerous creeks, where they had been accustomed to watering their stock, had become dried up. Swamps were also dry. Some of our farmer friends claim that winter was never known to come until the swamps became filled. And by the way to-day (Thursday) is "gauge day" for the winter months. The winter is supposed to partake largely of the conditions prevailing to-day. If it does we will have a mild and open winter. As yet real winter has not yet set in over any part of Canada, and the conditions prevailing at the present time are universally and unusually mild.—W. P.

WIDOW DENIES HAVING VAMPED YOUNG HUSBAND

Both Told Reporters How Much They Love Each Other—Prosecutions May Follow.

WOMAN WEALTHY.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Prosecutions may result from the marriage of sixteen-year-old Burton S. Tucker, son of the Postmaster of South Essex, Mass., and fifty-year-old Mrs. Susan O. Simpson, a wealthy widow according to Assistant Prosecutor Aloysius McMahon of Hudson County. After examining witnesses in his office at Jersey City yesterday, Mr. McMahon announced that the couple had been married before seventy-two hours required by New Jersey law between the application for the license and the performing of the ceremony had elapsed. Mr. McMahon said that prosecutions were possible for pejury, subornation of perjury, conspiracy and corruption in the marriage license bureau.

Young Tucker insisted to the prosecution and to newspaper men that he was happy in his marriage, that he was not coerced into it, and that he did not want to have anybody prosecuted for anything. Mrs. Simpson agreed with everything her young husband said in the interview, and both asserted that nobody could ever separate them. The interview was punctuated by their kisses.

John Muller, the Hoboken "marriage broker," told Mr. McMahon that the couple went to him on Oct. 2, asking him to find somebody to marry them. After trying several ministers, he said, he persuaded the Rev. Robert H. Rollins, pastor of the Baptist Church at Union Hill to do so. Muller said that Mrs. Simpson gave him $18 and that he accompanied the couple to Dr. Rollins's home for the wedding ceremony.

Muller also admitted that at Mrs. Simpson's request he drew up an affidavit, which young Tucker signed, giving alleged reasons for the marriage. He said that Mrs. Simpson told him that she wanted the affidavit to hold as a "club" over the boy, so that he would be unable to back out of the match. Whether the statements made in the affidavit were true or not will figure in the prosecutors investigation. The boy's parents maintain that he was induced to make a false affidavit.

Says She Got $500,000 for Hotel

According to Muller's statement to Mr. McMahon, Mrs. Simpson told him that she had recently sold a hotel in New York for $500,000. Mr. McMahon said that this was probably the Pasadena, at 10 West Sixty-first street, which Mrs. Simpson owned. Muller also disclosed that Mrs. Simpson was accompanied on her visit to him by a 6-year-old girl, who she said, was her daughter.

After questioning young Tucker, Mr. McMahon described him as a "young Valentino," and said that he had told of acting in the movies last year when he made a trip to California. The boy told Mr. McMahon that he had married Mrs. Simpson of his own free will, and that he had proposed to her several times before she accepted him. Tucker told the prosecutor that he firts came to New York with Mrs. Simpson at the suggestion of his mother. Mrs. Simpson had taken some of his younger relatives to New York at different times, he said and his mother thought it would be nice for him to have such a trip. He said they stopped at the home of Maxine Elliott, the actress, who was a friend of Mrs. Simpson, and that they became infatuated with each other during the visit.

The boy repeated this statement to reporters who interviewed him and Mrs. Simpson yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph McCabe, 113 Orchard street, South Ridgefield Park, N.J. Mrs. McCabe was formerly a cook employed by Mrs. Simpson at the Hotel Pasadena and she supplied the couple with a retreat after the wedding.

Couple Talk to Reporters

Tucker and his wife sat together on a divan while being interviewed and told reporters how much in love they wer, with each other.

"At first I never thought of marrying him," said Mrs. Simpson, "possibly because of the difference in our ages. But he kept asking me and finally I consented."

Tucker protested that it was not Mrs. Simpsons money that caused him to fall in love with her. "You don't thing it was that automobile out there, do you?" he demanded indignantly, pointing to Mrs. Simpson's Pierce-Arrow limousine at the curb.

The bride announced that the boy was learning the stock brokerage business by daily visit to th, Hotel Plaza office of E. F. Hutton & Co. to look out for Mrs. Simpson's account.

"If she lost her money," said Tucker, "I'd go out with a pick and shovel to support her."

J. Raymond Tiffany, counsel for Tucker and Mrs. Simpson, who accompanied th, boy to the Assistant Prosecutor's office, said that he had agreed to produce his clients any time McMahon wanted them. Mr. Tiffany added that the marriage could not be annulled without young Tucker's consent.

CONSERVATIVES SCORE DECISIVE VICTORY IN HALIFAX BY-ELECTION

Liberal Candidate Defeated By Majority of More Than 1,700 For the Seat Vacated By Hon. A. K. MacLean.

FIRST DEFEAT.

HALIFAX, Dec. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Complete returns last night from 190 polling divisions out of a total of 198 in city and county give Black, Conservative 12,615; Redmond, Liberal, 11,041.

Result a Surprise.

HALIFAX, Dec. 6.—(Canadian Press).—N. A. Black, Conservative candidate, opposing the Liberal nominee, George A. Redmond, in the by-election yesterday to select a member for the seat vacated in the Federal Parliament by the elevation of Hon. A. K. MacLean, former member for Halifax City and County, to the Exchequer Court of Canada, surprised the electorate by not only winning his election but piling up a big majority.

The issue throughout the campaign centred around the question of Maritime rights, and the Government was attacked for alleged discrimination against the ports of Halifax and St. John in favor of the Portland, Maine, port.

Breaks "Solid 16."

OTTAWA, Dec. 6.—(Canadian Press).—The Conservative victory in Halifax marks the first defeat sustained by the Government in a by-election since it assumed office, and also breaks the "solid sixteen" from Nova Scotia. Issues in the fight turned on questions affecting the Maritime Provinces more particularly, but much will, no doubt, be heard of the result in the coming session of Parliament.

Assuming that Kent, New Brunswick—a seat now vacant—again returns a Liberal, the Government will meet Parliament with a minority. Just prior to last session the Government gained two adherents in the defection of two Progressive members. The party standing then was: Liberals, 118; Combined Opposition, 116 — which, with the Speaker, made up a House of 235 members. But last session A. R. MacMaster left the Liberal following to take his seat as an Independent on the Opposition side of the House. That made the two sides of the House technically even with the Speaker, a Liberal, holding a casting vote in the event of an even division.

The loss of Halifax, coupled with the vacancy in Kent, bring the Liberal representation down to 115, while the Opposition combined totals 118. Should Kent once more return a Liberal the standing next session will be: Liberals, 116; total Opposition, 118. Should the Government candidate be defeated, the Government would next session be technically in a minority of four.

On no occasion, however, has the Government had to meet a situation in which all Conservatives, Progressives, Independents and Labor have voted together, although last session its Budget proposals were only carried by a majority of eight.

HON. H. S. BELAND MADE VISITS TO HOSPITALS

OTTAWA, December 6. Canadian Press. — Hon. H. S. Beland, Minister of Soldiers' Re-establishment, returned to Ottawa to-day after a visit to hospitals and sanitorcember would be preefrable.

iums in the Martime Provinces.

Dr. Beland conferred with sofdiers advisers in Halifax and visited the Quarantine station at St. John, N.B., which is under the control of the Department of Health.

He also paid visits to Jordan Sanitorium, River Glade, N.S., Kentville Sanitorium, Camp Hill Hospital, at Halifax, and Lancaster Hospital, St. John.

RAIN FLOOD IN ENGLAND — STUDENTS USE ROWBOATS.

LONDON, December 6. — Rain continues to swell the floods in a dozen English counties.

The Thames has not risen.

Crowds Silenced Several Speakers

LONDON, Dec. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Several disorderly election meetings were reported last night. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, as unable to finish his speech at a meeting at Birmingham owing to interruptions. Captain Erskine, Conservative candidate of South Hackney, was shouted down by his Labor opponents and left the Town Hall without concluding his speech.

Lord Buxton was refused a hearing at East Ham, and the meeting was brought to an abrupt conclusion.

SIDE DOOR INTO UNITED STATES

SARNIA, Ont., Dec. 6.—(Canadian Press).—American immigration officials are on the watch for aliens at the border, and the statement is made that every night under cover of darkness numbers are transferred across the St. Clair in launches or row-boats and taken to Detroit by motor.

There are reported to be more than 500 aliens at Wallaceburg awaiting transportation to the United States by the "under-ground" route. An organized band is said to be operating further down the river at Marine City and Algonac who make it a profitable business to come over to Walpole Island and smuggle aliens into the United States. It is said by American residents familiar with the situation that hundreds of aliens, to avoid being turned back at New York, are being dumped into Canada and taken to the border with the United States as their ultimate destination, providing they can make connections by the "under-ground" route.

Several months ago two Wallaceburg men and a dozen aliens were taken into custody at Robert's Landing, some miles down the St. Clair from Sarnia. They were in a bus on the way to Detroit when overhauled by the police. The great number of aliens on the streets of Wallaceburg these days indicate that an organized band is finding their transportation over the St. Clair a profitable undertaking.

PROPOSED NEW GARBAGE AREA WAS EXCLUDED

Property Committee Decided it Could Not Accept Contractors' Offer to Collect From About Twenty Houses for $800

TAX RETURNS $20

An offer made by Messrs. Anglesay & Withers, successful bidders for next year's garbabe collection in the city to collect from a new district, taking in about 20 houses, for an additional sum of $800, was turned down by the Property Committee of the City Council last night.

At Monday's meeting of the City Council, two new areas were proposed, taking in part of Smith Street, Victoria avenue, and part of Aylmer street, from Manning Avenue to Smith street. In the latter section there are only six houses, and the total is about twenty houses. The City Council approved the inclusion of these sections, and referred the matter to the Property Committee to make arrangements.

The total tender as entered by the Messrs Anglesay and Withers and accepted by the council, was $8200, without the two sections later brought up, and the next lowest tender was $9100.

After the position of the committee had been explained to them, the principals in the contracting firm said the present contract price is away too low. Only one man, they said, can make a profit on the $8200 price, and that was because he grows his own feed. Make it the old contract price, and we'll be satisfied," they said.

Taxes Amount to.

The 1923 price was $9,000, City Clerk Armstrong informed the committee. For the twenty houses which it was desired to add, therefore, the city would be paying $800. The return in taxes for the purpose from this area would be about $20.

Ald. McIntyre: "Would you do it for $20?"

ADVERTISEMENT WAS A FORGERY

Kennth MacInnes Did Not Send In Advertisement to The Examiner

In last evening's Examiner there appeared a notice supposed to have been signed by Kenneth McGinnis, 278 McDonnell street, to the effect that he would not be responsible for any debt contracted by his wife or daughter, Vera, which is now found to be a forgery committed by some person or persons not known.

The copy came into the Examiner Office in the regular way with the money enclosed to pay for same and looked genuine enough to insert. However it is now learned that Mr. McInnes did not insert the advertisement and had no occasion to have it appear. Needless to say his wife and daughter can obtain credit if they want it, which however is only used on regular weekly accounts.

WINTER CARNIVAL A GREAT SUCCESS

St. John's Carnival Under the Auspices of the A. Y.P.A. of the Church Had Good Crowd.

There was a good attendance at the bright little Winter Carnival held in the school room of St. John's church last evening, under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. of the church There were booths for sale of gifts and candy, a freak show, and an enjoyable musical programme, in charge of Miss Margaret Flowers. Decorations were exceptionally pretty, carried out in Christmas evergreens and holly and red paper fancies. Lighted piano lamps and candles brightened the tea room, in charge of Miss Hazel Crowe. Miss Betty Smith, president of the society, had the candy sale, Miss Irene Herridge had the miscellaneous table, Mr. Bert Graham the 'hot dog' sale, Miss Sybil Hood and Miss Aloha Horn, sold gifts from Santa Claus from two gaily decorated Christmas trees, and Miss Julia Nicholls supervised arrangements for the comical 'freak' show. Mrs. F. Clayton told fortunes.

A very interesting portion of the entertainment programme was provided by Mr. H. Lush, who had a sad show, and also gave a vocal number, illustrated with lightning drawings of flags.

The musical programme included a very pretty number, a vocal solo by Mrs. Fred Craig, "To a Miniature," illutsrated in tableau fashion by Miss A. Nicholls; a violin and piano duett by Margaret and Roy Rome; a reading by Miss Irene Breckenridge, and songs by Mrs. R. Trotter, Miss Edna Borbridge, Mr. R. Perry and Mr. H. Flowers.

PROPOSED NEW

Mr. Withers: "No sir; that is a lot of driving for $20; it wouldn't keep the horses shod for the extra work." "The old tender was $9000, and it was a cheap job at that."

Ald. Phelan remarked that more work is included in next year's contract at a lower figure than for this year.

Ald. McIntyre: "I think you are doing good work, and the council appreciates it."

Ald. Fife: "I don't think we can settle it at that figure to satisfy the public generally. To settle the question what will you do the work for?"

Mr. Withers: "The old contract price, $9000."

Ald. Fife: "I move that owing to the price asked and the fact that the petitions were received after tenders had been called for, the committee cannot take any action."

It was with reluctance that these houses were omitted from the collections for next year, but it was pointed out that the applications should have been in in time to be included in the original tenders.

Ashes Granted.

On motion of Ald. Phelan and Fife R. Powell of 465 McDonnel street, will be granted as many loads of ashes as the Sanitary Inspector decides should be given him, and that Mrs. Runnett, 523 Sherbrooke street, be given one load as requested.

There were present Ald. McIntyre, chairman; Ald. J. O. Fife and N. Phelan and aMyor Taylor.

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

DISEASE GERMS.

Micro-organisms of any pathogenic bacteria cause vital diseases of many kinds. The germs or bacteria which get into your system are the living plant agents which cause various kinds of poisons to attack and destroy your blood cells and tissue cells. Your ability or strength to ward off or resist these virulent germ poisons by hygienic living conditions, constitute your hold on health.

In other words, you are being attacked almost every minute of the day by these little germ bandits who try to enter your body and rob you of your health. They thrive in bad drinking water, in polluted soil, in foul air, unclean food, scratches and slight wounds, and through direct contact in what are called the catching and contagious diseases.

To steer clear of their attack, you must be on your guard all the time.

Keep your teeth and mouth clean. The high-powered microscope will show you strange inhabitants. Bathe at least once a week, twice is better and once during some part of every 24 hours will do you no harm.

Choose your food for the best health-building values, within the limits of your purse, not forgetting green vegetables, fruit, milk and its products. Keep your hands clean, when putting anything in your mouth. Avoid coughing and sneezing in public.

Take fresh air and sunlight in large doses, at every opportunity. Do not let garbage or other waste accumulate on your premises, to invite contamination, flies or other vermin, which breed and spread germs.

FINAL SHOTS IN ELECTION FIGHT

Fifteen Millions Men and Women to Go to the Polls Today.

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Dec. 6.—A Conservative victory was in the making today as 15,000,000 British men and women went to the polls to elect a parliament. It was cold and cloudy, with a light mist falling in some parts of the country when the voting booths opened at 8 a.m. There was no change however, in the situation that pointed to a Conservative majority with about 30 votes to spare.

The result of the voting in approximately 200 constituencies will be announced to-night; the final results will not be known until Friday. There are 654 seats to be filled, for which there are 1,400 candidates. Thirty-five Conservatives, 11 Liberals, 3 Laborites and T. P. O'Connor, Independent, were returned unopposed. David Lloyd George, former Prime Minister, now leading a hard fighting Liberal opposition, ignored the tradition that forbids speech making on election day and went to address a meeting at Chichester. Premier Stanley Baldwin, who issued a final appeal to voters to support him in his plan to relieve unemployment through a tariff after eighty years of free trade, was one of the first to go to the polls this morning, casting a vote for himself at Astley. H. H. Asquith, former Premier, who has joined forces with Lloyd George and relinquished the leadership of the coalition to the magnetic Welshman, voted at Paisley, where Asquith always has a stiff fight to keep his seat. He was recently defeated in this constituency. Lloyd George's seat at Carnarvon was considered safe. Ramsay Macdonlad, Labor spokesman, who led the Opposition in the last session, wound up a hard fight in the district of Aberavon.

Rowdyism, so severe that it interrupted meetings in many parts of the country last night and prevented some Conservatives from speaking, continued to mar the campaign up to the last minute.

Missionary Home From China Preached in Cavan Anglican Churches.

CAVAN, Dec. 5. — Rev. Mr. Trivett, missionary home on furlough from Honan, China, occupied the pulpits of the Cavan Anglican churches on Sunday. At St. John's Church, Ida, in the morning the congregation was much interested in the missionary address which he gave, telling of the conditions, needs and work as he found them in China. After the service he read a few passages in the prayer book in the Chinese language, telling those who were listening where to find the passages in their prayer books.

WARSAW BAPTISTS IN FESTIVE MOOD

Entertainment Included an Address by Dr. C. W. Rose of Peterboro.

WARSAW, Dec. 5.—On Tuesday evening last the Baptist ladies' Aid gave an oyster supper in the Town Hall, and an entertainment in the church.

The Baptist Aid numbers but few, but they put up an excellent supper. There was an abundance of everything, enough was left to have a sale of pies and cakes afterwards.

The feature of the entertainment was a lecture by Rev. C. W. Rose, D.D., of Peterboro, on "What I Saw In Europe."

Pastor Chorley was in the chair. There were solos by Miss Lulu Bell and Mr. Henry Bellen, and by Revs. Atkinson and F. G. Weir.

The entertainment was to help build sheds to replace those blown down. The Presbyterians had invited the Baptists to use their sheds so long as needed.

Both Mr. Weir and Mr. Atkinson spoke on the greater good by a union of forces. Mr. Atkinson said there was plenty of room in the sheds, and he had often thought there was plenty of room in the church.

Mr. Weir said he wondered Satan ever showed himself in Warsaw. Why, the four churches should drive him away.

Dr. Rose said he liked people, Christians or not Christians, people appealed to him. He spoke of a Community church where the church would be the centre of the community life.

The speaker had attended the great Baptist conference held in Stockholm last summer. He was born on a farm, had sailed a great deal and was glad to have made this 7,000 mile trip to attend the 300th Baptist anniversary.

Electricity is in general use throughout the country, eighty-five per cent of people use it. In Sweden he saw only one woman smoking and she was probably a visitor. People there did not countenance women smoking. He noticed the general use of the telephone, which was sadly wanting in England. Swedish women were strong and healthy, and of fine moral type.

In many cities the waterfront is the worst part, but in Stockholm the waterfront is beautiful. The boat glides past churches, castles, beautiful lawns, well cultivated land. The harbor is protected by about 1000 islands. The King's palace, Parliament Buildings, and other magnificent buildings are seen.

Sweden is in a great iron belt. Iron is one of their great products. The other is pulpwood. The pulpwood industry is first in quantity but second in quality.

The Baptist convention was the largest religious gathering ever held. Delegates were there from practically all countries. Even Russia had a delegate who had been released from prison to attend and on his return he had to return to prison.

The buildings used was the Lutheran church. People talked while the collection was being taken.

He spoke of systematic giving. One man who ran a large poultry farm gave away all eggs laid on Sunday.

Dr. Rose ended with a very strong plea for union in Christian work, such was a strong note of the convention.

HUNGRY SEAS ARE DECIMATING SALMON

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Dec. 6.—(Associated Press).—Annihilation of immense herds of fur seals has been recommended as a measure of protection for salmon in Cook Inlet. The seals are said to be making great inroads on schools of fish headed for the spawning ground.

While saving a vast number of salmon, the trapping of the seals is expected to yield the fishmen a comfortable source of income. The skin of the seals common to this region yields a fine, durable leather, and there is said to be considerable profit in seal oil.

Depositors' Committee Decides Indemnity Must Be Obtained Through Parliament.

TORONTO, Dec. 6.—(Canadian Press).—After investigating every possible source from which depositors of the Home Bank may be recouped for their losses, the Executive committee of depositors said that efforts should be concentrated in obtaining from the Government through the parliament of Canada, full indemnity for the losses. The report was issued last night by W. T. Lee, chairman of the Committee. "Such relief," the report says, "will not be obtained without effort and expenses necessarily will be incurred in promoting your interests before government and parliament. OFFICIAL APPRECIATION.

The action of the Utilities Commission in passing a resolution appreciative of the excellent work done by Manager H. O. Fisk and his staff in line re-construction operations in several sections of the city was so unusual as to merit mention.

It is not characteristic of public bodies in Peterborough at least to show appreciation for good work done by city officials, and the failure to do so when thanks has been earned has perhaps been so customary that the officials on their part have ceased to look for thanks and have been satisfied if their efforts were not greeted with criticism.

City officials after all are but human, and there is no person who does not feel a glow of satisfaction after finishing a good piece of work when some recognition is made of his services.

That is a point over which the various civic bodies might do a little quiet thinking.

There are often occasions when a word of official appreciation has been earned, and it would be a graceful thing to have such occasions recognized as in the case of Mr. Fisk and his staff, who evidently merit the kind things said about them inasmuch as the reconstruction of power lines which they have carried out has been most efficiently done and will materially add to the service in Peterborough.

CAN THE LEAK BE STOPPED?

The need of bracing up Canada's immigration machinery and at the same time of keeping at home our own citizens, two matters the Examiner has discussed on several occasions recently, is rather startlingly illustrated by figures given in a speech at Montreal the other night by Senator Robertson.

During the year he says that 106,000 immigrants entered Canada—not a bad figure in itself, it is true.

But here is the rub.

During the same period, the Senator declares, 119,000 Canadians crossed the border to become citizens of the United States.

That is, 13,000 more Canadians left their native country in one year than there were new settlers arriving.

The raw material is not reaching Canada as fast as the finished product is leaving.

How long can that sort of thing continue, and what can be done not only to get new people but to keep what we have?

Those are questions with which our Federal administrators should be deeply concerned.

Canada is falling down somewhere.

Is the fault with our industrial system, with our scale of wages, with our living conditions, or with all of them?

The situation represents a very serious problem, and it is not receiving the attention it merits from our political leaders either in the Government or the opposition.

SEEKS A THIRD TERM.

In offering himself for the third time as a candidate for the mayoralty after having filled the chief magistrate's chair for two terms, Mayor Taylor may be violating the unwritten local law that has considered a two-year tenure of office as ample for one man, but he is, of course, quite within his rights.

Other cities have had Mayors who sat in office year after year—witness Tommy Church of Toronto and Mederic Martin of Montreal, who seem to regard the position as a life sentence.

The usual term here, however, has been two years, and in seeking to go beyond that His Worship cannot complain if he should be asked to show why his record during the past two years has entitled him to a third year.

The very fact that he seeks to hold on to the position longer than it has been customary for chief magistrates to hold office leaves him even more than usually open to being scrutinized upon what he has accomplished.

That is the penalty Mayor Taylor must pay for projecting himself into the campaign this year after completing the usual period of service.

His desire to serve the community is commendable, but it is just possible that had he followed the example of Mayor Raven of St. Thomas, who after holding the office this year, made way for other candidates at Monday's election, and running himself as an aldermanic candidate headed the polls, His Worship's policy might have been more popularly received.

THE CAMPAIGN TAKING FORM.

With the announcement from Ald. Dr. Holloway that he is to be a candidate for the mayoralty and a declaration from Mayor Taylor that he intends to occupy the chief magistrate's chair for a third term—if enough electors see eye to eye with him—the municipal campaign in Peterborough begins to shape itself.

His Worship's statement will come perhaps as a surprise.

There was a feeling among the electors that he was quite willing to accept a third term if no opposition came forward, but many people did not imagine that he was prepared to stand a fight for the honours.

The lists are by no means closed by the statements of the Mayor and Ald. Holloway, both of whom are to be thanked for coming forward this early in the game and not leaving the ratepayers in the dark as to their intentions.

Other candidates, both inside and outside the ranks of this year's Council, are spoken of, and with two candidates already in the field, it would not be surprising if three or four aspirants faced the barrier on New Year's Day.

The early announcement of their intentions from the Mayor and Ald. Holloway should lead to a fuller discussion of civic issues and to more interest in the mayoralty campaign than has been the case in other years when it was not definitely known until nomination day whether or not there would be a contest and when composition of the field was never learned until the last possible moment.

The ice has been broken much sooner than usual, and for that there should be genuine thanks from those who have lamented the lack of excitement in the majority of municipal contests in the past.

THE CRIME EPIDEMIC.

Despite all the elaborate warnings, precautions and efforts of preventive agents, there seems to be but little lessening of activity among the enterprising criminals who devote their energies and their ingenuity to daylight hold-ups and twilight safe-blowings, says the Montreal Star. Nor has New York a monopoly of this particular form of misguided human effort. Our own little Beachville, near Ingersoll, Ont., "where the cheese comes from," has contributed its quota towards the Canadian melodramas of automobile robberies, two leisurely gentlemen having relieved the Standard White Lime Company of some trifling $3,500. In this case the Ingersoll Chief of Police was warned of the proximity of the robbers, but failed to locate them.

The one factor common to all hold-ups and yegg operations is the ubiquitous revolver. Whether fired or not, it acts unfailingly as an effective agent in preventing resistance. This fact has brought a number of American editors to the conclusion that one of the most urgent necessities is the passage of a law barring the revolver for ever from use as a civil weapon in the United States. The same argument would, of course, apply with equal force in Canada. There can be no doubt that a revolver is hardly ever of use for defensive purposes, and that its elimination by legal means would remove from the robber his most potent and reliable weapon of offence. This elimination would not be a difficult matter, save in so far as the most desperate characters are concerned. And eventually they would be caught in the net, as they nearly always are.

Meanwhile, the employment of the ordinary precautions that must inevitably suggest themselves—changing of messengers, of routes, of times, and of days, where the transportation of cash is concerned; decision as to this at the very last moment; and the avoidance of transportation of large sums save under police patrol—would go a long way towards reducing the present triumphant march of the bandits. But it is an astonishing thing, as police records show, how very few big corporations have yet realized the desirability of taking such precautions in their daily routine.

CANADIAN PULPWOOD.

A carefully reasoned statement on the pulpwood resources of Canada has been prepared by the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association; chiefly, it is explained, for the assistance of the royal commission on pulpwood, which is now inquiring into the question; but the facts contained in this document are of such great importance to the nation's interests, that they deserve to be more generally known by the public. There is a tendency to regard the timber resources of the country as practically inexhaustible, and humanity is ever prone to let the future take care of itself. The present rate of depletion of our forests, however, we are told, "involves imminent and certain peril of a grave handicap to the Canadian pulp and paper industry and a marked increase of advantage to its competitors, not in a hundred years from now, not in fifty years from now, but in ten or fifteen years, or even less." It is shown that no effective measures to reduce this rate can be undertaken by the lessees of pulpwood lands. The stoppage depends upon Government action, by the Federal and Provincial authorities, separately or jointly.

With regard to the alarming denudation of the timber lands throughout the country, it is estimated there are about 500 million cords of good merchantable and accessible pulpwood, of which about 288 million are to be found in the eastern Provinces. It is out of this 288 million that almost the entire annual cut of approximately five million cords is derived. The rate of increment which can be attained by spruce and balsam, it is explained, even under the best conditions, is only 1.22 per cent. per annum. Moreover, it is pointed out that probably 100 million cords of the national stand of 500 millions is not part of the "operated forests," but is simply an untouched reserve for the future, the contents of which are stationary, or may by accident be diminished. The cut of pulpwood referred to is the net cut, as actually marketed; the gross cordage destroyed in getting it out is much larger. Then, too, there are the tremendous ravages of fire and disease to be taken account of. On the authority of Mr. F. J. Barnjum, it is stated: "The amount of the annual cut is not over one-tenth of the amount of destruction by bugs, fungi, fire and wind." Though this estimate is disputed by some, it is quite certain that reforestation does not begin to replace the actual loss.

The cost of conservation, seeing that the timber lands are so largely owned by the Government, will not be assumed by the licensees. They do not own the land and are not in a position to provide for the distant future. Neither can these licensees be expected to ensure adequate protection against fire for reasons explained at further length in this pamphlet. It is to the Governments, as owners and lessees of 95 per cent. of the forests, that we must look for the remedy for the present unsatisfactory conditions. The work of detecting and checking fires is of supreme importance, and yet, we read, Government expenditure on this head at present is "comparatively nil." Then there is the question of exportation and the embargo on pulpwood in the unmanufactured state from crown lands. This is discussed at length, and many convincing arguments are adduced. At any rate, it is quite obvious that prompt and effective action is necessary to put a stop to this heavy drain on our national supplies, which are being exhausted for the benefit of competitors across the border, who are thus enabled to harbor their own forest resources. This anomalous situation is manifestly unfair, and calls loudly for adjustment.—Hamilton Spectator.

ONLY LOST ONE VOTE

WARRENTON, N. C., Dec. 6.—(United Press).—When John H. Kerr of Warrenton went to Congress he could have boasted than only one person in the eight counties of his district, containing 340,000 people, voted against him. Also, out of more than a third of a million people, only 3,870 voted for him. Kerr, Democratic candidate, had no formal opposition at the polls. Adam Jones drew one ballot out of the total of 3,871 cast. Election officials were unable to identify Jones. Kerr, formerly a Superior Court judge, will succeed the late Claude Kitchin, who, during his long service in the House, was Democratic leader and ways and means chairman for a time.

HORSES SHOW INCREASE IN PHILADELPHIA COUNT

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6. — (United Press).—The Horseless Age has not yet been reached, according to William T. Phillips, of the Pennsylvania S. P. C. A.

Today there are more horses on the streets of Philadelphia than there were five years ago. There are now 28,000 horses here.

The increase in the number of horses is due to the discovery that horse-drawn vehicles are more economical for short hauls within the city limits involving many stops.

HITLER ON TRIAL.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, December 6. — Yesterday's best medium and handyweight butchers' steers sold at 6 1-2 cents a pound, but there were few able to reach this price, and good steers and heifers did not cross $6.00 a cwt. Good medium butchers' did not average 5 cents a pound. A large proportion of the killing cattle sold from 4 to 4 1-2 cents. Butchers' bulls and cows were in light supply and this market was steady, but in other butchers' the price was 10 to 15 cents a cwt. lower. Feeders of quality were a good sale, but medium and common stockers were slow and a little easier in quotations.

Calves remain quite steady, and any choice vealers were bought at 11 cents and higher. Common calves were 5 to 6 cents a pound, and grassers 2 1-2 to 3 cents.

Lambs had another good market yesterday, with an average advance of one dollar a cwt. over Tuesday. J. Calvert made the top for a bunch at 12 1-2 cents a pound, and other light ewes made 12 1-4 cents. Heavy lambs have to stand a discount up to $2.00 a cwt. The sharp rise of $2.00 a cwt. since last week is due almost entirely to the light run.

Sheep were steady.

Packers failed to get hogs below $7.50 a cwt. f.o.b. on Tuesday, and this was accepted as the ruling price again yesterday.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, December 6 (Canadian Press). — Owing largely to the opinions current that after a three-day advance some reaction was to be expected, wheat yesterday underwent a moderate decline in price. The market closed weak, 3-8c to 3-4c net lower, May $1.11 to $1.11 1-8, and July $1.08 1-2.

Corn finished at 5-8c off, to a shade advance; oats unchanged to 1-4c to 3-8c up; and provisions varying from 10c lower to a gain of 2 cents.

Corn averaged lower with wheat, despite wet weather delaying shipments from the country. Dwindling of supplies gave aggressiveness to the oats market. Provisions were governed mainly by changes in the hog market.

ARE 83 YEARS MARRIED AND LIVING IN POVERTY

PONTIAC, Mich., Dec. 6.—(United Press).—Mere diamond weddings mean nothing to Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Tyack, who say they are 104 years old and that they have been married 83 years. The aged couple live in a small cottage here with their daughter Hannah, who is 78 years old. Although they are in want now, Mrs. Tyack says they have at several times owned property. Originally they came from England and settled on 1,200 acres of land in Canada. They sold this and moved to 640 acres in southwestern Kansas, where they were ruined by grasshoppers. After this they came to Michigan.

BUFFALO BILL RANCH APPEARS IN LAWSUIT

Scouts' Rest Ranch Has Fallen From Its Former Greatness — First Wild West Show Recalled.

NORTH PLATTE, Nebr., Dec. 6.—(Associated Press). — Scouts' Rest Ranch, for many years a show place of the west while owned by William F. ("Buffalo Bill") Cody, now is a run-down and ordinary piece of property where a few cattle still graze, but buffalo are no more and where social gatherings are of another day.

The ranch, located about two miles west of North Platte, now is known as "Cody's Ranch." It passed from the ownership of the famous scout and buffalo hunter several years before his death in 1917.

Its 20,000 or more acres of land has dwindled to 1,200.

The land that remains as a part of the famous ranch and rendezvous for visiting nobility, celebrated statesmen and army officers, now is owned by a company and leased to a tenant. Trouble has arisen over the lease and the property now is the subject of litigation.

Cody came to this part of the country following the Civil War. His job was to furnish laborers engaged in constructing the Union Pacific lines west, with meat. The meat provided was that from the buffalo, which were more numerous then than jackrabbits are at present. During an 18 months period, in 1867 and 1868, Cody personally killed about 4,300 buffalo for the Union Pacific laborers. It was at this time that he was given the name Buffalo Bill.

Local acquaintances recall Buffalo Bill's first wild west show. It was the occasion of a local celebration at which Cody was asked to provide one of the entertainment features. He hit upon the wild west show idea, and spent much time in rehearsing his act. The show was such a big success that he was induced to elaborate upon it and take it upon the road.

Murrell On Rampage. Displeased With Cell.

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 5.—Sydney Murrell, bank robber and alleged murderer, waiting second trial for his life, attempted to wreck his cell in the county jail because the electric lights in the corridor did not please him. He took apart his cot and used it as a battering ram to destroy his specially constructed steel inclosure, but with poor success. As a result Murrell was placed on bread and water fare for four days.

Dec. 6, 1678.—Recalls the coming to Canada of Louis Hennepin, a member of the Recollet Order. Born in Belgium in 1640, he came with La Salle to Canada to evangelize the Indians; had charge of a mission near Fort Frontenac, now Kingston, which place became his headquarters of exploration. His thirst for travel and discovery led him on until with his companion, La Motte, he was the first white man to look upon the wonderful Falls of Niagara. His journeying led him to the Mississinpi. Here he was for some time prisoner of the Indians. Going back to France, he later declined to return to Canada. He died in 1706.

LACK OF APPRENTICES IS MENACE TO UNIONS

LONDON, Dec. 6.—(Associated Press).—Trade Unionism is recognizing the fact that the decline of the apprenticeship system is threatening the existence of the craft unions in this country. Industrial recruits are so scarce that a national campaign is to be undertaken by the Federation of Building Trades Operatives to revive the system.

It has been emphasized that casual labor is replacing skilled artisans in the labor market, and while Britain's most efficient craftsmen are said to be finding jobs in the United States and Dominions, the supply of trained labor for Britain is being stopped at the source.

ELECT GILLETT HOUSE SPEAKER

WASHINGTON, Dec 6. — The Sixty-Eighth Congress of the Unit- was organized yesterday with the breaking of the two days' House over the Speakership, and it will receive Pre- Coolidge's first annual mess-

Although Congress is now ready to function, little can be done in the of legislation until after the Christmas holidays. Committees of both the House and Senate have yet to be organized and they must pass on all important measures before there can be action by either House.

The break leading to the re-election of Speaker Gillett on the first ballot came after Republican insurgents had satisfied themselves that there would be opportunity next month to offer amendments to House rules. Given this assurance on the floor by Representative Longworth, of Ohio, the Republi- er, the group which for eight ballots had supported either Cooper of Wisconsin, or Madden, of Illinois, flocked almost solidly to Gillett, giving him a majority of eight votes.

The result showed:

Gillett	215
Garrett, Dem.)	197
Madden, (Rep.)	2

After Mr. Gillett had resumed his place on the dias in the House, members of the House took the oath of office, assembling in the "well" several State delegations at a time, The only break in this routine came with the challenging of the right of Representatives Miller, Republican, and Buckley, Democrat, of Illinois, to take their seats. After a wrangle they were seated, but house committees will investigate the election of both. After President Coolidge delivers his message to-morrow, it is the intention of Republican House leaders to have three days' recesses until the various standing committees can be organized and are able to report legislation.

SPIRITUAL GROWTH OF CHILDREN SHOULD BE FIRST CONSIDERATION

Assertion of Rev. J. Black of Omemee at Religious Education Council Meeting in Fairmount Methodist Church.

DUTY OF PARENTS.

(Special to The Examiner)

MILLBROOK, Dec. 4.—"Religion is bringing the boys and girls into right relationship with God at every stage of their growing lives and developing personality." This was the key-note sounded by every speaker at the thirty-third annual convention of the Religious Education Council of the townships of Cavan and South Monaghan held in the Methodist church, Fairmount on Monday, December 3rd, with afternoon and evening sessions.

Usually this convention is held after the New Year but the large attendance on Monday proved the wisdom of the executive in planning it earlier in the season when cars may still be used. The retiring president, Mr. James Seymour, occupied the chair, and the pastor, Rev. R. T. Richards, had charge of the opening worship period. Among the ministers present were: Rev. G. I. Craw, Springville; Rev. R. M. Paterson, Frazerville; Rev. A. J. Langford and Rev. S. G. Rorke, Peterboro; Rev. J. Black, Omemee, and Rev. R. T. Richards, Cavan.

Co-operation at Home

Miss Bertha Laine, of Toronto, superintendent of the Children's Division of the Ontario Religious Education Council, was the first speaker, emphasizing in her address the absolute need of co-operation between home and Sunday School if the best results in the child's religious training are to be obtained. By "parents" Miss Laine explained she meant both father and mother, the custom too often being for the entire responsibility of the moral teaching in the home to be left upon the mother's shoulders. A motto for every worker is found in 2 Tim. 2:15, "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, 'rightly dividing the word of truth."

"The teacher is the hinge upon which the School turns," and must herself or himself have a conscious personal knowledge of Christ as Saviour before imparting instruction to others. "Only that is successful teaching which is translated into life," so the lesson must be so presented that it can be taken over and lived out in the daily round.

Thorough preparation, begun early in the week, a knowledge of the pupils from the physical standpoint, of their home surroundings, and an understanding of the mental status at the various ages, with an intense desire to know that each life is won for Christ and counting for His Kingdom,—these are absolute essentials if the teacher is to make the most of the opportunities of his or her high calling.

Care of Souls

"The Value of the Child," was the subject ably dealt with by Rev. J. Black, of Omemee, who pointed out the vast amount of thought and attention now being paid to the child's physical life. No expense is spared to protect from disease, to provide for the training of the mind, and to protect the mothers so the children may have the chance to make good which is their birthright. Well clothed and well fed bodies are important, but of far greater value is the living, God-breathed soul. Are we giving the same care, and using the most up-to-date methods in providing for the spiritual growth and development? "Let energy and earnestness give life to your teaching, and do not be afraid to spend and be spent in your great task."

A duet, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," by Misses Daisy Murray and Marie McBain, was much enjoyed.

Finance Report

The secretary-treasurer, Mr. Hubert Gardiner, presented the financial report and this led to a lively discussion the outcome of which was a resolution presented at the evening session asking that all contributions from the local Sunday Schools be sent to Toronto through the township treasurer so that Mr. Gardiner may have a record of same on his books and will know when the full apportionment laid upon this part of the county is paid up. All Schools in arrears with their annual payments were also urged to send the amount to the treasurer as soon as possible.

The round table conference, led by Miss Laine, on "General Sunday School Problems," during which teacher training received special attention, brought the afternoon gathering to a close. A delicious supper was served in the Sunday School hall, the proceeds from which will be sent to Miss Luella Rorke, of Nagano, Japan, to be used in relief work among the children orphaned by the earthquake. Rev. Mr. Rorke having been a very popular pastor on the Cavan circuit, a particular interest is taken in his daughter's work in the foreign field.

Rev. R. M. Paterson, of Frazerville, conducted the opening devotional period at 7.30 p.m., the choir of Fairmount church leading in the service of song.

Officers Elected

Mr. H. Gardiner presented the report of the nominating committee, the officers for the ensuing year being:

President, Mr. A. E. Sanderson; Vice-president, Oakley Carley; Secretary-treasurer, Mr. Hubert Gardiner; Superintendent of the various departments are: Temperance, Mr. Bruce Elliott; Missionary, Miss E. McIndoo; Boy's Work, Mr. F. N. Alcorn; Girl's Work, Miss Anna Russell; Young People's Work, Mr. S. R. Nichols; Home Department, Mrs. R. Hootan; Children's Division, Mrs. J. Douglas; Teacher Training, Rev. R. M. Paterson; Adult Work, Mr. W. Finney.

It was decided to have each centre in the two townships take the convention in turn, the schedule being as follows: 1924, Frazerville and Springville; 1925, Cavanville; 1926, Centreville and Bensfort; 1927, Millbrook; 1928, Bailieboro; 1929, Mount Pleasant; 1930, Fairmount. Should any of these not be able to entertain the gathering when their turn comes round the next mentioned will do so and the defaulting Sunday Schools will take their place on the list the next year.

Miss Laine gave a comprehensive outline of the religious education programme for the developing child, the songs, stories, pictures, etc. which are necessary and available, and also suggested some practical ways in which reverence for God's day, God's Book, and God's house may be taught. The changed form of the familiar prayer of childhood was given:

"Now I lay me down to sleep,
I pray, Thee, Lord, Thy child to keep;
Thy love be with me through the night,
And wake me with the morning light."

This brought a protest from Rev. Mr. Rorke later in the evening, his contention being that "You cannot improve that prayer. One of England's brightest minds recently repeated it just before he closed his eyes and fell asleep for the last time, resting as peacefully upon the bosom of God as when he laid his head upon his mother's breast in childhood years and slept." It contains the simplest, and the most profound theology.

Miss Daisy Murray favored the convention with a solo, "Nearer my God to Thee," the warm applause which followed showing the listeners' appreciation.

To Know God

The concluding address, by Rev. A. J. Langford, of Trinity church, Peterboro, voiced an energetic warning over the danger of merely "running a Sunday School," and lacking the definite object of really teaching God's Word so it will be lived out in the scholars daily experience. "It is possible to quote glibly from the Bible and fail to give a vision of God through Scripture, and unless we are leading the scholars to see God we are failing in the great ultimate object for which Sunday School work was originated."

The self-same Spirit by which "God spake in times past unto the fathers" will inspire us today with the same knowledge of Himself and the grace to teach His Word.

"Order is one of the first laws of heaven," and the speaker dwelt upon the necessity of discipline in Sunday School, upholding its enforcement when occasion demanded. The need of trained teachers, and of consecrated Christians who will give time to God's work, the mistake of entertaining a class instead of teaching, and of reading from lesson helps when the material should come, burning with love and enthusiasm, from heart and head, were some of the points brought out with telling effect during the period of Mr. Langford's forceful address. "Count that lesson a failure when the scholars fail to see Christ through the revelation of God."

After the usual votes of thanks had been passed, Rev. R. T. Richards and Rev. G. I. Craw, speaking to the motion, the convention was dismissed by Rev. S. G. Rorke with the benediction. The offerings for the day were nearly $20.00.

"The Maker of Men"

The second entertainment in the series of moving pictures under the auspices of the Ministerial Association will be given in the town hall on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. "The Maker of Men" is the title and as the first pictures were so much enjoyed it is expected that a large audience will gather for this story also. No financial gain accrues to the association from the series any surplus above expenses will be devoted to the Japanese Relief fund, or other benevolent purpose as circumstances warrant.

THE COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT OMEMEE OUTSTANDING SUCCESS

Inspirational Valedictory Address by Miss Mary Faulkner, One of Graduates—Programme Was Varied and Interesting

MANY GRADUATES

OMEMEE, Dec. 5.—The students and teachers of the Omemee High School were greeted by a full house on Friday evening, when the annual commencement exercises were held.

Unique water-color announcements have been in evidence in the store windows for the past week, showing much originality and skill on the part of the students.

Promptly at 8.15 the curtain arose revealing a bevy of youth and beauty in the opening chorus, which was heartily applauded.

Club-swinging by five young ladies in which many new and difficult movements were cleverly executed, drew forth rounds of applause.

"Valedictory"

Teachers, scholars and friends of the Omemee High School, it is with deep gratitude that we assemble once again to take part in and enjoy the exercises of another Commencement occasion.

It has been said that there are periods in life, toward which all influences move, and which determine all subsequent events. These are called epoch hours and these are ever pugnant, with tremendous possibilities. On reaching another milepost in our lives and in the history of our school, prudence demands that we look back and interpret, and look forward and anticipate, for it is only as we accurately construe the events of yesterday that we are able to direct our footsteps in the tomorrow. The past is an inspiration, the future is a challenge. A great Canadian recently remarked: "Hats off to the past, but coats off to the future."

Good Record Made

Last year the school established an enviable record, not only in the success of the students, but in the good fellowship and team play between teachers and pupils which made possible results which can never be tabulated. The Omemee High School has always been able to secure teachers of the highest standard whose influences, inspirations and personalities will never cease to take effect in the lives of those who were privileged to be their students. School days are said to be the happiest days of one's life. True enough, for the friendships and remembrances established in youth, remain fast in the memory, never to be forgotten when many other things fade away. It is during school days that each scholar makes the decision as to what his or her ambition will be in life. But after all our ups and downs for there are plenty of these at school, we find out that honest effort is always rewarded.

Now that we are going out to take our places in the world, it is well to ask: What is the meaning of these years of training in High School? What is an education? Is it merely knowing facts in history, or memorizing here and there a poem, or working out a problem in mathematics? All this and more might be done with wonderful perseverance, and determination, but the soul and real self be left stunted and impoverished. The real goal of all education is not mechanics but dynamics. It must teach us to think. Its aim in the development of the powers of man, first by exercising each along its peculiar line; second, by properly co-ordinating and subordinating them; third, by taking advantage of the law of habit, and fourth, by appealing to human interest and enthusiasm. Education must train a person to develop direct control of every movement of the body, every faculty of the mind and every impulse of the heart. It must touch the circumference of life at every point. It is one thing to be trained, it is another thing to assimilate our training.

Active Education

I have already pressed the claim that a true education must inspire us to think. It must do that and more. It must lead us to do. What would it profit us if, after all the years of toil and study, we could not or would not give ourselves to the working out of some concrete scheme in life. To place is noble, to execute that plan is heroic. If we were to count the number of persons who have graduated from this school and who are taking a premier part in the activities of the nation's life, we would be proud to know that the Omemee High School has a record that many larger schools would envy.

Barn Dance Popular

The picturesque gypsy costumes of sixteen girl students in Hibbert's Barn Dance, was a very popular number on the excellent programme and the young ladies were forced to respond with an encore. The Boys' Chorus "The Champeen Baseball Nine," in which the colored team appeared in full baseball outfit, was well rendered, the encore being the same thing backward. One of the prettiest drills given in Omemee in many a long day was "The French Dolls' Drill," Sixteen dainty little maidens in the daintiest of frocks with large picture hats, white shoes and stockings and wearing the delicate rainbow shades, two of each color, executed with clock-like precision the doll drill. The girls were recalled and graciously responded with a part of the drill again.

Diplomas Presented

Mr. T. C. Ivory, chairman of the School Board, at this juncture presented to Mary Faulkner and Ruth Stillman their graduation diplomas.

Mr. Harry Lamb presented the Middle School entrance to Normal School certificates to the Misses Mary Faulkner, Ruth Stillman, Ilma Shea and Marjory Connell.

Mr. D. Weir presented the Lower School Entrance to Normal School certificates to Harley Weir, Edna Morton, Beryl Hart, Katie Weir, Arthur Stephenson, Vera Thorne, Evelyn Rae, George Morton, Florence Rutherford, Harold Weir, Marion Pogue, Rita Kennedy, Genevieve Sandy, Ross Rutherford, Ivan Thorne, Myra Williamson, Eileen Johnson, Jeanne Sandy, Arthur MacFarlane, Nellie Holloman.

Mr. Ivory, after a few words of congratulations to the students and teachers, called the Principal, Miss Joy Corneil (an ex-student of the Omemee High School) and her assistant, Miss Meredith, to the platform where they were made the recipients of beautiful boquets.

The Commencement address was given by Rev. Dr. W. H. Nugent, of Portland, Oregon (an ex-student of the Omemee High School) who had been prevailed upon to remain over for the event. Dr. Nugent, in a witty and at the same time most forceful address, stressed the importance of a good education. The speaker spoke for upwards of thirty-five minutes, holding the undivided attention of the large audience throughout.

Features of Programme

"The Hat of Other Days," a chorus by the girls, each wearing headgear of ancient type, created much merriment, solo parts being taken by the Misses Genevieve Sandy, Marion Dickson and Vivian Parsons.

A comedy entitled "Oh, What a Family," was cleverly enacted in which a newly rich, uneducated woman schemes to reach the top round of the social ladder only to have her plans frustrated by the elopement of her daughter with a former lover while the French maid elopes with the social lion whom the mother was trying to capture. The parts were all well taken, each character living for the time the part portrayed.

"Scarecrow's Aroaming," a drill by the boys, brought forth screams of delight from the many children present and the crows were recalled again and again.

Closing remarks were made by Miss Corneil in which she thanked the students and parents for their hearty co-operation in the preparation of the evening's programme. Miss Corneil stated her belief that the brains of the present students are just as keen as those of the many brilliant men and women who have graduated in former years, thus eliciting rounds of applause.

Miss Lillian Race was the youthful and most efficient pianist for the evening and during intermission assisted by Miss Ida Shea, rendered a splendid instrumental duet which added much to the pleasure of the entertainment.

Young People's Work

The A. Y. P. A. of Christ church, Omemee, have undertaken to clean up the old cemetery grounds behind where the old church stood. They are also contemplating building a tennis court on the church grounds at the rear of the church, where much wholesome recreation will be enjoyed.

CANADIAN WAR LOAN INTEREST SHOWN IN DEBT

November Payments On Victory Loans Largely Accounted For Increase of $27,816,530 in Net Debt.

OTTAWA, Dec 6—(By Canadian Press).—An increase of $27,816,530 in the net debt of Canada during the month of November is shown by the statement issued last evening through the Department of Finance. On November 30, Canada's net debt stood at $2,414,61,424 while at the end of the previous month, it was $2,386,824,893.

On November 30, 1922, the net debt amounted to $2,391,635,818, being an increase of $21,876,792 over the total on October 31 of the same year.

The heavy increase in net debt for November as compared with October, it is explained, is due to interest payments on the 1918 and 1919 Victory Loans which fell due on November 1. Interest payments in November were $41,893,587 in comparison with only $2,629,860 in October, or considerably more than the increase in net debt for the month. The apparent discrepancy between an increase in net debt of 27 millions for the month of November and one of 21 millions for the eight months ending November 30 is accounted for by the fact that some of the months as did October, have shown decreases in net debt.

Revenue Increase

Total revenue for the month of November, amounting to $32,394,043 was $1,421,790 less than the revenue collected in November 1922. Total revenue for the eight months of the fiscal year which closed on November 30 shows an increase, however of $9,092,505. For the eight months of the present fiscal year total revenue was $279,743,989, while for the same period last year the total was $270,651,484.

The expenditures on ordinary account for the month of November amounting to $56,490,023 were $2,-96739 more than in November 1922. or the eight-month period expenditure shows a small increase when compared with a similar period last year. The total expenditures to Nov 30 of the present fiscal year amounted to $211,259,606, while in the eight month period of 1922-23 they amounted to $210,343,351.

Customs Show Gain

Customs' revenue for the eight months ending November 30 last to talled $82,691,835 as compared with $77,873,894 in the eight months of 1922-23. This is an increase of approximately five million dollars. The customs revenue for the month of November alone, amounting to some $9,534,482 was approximately the same as in November 1922. Excise yielded $26,253,057 in the eight-month period of the present year as compared with $24,838,889 a year ago. Inland revenue collections, which amounted to $84,557,658 for the eight months were more than $17,000,000 greater than last year when they totalled $67,451,18. Income tax receipts were less than in the eight-month period of 1922-2.3 amounting to $50,160,650 as compared with $54,614,825.

Interest Payments

The largest item under the head of ordinary expenditure is $105,731,-709 for payments of interest on the public debt. The amount expended on interest payments in the eight-month period of 1922-23 was $102,-705,625. Payments for pensions in the eight months of the present year totalled $19,391,304, or practically the same as in 1922-23. Expenditure for soldiers civil re-establishment dropped from $7,743,129 in the eight-month period, last year, to $6,082,192 in the eight months ending Nov. 30 last.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

LUMPITY, LUMPITY

"Humpty Dumpty," said the Riddle Lady, "you must not get offended at my new riddle."

"Humpty Dumpty," said the Riddle Lady, "you must not get offended at my new riddle. It isn't about you at all. It just sounds as though it was. It's called Lumpity Lumpity, and the answer is not an egg. It is something entirely different and cannot be eaten. Is everybody ready?"

"Yes!" shouted all the Riddle Land people, for every one was anxious to see who would get the prize today. The Twins decided not to guess too hard, for already, since coming to Riddle Land, they had guessed most of the answers.

"Well, then here it is," smiled the Riddle Lady. "Put on your thinking caps.

"Lumpity Lumpity's up in the air,
Sometimes he's round, sometimes he's square,
Sometimes thin, but often thick,
His suit is stone and trimmed with brick.

Perhaps it's fever, but I think not,

"I know! I know! We know!" cried everybody at once.

"My, my! I must have made it too easy," laughed the Riddle Lady.

And now, my dears, I'm not going to tell you what the Riddle Lady said the answer was. As it is such an easy riddle, perhaps you can guess it for yourselves. But let me whisper this: It begins with ch—."

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion you have already tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know that these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but the pure Bisurated Magnesia, which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach, which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little Bisurated Magnesia immediately after a meal you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

RADIO AMATEURS MAY KEEP TRAINS MOVING ON TIME

If Wires Go Down This Winter Along the Traffic Route of the Sante Fe Railway Radio Will Be a Great Help.

LA JUNTA, Colo., Dec. 5.—If the wires go down this winter in the blizzard swept states of Colorado Kansas and Idaho along the traffic route of the Santa Fe railroad, which has its headquarters in this city, radio amateurs are prepared to piece together the tangled web of communication and keep trains moving on schedule.

In view of the terrific storms which have disorganized railroad traffic in Colorado and vicinity, this special emergency plan by which radio will be used to dispatch trains has been worked out by representatives of the Santa Fe and Norman R. Hood, manager of the Rocky Mountain Division of the American Radio Relay League.

This is the first step taken by the League in connection with its co-operation with the American Railway Association, a committee of which is now being selected to work out a nation program for radio relief in railroad emergencies. Details of the tentative arrangement for the immediate protection of the Santa Fe have been worked out by M. O. Davis, district superintendent of the A.R.R.L. and traveling air brake engineer for this western railroad system.

He has drilled a number of amateurs in relay work until he now has six good stations along his route in daylight range of each other with the possible exception of the extreme western section of the state. The Denver-Billings route is complete according to Mr. Hood, and dispatchers will soon be notified of the definite plans.

"When amateurs in Utah have linked up with the route," he says, "we will have the Santa Fe covered from Kansas to the Idaho border, across the division and the C. & S. and C. B. & Q. from Denver to Billings, Mont. The next time a storm tears things to pieces, we are pretty sure that we can meet the emergency by means of amateur radio."

RADIO MAY UNITE N. AND S. AMERICA.

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 6.—Can amateur radio men in America hear amateur C.K transmitters in South America?

It is not improbable that the tremendous expanse of 5,000 miles between this country and Argentina may be covered by radio during the fourth series of transatlantic tests organized by the American Radio League between December 22nd and January 10th. In response to the urgent request of members of the Radio Club of Argentina the A.R.R.L. is sending a schedule of the tests to South America.

As the tests this season will be primarily a listening contest for American and Canadian amateurs, this will mean that amteurs in this counry in addition to tuning up their receivers for incoming signals from France and England, will listen also for the faint notes of C. W. stations operated by their South American brothers.

A communication addressed to the A.R.R.L. from amateurs in Argentina state that between twenty-five and thirty transmitting stations are prepared to send their signals on schedule time. They will base their calculations on Greenwich Mean Time.

The greatest obstacle with which the South American amateurs will have to contend in sending their signals as far north as the United States is the difference in temperature and atmospherics which are bound to accompany their summer climate.

The radio technical publication called the Revista Telegraphica" is interested in South American amateur participation.

While radio has progressed in Argentina to the extent that amateurs are able to cover distances between 500 and 1,000 miles by radio telephone, their CW code transmitters of course have a much better range and in fact their range has never been proven to the satisfaction of the respective operators.

STILLMAN CASE BEFORE COURTS

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—James A. Stillman made another effort yesterday to overthrow Supreme Court decisions denying him a divorce and upholding the legitimacy of Baby Guy Stillman. The court reserved decision after hearing four hours' argument.

His attorney appeared before the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn and argued that the decisions, rendered by Supreme Court Justice Morschauser on recommendtaion of a referee, were rendered after letters alleged to have been written by Mrs. Stillman to Fred Beauvais, Indian guide co-respondent, were thrown out of the record.

Former Governor Nathan Miller, chief counsel for the banker, centred his attack on the admissibility of these letters as evidence. He maintained that their authenticity had been proved in divers ways and that the referee had erred in ruling them out.

Bought Letters.

Isaac Mills, counsel for Mrs. Stillman, denied, however, that the letters had been written by the banker's wife, declaring they had been written by Beauvais. Mr. Miller, a short time before, had admitted that the banker's attorneys had paid the Indian guide $15,000 for several of the letters.

Mr. Miller spent two hours in a lengthy review of the entire litigation. He asserted that early in 1920, 280 days before Guy's birth, the following November, Beauvais joined Mrs. Stillman at her country home, at Pleasantville, N.Y., at her telegraphic request. Although she said she brought him from Canada to chop wood, because of a labor shortage, Mr. Miller declared she housed him in her home and not in the servants' quarters. No other members of the family were with Mrs. Stillman during the Indian's story, Mr. Miller declared.

After visiting with Beauvais in Canada in February of the same year, he added, Mrs. Stillman the following month visited doctors in Boston, Buffalo and Providence, seeking relief.

Dr. Russell, a Buffalo osteopath, testified before the Referee that Mrs. Stillman told him that Beauvais was the father of her expected child, Mr. Miller declared. Dr. Russell also testified that Mrs. Stillman told him she had written this fact to Mr. Stillman. The Referee ruled out the letter, (the so-called "Confession Letter") and Dr. Russell's testimony, on the ground that they were privileged communications and necessary to the doctor in his treatment of her mental trouble. The doctor has denied that such communications were necessary.

"The letter she wrote is here. She does confess she was going to have an Indian baby. Of course, it was confidential, but when she published it to the doctor ,we insist that the fact that she wrote it removes the seal of confidence."

Answering criticism that Stillman had kept Mrs. Stillman in his home for a year and a half after the birth of Guy, Mr. Miller declared that the banker had done so in an effort to "lock his shame in his home." He added:

"We have it from Mrs. Stillman's own lips that it was she who precipitated this unfortunate controversy."

He defended the purchase of the letters from Beauvais, declaring "payment of money for them does not change the meaning of them," and concluded:

"The wrong that has been done Stillman can never be erased. Shall the court judicate a fraud? Shall the son of an Indian pass as a child of white blood?"

"Beauvais had been bought before the letters he sold had been introduced," Mr. Mills declared, in answering Mr. Miller. "Beauvais is the author of these letters. One has but to read them and their crudities and misspelled words to learn that Mrs. Stillman, an educated and refined woman, could never have written them."

In denying Mr. Miller's contention that Mrs. Stillman had been permitted to remain in the home of her husband after Baby Guy's birth because Stillman wanted to "lock his shame in his home," Mr. Mills declared that the banker had not at that time accused his wife of infidelity.

IS YOUR NAME WRITTEN HERE?

Have You Accepted the Opportunity to Get Well, Be Strong and Happy?

Or, Do You Continue to Drag Along the Victim of Stomach Trouble, Catarrh, Weak Kidneys, Rheumatism, Sluggish Liver, Constipation and Impure Blood, When Relief is so Near at Hand?

Hundreds of citizens in this city and vicinity have taken advantage of the chance to rid themselves of those troubles in an economical way. They have given Dreco, the great root and herb remedy, a fair trial and proclaim it satisfactory in every way.

The names published here are persons who have purchased three or more bottles of Dreco. Some of them you possibly know. These responsible citizens find Dreco a pleasant remedy, which is convincing evidence that it is a medicine of real merit and one you can take with perfect confidence.

CONSTIPATION. When the bowels refuse to act regularly, the system becomes clogged with decaying matter. Results are diseased intestines, liver, kidneys and other ills. Dreco corrects constipation promptly, producing regular actions of an easy normal nature.

CATARRH is a disease often the result of a cold which the system was too weak to throw off and often leads to deafness. It should not go unattended. Dreco has proven highly successful in cases of catarrh of the nose, throat and stomach.

WEAK KIDNEYS. The kidneys are the filtering plant of the body. If the kidneys are weak and fail to strain the poisons from the blood, you have backache, painful joints, too frequent or too scanty flow from the bladder. Dreco promptly aids the kidneys.

LIVER DISORDERS, A sluggish, torpid liver leaves poisonous bile in the blood which upsets the whole system; dizzy spells, indigestion, oppression in the stomach, flatulency, coated tongue, headaches, constipation often follow. Dreco never fails to arouse a sluggish liver to full action.

STOMACH TROUBLE. When the digestion is weak the food we eat does not properly nourish the body. Gas in the stomach, pains, griping, choking sensation and risings are some signs of stomach trouble. No remedy offered the public has proven more successful than Dreco to overcome stomach trouble.

RHEUMATISM can cause more suffering than any other disease. Acute, Chronic, Muscular, Inflammatory, Lumbago and Sciatica are some of the forms of rheumatism over which Dreco has positive action to relieve. Many people declare Dreco brought relief after everything else failed.

Piano and Floor Lamps

Never have we had so many artistic Floor Lamps, and sketched is one whose base is hand carved and finished in walnut. Many others exceedingly striking, that make an ideal Gift for Mother or the Newly-weds. Shades are in soft glowing colours, finished and trimmed with braid and fringe. Priced at $19.00 to $50.00.

Chesterfield and Bridge Lamps

Are deservedly popular, for not only are they graceful, but Shades which accompany them are varied in colour and design—many with wide fringe and trimmings of braid. Stands are sometimes metal and sometimes wood in mahogany and walnut finish. Priced from $16.00 to $27.00.

A Writing Desk for Her

A quaint Writing Desk, so delicate that it should certainly acquire a very feminine person for its owner. Desks complete with large and small drawers, shown in the Furniture Department, all have excellent Gift possibilities.

POLLING BEGAN TODAY AT EIGHT O'CLOCK AND ALL PARTIES HOPEFUL

Polls Will Not Close Until Nine O'clock Tonight - Result May Be in Doubt Until Tomorrow.

EXPECT SURPRISES

(By Wickman Steed, Former Editor the London Times, Editor Review of Reviews, Registered in Accordance with the Copyright Act, 1923).

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Polling began at eight o'clock this morning throughout the country. It will continue in many places until nine to-night. The results of some 244 constituencies will be declared before midnight, but the declarations of the remainder of the 371 contested seats will not be known until Friday evening.

Naturally all the parties are proclaiming their faith in their own triumph, Stanley Baldwin believes "the country is going to adopt the Government's policy by a vast majority. Labor headquarters in London say the minimum strength of the Laborites in the new Parliament will be 171, compared with 144 in the last. The Liberals are more cautious, declining to make any definite forecast, but suggesting that, if promises that have been made are fulfilled, everybody is in for a big surprise."

Surprises there will probably be. Some prominent politicians may find themselves unseated, and many confident calculations may be falsified by the play of incalculable factors like the women's vote. The closing contribution of Lord Rothermere to the campaign is exceedingly comic. Fearing after all lest Baldwin, whom he has done his best during the last three weeks to discredit, be beaten by the housewife vote, Rothermere exclaims plain and lively this morning: "Your food wont cost you more," but he still cannot bring himself to tell his readers frankly to vote for Baldwin. Indeed, the performances of the trustified press have been the one joyous feature of an unnecessary, confused and dangerous election.

How dangerous it may be gathered from the stream of continental observers arriving in London the last few days. It is as though Europe were holding its throat until it knows whether in the near future Great Britain will be a calculable quantity in international politics or not. The majority of these foreign inquiries assume that Baldwin will be sufficiently victorious to pursue a policy of agreement with France and the promotion of the settlement of Europe. The suggestion that the election will possibly entail a change of government fills them with apprehension, mitigated only by the hope that Viscount Grey of Falloden might then be the Foreign Secretary. The defeat of Baldwin on any serious displacement of the centre of political gravity in England might indeed affect the precarious stability of the European situation in a dozen ways.

This was clear from the beginning. The mystery of why Baldwin nevertheless plunged the country into an election has been harder than ever to solve since the unlikelihood of his getting a definite mandate to introduce Protection became clear even in the eyes of his immediate supporters. Collectively, the election will cost the candidates approximately $2,000,000. The cost to the country will be far greater. If the only result is to exchange the relatively settled position of the parties for a period of unsettlement, necessitating a series of general elections, the disatisfaction will be wide and deep.

But in truth all the political prophets and judges of public feeling are working in the dark. No precedent exists to guide them. The nearest analogy to this campaign was the election in the winter of 1905, when the Conservatives believed themselves to be winning, but were swept away by a wave of feeling that put the Liberals in power and kept theme there for ten years. Nobody knows the political temper of the new electorate. Last year's election gave no real clue, while the election turned entirely on the war and was influenced by the desire of the electorate to reward its faithful and valiant public men and punish the faithless of lukewarm. If it were known what meaning the rank and file of the electors attach to words like Protection and Free Trade, it would make it easier to prognosticate the result. To former political generations these words were symbols evoking almost religious fervour. Now hardly one voter in a thousand has ever heard of Cobden or been told of his fight for the abolition of the corn laws in the middle of last century. Public men are in the presence of a problem of new dimensions, if not of new quality. Not only is the electorate huger than ever before but far better educated and perhaps more intelligent than of old. Hence the impossibility of gauging public tendencies until to-night and to-morrow, when the ballot boxes will yield up their secrets.

PRICES LOW IN TURKEY MARKET

Buyers Offer 26c Dressed at King's Wharf — Farmers Needed Rain.

KING'S WHARF, Dec. 5.—Farmers are greatly disappointed in the turkey market. Last week the buyers were paying 28c. alive and now they won't buy them alive at any price and are only paying 26c. dressed. There are a number of flocks around here and the slump in prices was not expected. The price for geese and other fowl is unchanged. Geese are 18c. alive, ducks 14c. and chickens from 12c. to 16c. alive. Eggs are very scarce and are selling at 40c., while butter is plentiful at 35c.

Trucks Off Routes

The two cream trucks, Southworth's from Omemee and Flavelle's from Lindsay, who have been going through here all summer, have quit for this season, as all the people have quit milking owing to the shortage of water.

Threshers Are Through

The Pigeon River Syndicate threshing outfit and the Curtin Bros. have all finished threshing for the season and pulled their outfits home. It was a very good season and the crops were good but the prices are very low.

Welcomed the Rain

The rain was very welcome coming as it did and all the people were glad as most of them had to drive their stock to the lake for water. More is badly needed also as there is not nearly enough water yet.

The farmers have started plowing again since the fine weather came and we hope it will continue as the stock is all on the ranches yet and as long as the fine weather continues it is a great saving on feed.

The cattle buyers are numerous this last week around here and prices are looking up for a time the people thought they would have to keep their cattle over winter. However, the cattle around here are nearly all sold now.

BAD BLOOD PIMPLES AND BOILES

Banished By Burdock Blood Bitters

Miss Irene A. Matthews, Stayner, Ont., writes:—"I thought I would write and tell you of the experience and benefit I have derived from Burdock Blood Bitters.

Some few months ago I was troubled with bad blood which broke out on my face in the nature of pimples, boils and ring-worm, and I got so bad I really did not know what to do.

I was ashamed to go anywhere, and the itching and burning caused such a terrible sensation I could get no relief day or night.

One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I used one bottle and felt quite a relief, and by the time I had taken 3 bottles I was completely relieved.

I cannot praise B.B.B. enough and I hope anyone afflicted like I was will get the same benefit I received."

PRESENTATION TO MEMBERS OF CHOIR

Mrs. Leo Harrington and Mr. Albert Carroll, of Downeyville, Honored.

DOWNEYVILLE, Dec. 5.—On Friday evening the members of St. Luke's choir met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Harrington (nee Mary Milloy) and presented Mrs. Harrington with a beautiful mantle clock as a token of esteem from the choir of which she has been a member and also they presented Albert Carroll, another member who was recently married, with a smoking set. The weather was very unfavorable and and not as many were present who might have been had the weather been fine. However about thirty attended and an enjoyable time was spent in music, singing, card-playing and dancing. A delightful lunch was served by the hostess. Afterwards all went home wishing Mr. and Mrs. Harrington a long and happy wedded life.

Women's League

The Catholic Women's League of Downeyville held their annual meeting in the Parish Hall Monday evening for the purpose of electing officers and closing the business for the last year. The retiring president, Miss Mae O'Donnell, opened the meeting with an address and the secretary, Mrs. John Perdue, read her report, and the treasurer, Miss Reda Clancy. Mrs. Edward Costello reported from the convention at Cobourg. The election of officers followed: President, Mrs. Joseph Scully; 1st vice-president, Miss B. A. Morrissey; 2nd vice-president, Miss Rose Downey; 3rd vice-president, Miss Mary Piggott Rec. secretary, Mrs. W. C. Herlihey; Cor. secretary, Mrs. John McGuire; treasurer, Mrs. Geo. O'Donnell.

The meeting then closed by an address from the secretary.

Successful Social

A very successful social was held in the hall at Downeyville Thursday evening. Progressive euchre was played at about thirty tables and Hooper's orchestra, of Lindsay, furnished music during the evening. After the cards a lunch was served by the ladies and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

There was a large crowd in attendance from Raeboro, Lindsay, Omemee and Dunsford.

St. Luke's Bazaar

The annual bazaar of the Women's Guild of St. Luke's Anglican Church commenced a two-day session in the Market Hall yesterday, where the ladies are conducting a sale of useful and fancy articles, home-made cooking, ice cream and soft drinks, fish pond and fortune-telling booth, with afternoon tea and supper later. A large enclosure is reserved for dancing, which takes place in the evening. Mrs. H. Butcher is the present head of the Women's Guild, and Mrs. G. J. Bousfield is general convenor of bazaar arrangements.

The booths are arranged about the side walls of the big Market Hall, leaving the centre free for patrons and dancers. The supper tables are at the right of the entrance, flanked by a small space for afternoon tea service. Large flags drape the windows, and a fringe of overhead pennants marks the tables, decorated with plants in bright red holders. In charge of the supper and afternoon tea tables are Mrs. Geo. Curtis and Miss M. Calcutt.

The booths are prettily decorated and contain every variety of pretty and useful things for Christmas gifts. The dolls, a good selection of rag and bisque and porcelain beauties, include all sorts, from the aristocratic lady who goes to sleep instantly to the rag baby and the brown hula dancer with a shredded wheat skirt and a black yarn wig. Little grey elephants and dolls' clothes accompany their owners at this table, which is arranged in red and yellow on a white lattice work, and is in charge of Mrs. H. Perry and Miss Leah Rogers.

Next door is a red-arched booth, fringed with yellow, and trimmed with deep red poinsettias. This is the candy booth, where home-made confections peep out of deep red paper roses and pink buds. Miss A. Nicholl has charge here.

Mrs. J. Butcher has the large square enclosure, done in stripes of black and white, where quilts, aprons and underwear are sold, and Mrs. T. H. Adams is in charge of the fancy goods sale, a counter trimmed with red and green paper and holly wreaths over a pretty trellis. Children's embroidered dresses, woollen goods and dainty linens are on view.

The "white elephant" booth, with its dainty trimmings of green and white, is the "old curiosity shop" of the bazaar, where many novel things may be purchased, including a child's perambulator, a double bird-cage, a filagree silver photo frame, and many other odds and ends. Mrs. F. Whitehouse supervises this sale.

Mrs. C. Butcher has the sale of home-made cooking, preserves and delicacies, decorated in red and white, where a toothsome-looking three-tier Christmas cake occupies the place of honor, surrounded by home-made cakes, cookies and bottled fruits.

The A.Y.P.A. of St. Luke's Church has a corner booth in blue and white, where they sell ice cream, soft drinks and chocolate. Heber Rogers is president of this society, assisted by Gordon Manjece and Victor Sedgewick.

Another corner section is the fish pond, in charge of Mrs. J. R. Scott, and there is a decorative-looking red and white striped tent, where fortunes are told by ladies in quaint gypsy costume. Miss Zoe Doyle is convenor of this section, assisted by Mrs. C. G. Graham, Mrs. R. H. Turner and Miss E. Nichol.

"BLACK OXEN"

by GERTRUDE ATHERTON

Published by arrangement with Associated First National Pictures, Inc. Watch for the screen version produced by Frank Lloyd with Corinne Griffith as Countess Zattiany.

When he arrived at the house he was shown into the drawing-room. He had never seen it before and he glanced about him with some curiosity. It was a period room. Louis Quinze. The furniture looked as if made of solid gold and Madame Du Barry herself might have sat on the dainty brocades. The general effect was airy and graceful, gay, frivolous, and subtly vicious. (An emanation to which the chaste Victorian had been impervious.) He understood why Madame Zattiany did not use it. She might be subtly anything, but assuredly she was neither airy nor frivolous.

Then he realized that there was a painting of a girl over the mantel and that the girl was Mary Ogden. He stepped forward eagerly, almost holding his breath. The portrait ended at the tiny waist, and the stiff satin of the cuirass-like bodice was softened with tulle which seemed to float about the sloping shoulders. The soft ashen hair, growing in a deep point on the broad, full brow, was brushed softly back and coiled low on the long, white neck. The mouth was soft and pouting, with a humorous quirk at the corners, and the large, dark gray eyes were full of a mocking light that seemed directed straight into the depths of his puzzled brain as he stood gazing at that presentment of a once potent and long vanished beauty. . . . Extraordinarily like and yet so extraordinarily unlike! But the resemblance may have well been exact when Mary Zattiany was twenty. How had Mary Ogden looked at thirty? That very lift of the strong chin, that long arch of nostril . . . something began to beat in the back of his brain. . . .

"What a beauty poor Mary must have been, no?"

He turned and forgot the portrait. Madame Zattiany wore a gown of that subtle but unmistakable green that no light can turn blue; thin shimmering velvet to the knees, melting into satin embroidered with silver and veiled with tulle. On her head was a small diamond tiara and her breast was a blaze of emeralds and diamonds. She carried a large fan of green feathers.

He had believed he had measured the extent of her beauty, but the crown gave her a new radiance—and she looked as attainable as a queen on her throne.

He went forward and raised her hand to his lips. "I insist," he said gallantly. "Anything else would be out of the picture. I need not tell you how wonderful you look—nor that after tonight you will hardly remain obscure!"

"Why do things halfway? It has never been my method. And Mary told me once that Nile-green had been her favorite color until she lost her complexion. So—as I am to exhibit myself in a box—enfin! . . . Besides, I wanted to go." She smiled charmingly. "It was most kind of you to think of me."

"Would that all 'kind' acts were as graciously rewarded. I shall be insufferably conceited for the rest of my life—only it is doubtful if I shall be seen at all. Shall we go?"

When they arrived at Sherry's they found the large restaurant almost deserted. It was barely seven. After he had ordered the dinner—and he thanked his stars that he knew how to order a dinner—she said casually:

"I had a call from your friend, Miss Dwight, today."

"Yes? You did not see her, I suppose?"

"Oh, but I did. We talked for two hours. It was almost comical—the sheer delight in talking to a woman once more. I have never been what is called a woman's woman, but I always had my friends, and I suddenly realized that I had missed my own sex."

"I shouldn't fancy that you two would have much in common."

"You forget that we were both nurses. We compared experiences: methods of nursing, operations, doctors, surgeons, shell shock, plastic surgery, the various characteristics of wounded men—all the rest of it."

"It must have been an exciting conversation."

"You never could be brought to believe it, but it was. Afterward, we talked of other things. She seems to me quite a remarkable woman."

"Entirely so. What is it she lacks that prevents men from falling in love with her? Men flock there, and she is more discussed as a mind and a personality than any women among us; but it is all above the collar. And yet those handsome-ugly women often captivate men."

"You ask one woman why another cannot fascinate men! I should say that it is for want of transmission. The heart and passion are there—I will risk guessing that she has been tragically in love at least once—but there is something wrong with the conduit that carries sexual magnetism; it has been bent upward to the brain instead of directed straight to the sex for which it was designed. Moreover, she is too coldly and obviously analytical and lacks the tact to conceal it. Men do not mind being skewered when they are out for purely intellectual enjoyment, but they do not love it."

Clavering laughed. "I fancy your own mind is quite as coldly analytical, but nature took care of your conduits and you see to the tact. You cannot teach Gora how to redistribute her magnetism, but you might give her a few points.

"They would be wasted. It is merely that I am a woman of the world, something she will never be. And in my hey-day, I can assure you, I was not analytical."

"Your hey-day?"

"I was a good many years younger before the war, remember. Heavens! How rowdy those young people are! A month ago I should have asked if they were ladies and gentlemen, but I have been quite close to their kind in the tea rooms and their accent is unmistakable; although the girls talk and act like gamins. One of them seems to know you."

ELECTRIC CHAIR AWAITS TESTING.

Usually Five Applicants For Every Civic Position, But None For the Official Tester of Death Chair.

MANILA, Nov. 6.—(Associated Press).—Ordinarily there are five applicants for every Government job in the Philippine Islands, but one position that of necessity has been created is going begging. No one seems to want it. The duties of the position are to test the electric chair, which has arrived from the United States and which will be used to carry out death sentences. This form of capital punishment succeeds hanging, which has been prohibited by a law which went into effect recently.

There are four or five prisoners in Bilibid prison waiting to expiate their crimes with their lives.

One prospective applicant for the position of tester cross-examined the officials regarding the working of the chair. When informed there would be no danger if the chair is not in working order he promptly asked: "But what if the chair works?" When told what probably would happen he departed without filing his application.

Getting Too Fat? Try This---Reduce

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets, and follow directions. One dollar is the price the world over. Get them from your own druggist or send price direct to the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward ave., Detroit, Mich. By doing this you will be safe from harmful drugs and be able to reduce steadily and easily, without starvation diet or tiresome exercises.

LET VAST WEALTH ESCAPE.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—(Associated Press).—The man responsible for the opening of the Kimberley diamond fields, in South Africa, sold the fields for $2,500, believing them exhausted after having removed several thousand stones. The fields have yielded diamonds ever since and had Edwin William Streeter, who died here recently at the age of 89, retained his property he would have been one of the richest men in the world.

COULDN'T SLEEP HEART WAS BAD NERVES A WRECK

Mr. H. A. Reid, Upper Musquodoboit, N.S., writes:—"I am very thankful fro the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

When I came home from overseas, in 1920, my heart was very badly affected by concussion, and my nerves were a dreadful wreck. I was very short winded, and could not possibly sleep at night, in fact, I was in such a condition I felt as if I did not wish anyone to speak to me. I thought I would try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before I had taken two boxes I could enjoy a good night's rest as well as anyone.

There are lots of returned men who are suffering the same as I did, and I feel sure that if they would only try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills they will receive the same relief that I have."

MOVING MONEY HAS ITS DANGERS

VIENNA, Dec. 6.—(Associated Press).—Travellers through central and eastern Europe report a general sharpening up of the effort to prevent illicit transport of money in and out of all these states. The frontier revisions have grown more strict, increasing the general embarrassment of travel due to all sorts of restrictions.

At Soubotitza, the Serbian revision station on the Hungarian frontier, it is reported that $100,000 was found recently on one passenger. It was confiscated. Under the Serbian regulations the finder gets one-half.

DRANK U.S HOOCH AND PARADED NUDE

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 6. —(United Press).—Spring is here, and its effects are sometimes astonishing. A man surprised the people waiting for trains at the Central Argentine Railway Retiro station by rushing along the platform in a state of complete nudity.

Perhaps the fact that a few policemen and porters pursued him had something to do with the hurriedness of his gait, but in spite of his rapidity, not a few ladies were scandalized.

When the man was finally captured, he protested that a friend just come from the United States, had let him have a sample of drink brewed under the prohibition statutes and that spring was here anyway, and clothes were quite excessive, since it was no longer cold.

Despite his protests, a burly policeman wrapped him in his coat and an old lady contributed her black cloak to cover the wild man, who said that his name was Adam.

Trains were fifteen minutes late.

STAY AWAY FROM HERE.

LAHORE, Afghanistan, December 6.—Some Americans think their Prohibition laws are about the toughest thing in the world. But they would change their minds if forced to observe Afghanistan's.

A soldier, who had sipped a bit too much here recently, was fined $145.00, lashed 80 times, and paraded through the streets as an example to others who might fall by the wayside, as he did.

UNABLE TO SLEEP—DEPRESSED AND NERVOUS

Quickly Relieved by Wincarnis

"For several years I had been in a weak and run-down condition. I had frequent fainting spells which always left me almost completely exhausted. I suffered so with nervousness that the least little thing would make me jump and it got to be almost impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. I would get terrible fits of depression which would last for days. I had taken doctors' medicines and tonics without number, but nothing seemed to do me much good.

I saw Wincarnis advertised and decided to try a bottle. In an incredibly short time I got back my strength, my nervousness disappeared and I could sleep as peacefully as a child. I really believe Wincarnis is the greatest of all tonics.

POLAND IMPROVES ITS RAILROADS

WARSAW, Dec. 6.—(Associated Press).—Poland today has a railroad organization of its own, created since the war, and made up of three old systems, the Russian, the Austrian and the German. Colonel A. B. Barber, an American, has been the technical adviser of the Government in this work, which has presented many difficulties.

The financial burden is still heavy, and there is a deficit. Some people suggest private ownership, but to this the Government is opposed. It will at once reduce the number of employes and increase rates.

The New Ford Coupe

An entirely new body design of remarkable beauty as well as practical utility, is the distinguishing feature of the new Ford Coupe.

The body lines follow in one graceful sweep from the new high radiator to the "Turtle-back" curve of the rear deck, which has been enlarged to conveniently accommodate bulky grips and packages.

Upholstering is luxuriously deep both in the seat and back, the covering being of rich brown broadcloth with mahogany stripe. A recess shelf is provided behind the seat, for parcels.

Interior fittings include revolving window regulators, and door locks and handles finished in nickel. The large rear window is fitted with silk poplin shade in dull silvered mountings.

The windshield is surmounted by a broad sun-visor, which protects the eyes from glare.

As a handsome and practical all-weather car for town or country, the new Ford Coupe cannot be surpassed.

LETTERS ON POLICE CAR UPKEEP

To Editor Examiner:—

I am not desirous to get into a newspaper controversy or to get my name unnecessarily in your paper. I might say this is my first time to write a letter to your paper other than an address in the election, and would respectfully ask you to allow me space for a few lines.

In your issue of yesterday my name was one that was mentioned in connection with a contradiction by Chief Newhall of figures published last week as expenditures on the police car. I am not familiar with the system of book-keeping in effect in the Treasurer's office—that is, I cannot say if separate accounts are kept for "Repairs"—(overhauling), tires, tubes, batteries, auto top and curtains, chains, license, motor league, oil, grease, gas, lamps, rentals, car hire, etc., etc. Nor do I know of there is a separate account for "Education Fees."

But I will say the following figures for 1922 were handed to me by F. Adams, City Treasurer, a very reliable officer, and I believe them to be correct. The figures for 1923 have not been as yet audited, but I have confidence enough in Mr. Adams figures to quote them. And for information to citizens as to expenditures on the car, I am asking you to please publish both 1922 and 1923 figures as well as some other figures that should interest the citizens.

Below are a few items that do not appear in 1922 or 1923 accounts, being accounts contracted in 1922 and paid in 1923.

I have taken the stand that expenditures have been too great, whether the Chief calls them repairs, oil or gas—or Education accounts.

I will stand by these figures as the expenditure on car, etc., and will make the proposition to Chief Newhall on the strength of figures printed today.

I will ask Mayor Taylor to call a special meeting of Council, and I will tender my resignation as Alderman if he will tender his resignation as Chief of Police, and I will allow my name to be on this year's ballot if he will allow a question to go on the ballot as to whether the citizens want him or me back in our respective office.

I am not trying to withdraw any statement I've made in connection with expenditures on the car, nor am I trying to make expenditures more. This is reason for asking publication of all figures and explanation. If the citizens want to allow Chief Newhall to draw his own conclusions as to how the Treasurer should keep his accounts, and if they are not kept under separate headings to suit him, I would suggest he see Mr. Adams as he is one of our most approachable officials, and discuss the matter with him. The past Councils have been satisfied and why should Chief of Police or I dissect accounts as we choose.

The people are the judges and jury and court and public opinion, and if I have quoted wrong figures I will cheerfully accept their verdict.

I will be pleased to meet the Chief and make an agreeable arrangement if satisfactory to the Mayor, Council and Police Commission and to ourselves, and promise herein I will not walk by him and not return his salute as he did to me oh Tuesday afternoon on George St.

M. J. MAHER.

In reference to appended bill certified to by Chief Constable, he apparently lays great strain on word over hauling. Were you to accept his definition of overhauling and deduct $85.00 for painting car, from his his certified bill you have $506.63. Why does he not deduct—3 items of oil $2.00, $3.25 and $1.35, leather and rubbers? If above are deducted, he is wrong If added to and I believe they are expenditures he is wrong in his figures.

Received Payment July 4, 1923.—White & Ackford, (per L.)

Ald. J. Crowe's Statement.

Now, Mr. Chief Newhall, I do not dispute the White & Ackford account. But I am taking in all the repair accounts on the car for the year 1923 rendered and paid up to the time that you gave evidence in court, viz.:

The question was asked by Mr. G. N. Gordon:

"A.—No; not a joy-riding machine at all, and the repairs on the car didn't amount to over $600.00."

For comparison in gasoline accounts, not included:

Charged to police car, 1320 gallons, cost $389.15½ for eleven months of 1923.

Gasoline for Fire Department for the same period, $156.06.

JOSEPH CROWE.

A CITIZEN'S LETTER

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—After reading the various speeches of the City Councillors on Monday night's meeting, I was amazed to note the publicity this city is receiving at the hands of a few men, surely to refuse and ignore their City Solicitor's advice and particularly one Alderman ignoring the wisdom of a learned barrister's letter is to say the least, impertinent They may well say, supposing the guardians of the law were to quit, what will we do, that question was not long being clearly answered by Chief Newhall and his loyal staff, who said the citizen's will not be left unprotected, even if the Council are doing everything to disorganize us, they could if it were not unwise to enter into a controversy, have said a great deal more, but wise men hold their counsel. How long is this farce going to last and who is going to pay the ever mounting and expensive costs incurred by all this nonsense.

The amount the Council unwisely slashed (not pruned) from the police estimates will not begin to pay for their folly and could have been spent to much better advantage.

Yours Sincerely,

A much disgusted ratepayer.

WAGON DAMAGED BY AUTOMOBILE

Accident to Wilbert Jones Last Evening

Wilbert Jones suffered a dislocated shoulder yesterday evening when he was dragged from his seat in a delivery waggon which was struck by an auto on McDonnel street. His waggon was damaged to some extent, and the auto suffered slight damages.

Jones, who resides at 282 Romaine street, and is employed by Stevens and Co., 186 George street, was driving his waggon east on McDonnel street between the Collegiate Institute and George street, when the accident occurred at 6.15. The car, owned by Gerald Dunsford and driven by Matoucho Ronco, of 544 Dongegal street, was proceeding west, and struck the waggon about the front wheel.

The horse was freed from the waggon by the shock, and in bolting it dragged Jones to the roadway, dislocating his shoulder.

Ronco said Jones was driving near the centre of the road, but admitted he himself was not keeping his position near the sidewalk on his side. He was not travelling over ten miles an hour, he said, and was corroborated in this by Jones.

Jones claims he was driving as close as he could to the sidewalk on the proper side of the roadway in an attempt to keep clear of the auto.

The horse was caught by Thomas Dawson at the corner of McDonnel and George streets.

MANY NATIONS INTERVENE IN CHINESE RAID

British, French, Japanese and American Vessels Rushed to Canton to Prevent Capture of Custom House by Sun Yat Sen.

LANDING EFFECTED

(By Ray Marshall.)

PEKIN, December 6 (United Press). — French and British intervened to-day to prevent Sun Yat Sen, the former dictator of South China, who now is warring against the Government of the North, from seizing the Custom House at Canton.

The Southern general had announced his intention of taking over the Customs, which are under foreign control, although the money is paid to the Northern Government.

British marines joined a French landing party, which fortified the Customs Building, it is reported, and other foreign gunboats stood by, supporting the landing.

When visited by the British commander-in-chief and the French admiral, Sun Yat Sen is quoted as promising non-interference. "If the measures you take are sufficient to prevent me."

Many Nations on Watch.

Parties of marines from foreign gunboats anchored off Canton are reported to have taken possession of the Custom House there, and troops are said to be equipped with machine guns, says a despatch from Hong Kong.

Six foreign gunboats are known to be anchored off Shameen. They include two American vessels, Asheville and Pamphanga, the British ships Cicala and Moorhen, and the French gunboats Maliciense and Craonne.

The British flotilla has also been strengthened by the arrival of the gunboats Magnolia with Admiral Deveson aboard, and Tarantula, according to later advices received here.

The Japanese gunboat Matsu and the destroyer Sugi also have arrived at Canton, advices state.

BURNED SKELETON FOUND IN COTTAGE

Edward Sailstad Was Arrested on a Charge of Arson by Request of the Superior Wisconsin Authorities Yesterday.

NAPA, Cal., December 6 (Canadian Press). — Three years after being burned, the skeleton was found in his summer cottage at Lake Nebagammon, Wisconsin, and identified and buried as his, Edward Sailstad, former president of Eau Claire, Wis., Phonograph Manufacturing Company, was arrested near here yesterday at the request of the Superior, Wisconsin, authorities on the charge of arson.

With him was Dorothy Anderson, of Chicago, his stenographer, who was held for further questioning.

Sailstad confessed, according to Thomas C. Anglim, District Attorney, that he had robbed the grave of Allen McFee, placed the body in the cottage, fired the structure, and fled with Miss Anderson.

It was to solve financial difficulties which had beset him, as head of the Phonograph Company, as well as to cover his flight with the stenographer, with whom he was in love.

JAMES J. COOPER TOOK A DOSE OF CARBOLIC ACID

A Verdict of Suicide Was Returned Last Night by Coroner's Jury.

BROCKVILLE, Dec. 6.—A verdict of suicide by carbolic acid poisoning was last night returned by the coroner's jury investigating the death of James J. Cooper, aged 64, whose body was found underneath a loading platform adjoining the Whyte Packing Company plant, last Thursday. Evidence was offered to show that Cooper had been much depressed because of ill-health and that he frequently expressed a wish "to be out of the world."

FRANCE IS READY TO SAY NO AGAIN

No Priority Right Over Reparations Payments

PARIS, Dec 6.—(United Press.)—Even before the request was received, France is ready with a firm "no" to the suggestion that Germany be permitted to raise a bond loan with which to buy her winter food. The proposals would involve priority over reparations and while Great Britain is understood to favor it, the French and Belgians do not. If the United States wishes to grant such a loan to Germany—the sum of $70,000,000 has been proposed—sequestered German property might be used as security, the French say, but France will not permit any further priorities over reparations such as would be involved if German bonds were floated in England and in the United States. Unanimous consent of the Reparations Commission is necessary before Germany may offer bonds abroad.

Financial News and Views

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — | New York Stock Exchange — and Curb Prices —

Today's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, December 6th. — United Press. — The business news which appeared over night was highly constructive, setting forth a sharp decline in crude oil output and a pronounced gain in the sales of chain store companies, like Kresge and Woolworth.

With Congress organized on a satisfactory basis, stocks began to discount the constructive message expected at noon from President Coolidge and a buoyant tone was evidenced in the early dealings. Tobacco products was an outstanding feature of the industrial specialists soaring to a new high on the movement at 71 on heavy sales. Stocks continued to display marked buoyancy through the first hour. Extraordinary activity was maintained in the low priced rails and further substantial gains were scored by Erie, St. Louis South Western, Southern Railway and M. K. and T. Among the industrials, specialties were still favored, Manhattan Shirt spurted five points, in response to reports that the dividend would be increased to $4 from the present $3 rate. Manhattan's business is running at a record and the plants are well sold ahead. Earnings this year are expected to be around $8 a common share.

No let-up occurred in the demand for stocks in the late morning, and bullish demonstrations went ahead in every part of the list. Columbia gas went into new high ground on the movement at 34 3-4, reflecting completion of forced liquidation of some middle western holdings.

Motors were a strong group, Mack Trucks, Studebaker and Chandler reaching best levels of the current up-swing.

MR. J. H. BURNHAM ON HALIFAX ELECTIONS

Objects to Government Ownership Policy of Mr. Meighen.

Commenting on the result of the Halifax bye-election today which resulted in the election of the Conservative candidate by a large majority Mr. J. S. Burnham, said "It seems to me that the issue was simply that of whether the maritime provinces would have production for the benefit of the young men or send these young men wherever the goods are produced, which is the United States. This desolation of the maritime provinces simply means they will have to have a higher tariff. But this Mr. Meighen has a policy of government ownership which would mean that the manufacturer, if he ever got the reins of power, or any other section of the nation, would have the rest of the country at its mercy. Government ownership is not tariff protection."

AND HEAVY ONE, TOO!

His wife had a cold, and could not go to church. But she insisted that he should go in her place. "Well," she inquired on his return, "and what was the burden of the vicar's sermon?" He sat down with a weary sigh. "All of it, my dear," he said. —London Daily Express.

CHEER UP!

Why double other people's woes by looking grim and grey?
Let's whistle up a hope or two to chase the fears away!

Say—what's the use of envying the feasts we haven't got?
Let's count the currants in our buns 'twill cheer us up a bit.

We won't talk glibly, dismally, of trouble, grief, and loss—
We'll chat of blessings, thankfully, and hide each petty cross.

For don't we know—of course we do—life must have tracks of care?
But still it has some sunny smiles—thank God that they are there!

—Lillian Gard in Tit-Bits.

ALL TEACHER'S FAULT.

A schoolboy who had brought home excellent weekly reports at the beginning of last term, returned with unsatisfactory reports toward the end.

"How is it you are not doing so well?" asked his father anxiously.

"It's teacher's fault," was the reply. "He's moved the boy that sat next to me." — People's Home Journal.

DECORATIONS ARE VERY DANGEROUS

Constant Vigilance and Care Must Be Exercised to Prevent Fires at This Period of the Year.

Fire Chief Gimblett has received the following warning from the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association:

Following our usual custom of pointing out these dangers at this season of the year, from Christmas decorations such as draperies, scenery, cotton to represent snow, etc., which are very inflammable. To prevent any danger these decorations should be soaked in commercial ammonia phosphate, which will offer considerable resistance to fire until again washed. This mixture gives the best results when one pound of phosphate is mixed with a gallon of water.

If this is not practicable, a few simple rules can be followed:

See that inflammable material is clear of and not hung over heating and lighting devices.

See that your electrical circuits are properly fused and not overloaded by the addition of temporary lights.

Examine your fire extinguishing devices and see that they are in proper order.

See that all exits are plainly marked and not obstructed.

'PRO' COACHES NOT BARRED FROM O.H.A.

But Must Not Enter the Players' Box in Junior and Intermediate Games

NORTH BAY, Dec. 5.—Secretary Charlton, of the N.O.H.A. this norning denied the report from Sudbury that the O.H.A. ruling barring professional coaches would hit N.O. H.A. teams The pro coach problem was threshed out at the annual meeting of the Northern Ontario League ast month and a resolution barring them from the players' box in the enior series was defeated, as well as a resolution permitting them to enter the box in the Junior and Intermediate series. As it stands at present any N.O.H.A. team may have a professional coach, but in the unior and intermediate series he is not allowed to enter the players' box during the progress of a game. It is entirely probable that the O. H. A. ruling will be adopted at the next annual meeting but until it is so adopted it will not affect the N.O.H. A. Such a ruling can only be adopted at an annual meeting of the Association.

Of the 36 races run to date, Parke has ridden in 33. He has piloted 18 winners, placed four, ran third in three, and was unplaced in eight.

Softball Final Saturday Night

The softball playoff between the Belmont Club and De Laval teams will wind up an interesting season at the Armouries on Saturday night at 7.30 o'clock, and not Friday as previously arranged.

The finals have been forced into a three-game series by each team winning one final, and judging by the crowds that turned out for these games the armoury parade hall will be packed Saturday night.

BICYCLE RACER QUITS THE GAME

Jake Magin, 36, Forced By Heart Trouble Out of Six-Day Grind.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.— Jake Magin, of Irvington, N.J., professional bicycle racing star for more than fifteen years, has pedalled his last six-day race.

The veteran yesterday was forced out of the thirty-fifth international six-day grind at Madison Square Garden as a result of heart trouble and to-day physicians asserted he never again would be able to withstand the gruelling pace of another campaign.

Magin made his first appearance in a six-day race in 1910. He has been victorious five times, twice with Alfred Goulet, and once with Reggie McNamara at Madison Square Garden, and twice at Chicago with Eddie Madden as his partner.

In the six-day race last March Magin sustained injuries that kept him out of competition for months when he rode over the high bank of the Garden saucer.

Magin was born in Philadelphia. He is 36 years old.

BASEBALL MOGULS MEET NEXT WEEK

Already Mobilizing For Annual Meetings Beginning Monday.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6. — Baseball forces of the nation started mobilizing here last night to clear the decks for the important meeting starting next Monday and continuing through the week.

President Ban Johnson of the American League definitely disposed of the possibility of an argument between himself and Commissioner Landis when he announced that the American League would meet December 11, one day in advance of the provision of the constitution.

Commissioner Landis had summoned the owners of the major league clubs to meet here December 12, in joint session. The American League constitution made it mandatory on President Johnson to call his own meeting on this day, but he moved it forward in order to avoid a clash in dates.

However, the American League club owners will go into session on December 11, in order to carry out the constitutional demand.. The American League club owners will meet with President Johnson next Monday, to formulate the League's policy for the joint meeting.

The schedule for the 1924 season will be among the questions to be considered by the American League Club owners. President Johnson favors a schedule of 154 games, starting the season about the same date as last year's.

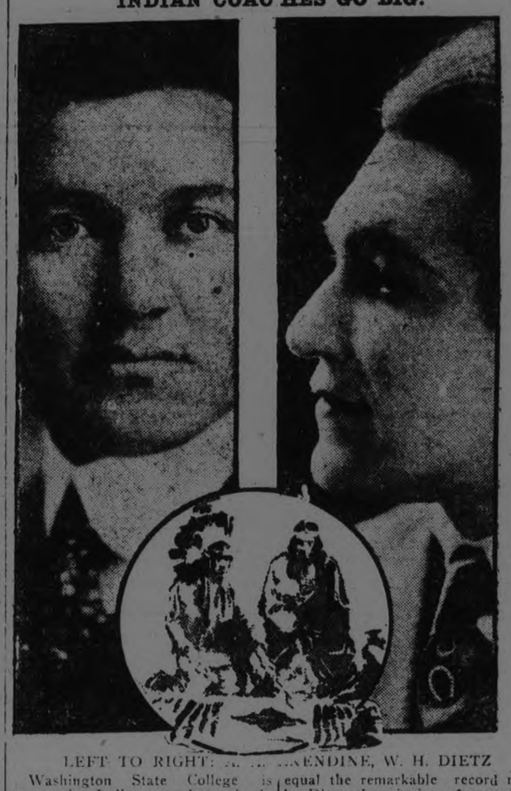
INDIAN COACHES GO BIG.



LEFT TO RIGHT: ... EXENDINE, W. H. DIETZ

Washington State College is strong for Indian coaches. A. A. Exendine, an All-America end in his playing days and for the past nine years coach at Georgetown University, is directing the destinies of the Cougars this year.

The regime of Carlisle Indian coaches at Washington States dates back to 1915. W. H. "Lonestar" Dietz was the first Indian to come west and place Washington State on the football map.

Then came G. A. Welch ,a Carlisle quarterback and a teammate of Jim Thorpe. While Welch did not equal the remarkable record made by Dietz, the winning of 17 and the losing of only two games, he was fairly successful. The 1922 season with only two victories in seven games marred Welch's record. He had a green team to work with that year.

While Dietz and Welch have left finer records to shoot at, Washington State is hopeful that Exendine will prove the greatest of the trio. Washington State is strong for the Glenn Warner system of coaching—Dietz, Welch and Exendine all were under his direction at Carlisle.

BOWLING

LATS NIGHT'S BOWLING AT WATER STREET ALLEYS

There was plenty of bowling at the Water Street Alleys last night, four different leagues being in action.

In the Bell Telephone Intershop League the Hot Shots took three straight from the Radios. Good scores were rolled in these games. A. Jory was the high man for the evening with 530 for three games, while H. Lush had the high single of 218.

In the City Ten Pine League, the Quakers won two from the Belmont. Good scores were rolled by both teams, Brooks of the Quakers turning in a score of 563 for his three games. Moore of the Belmonts had the high single of 223.

The C.G.E. office staff have formed a new ten pin league and went into action last night for the first time. They possess some fine bowlers and their league should be a big success. In their games last night the Production took three from the Draughtsmen. Walter Jackson was high man for the three games with 506, and also had the high single of 202.

In the Examiner Intershop league eight teams were in action. Leonard Hayward of the Linos was the high man of the evening with a remarkably fine score of 600 for three games. He also had the high single of 270, this score being only one pin behind the high single score for this league. It is interesting to note that H McCauley's Linos broke their own record for a high single game when they rolled up a score of 717, which is said to be a record for the alleys for a four man team. His team also rolled a high score of 2049 for the three games.

SIKI MIXES UP THE FIGHT GAME

No Champion Recognized In Light Heavyweight Class By Boxing Union.

By HENRY L. FARRELL

NE WYORK, Dec. 6.—Instead of eliminating some of the more or less non-essentials that are hanging around on the edge of the group of selected heavyweights, the American invasion of Battling Siki threatens to only add one more to the list.

Siki perhaps will win as many fights as he will lose if he is steered on the way by a clever manager, but that only adds more testimonials to the fact that the heavyweight class is not carrying an overload of class.

While he hasn't the finish or the polish to get far—even among the second-class heavyweights, Siki may do himself some good among the light heavyweights, where he may outgame some of the first-class contenders.

The light heavyweight class is in a very bad way, so bad, in fact, that the International Boxing Union refused, at its last meeting, to recognize a champion of the class.

Siki beat Carpentier; McTigue beat Siki, and then had a bad fight with Battling Stribling down south. Gene Tunney is the American champion, and Harry Greb, present middleweight champion,is the former light heavyweight title holder. McTigue refuses to fight anyone, on the pretext of bad hands. Stribling is too young to fight in New York, and Kidd Norfolk, who beat Siki in his American debut, is too black to fight.

With Siki's kinky scalp hanging from his belt, Norfolk may get some of the confidence in himself that he lacks, and if he gets to believing in himself, he is as good as anyone in the class

If Americans had the opportunity of seeing Siki before he fought McTigue, the Senegalese would have had a lot of sympathizers and supporters here when he suggested that the assignment of "taking" an Irishman in Dublin on St. Patricks Day was too much for any colored man.

Denn Gearin, smallest pitcher in captivity, was voted $1,500 out of the Giant players' share of the world's series, and all he did in the series was a service of a minute or two as a pinch-runnner. Howard Gill, who pitched only one complete inning for the Reds during the whole season, was given a full share of the Reds second-place money by Commissioner Landis, and it amounted to $1,076.

Christy Mathewson didn't get that much when he pitched three shutouts against the Athletics in the 1905 world's series.

That may be high pay per minute for baseball, but it isn't enough money for a good tip, compared to the $310,000 a minute that Jack Dempsey got for beating Firpo.

Any statements made in the past by Luis Firpo and his handlers about the terrible treatment received in the fight with Jack Dempsey and those that are sure to come in the future should be passed without any consideration.

Firpo wants to fight Dempsey again, and don't think for a minute that Firpo doesn't realize that as long as he is in South America he hasn't the easy access to public print that he had when he was in this country.

The statement by Firpo's handlers that Dempsey hired six hecklers to annoy the South American during his training was absurd.

The only time that Firpo was heckled in Atlantic City was when he allowed a crowd of several hundred to pay their way into the training camp and then decided that the weather was too cold to work.

Dempsey wasted good money if he hired his hecklers to work on that occasion, because it was not needed.

Firpo was suspicious of Americans from the time he first came to this country, and it is apparent that he did not learn while he was here to trust a public that was certainly very kind and generous to him.

Combining a most thorough knowledge of his business, an extremely likeable personality and first-class executive ability, Lawson Robertson was a happy choice for the position of head coach of the American Olympic team.

Having competed as an athlete in the Olympic games and having served several times as an assistant coach, Robertson is familiar with all the phases of Olympic competition.

As head coach of the University of Pennsylvania track team, he knows the material that he will have to handle and he is further qualified by the experience of taking Penn teams several times to England for dual-meets with the Oxford-Cambridge athletes.

He has served for several years also as trainer of the Pennsylvania football team, a position that most track coaches serve on the side of the big colleges.

Loyola College Win From Ottawa Rideaus.

MONTREAL, Dec. 5. — Loyola College junior football team defeated Rideaus of Ottawa here this afternoon by 8 to 3 in the play-off following the tie between these teams last Saturday at Ottawa. On the league ruling Loyola will now play Toronto Canoe Club, junior winners of the Ontario section of the league here next Saturday in the Dominion finals.

The game was a tie at three all up to the fourth quarter, when Loyola scored a touchdown through Donovan.

19 Rugby Players Killed This Year

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Nineteen football players were fatally injured during the 1923 season, according to figures compiled last night by the Chicago Tribune. Of this number nine were high school players, five were from colleges and universities, and four were professional or independent players. Fractured skulls and injured backs caused a majority of the deaths. One player died of strangulation. He was chewing tobacco and strangled when he was tackled, dying on the field.

ARRANGE HOCKEY TOUR FOR QUEEN'S

Games Booked With Yale and Harvard Early in January.

KINGSTON, Dec. 6.—(Special to the Examiner)—It has been decided that members of Queen's Senior Hockey team will take a hockey trip across the border during the first week in January. The games will be played on January 4th and 5th and, providing other matches can be arranged the length of the trip will be readjusted. The Queen's team has booked game with Yale, Harvard, and the New Haven hockey clubs. All the players, with the exception of Gibson, who played on the senior team last season, are back in college and with Red Taylor and Chanter of St. Thomas and Legon of Peterboro who are spoken of as first class players, and a number of other freshmen, the University should have a first class team this winter.

The ice bed at the arena has been rolled and with the arrival of cold weather, the ice makers will start to make ice.

Giants and White Sox Talk European Tour.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The possibility of a European tour by the New York Giants and Chicago White Sox during the winter of 1924-25, has aroused interest in baseball circles.

Officials of the Giants to-day said they had taken no definite steps toward such a project, but it was pointed out that some significance might be attached to the idea through the presence abroad of John J. McGraw, manager of the National League champions.

The invasion of Europe by major league teams occurred ten years ago when the Giants and White Sox made their tour around the world.

PANCHO VILLA IN TAME BOUT

Leopard of Luzon Knocked Out Toronto Bantam in Fourth Round,

TORONTO, Dec. 6.— (Canadian Press)—Pancho Villa, the Leopard of Luzon, showed Canadians last night that he is in a class by himself as a heavyweight fighter, when he knocked out Donnie Mack, Toronto bantam, in the fourth round of a scheduled ten round bout at the Coliseum.

The first two rounds of the bout were very time, with Mack on the defensive and Villa sizing up his opponent. In the next round the flyweight champion opened up and brought Mack to his knees with a left hook. He staggered the Toronto boy with left and right hooks to the jaw as the bell ended the round and he seemed surprised when Mack did not collapse. Leaping from his corner at the beginning of the fourth Villa swung a terrific left to Mack's jaw, dropping him for a count of seven. As Mack regained his feet he was met with a bewildering body attack and was felled with a smashing left hook to the jaw which then knocked him senseless for five minutes.

It was Villa's first appearance in Canada and he made a fine impression on the crowd of 8,000 which witnessed the bout. Moe Herscovitch, Montreal welterweight, was introduced just before the Villa-Mack fight and it was announced he would meet Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion here on December 21

The referee gave Harry White, 131 pounds, Niagara Falls, N.Y., the decision over Frankie Mack, of Hartford, after six rounds, but the award was a poor one, as the Connecticut boy had a clear margin in four rounds.

Seven football players at the University of California recently buckled against a powerful tractor, actually pushing it back for a loss.

CROP REPORTS

The following is a summary of returns made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

There can be little excuse for unfinished fall plowing this season. The unusually open weather of the last three or four weeks has enabled farmers to do much plowing and other fall work. The land is yet in excellent condition for working.

Fall wheat as a rule is well topped, and looks ready to enter the winter in unusually vigorous condition.

Grey—Some are drawing wheat to market for taxes, but the majority are bringing their sweet clover out at $4 to $6 per bushel. It is maintaining well in price and even at rates quoted there is fair value in growing this soil renovating crop.

Elgin—Roots are practically all harvested, excepting an odd lot of sugar beets. The latter have been a very fair crop, running from 8 to 10 tons per acre. Farmers expect to net around $60 per acre.

Middlesex—Sugar beets have yielded about 8½ to 9 tons per acre, and a thousand tons have been shipped out during the last two weeks.

Waterloo—Turnips are selling at 20c. to 25c. per bushel for shipping purposes.

Kenora—From observations of the past three years one is lead to believe that this is a barley producing district. This crop has always given a good yield and a first-class sample with little or no injury from either rust, smut or frost. Early oats also have done well, but later varieties have been hit hard with rust, with an estimated loss to this crop alone of 20%. Peas do exceptionally well but are only grown by a very few farmers.

Peterboro—The water situation has been very critical here all fall. Yesterday's heavy rain should help to relieve this, particularly in the shallow wells. It is very doubtful, however, if there will be any improvement in the deep wells.

Bruce—According to Judges Fraser of Guelph, and McNeill of London, Walkerton poultry and Pet Stock Association has just held one of the most successful shows ever held in Ontario north of Guelph. There were approximately 600 entries, many of which would make very creditable entries either at Guelph or the Royal Winter Fair.

Lennox and Addington—Twelve cars of dressed poultry, containing approximately 170 tons were shipped from Napanee on Turkey Fair days, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The value of the poultry amounted to approximately $85,000. The prevailing market prices were as follows: Turkeys, 25c. per lb.; chickens, 16c. to 22c.; fowl, 12c. to 16c.; geese, 12c. to 18c.; duck, 15c. to 18c.

Prescott and Russell—Bees were put in winter quarters at the usual time, that is, during the second and third week of November. But due to very mild weather it has been difficult to keep down the temperature in the cellars, and a slight loss has occurred by bees flying out of their hives, and not finding their way back.

Nearly all the cheese factories have closed down so far as their special work is concerned, but a number of them are acting as cream-gathering stations.

Waterloo—There is a big demand for dairy cows at the present time. Grade cows are selling at sales as high as $135. The supply of milk is rather limited at the present time.

Middlesex—Dairy cattle bring various prices. Forty grade cows sold during the past week averaged $120. At some other sale the price is nearly $80. Forty-five purebred Jersey heifers were distributed during the past week at $100 to $150 each. These are going to several men who are just starting in the Jersey business.

North Simcoe—Very low prices are offered for live stock. Stockers bring as low as $2.50 per lb. Cows at a recent sale sold at $45 to $55 apiece. Young pigs weighting about 50 lbs. sold at $6.00 each.

South Simcoe—Comparatively heavy shipments of live stock were made from the various loading points in the county this week. $7.20 per cwt. was the price paid for hogs on the thick smooth basis, and as high as $10 per cwt. for lambs. The price of calves ranged all the way from $4 to $9 per cwt., too many of which would grade as heavies. Good milch cows brought $90 each. $5. per cwt. was the top price paid generally for butcher steers.

Hastings—All classes of live stock are in very good condition generally speaking. Grade milch cows are selling at from $50 to $90. There have been a large number of hogs marketed during the week, the price being the lowest for a long time at $7.75 per hundred.

Rainy River—Most of the good stock in Rainy River was shipped early. A few carloads are still being picked up, but they are bringing only from 3c. to 4c. per lb.

Prescott and Russell—A carload of good draft horses were sold this week at Navan on auction sale bases. They went for the average price of $120 each. One was paid as high as $230.

FASTEST TRANS-OCEANIC CABLE IS NOW IN USE

NEW YORK, N.Y. Dec. 6—(Canadian Press). — The largest and fastest transoceanic cable ever manufactured has just been put into service between New York and Paris by the Postal Telegraph Commercial Cable System. It is being operated between the systems New York Office, at 20 Broadway street and its Paris Office, at 24 Boulevard Des Capucines. According to Clarence H. Mackay, president of the system, this will supply virtually instantaneous communication between the two continents. First messages to be transmitted over the new cable were exchanged between Mr. Mackay and M. Millerand President of France. Being the largest long cable ever submerged, the operation of laying it presented difficulties which had not been previously experienced in work of this kind. Then in addition to the Normal difficulties usually attendant upon such a delicate undertaking, bad weather at sea was encountered which rendered the task ever more arduous.

REAL WESTERNER FILMS "VIRGINIAN"

Tom Forman, Former Cowboy, Achieves Ambition to Direct Wister Novel

Tom Forman, erstwhile Texas cowboy, realized a lifetime ambition when he completed the screening of Owen Wister's classic, "The Virginian," admittedly the greatest story ever written of the West, which comes to the Royal Theatre next Monday. Through a remarkable chain of circumstances every detail of the production was in the hands of men born and bred to the life led by the novelist's picturesque hero.

Beginning with Forman as director, the picture had the services of two other men familiar with the western cattle country. Louis D. Lighton, scenarist, was a cowpuncher at one time while Col. William Hawley, a personal friend of Wisters and the man who staked out Casper, Wyoming, where the novel was written, contributed historical accuracy to the picture.

Forman, who had the final decision in all matters pertaining to its production was born on a big Texas cattle ranch and was a full-fledged cowpuncher, working for his father, before he had reached the age of fifteen. In fact, Tom, when he wasn't going to the little prairie school-house in the long, cold winters, was riding his "string" with the best of Lone Star State riders, before he was twelve. At this age Owen Wister's novel was his text-book and the black-haired Virginian his beloved hero.

"I carried Wister's novel in my saddlebag when I was a kid and when the herds were quietly feeding laid on my stomach in the prairie grass, reading the book until I knew it by heart," said Forman.

AT THE CAPITOL.

MRS. WALLACE REID IN NOBLE WORK.

Crusades Against a Foe Many Times Stronger Than the Infidels of Old.

Why did Mrs. Wallace Reid leave her house of mourning for the glare of the studio spotlight?

Why has she broken the usual rule of widow's retirement, to re-enter moving pictures?

The answer is this: Because she, of all women has had brought more forcibly to her the need of a moral awakening—another great reformation—a twentieth century crusade against a foe many times stronger than the Infidel of old.

She has made a supreme effort to collect the broken threads of her life and piece them into one fabric—to carry on a noble work. To see her in her present aspect of crusader, one would say she was a Gibraltar of stocisim. Yet it is sheer grit and detremination that is keeping her sorrow-benumed faculties together.

Her devotion as a wife and mother, her talent as an actress, her conviction as a reformer—all these innate forces she has combined in building up the greates achievement of her career. In "Human Wreckage," the great picture sermon which she has completed with the aid of such prominent people as William J. Burns, Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles, Dr. R. B. von Kleinsmid, President of the University of Southern California, and Benjamin Bledsoe, United States Judge of the Twelfth Federal District, she has projected on the screen her conception of the problem which confronts the world.

"Human Wreckage", her great anti-narcotic picture is at the Capitol today, Friday and Saturday, is not the story of a weakling. It is the story of a man, big both in nature and stature; a man bitterly opposed to the illegal traffic in narcotics; a leader, in fact, in the ranks of those who strive to wipe this evil from the face of the earth. His downfall coming through overwork, as it does in so many cases of similar nature, he fights the same fight that others have fought before him—for health and recovery. It is to these silent fighters, who, in solitary places, wage war against the unseen Beast, that Mrs. Reid pays tribute in "Human Wreckage."

AT THE REGENT.

A photoplay that more than does justice to the splendid novel from which it is filmed is "The Mysterious Rider," Benjamin B. Hampton's photo-dramatization of the best seller by Zane Grey, the newest Hodkinson release, which is presented at the Regent Theatre to-day. A love story of compelling sweetness, powerful drama, mystery, suspense and intrigue; a sparkle of fun and humor throughout, and a great throbbingly human theme at the base of it all—those qualities sum up "The Mysterious Rider."

Seldom has a better group of artists been assembled for a single cast than in "The Mysterious Rider," and certainly that cast has never been excelled in point of fitness for the various story roles.

Claire Adams, who is fast making an enviable record for herself as an emotional actress, plays the girl, "Columbine," about whose mysterious parentage and whose love struggle the story builds itself. Robert McKim, one of the most polished, subtle and powerful actors of either stage or screen to-day, is "Wade," the man whose life has been spent in a secret quest.

Carl Gantvoort, internationally famous leading man of the light opera stage, who has shared honors with Mitzi, Hazel Dawn and other beautiful stage stars, proves that the screen should have claimed him long ago by his work opposite Miss Adams. James Mason, Maude Wayne, Frederick Starr, Frank Hayes, Walter Whitman and Aggie Herring, the other principals, contribute remarkable characterizations.

PETERBORO MALE VOICE CHOIR

A good attendance marked the rehearsal of the above choir last night and two hours good work was accomplished in the various selections undertaken.

At the business session it was unanimously decided to close the membership list for this season on Tuesday, Dec. 18th. Persons wishing to join may do so on application to Mr. C. S. Thompson, secretary, on rehearsal nights of Dec. 11 or 18. New arrivals mar the progress of the choir as a whole in difficult musical selections. After December 18, a regular attendance of members will be all that is required, coupled with the work of the musical director, to build up a well-balanced male voice organization and show tangible results.

Special music is being provided by the choir, while Mr Walter A. McCutcheon concert baritone of Hamilton, will be the soloist for the occasion.

Special offerings will be taken at both services and the management of Knox are hopeful that their objective of $2,500 will be reached.

On Monday evening the ladies are serving supper, when a real good time is looked for. Mr. W. A. McCutcheon, who sings on Sunday, will sing again on Monday night. If you want a real treat hear Mr. McCutcheon.

THE KINGDOM OF GOD.

God had a kingdom in the past, 1 Chron. 2, 8-5. This kingdom was overthrown on account of Israel's sin, Ezekiel 31, 25 to 28. It will not be restored until Jesus comes to take possession. God will give it to him, whose right it is This kingdom will not be restored, until God has taken out from the Gentiles a people for His name, Acts 15, 14 to 18. This people (who will comprise the Bride of Christ) will reign with Jesus upon the earth, Rev. 5, 9-10. The words "reign upon the earth," cannot be construed to mean "reign beyond the skies." According to hymnology Jesus the King shall reign for ever, and of His kingdom there shall be no end, Luke 1, 32-33. It was the glad tidings of the kingdom of God that Jesus and the apostles preached, Matt. 9, 35. Jesus was sent to do this work, Luke 4, 43. The disciples expected Jesus to set up His kingdom at His first coming, and were disappointed when He was crucified. It is a blessed comforting truth to know that His kingdom will come; and that epoch of time is drawing very near. We who know somewhat of the blessedness of that kingdom say, Come, Lord Jesus, come quickly. M. T. Butcher.

CONGRESS HEARD COOLIDGE TODAY

First Address of President Since Becoming Chief Executive of United States — Waterway Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(Canadian Press).—President Coolidge addressed Congress to-day for the first time since he became chief executive. The adherence of the U.S. to a world court with reservations was endorsed, but Mr. Coolidge declared this was not a partisan question and should not assume an "artificial importance. He declared he would not propose any change in the policy of declining to enter the League of Nations, but said that the United States recognized an obligation to help others, reserving the right to decide the time, place, and method.

Among matters of particular interest to Canadians that were dealt with by Mr. Coolidge was the projected deep waterway from the great lakes to the sea. He advocated that a continuation of efforts to bring about the realization of this plan be continued.

St. Lawrence Discussed

"The great power and navigation project of the St. Lawrence River," as he termed it, was one of several waterways projects which he favored. He pointed out that "efforts are now being made to secure the necessary treaty with Canada," and declared that waterways projects should have an immediate "consideration of Congress" and be adopted as fast as plans can be matured and the necessary funds become available." President Coolidge opposed revision of the tariff except in cases where the necessity for this was proven, but did not state his views in regard to the proposed increase of fifty per cent in the wheat tariff to shut out Canadian competition.

By implication it was understood by his hearers that he does not consider this tariff increase essential.

BRITISH URBAN VOTE INDICATED DEFEAT OF PROTECTION AS CONSERVATIVE LOSSES MOUNTED IN EARLY COUNT

CONSERVATIVE PARTY DRIVEN TO THE COUNTIES AS CITY RESULTS GIVE LIBERAL AND LABOR GAINS

The Government Suffered Many Losses in the First Returns, Foreshadowing the Final Rejection of Protection—Sir Montagu Barlow First Minister Defeated.

BATH LIBERAL AGAIN

SUMMARY AT 12.30 TO-DAY.

Conservatives	124
Labor	22
Liberals	65
Others	8

LONDON, Dec. 7. — (By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)—Premier Baldwin's majority hung in the balance to-day. Liberal and Labor gains in the early returns from Thursday's general election presented the possibility of the Conservatives failing to obtain the necessary seats to put through their programme of protection.

"So far free trade is safe," declared former Premier Asquith, commenting on returns from the first half of the 590 constituencies, which showed a net loss for Baldwin's party of 39 seats. The Liberals gained 17 of these and the Labor party 22.

Add Election.. ....

Former Prime Minister Lloyd-George was re-elected from Carnarvon District of Wales over Austin Jones, Conservative.

Mrs. Margaret Wintringham, Liberal, was re-elected from Louth Division of Lincolnshire.

The Duchess of Athol, Conservative, was returned for Kinross and the Western Division of Perth and Kinross over P. A. Moltend, Liberal.

The figures at noon showed that the Conservatives had suffered a net loss of 44, the Liberals a net gain of 20 and Labor a net gain of 24. This situation was maintained when 316 constituencies remained to be heard from.

With over 300 costituencies to be heard from and results from most of the strong Labor quarters already in, the Conservatives early to-day were hopeful of recovering these losses and obtaining a majority.

LONDON, Dec. 6. — Protection met its Waterloo in the British elections, today if the returns from 158 constituencies, including fifty where the candidates were unopposed, prove a true portent of the final result.

Competent political authorities assert that the Conservatives can hope for nothing better than a three-cornered House, which would be equivalent to defeat.

The Minister of Labor, Sir Montague Barlow, was defeated by the Labor candidate, and Rear Admiral Sir Reginald Hall, chief organizer of the Conservative Party, was also obliged to haul down his flag.

On the other side, Winston Churchill, powerful influence in the Liberal Party, lost his game fight at Leicester to a Laborite.

Lady Astor will again represent the Sutton Division of Plymouth in Parliament. She defeated her old opponent, Captain Brennan, by nearly 3,000 votes. Several of the other women candidates, however, were defeated.

To-night's returns have been from the cities where the Labor unions are strong. To-morrow's reports from the country may change the complexion of the contest.

The country voters generally lean to Conservatives. Thus far, there has been no change to judge as to what offset Premier Baldwin's promised subsidies to the farmers have had.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The earliest announced results in yesterday's elections proved a great encouragement to free trade sympathizers, showing Liberal and Labor gains, and greatly reduced majorities in many cases where the Conservatives succeeded in retaining their seats for instance, in the Exchange Division of Liverpool, Sir Leslie Scott's majority was reduced from 3,036 to 219, and in Wallasey, Sir R. R. Chadwick, another Conservative was re-elected, but with his majority reduced from 7524 to 849.

In the Blackley Division of Manchester, P. M. Oliver, Liberal, won over W. J. Harold Briggs, Conservative free trader, 12,235 to 7,313, this being considered one of the most significant of the Liberal victories.

The party returns seems to show that Lancashire is not only against protection, but will not accept even free trade Conservatives.

In Cheltenham, a typical Conservative borough, Sir James Agg-Gardner, the popular chairman of the House of Commons Kitchen Committee retained his seat, but his majority was reduced from 3,218 to 1,488.

TWO OF THE VANQUISHED

ARTHUR HENDERSON, Secretary and Organizer of the Labor Party, who lost to Sir R. Aske (Liberal) in Newcastle by a vote of 12,656 to 11,532.

WINSTON CHURCHILL, The two - fisted Liberal, who was defeated in West Leicester by a Labor candidate elected by a minority in a three-cornered fight.

PARTY GAINS AND LOSSES

Liberal Gains 29. — Accrington; Ashton Under Lyne; Bath; Battersea, North; Bermondsey West; Blackpool; Bradford East; Cardiff East; Dewsbury; Hackney North; Lancashire, Darwin; Lancashire, Royton; Leicester South, Liverpool, West Derby, Liverpool, Wavertree, Manchester, Exchange, Manchester, Withington, Manchester, Moss Side; Manchester ,Blackley; Manchester, Rusholme; Middlesborough East; Middlesex, Finchley; Newcastle on Tyne, East; Newcastle on Tyne, West; Nottingham East; Portsmouth Centre; Plymouth, Devonport; Rochdale; Southport.

Labour, 31 Gains — Bristol East, Bristol North, Bethnal Green, Bolton (one seat), Cardiff South, Derby, East Ham North, Finsbury, Greenwich, Hammersmith North, Hackney South, Huddersfield, Ipswich, Kent, Dartford, Leyton East, Leicester East, Manchester Clayton, Middlesex Enfield, Reading, Salford West, Salford South, Swansea West, Southwark North, Southwark Southeast, Shoreditch, St. Pancras North, St. Pancras South-east, Tottenham South, Willesden West, Warrington, Wakefield.

Conservative Gains, 3 — Lancashire, Middleton, Sheffield Park, and Worcester.

At Grimsby the Conservative, T. Sutcliffe, retains his seat, with his previous majority of 9,499 reduced to 1,576.

The first Minister to fall was Sir Montague Barlow, who was beaten by the Laborite, J. Toole, in the South Division of Salford. Sir Montague was unopposed at the last election. He will be remembered as having made the public announcement some time ago, which the Government had afterwards to disavow that the Government was contemplating the adoption of a policy of inflation.

The returns announced for the first two hours appeared ominous for the Government. The Liberals gained strength steadily.

That Lancashire was going free trade was not surprising, but that the Liberals should succeed in gaining seats from avowed Conservative free traders, was full of significance, as showing fear on the part of the electorate that such candidates were not to be trusted, if elected, to maintain their free trade views in the face of pressure certain to be brought to bear upon them from the protectionist party.

Not only was Lancaster speaking for free trade, but the results coming in from various parts of Englands showed continued Liberal gains and reductions of Conservative majorities without, during the early hours, one Conservative gain recorded.

Labor, however, was doing well. Among the Laborites elected were Dan Irving, veteran Socialist and Ben Tillett, of the Transport and General Workers' Union.

Bath Again Liberal

Perhaps the result at Bath was most significant of the country's feeling. The only time in its history that Bath had previously elected a Liberal was in 1906, and then for precisely the same reason as it returned a Liberal to-day, namely, to defeat a protectionist policy, fathered by Joseph Chamberlain.

The election of the prominent Liberal leader, the Right Hon. C. F. G. Masterman for the Rusholme Division of Manchester, is another most significant result. Masterman was unseated in the Khaki elections after the war.

As the returns continued to be announced they bore the appearance of a Liberal landslide. Out of about forty results there were ten Liberal gains. In the National Liberal Club, the headquarters of Liberalism, where many of the most prominent leaders gathered, there were scenes of tremendous enthusiasm as the returns were announced and there were similar scenes at Queens Hall, where the Labor leaders and their supporters gathered to learn their fate.

Conservatives Dismayed

There was proportionate dismay at the Carlton Club and other resorts of Conservatism, and although the rural constituencies have not yet be seen, heard, and will for the most part be unknown until to-day, the results in the boroughs were sufficient to inspire apprehension among the Government supporters, more especially as the Government's recent proposal to subsidize arable farming land at one pound per acre had not been received with undue enthusiasm.

J. R. Clynes Re-Elected

The Solicitor- General, Sir T. W. Sir Samuel Hoare, were both re-elected.

The electorate of the Sutton Division of Plymouth made good for Lady Astor her dictum: "You have got to have me whether you like it or not.' Her majority to-day was 2,267; it was 3,073 in the three-cornered contest in the previous election.

Lord Birkenhead's brother, Sir Harold Smith, lost his seat for the Avertree Division of Liverpool to the Liberal, Sir R. H. Rathbone, Sir Harry Brittain, Conservative, retained his seat for the Acton Division of Middlesex against both Laborite and Liberal.

Still, the returns which will come in to-day, may put a new aspect on affairs.

Churchill's Defeat

Winston Churchill's defeat is a serious matter for the Liberal party but will delight the Labor Party, particuary as he was defeated by Mr. Pethick-Lawrence, who is the chief author of the Labor plan for a capital levy, his figures for this scheme being always accepted as the basis of the Laborite project.

It will be observed that Mr. Pethick-Lawrence, who is a prominent member of the Socialist Fabian Society, is elected by a minority vote in a three-cornered contest. Mr. Churchill had been more vehement and persistent in his denunciations of the Labor Party and its works, especially a capital levy, than any other prominent Liebral, and the extreme heckling and disorder at his election meetings were inspired by Laborite resentment at his attitude.

Won Despite Hecklers

In North Battersea, from which came the greatest complaints of rowdyism, and which is regarded by the Conservatives as a hotbed of Communism, S. Saklatvala, a Parsee, who sat as a Laborite in the last Parliament, but is generally regarded as a Communist, was defeated by the Liberal, S. Hogbin, who a few days ago abandoned his meetings owing to the disorders which prevented a hearing. Hogbin's majority however was only 186 in a poll of 24,8667.

Sir Reginald Hall, chief organizer of the Conservative Party, was defeated in the West Derby Division of Liverpool by C. S. Jones, Liberal, who had a majority of nearly 2,000 in a total vote of 23,498.

OPERATED HOME BANK WITHOUT EXPERT BANKER

Elementary Safeguards In Protection of Banking Business Were Not Employed — Causes of Failure.

CURATOR'S REPORT.

TORONTO, Dec. 7. —"Never at any time in its career was an experienced and trained banker at the head of the bank and in control of its affairs," said Mr. G. T. Clarkson, liquidator, in his report to the Home Bank depositors at their meeting in Massey Hall yesterday afternoon. "It can be said the late James Mason and the late Colonel Mason utterly failed to pay regard to or impose elementary safeguards in protection of the business of the bank.

"In a very early period in its career, also, the bank became burdened with certain heavy and frozen loans and investments, and when later on at different times, and either from misfortune, bad judgment or from other reasons, these increased in number and amount, the bank became increasingly less able to transact commercial banking business, for which it was organized and chartered. Accordingly, the amount of good commercial business upon its books at the time of its suspension was of a very greatly reduced value, while the extent of frozen loans and unrealizable securities in its assets was out of all proportion to the amount of its deposits. Under these circumstances the bank's insolvency is due to the fact that there was no proper fulfillment of the functions for which it was chartered and because of the lack of experienced management, disregard of the safeguards by which the business of all efficiently managed banks are protected; and lastly because of serious losses incurred from loans in which executive officers were interested or loans which were made to companies in which certain of the directors or officers were shareholders.

Deal in Scrip.

Mr. Clarkson presented a complete history of the bank's career, from year to year. These transactions have been generally set forth in the curator's report.

In 1912, it is stated, heavy advances were begun to one, A. G. Holmes, against the security of South African veterans' scrip. "It would appear," said Mr. Clarkson, "that the bank had loaned certain money to several brokers not apparently connected with the bank upon the security of such scrip, and becoming fearful that it might be cancelled, persuaded Holmes to purchase and then made advances to him." At the time of the failure these reached $1,275,000.

Certain irregularities are indicated in this account.

Advances to Pellatt.

During 1912 advances to Sir Henry Pellatt and the Pellatt Company increased by $622,000, to a total of $1,437,000. Personal obligations of Sir Henry were $418,000. It appears to have been unjustifiable for the bank to have discounted notes of $411,000 against an equity in real estate of $125,000. One-half the capital stock of Toronto City Estates seem to have been the property of the Masons and the rest the property of Sir Henry, who also subsequently received the Mason shares, but for what considerations it cannot be now stated.

Bank Purchase.

Dealing with the purchase of the La Banque Internationale in 1912-13, it is noted that $300,000 was advanced by the Home Bank to Director Barnard to enable him to buy Internationale shares, and subequently $74,000 more was advanced. Letters from Barnard state these credits were arranged through and by Sir Henry Pellatt, but Sir Henry denies it. The Internationale was bought at $128 a share.

After this, 2,622 shares of Home stock were received by Barnard in exchange for 74 per cent. of Internationale stock. These remained in the name of Barnard and Pellatt until December, 1915, when transferred to the Fidelity Trust of Montreal, controlled by Barnard, while $133,970 was written off the loans, reducing them to $262,500, and charged as part of the cost of the Internationale to the Home.

Daly Enters.

In July, 1919, H. J. Daly undertook to relieve the bank of the 2,622 shares, borrowing about $190,000 from U. S. banks on the shares. Ultimately 1,485 shares were sold to P. A. Mitchell, of London, Eng., and 1,000 to A. J. Pattison Jr. & Co. On the sales, in one way or another, the bank lost $185,000

Mr. Clarkson, in respect of payments of $30,000 to M. J. Haney, who says they were a proportion of certain profits earned in connection with investments by the bank in Canadian Locomotive, Canada Steamships, Montreal Transportation, and other securities, says he is asking Mr. Haney to repay the am-

FRENCH PRESS ON ELECTIONS

Devoted More Space and Attention Than to Any Polling Within Memory.

PARIS, December 7. — The press of France is displaying greater interest in the British election and devoting more space to it than to any polling across the Channel within memory.

Many of the French newspapers have sent special representatives to Great Britain to report the result and the effect it will be likely to have upon Franco-British relations.

Commenting on the balloting the semi-official Temps yesterday says:

"Whatever the outcome of the English elections may be the necessities of the international situation will remain the same, and none of them is more urgent than Franco-British cooperation. The French Government last week supplied the initial basis for the creation of such cooperation. France would welcome England's association alongside with Belgium in the investment of capital in the Rhineland bank issue, collaboration in the working of the Rhineland railroads, and participation in the industrial control of the Ruhr. Thus the Allies might acquire certain mines in the Ruhr belonging to the Reich which Germany might cede on account of reparation payments."

The Intransigeant says:

"It is a remarkable fact that the British elections were prepared in an atmosphere of an absolute Entente Cordiale with France. Whether the Conservatives behind Prime Minister Baldwin or the Liberals supporting the boisterous Lloyd George are in the majority the candidates have had to declare to their electors that thep are not the adversaries of the Franco-British alliance."

WOOD WORKERS GET

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(Associated Press)—In view of the difficulties of preserving continuity between the parent organization and branches in the United States and Canada, the Amalgamated Society of Woodworkers of Great Britain has decided to give their American membership complete autonomy and control over their own affairs. It is stated that management expenses in the United States and Canada have grown to an average annual charge of more than 25 shillings per member.

Mistake of Allies Was the Armistice

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 7.— "We could have gone on to Berlin in our offensive, and should have done it, punishing Germany at every step, declared Attorney James E. Campbell, of Columbus, former Governor of Ohio. "Signing of the armistice was the biggest mistake the allies made in the World War."

"We could have retained possession of Germany and should have administered its as a conquered province until all the reparations were paid, even if it required 50 years," continued former Governor Campbell.

'Germany did not suffer from the war. She did not lose any property. Her country was not devasted. Germans do not mention one word of remorse, or contrition, at being responsible for the greatest, and most horrible, conflict the world has ever known."

FIRST RETURNS INDICATE LOSS CONSERVATIVES

Baldwin is Badly Beaten, With His Majority Wiped out Early in Returns —May Develop Into Crushing Defeat.

LABOR GAINS

(By Wickham Steed, former editor of the London Times, Editor Review of Reviews. Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act 1923).

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Premier Baldwin looks like being badly beaten. Whatever the final results of the election, the first 200 returns show 38 net Conservative losses, 17 net Liberal, 21 net Labor gains. In other words, the Conservatives gained 3 lost 41 seats, Liberals gained 30 and lost 13, Labor gained 31, lost 1.

Baldwin's majority in the last Parliament is thus practically wiped out already. If approximately the same proportions are maintained in the 360 results still outstanding, the Conservatives will have suffered a crushing defeat.

I cannot say that the prospect surprises me. Several days before the dissolution I warned Downing Street emphatically that a snap election on the tariff issue would destroy the Bonar Law majority and probably expose the Conservative party to a severe drubbing. I cannot understand how any sane man, with a medium of political insight or experience, could expect anything else. Yet only last evening a moderate Conservative peer who began life as a Liberal, held high offices under the Crown and afterwards played a prominent part as a member of Lloyd George's war cabinet, assured me emphatically that the Government would get a good working majority. If a statesman of his calibre can be so mistaken, I am forced to the conclusion that even mild party bias is apt to warp an otherwise sound judgment.

Heavy Labor Gains.

The Laborites have indeed gained more heavily than I expected but it is not safe to conclude that the results of the English County constituencies will enable them to maintain their initial advantage. One of their leaders, Arthur Henderson, a former Cabinet Minister, has been beaten by a Liberal in a straight fight at Newcastle although two of his sons won a seat for Labor elsewhere. The Labor candidate also was heavily defeated by a Liberal at Accrington, Lancashire, where last year's Labor majority of 5000 has been converted to the present Liberal majority of 3000. The Liberals lost Winston Churchill, who was badly beaten in Leicester by a Labor "Intellectual." Pethwick Lawrence, while Sir Alfred Mond, a free trade champion, was narrowly defeated by a Laborite at Swansea, his protectionist opponent, Professor Hewens, the chief protagonist of tariff reform, being also overthrown.

The government lose Sir Montague Barlow, the Minister of Labor, as well as Boyd Carpenter, Financial Secretary to the Admiralty, and Admiral Sir Reginald Hall, the chief Conservative organizer, who is thus rightly punished for having urged Baldwin to dissolve Parliament.

Defection of Manchester.

Among the Liberal triumphs is the return of Asquith at Paisley by 1700 majority. This stands foremost, but their heaviest blow to the government is the defection of Manchester, where the Conservatives tain only one seat out of 13 Manchester and Salford constituencies. In the last Parliament Manchester proper was represented by seven Conservatives and three Laborites. This Parliament will have five Liberals, four Laborites and one Conservative in Manchester proper and three Laborites for Salford, against two Conservatives and one Laborite last year. The heart of Lancashire has therefore gone strongly against protection, the true reason being, in the words of a Manchester man, that "we simply dare not have protection. The whole cotton industry is too delicately balanced, a clumsy tax might ruin it."

Among individual results the return of Lady Astor at Plymouth by a reduced majority, the retention of Dundee by the Prohibitionist Scrymgeour, and the election of Miss Lawrence, a prominent County Council worker, as the first Labor woman member of Parliament, are the most noteworthy. The defeat of the Hindu Communist, Saklatvala, by a Liberal at Battersea, given general satisfaction, because the Hindu indulged in organized rowdyism against his opponent.

Against Protection.

The bulk of the results still outstanding will be known by this afternoon or early this evening.

Unless present indications are misleading, they will confirm the defeat of the Conservatives and the reduction of Conservative majorities everywhere. Whether the Laborites or the Liberals will be the second strongest party it is impossible to foresee.

So far the aggregate of votes polled shows a majority of more than a million and a half against protection.

FIVE MEXICAN STATES IN REBELLION AGAINST FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

Military Officers With Commandant of Fleet Set Up Provisional Government at Vera Cruz in Defence of State Rights.

SOLDIERS IN MOTION.

VERA CRUZ, December 7 (Canadian Press). — Five Mexican States are in open rebellion against President Obregon and General P. Elias Calles, Obregon's candidate for the presidency, according to information reaching here.

The military in the Statesof Vera Cruz, San Luis Potosi, Chihuahua, Michoacan and Tamaulipas, are said to have repudiated the Federal Government, ousted all the Federal office holders, and substituted their own men.

The commander of the Gulf fleet, the Chief of Marines, and several leading generals at midnight last night forwarded a message to President Obregon, declaring they had resolved to "assume the defence of the institutions offended so seriously by the Government you represent," for the good of the country.

Issue Statement.

The meeting was held here in the home of General Guadalupe Sanchez, Chief of Military Operations. At its conclusion the following message was sent to President Obregon.

"In defence of the institutions of the Republic and to contribute with our military honour to hte conservation of peace and respect for the free will of the people, and to prevent the odious impositions which aim at destroying in its cradle our democratic form of Government, we have resolved to assume the defence of the institutions offended so seriously by the Government you represent.

"We mention the violation of the sovereignty of the States of San Luis Potosi, and Michoacan, which States lack independence and guarantees for the free functioning of their legislative powers because of Federal intervention; the anarchy and lack of discipline fomented in the army from the highest official ranks.

"These are undeniable and compelling reasons which have inspired our attitude and through which we can assure the return of good for the country."

A copy of this message also was sent to the Governors and military chiefs of all the States of Mexico.

The generals and the naval chiefs then proceeded to oust all Federal office holders and substitute them with persons to their following.

All the officials here and in Jalapa, the capital of Vera Cruz, were removed.

Soldiers on Border.

During the night military trains moved to the borders of the State and other strategic points, filled with soldiers.

These troops now hold advanced positions at Perote, on the Inter-Oceanic Railway; at Maltrata, on the Mexican Railway Lines; and at Railway.

News was received last night of a similar movement against the Obrezon Government at Tamaulipas, headed by Geleral Lopez Mara, and of Chihuahua, led by General Chao, who has four thousand men under him.

There were also reports of uprisings in the States of San Luis Potosi and Michaocan.

RECEIVE PREMIER WITH ENTHUSIASM

MacKenzie King Welcomed in Montreal — Declares Halifax Seat Lost Through Jealousies in Own Ranks.

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Leading a parade of 130 automobiles decorated with various emblems of the Liberal party of Quebec, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada, proceeded through the principal thoroughfares of this city to the meeting place of the gathering in his honour at the Drill Hall on Craig street here last evening. There was present the entire cabinet with the exception of Right Hon. W. S. Fielding, whose absence was due to illness, and the Prime Minister was welcomed by Premier Taschereau, of Quebec; Mayor Martin, of this city, and members of the Provincial and Federal Parliament for Montreal and neighboring constituencies.

Sir Lomer Gouin, Minister of Justice ,made the first speech after an introductory address by A. Legault, Vice-President of the Liberal Federation. Sir Lomer spoke in the highest terms of praise of the League of Nations and expressed great faith in it. He then made reference to the Prime Minister and then declared that manifestations were for Mr. King and for his success in London. Sir Lomer Gouin was followed by Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, who paid a high tribute both to Premier King and to Sir Lomer Gouin for their work at the Imperial Conference.

Turkish War Scare.

Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King then spoke. He made special reference to the Halifax election and claimed that the loss of the seat by the Liberals was due to "jealousies within our ranks." He warned against the tactics which sought to set the east against the west and said "deliberate misrepresentation" of the Government's action were also largely responsible for the loss of the seat .He defended the action of the Government in respect of the Turkish war scare a year ago, and claimed that responsible political leaders in London had supported the action of his government in stating that such a matter must be put before Parliament before a decision could be reached.

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Dec. 7.—(Associated Press)—A British admiral, Sir Sydney Freemantle, is amazed at the number of men in the navy who cannot swim. He has made an investigation among the sailors now stationed at Portsmouth, and finds 9,768 who would be helpless should they by chance fall overboard.

RT. HON. W. S. FIELDING IS MUCH BETTER TO-DAY

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—The condition of Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, is much improved, his physician stated last night. Since his return from Halifax recently, Mr. Fielding has remained at his home under doctor's orders to take a rest.

CROSSED FRONTIERS BLIND BAGGAGE

PARIS, Dec. 7.— (Associated Press)—Riding blind baggage behind the tender of a locomotive, Anton Hjecsky recently crossed three frontiers without being molested. The 17-year-old Hungarian youth may have not established a distance record for this style of travel, but he is believed to have set a new mark in dodging customs officers, having evaded six crews of them.

Hjcesky told the French police he got aboard the train as it was starting from the Budapest station. Dressed in overalls and jumper, he alighted at the Austrian, Swiss and French frontiers and mingled with railroad employees in the yards until the train was ready to get under way again. Then he would resume his place behind the tender. In this fashion he rode nearly 1,000 miles into Paris.

He returned to the Swiss frontier in style, having an entire second-class compartment to himself, while two French policeman took the greatest care looking after him.

WINTER CARNIVAL A GREAT SUCCESS

St. John's Carnival Under the Auspices of the A. Y.P.A. of the Church Had Good Crowd.

There was a good attendance at the bright little Winter Carnival held in the school room of St. John's church last evening, under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. of the church There were booths for sale of gifts and candy, a freak show, and an enjoyable musical programme, in charge of Miss Margaret Flowers. Decorations were exceptionally pretty, carried out in Christmas evergreens and holly and red paper fancies. Lighted piano lamps and candles brightened the tea room, in charge of Miss Hazel Crowe. Miss Betty Smith, president of the society, had the candy sale, Miss Irene Herridge had the miscellaneous table, Mr. Bert Graham the 'hot dog' sale, Miss Sybil Hood and Miss Aloha Horn, sold gifts from Santa Claus from two gaily decorated Christmas trees, and Miss Julia Nicholls supervised arrangements for the comical 'freak' show. Mrs. F. Clayton told fortunes.

A very interesting portion of the entertainment programme was provided by Mr. H. Lush, who had a side show, and also gave a vocal number, illustrated with lightning drawings of flags.

The musical programme included a very pretty number, a vocal solo by Mrs. Fred Craig, "To a Miniature," illustrated in tableau fashion by Miss A. Nicholls; a violin and piano duett by Margaret and Roy Rome; a reading by Miss Irene Breckenridge, and songs by Mrs. R. Trotter, Miss Edna Borbridge, Mr. R. Perry and Mr. H. Flowers.

Mr. Withers: "No sir; that is a lot of driving for $20; it wouldn't keep the horses shod for the extra work."

"The old tender was $9000, and it was a cheap job at that."

Ald. Phelan remarked that more work is included in next year's contract at a lower figure than for this year.

Ald. McIntyre: "I think you are doing good work, and the council appreciates it."

Ald. Fife: "I don't think we can settle it at that figure to satisfy the public generally. To settle the question what will you do the work for?"

Mr. Withers: "The old contract price, $9000."

Ald. Fife: "I move that owing to the price asked and the fact that the petitions were received after tenders had been called for, the committee cannot take any action."

It was with reluctance that those houses were omitted from the collections for next year, but it was pointed out that the applications should have been in in time to be included in the original tenders.

Ashes Granted.

On motion of Ald. Phelan and Fife R. Powell of 465 McDonnel street will be granted as many loads of ashes as the Sanitary Inspector decides should be given him, and that Mrs. Runnett, 523 Sherbrooke street, be given one load as requested.

There were present Ald. McIntyre, chairman; Ald. J. O. Fife and N. Phelan and aMyor Taylor.

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

DISEASE GERMS

Micro-organisms of any pathogenic bacteria cause vital diseases of many kinds. The germs or bacteria which get into your system are the living plant agents which cause various kinds of poisons to attack and destroy your blood cells and tissue cells. Your ability or strength to ward off or resist these virulent germ poisons by hygienic living conditions, constitute your hold on health.

In other words, you are being attacked almost every minute of the day by these little germ bandits who try to enter your body and rob you of your health. They thrive in bad drinking water, in polluted soil, in foul air, unclean food, scratches and slight wounds, and through direct contact in what are called the catching and contagious diseases.

To steer clear of their attack, you must be on your guard all the time.

Keep your teeth and mouth clean. The high-powered microscope will show you strange inhabitants. Bathe at least once a week, twice is better and once during some part of every 24 hours will do you no harm.

Choose your food for the best health-building values, within the limits of your purse, not forgetting green vegetables, fruit, milk and its products. Keep your hands clean, when putting anything in your mouth. Avoid coughing and sneezing in public.

Take fresh air and sunlight in large doses, at every opportunity. Do not let garbage or other waste accumulate on your premises, to invite contamination, flies or other vermin, which breed and spread germs.

FINAL SHOTS IN ELECTION FIGHT

Fifteen Millions Men and Women to Go to the Polls Today.

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Dec. 6.—A Conservative victory was in the making today as 15,000,000 British men and women went to the polls to elect a parliament. It was cold and cloudy, with a light mist falling in some parts of the country when the voting booths opened at 8 a.m. There was no change however, in the situation that pointed to a Conservative majority with about 30 votes to spare.

The result of the voting in approximately 200 constituencies will be announced to-night; the final results will not be known until Friday. There are 654 seats to be filled, for which there are 1,400 candidates. Thirty-five Conservatives, 11 Liberals, 3 Laborites and T. P. O'Connor, Independent, were returned unopposed. David Lloyd George, former Prime Minister, now leading a hard fighting Liberal opposition, ignored the tradition that forbids speech making on election day and went to address a meeting at Chichester. Premier Stanley Baldwin, who issued a final appeal to voters to support him in his plan to relieve unemployment through a tariff after eighty years of free trade, was one of the first to go to the polls this morning, casting a vote for himself at Astley. H. H. Asquith, former Premier, who has joined forces with Lloyd George did relinquished the leadership of the coalition to the magnetic Welshman, voted at Paisley, where Asquith always has a stiff fight to keep his seat. He was recently defeated in this constituency. Lloyd George's seat at Carnarvon was considered safe. Ramsay Macdonlad, Labor spokesman, who led the Opposition in the last session, wound up a hard fight in the district of Aberavon.

Rowdyism, so severe that it interrupted meetings in many parts of the country last night and prevented some Conservatives from speaking, continued to mar the campaign up to the last minute.

HIGH POLITICS IN PRESIDENT'S FIRST MESSAGE

Coolidge Opposes Soldiers' Bonus and Approves World Court, Taking Contrary Position to Senator Johnston.

SILENCE BROKEN.

WASHINGTON, December 7. — President Coolidge frankly informed the United States of his position on all of the major problems confronting the nation, in his address to Congress yesterday.

For more than an hour, calmly and in terse phrases, the Executive addressed a joint session of the House and the Senate, thus breaking the silence on public questions so studiously maintained since he entered the White House four months ago.

Many of the score and more of subjects upon which the President touched seemed destined to play their part in the coming national political campaigns, and this accounted in some measure for the more than usual importance that was attached to this, his first annual message.

Outstanding Points.

Outstanding points in the address were an "unqualified approval" of the Mellon tax reduction program; a declaration against the soldiers' bonus; endorsement of the United States adherence to the world court, with reservations; immediate reorganization of the railroad freight rate structure; government assistance in the disposition of exportable wheat, and declarations against price fixing, the excess profits tax, repeal of the rate section of the transportation act; revision of the tariff, and continued opposition to ratification of the covenant of the League of Nations.

Mr. Coolidge spoke in the House Chamber where the smoke of battle over the speakership precipitated by insurgents within his own party had scarcely cleared away. A number of the recommendations he presented ran counter to the legislative program announced by the insurgents, and since they hold the balance of power in both houses there was a general doubt at the Capitol that Congress would be able to translate into law even a substantial portion of the proposals of the Chief Executive.

Some of his adopted policies placed him squarely in opposition to Senator Johnson of California, the only avowed Republican candidate for the presidency. Senator Johnson has declared against the world court and for the soldiers' bonus. He has not given his approval to the Mellon tax plan, but has indicated objection to some of its principal features.

Opposition Views.

Democratic leaders generally criticized various features of the address, but Senator Underwood of Alabama, the only avowed Democratic presidential candidate who sits in Congress, was not present at the joint session and made no comment. He has declared for the world court plan, and like Mr. Coolidge is against the bonus. William G. McAdoo has come out in favor of both.

The Lafollette group of Republicans also criticized features of the president's program. From the Farmer-Labor side came criticism of the President's agricultural relief program, but commendation of his stand regarding Russia. Disagreement with the Mellon tax reduction program, indorsement given by Mr. Coolidge also was expressed by the Lafollette and Farmer-Labor.

The reaction of "the country" to the President's recommendations will be watched carefully by all the party leaders.

RAFFERTY NOW IN THE CLINK

Charged With Running Away With Wife of Cobourg Doctor — Aftermath of Circulation Contest.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Dec. 7th. — Pending a warrant, charging violation of the Mann Act, F. E. Dafferty, business manager, and the editor of the Soo Times, a weekly newspaper, is in jail without bond today, charged with adultery.

Charges of larceny and of fraud may be made later, it was stated tonight by Dr. Edward Lajorie, husband of the woman who has been living in a local hotel as Rafferty's wife since September 6th.

Dafferty came to this city to put on a circulation contest for the Times of which T. J. Green, Assistant Attorney General of Michigan, is the President.

The contest in which four automobiles and other prizes were offered, is well under way.

Dr. Lajorie arrived in the Soo on Wednesday, having traced his wife from his home, to Peterborough, where she was registered with Rafferty, in a hotel, to the Canadian Sault, where the couple lived a week before coming here. He found Rafferty in charge of the Times here and endeavored to collect $1,200 on notes he holds signed by Rafferty. Failing, he secured a warrant charging adultery against him and put his case, charging violation of the white slavery laws in the hands of the Immigration Department.

Dr. Lajorie charges that in Cobourg, where a circulation contest was staged, his wife who is 30, pretty and bobbed haired, entered the contest. She attracted the attention of Rafferty, who was managing the contest and he invited her for auto rides and paid other attentions. The result of the drive was, according to the doctor, that Mrs. Lajorie won the grand prize automobile. Rafferty also put on a circulation contest in Belleville.

Cannington Had Beer With a Kick

LINDSAY, Dec. 7.—(Special to the Examiner)—Information has reached here to the effect that License Inspector Mason of Ontario County made an important seizure of "wet goods" at the village of Cannington this week. The seizure consisted of sixteen barrels and five cases of beer up to pre-prohibition standard strength, and manufactured by a brewery in Western Ontario.

According to reports reaching the License Department there has been quite a business done in beer that is considerably over the standard prescribed by law in this section of the county. The seizure created somewhat of a sensation in the village, and interesting developments are expected.

EIGHTEEN FAKE DOCTORS OUSTED

A Former State Health Official Reveals Working of Diploma Mills.

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 7.—In a closed session the State Council of Health revoked the licenses of the eighteen Connecticut doctors, holders of questionable diplomas, who were repudiated by the Eclectic Examining Board last week.

William H. Sachs, former Missouri State school official, who has been an important witness because of his intimate knowledge of the inner workings of the diploma mills, finished his testimony this afternoon and will leave tomorrow for St. Louis.

Several Hartford doctors to whom Sachs has testified he sold high school credits preliminary to their obtaining medical diplomas were called before the Grand Jury to give their versions of the alleged transactions.

Important witnesses desired by the Grand Jury have refused to leave Missouri voluntarily, according to Harry T. Brundidge of The St. Louis Star, who returned to-day from St. Louis.

What transpired in the last nights' raid on the Blumer College of Natureopathy here became known today. Dr. Louis Blumer, President of the institution, who, with four of his Faculty and twenty-seven students, was taken by county detectives before a special night session of the Grand Jury, declared to-day that the college gives the legal three years' course and that he did not believe action unfavorable to it would be taken.

RUSSIA PROMISES TO FEED AMERICA.

Gratitude For Assistance During Famine Leads Villagers to Offer Their Help If Needed.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7. — (United Press). — Grateful for the aid America rendered in Russia to save hundreds of thousands of people from starvation, the Sorochinskoye Peasant Volost Mutual Aid Committee has written to the American Quaker Relief Organization, promising to aid America if misfortune ever befalls the American people.

The village of Sorochinskoye, in the Province of Samara, Russia, was the headquarters of the Quaker Relief during the years of famine. Food conditions were very bad and the people died like flies.

Now that the situation has been relieved and there is no longer a necessity for mass child-feeding, the Russians are beginning to express their gratitude for the food that has been given them from America.

The Peasant Mutual Aid Committee of Sorochinskoye recently offered the following memorial to the Americans for the assistance that has been given them:

"We, members and workers of the Sorochinskoye Mutual Aid Committee having helped you in this campaign and realizing what a great work you have completed, saving hundreds of thousands of people from starvation, wish to express to you our gratitude.

"Your great deed will for a long time remain in the memory of our hearts, transmitted from one generation to the next, and our descendants, though not knowing you, will thank you for the help given to their ancestors.

"We also beg you to take, in our name, our heartiest gratitude to the American people, whose gifts we have been accepting.

"We promise that if ever some misfortune befalls the American people, the Russian people will apply all its efforts to give assistance."

CANADA HAS LOTS OF APPLES

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec 7—Canada will market 3,240,303 barrels of apples this year, according to the latest estimates of the fruit branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Figures show that British Columbia increased its production to 1,047,303 barrels, as compared with 795,000 barrels last year. Nova Scotia with a crop of 1,500,000 barrels, as the two announced candidates J. A. Anderson and C. W. Davidson, both possess strong factions supporting them. Campbellford, it is said, has the habit of supporting the man from its own locality, and it is declared that the eastern portion of the town on one side of the river is solidly behind the candidature of its resident, C. W. Davidson while the western portion will probably vote for its man, J. A. Anderson. Mr. Anderson won the reeveship over Mr. Davidson in a close three-cornered contest last year, split by J. N. Stone, the third man to run at that time.

It is said that the reeve and deputy reeve of the township of Seymour Council, George Van Volkenburh, and B. Nelson, along with the five Councillors, stand a good chance of being returned by acclamation this year.

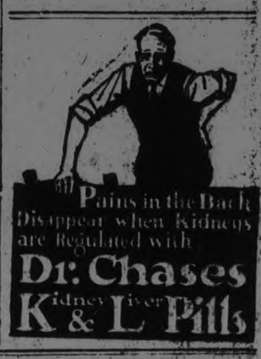
The school issue may or may not be injected into the campaign this year. Those who voted for the project point with pride to the handsome building which is rapidly nearing completion, and will be opened in all probability, sometime in January. They say that assertions of eighteen inches of water in the gymnasium of the building are absolutely unfounded, that water has never been made than eight inches in depth there at any ime, also that the syphon installed will take care of surplus water, and that the auxiliary drain now being run to the gymnasium will obviate any further difficulty.

The cost of this drain will be in the neighborhood of $1,900., and it is claimed that this amount is much less than the cost of raising the building in the first place to a higher level of three feet, a proposition advocated by many of those who now regard with disfavor the new drain installation. It is claimed further that the position chosen for the building, a debatable question with many, was the only one available that would provide a central location and ive the necessary acreage in surroundings which is demanded by the Department. When finished, an inspection will give, it is anticipated, an increased grant from the Goverdment The county grant, which it was threatened to cut off, will be safe again, and the Board of Education also expects to recover the sum of $1,400, the grant cut off by the Government last year because of poor school facilities.

The consensus of opinion on the school question among the optimistic- minded element of the town seems to be one of the considering the situation from the best angle, as being impossible to change, and the school itself presenting the appearance of up to dateness in every detail.

A rumor to the effect that the Sinclair Construction Company of Toronto, in charge of part of the work at the new Hydro-Electric dam Number Eight, had thrown up their contract on account of trouble with seamy rock formation, wa scharacterized by the Hydro-Electric Company's resident engineer, A. L. Malcolm, as being untrue. Mr Malcolm said that the company was fulfilling its contract to the satisfaction of the Commission, that the work was getting along well, somewhat slowly in parts, and that one thousand feet of tail race had already been dug.

Mr. Chas. West, who has been ill for nearly five years, died Thursday afternoon at his home just a short distance west of the town. The late Mr. West was clerk of the town for many years. The funeral will be on Saturday.



Stubborn Cases of Constipation

A famous physician says:— "Put three heaping teaspoons of bran into a cup of boiling water. Spoon it up slowly. Half a cup of this wet, hot bran twice a day between meals will relieve the most stubborn case of constipation." Tillson's is pure, natural bran, and therefore the most effective bran you can use.

AUSTRIAN CHURCH LOSES SAINTS' WOODEN IMAGES

FEISTRITZ, Austria, Dec. 7.—(Associated Press)—Five wooden images of saints dating from the 14th century have been stolen from the parish church here. They rank among the finest and most valuable of medieval religious carvings and are well known to collectors.

It is believed that international art thieves were behind the theft as the peasantry not only revered the images, but it is doubtful if they had any idea of their value.

GIVING OF GIFTS.

After all it is a matter of sentiment and sense rather than of dollars—all this custom of holiday gift-giving, says the Brockville Recorder and Times.

For the many of us the exercise of judgment and the expression of sentiment in this peculiar time will be dictated by the means available. It is pretty sane as a general rule, anyway, to pack a great deal of good common sense in the holiday package and wrap it with a wealth of sentiment. The season is one of sharp contracts, and everything that can be done to help those who are needy at this season is a double relief. The season is one of the child supreme, and everything done to add to the delight and the pleasure of childhood is a good investment for all the coming lifetime of these growing little folks.

Holiday giving has been too burdensome in the past. The swapping of gifts means nothing; the "obligation" ought always be eliminated. If a relative wishes to give another member of the family a gift, it should be one of service, practical, and sensible and useful. Remembrances to the circle of friends and acquaintances outside the immediate family ought to be reminders of courtesy, sympathy, compliment and felicitation that will represent more than cost.

The cost-plus system in general giving in the holidays ought to be adopted; and plus takes in this higher value which does give more back to the giver than it ever transfers to the recipient.

USE OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

The local armouries have been used to great advantage during the autumn months for the operation of an indoor baseball league and while not serving the purpose perhaps for which the building was erected there seems no reason why there should not be a more general community use of structures of this kind.

Vast sums of the people's money have been invested in a string of armouries extending from coast to coast.

As militia headquarters they are in use or the principal part of them at least is in use only a fraction of the time.

Why could they not be employed for other community purposes more generally than has been considered destrable in teh past?

And the same thing is true of other public buildings.

Schools for example—is the community deriving all the benefit that might be obtained from its school buildings, used only a few hours a day and shut up altogether for almost one third of each year?

It is by no means clear that even from a educational standpoint is full value being obtained from the school buildings for by a two-shift system, double the results could be obtained from the same number of schools.

And so far as other community purposes are concerned the buildings have been practically of no benefit.

Is there any sound reason why they should not be?

DROWNING LED THE LIST.

The necessity of carrying out the recommendations made by Alvin P. Saunders, Provincial Organizer of the Ontario Safety League in regard to the elimination of water front hazards in Peterborough is indicated by figures just received by the Examiner from the League giving a list of the accidental deaths in Ontario last year.

It will be a matter for surprise that drowning accidents head the list by a wide margin and that automobile fatalities were tied for fourth place.

Drowning	357
Falls	128
Railway accidents	117
Automobile	108
Burns	108
Crushings	100
Firearms	65
Poisoning	65
Asphyxia	36
Electricity	35
Conflagration	35
Suffocation	29

Altogether there were 1482 accidental fatalities in Ontario last year.

That is an appalling list and when it is realized that almost twenty-five per cent. of the accidental deaths in Ontario were due to drowning the need of some attention to the matters referred to by Mr. Saunders in his report becomes manifest.

How many of those 347 people would be alive today if there had been more suprvised bathing beaches, more life saving appliances at dangerous points, more facilities ready at hand for recovering bodies and a greater knowledge of resuscitation methods, and greater supervision over the renting and fitting out of small boats?

TWENTY-FIVE NEW FAMILIES.

The "blue ruin" citizen who laments that Peterborough is "going to the dogs" and who is always ready in season and out to find fault with conditions in the city—although strange to say he continues to live here despite the number of trains leaving daily—should find something to think over in the figures quoted at this week's meeting of the Board of Education.

It is a favourite complaint of his that everybody is getting out of town and he is fond of telling you how many have left in the past year.

The intimation that during November twenty-five families with children of school age arrived in Peterborough while only one family with children left the city during the same time should cause Mr. B. Ruin and his ilk to wonder whether or not they have been mistaken in their assertions as to how fast Peterborough was going down hill.

A net gain in one month of twenty-four families is a splendid antidote for the poisonous gas spread by the croakers.

For each family represents a gain not only in population but in the demand for the necessaries of life and the whole community benefits as a result of their coming.

November's showing in this result should be particularly pleasing, especially if it will apply the gag to the individuals who delight in picturing the desintegration of the city which in spite of its alleged faults they refuse to abandon for the imagined advantages of some other centre.

THROUGH AMERICAN EYES.

There can be little doubt that if the politicians now in charge of French affairs continue in the direction they are going, the end will be disaster.

The trouble is that France is wholly obsessed by the idea of business nationalism. The eyes of her statesmen and of her people are blinded by the nation myth.

She seems to have learned nothing from the Great War, and to be determined to carry out the old system of power alliances and financial and economic imperialism.

She places her destiny upon the old rotten support of military strength and preparedness.

Her population has decreased by two million since 1913.

Her per capita annual income has decreased from one hundred and eighty-five dollars in 1913 to around one hundred and fifty dollars today.

Her national debt has increased from one hundred and sixty-six dollars per capita in 1913 to one thousand, six hundred and five dollars in 1923.

Her large industrial groups are getting more and more under cover and evading taxes on their wealth, while the tax-paying classes, those who live by their work and not by their investments, face heavier and heavier tax burdens. In other words, taxes are being shifted more and more from the rich to the poor.

The only end of this will be bankruptcy and repudiation, which are usually followed by revolution.

She is unable to pay even the interest on her debt to the United States and Great Britain. During the last twenty-five years she has never sold as much as she has bought.

Seventy-six cents out of every dollar she raises goes to debt interest, pensions and reparations, and she is still issuing bonds by the hundred million to pay her current expenses and to loan to her "little allies" for their standing armies to support France.

The Ruhr invasion was, economically, not a paying investment.

The only remedy would be to abandon her military programme, renounce the idea of being military dictator of Europe, which same idea was the ruin of Prussia and Germany, and bend her efforts toward peace and production.

There seems to be no indication that such a programme will be followed. The old hokum of national pride and glory and military force dominates France, as in the days of the two Napoleons.

The Great War, although it was a major surgical operation, revived this disease in France. There can be little doubt that if present tendencies continue another war is bound to come, and if not war, then revolution, anarchy and confusion.

Some time or other nations must learn that their only salvation is to quit fighting and quit getting ready to fight, and that they must co-operate with each other and realize that the prosperity of every nation depends upon the prosperity of every other nation.

There are a few enlightened minds in France who see this and are working for it. All we can do is to wish them success.—New York American.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Judging from his name the successful Conservative candidate in Halifax must have been a dark horse.

The last minute manifesto of Premier Baldwin to the electorate should be regarded by politicians everywhere as a model of brevity and clarity. Would that Canadian political leaders might take a leaf out of the Baldwin book!

The Halifax by-election result leaves Premier King with a minority in the House. It is not an enviable position, in spite of the fact that the chances of the rest of the House combining against the administration in a division are decidedly remote.

If there is anything in the theory that yesterday was "gauge" day for determinmg the weather for the winter months, the snow shovel will not be in very general demand this winter.

Judging by the fate of most of the money bylaws submitted in various municipalities in Ontario this week, the people are not in a spending mood.

Mr. McCausland, Toronto M.P.P., offered to show a number of W.C.T.U. members how the prohibition laws were being broken in Toronto. The offer, it should be understood, was open only to W.C.T.U. members, so there is no use anybody else wasting a three-cent stamp.

Irene Castle knows many dancing steps, but when it comes to matrimony she has evidently dropped the "hesitation" from her repertoire.

The Labour Party in Great Britain evidently has been converted to a belief in the closure in view of their tactics in silencing opposition speakers.

The municipal campaign is developing nicely. The Examiner will be glad to announce any new names in connection with the sweepstakes.

RAISE WATER LEVEL OF RHINE.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany Dec. 7.—(Associated Press)—Lake Constance, famed as the building place of German Zeppelins, is destined ultimately to become a reservoir to give the Rhine a steady flow of water so that even in summer the stream will be navigable.

The lake is an enclosed valley, and the Rhine passes through it. Forty miles long, and eight miles wide, it offers an excellent opportunity for the storage of water from the surrounding mountains which could be fed out, as the dry summer season advances, to maintain a serviceable level on the river.

More than 99 per cent of the original supply of coal in the United States is still unmined, recent statistics reveal.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, December 7. — Between the weather and the heavy receipts salesmen say they have had the worst market this week in several years. Every alley in the market had cattle for sale yesterday, and nobody wanted them except at the sacrifice prices. J. B. Shields was bid 4 1-4 cents for good medium butchers that would have sold last week at 5 1-4 cents.

Even the few good to choice butchers were depressed with the others, and some choice heifers that could have been sold on Monday at 6 1-4 cents a pound, stood with a bid of only 5 1-2 cents a pound yesterday.

Packers are well filled up with beef, and any immediate space will be wanted for the Christmas cattle, which should arrive next week.

John Rogers bought choice 1,200-pound heifers on Wednesday afternoon at 5 1-2 cents a pound, but these will have to be held ten days for shipment.

Yesterday morning's market was frightfully inactive, and a carry-over of at least 600 cattle is expected. One dealer in stockers has made a shipment to Lancaster, Pa., to try out that market. All classes of butchers, including cows, were offering at prices from 25 to 75 cents a cwt. below last week.

There was practically no market for calves yesterday, and prices remain unchanged.

Lambs closed the week strong. Light choice lambs were $12.50 a cwt., and lambs weighing 100 pounds each sold yesterday morning at $11.75 a cwt. Less than 3,000 lambs were received on the market this week, and this was responsible for the strong prices.

Hogs had a firmer undertone, although the packers did not raise the bid of $7.50 a cwt. f.o.b.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, December 6 (Canadian Press). — Wheat declined in price yesterday immediately after President Coolidge's references to agriculture became public here. The action of the market was generally ascribed to increased selling based on opinions that the message was less bullish regarding wheat than the majority of traders had looked for.

Wheat closed unsettled, a shade to 3-8c p. lower, December $1.04 3-4 to $1.04 3-4 to 7-8, and May $1.10 5-8 to $1.10 3-4.

Corn finished at a shade decline to 3-4c advance; oats a shade to 1-8c off; and provisions varying from 12c lower to 20c gain.

A moderately strong rally from the day's lowest prices on wheat on the hour and a half which intervened prior to the finish of trading. In some quarters this recovery was explained as being more or less due to predictions which were current that the general effect of the President's message would be to stimulate confidence that would be reflected in the stock market and by grain as well.

Firmness of the corn market was in some degree the result of a little export business.

Oats were steadied by the action of corn.

Notwithstanding weakness of hog values, rovisions averaged higher owing to dearth of offerings.

PROPOSED NEW GARBAGE AREA WAS EXCLUDED

Property Committee Decided it Could Not Accept Contractors' Offer to Collect From About Twenty Houses for $800

TAX RETURNS $20

An offer made by Messrs. Anglesay & Withers, successful bidders for next year's garbabe collection in the city to collect from a new district, taking in about 20 houses, for an additional sum of $800, was turned down by the Property Committee of the City Council last night.

At Monday's meeting of the City Council, two new areas were proposed, taking in part of Smith Street, Victoria avenue, and part of Aylmer street, from Manning Avenue to Smith street. In the latter section there are only six houses, and the total is about twenty houses. The City Council approved the inclusion of these sections, and referred the matter to the Property Committee to make arrangements.

The total tender as entered by the Messrs Anglesay and Withers and accepted by the council, was $8200, without the two sections later brought up, and the next lowest tender was $9100.

After the position of the committee had been explained to them, the principals in the contracting firm said the present contract price is away too low. Only one man, they said, can make a profit on the $8200 price, and that was because he grows his own feed. Make it the old contract price, and we'll be satisfied," they said.

Taxes Amount to.

The 1923 price was $9,000. City Clerk Armstrong informed the committee. For the twenty houses which it was desired to add, therefore, the city would be paying $800. The return in taxes for the purpose from this area would be about $20.

Ald. McIntyre: "Would you do it for $20?"

PREPARE HIGHWAY FOR ZERO WEATHER

Provincial Road Between Port Hope and Peterboro Levelled and Graded.

BAILIEBORO, Dec. 7. — The laborers who are employed on the Provincial Highway are busily engaged preparing the road for the winter's frosts. On account of the long open fall they are getting plenty of time to put the highway in splendid order. Nearly the entire road bed between Fraserville and Port Hope, has been covered with a splendid grade of gravel during the fall, and the drags are kept busy daily smoothing down the ruts in the road, and keeping the gravel in place.

The holes and rough places in the macadimized road lying between Fraserville and Peterboro have also been made level and the road is bound to be in good condition to receive the frosts whenever they see fit to set in.

On a great many of the side roads pains have been taken by the pathmasters to keep their roads in good shape. Gravel has been drawn and placed in any holes that might have come in the road during the wet weather. Drags have been used to keep the side roads smooth and in good shape to receive the frosts.

The roads throughout the country are the best they have been for years at this date.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

A SEYMOUR WILL IN OSGOODE HALL.

Last Will of Alex. Clark Haig Puzzles Court.

TORONTO, December 7. — The judge of the week at Osgoode Hall has been asked to construe the last will of the late Alex. Clark Haig, farmer of Seymour township, North umberland county, who drafted the document on Oct. 6, 1922, and died on May 8, 1923. Probate followed on June 29th, and now the executors through their counsel, C. W. Kerr, want the court to say what the testator meant and how his wishes may be met.

The will is unusual in more ways than one. A striking feature is the fact that the government is mentioned last, while in stern reality succession duties come first.

Haig was worth $28,311.11. A nephew and a namesake received the reality valued at $7,650, but there is a condition that he pay $5000 to the executors to help them defray the legacies. This nephew inherits $5000 under his father's will. It's in court and as he is only seventeen the $5000 does not become his for four years. It follows of course that he can't elect as to the $5000 string in his uncle's will until he's 21.

The farm stock represents $1500, and the furniture and machinery $288. If he accepts the stock he is to pay $750 for it at 21. He may work the farm if the executors deem it wise or wait till he is 21 or 25. If farming is not his forte the stock is to be sold, the young man getting $750.

But one theory is that even owner ship of the farm is really only one for life. On his death according to his uncle's will, it goes to his children. If he dies childless it is divided amongst the other nephews and nieces. The judicial eye is drawn to all this. These latter beneficiaries by the way divide legacies of about $17,400.

"I will have to wrestle with this," said the judge in reserving judgment at the close of the legal argument before him.

CAVAN INSTITUTE IN SEASON'S SPIRIT

Women Invoke Christmas With Gifts For Worthy Causes.

CAVAN, Dec. 7.—The Cavan Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Sutton on Thursday afternoon. The weather was disagreeable and the roads bad, yet there was a very good attendance.

There were twelve members and three visitors present.

The president, Miss McNeil, opened the meeting by having all join heartily in singing a verse and the chorus of "There's a long, long trail a winding."

After the usual routine business of the meeting was over, a discussion took place as to what should be done at the Christmas season in the spirit of "Peace on Earth, good will to men."

It was decided to send five dollars to Miss Rorke in Japan, to be used in relief work for victims of the earthquake. It was decided to try to send it with other money which is being sent to the same place from Cavan.

As is their usual custom, they also decided to send a box of Christmas cheer to someone nearer home.

Miss McNeil then gave an excellent report of the Provincial Institute convention which she had attended in Toronto.

Every person enjoyed the report and a hearty vote of thanks was tended Miss McNeil.

Ideas for Christmas gifts were exchanged; several different articles brought by the members were exhibited. Lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Miss Ruth Sharp, Ebenezer, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. R. S. Staples.

Miss Telford is the guest of Mrs Loyd Sutton.

STATESMEN COURT TURKISH VOTERS.

ZAGREB, Crotia, Dec. 7.—(Associated Press)—In three of the Balkan states, Jugoslavia, Bulgaria and Greece, it is the habit of the Turkish residents to cast a solid vote. They are dominated largely by religious interests, seek their own advantage and never throw down their political leaders. Hence the premiers of these three countries are showing solicitude for the resident Turks, and endeavoring to get them lined up for governmental candidates in forthcoming elections.

NEW CAVAN SIDING MAY BE PERMANENT

C. N. R. Would Serve Community Instead of Proposed Road to C.P.R. at Dranoel.

CAVAN, Dec. 7.—The G.T.R. passes through Mr. T. A. Kelly's property where the timber is being cut for Mr. Cody. Surveyors were looking over the ground this week with a view to putting in a siding to load the lumber. If they do this, it would be a good idea for the people of this vicinity to petition the company to make a permanent affair and place a flag station there, especially if the C.P.R. fail to build a road in to Dranoel Station.

This point is about one-half mile from Dranoel. The people do not care which railroad they patronize, provided accommodation is given.

The community is bothered with crossings on all sides of Cavan Centre and yet have to drive several miles to a station on either track.

Need Sanitary Officer.

There is great need of the health officer visiting Cavanville. There are hunters and trappers there, who, when they skin the animals, simply throw the carcasses outside. The weather has been so mild that the decaying remains cause an offensive odor, which is a menace to the health of the residents.

Ice Rub Keeps Her Cheeks Abloaming

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—How she discovered the secret of beauty Mrs. Duff Cooper—formery Lady Diana Manners—at first refused to say, but as she stood today in a huge studio, waiting to rehearse her lead in the stage spectacle, "The Miracle," she polished a peach bloom cheek with a round, smooth crystal lump and confided her recipe to a breathless girl reporter.

"Ice," she whispered the magic formula. "That's it. Ice. Whenever I think of it I rub a lump of ice on my face, nose, eyes, ears—everything. Night, morning or any time, like now. Ice keep the flesh firm, and that's beauty."

WESTERN PEOPLE TRYING TO GET LOWER EXPRESS

"There Are Always Applications for a Reduction," Chairman Frank B, Carvell Interposed.

CALGARY, Alta., Dec. 7.— Demanding to know how many applications for reduction in express rates had been made to the Canadian Express Traffic Association and to the board, Frank Ford, K.C., of Edmonton, representing the Alberta government yesterday, stated to the Board of Railway Commissioners that it was the general opinion in the west that the present application by the association for an advance of rates was being made to stall off a possible application for a reduction.

"Is it not true that there have been 204 such applications?" asked Mr. Ford.

To this C. N. Ham, chairman of the Express Association said; "I have not the slighest idea."

"There are always applications for reduction," Chairman Frank B. Carvell interposed. "If they carried stuff for nothing somebody would apply for a bonus."

Many protests against the increased rates were entered during the morning session and letters were introduced showing that the last increase in rates had simply cut down the volume of goods shipped by express.

A HEAVY FOG IN THE OLD COUNTRY

People Could Not See the Results of the Election on Screen — Heaviest Fog in Years.

LONDON, December 7 (Canadian Press Cable). — The man in the street could not learn how the elections come out last night, because there was too much fog. He and his neighbours, their wives and children, flocked to the main centres of the city by tens of thousands after supper to see the returns flashed on the screens and moving electric ticker tapes.

But just about the time the first returns were coming in, vast clouds of the heaviest fog in years settled down upon the entire metropolis, and in a few minutes the man in the street could hardly recognise his wife at the end of his arm, let alone the screen on the building across the way.

Trafalgar Square was packed with people when the fog became so thick that they could not see the famous lions or the towering Nelson Monument.

In Oxford Street, a department store which had arranged to flash the returns and had gathered together some of the best known cartoonists in England to the side of a lantern operator to draw sketches based on the results, kept the crowd assembled there from going home by using megaphones to announce the returns.

Hawkers shouted such wares as coloured sausage balloons and rattlers, but nobody wanted to buy a plaything that a person ten yards away could not see; so the hawkers hurriedly acquired a stock of cough drops, which are always in demand when the fog gets thick.

Soon the crowd found little thrill in listening to megaphoned voices out of the darkness; so they, too, gave it up, and started grooing their way homeward. It was then close to midnight.

CHURCH BAZAAR AT LAKEFIELD

Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Society Realized Substantial Sum From Effort.

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 7.—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church held their annual bazaar on Wednesday afternoon in the church schoolroom. The room had been tastefully decorated, and in spite of the bad weather the ladies did a thriving trade all afternoon and disposed of an attractive and varied assortment of wares.

Mrs. W. J. Charlton and Miss M. Sanderson were in charge of the fancy work table, the contents of which varied from a baby's jacket to an embroidered luncheon set and from a beautiful homespun work bag to a pair of trousers and blouse for a small boy.

Miss Fitzgerald and Miss E. Blewett had the apron stall on which were displayed several varieties of the apron family ranging from the indispensable "all over" to the "flossy" little tea aprons. These ladies also had hand made baskets which found quick sale.

The little bower where the handkerchiefs were to be found was under the care of Mesdames Chas. Thomson and Geo. Hendren. There is always a demand for dainty "hankies" especially for Christmas and the ladies stock in trade rapidly diminished.

The domestic science table with home made bread (this vanished as it was sold almost as soon as it appeared), toothsome cakes, tea biscuits and pies was presided over by Mrs. Bruce Garbutt and Miss Blewett.

Mrs. Morton and Miss M. Adams were busy at the candy table which was the mecca of the small boy and also attracted plenty of custom from the adults.

The stall containing the vegetables, fruits, flowers and even some fresh meat attracted the housewives and the contents were easily disposed of. Misses Morrison, Preston and Adams were the ladies in charge. Mrs. H. J. Sutton was the tea hostess and was assisted by Mrs Bailey and Mrs. J. M. Simpson and Misses Helen Burgess and Jean Ridpath.

Mrs. Charles Lake with her parcel post department shared the honors with the candy table as being the most attractive sport for the children who flocked about her and quickly bought her wares.

Mrs. James Walton and Mrs. T. Braden received the visitors and acted as hostesses for the bazaar.

The financial returns were satisfactory.

Movie Entertainment.

The second of the series of moving picture entertainments given under the auspices of the Young People's League of the Methodist Church, was held on Tuesday night in the church. The story was the well known story of David and Jonathan, the picture bringing the scene before the audience in a realistic manner. The setting was extremely good and the acting splendid. The enduring friendship of these young men and the thrilling story of their lives is especially timely in these days when friendship is apt to be a very temporary arrangement.

The attendance was very gratifying in spite of the inclement weather.

Attended Concert.

Among those from the village who attended Dame Clara Butt's concert on Tuesday night were Miss Edna Braden, Mrs. A. B. Burrows, Miss Corkery, W. H. Casement, Mrs Faucett, Mr. and Miss Graham, Miss Hampton, Miss Lennox, Miss Nelson, Miss Ray, Dr. G. E. Renwick and Mr. and Mrs. S. Sutton.

Miss Dell Watson was the hostess of a jolly little party at her home on Queen street on Tuesday evening.

TRAIN YOUNG PRINCE FOR HUNGARIAN THRONE

BUDAPEST, Dec. 7.—(Associated Press)—Political gossip is dwelling just now on the deep interest shown by certain Hungarians in the education of Prince Otto, eldest son of Karl, late Emperor of Austria and King of Hungary.

Otto, eleven years old, is in Spain. Leaders of Hungarian royalists, including Counts Andrassy and Szechen and Bishop Mikes are fearful of the predomination of Austrian influences in the boy's education and have demanded, it is said, a clear cut Hungarian education for him.

The Royalists have received with satisfaction the news that members of the Hapsburg dynasty have renewed their oath of loyalty towards Otto, pledging themselves to respect the priority of all his claims.

KEEP IN FASHION, WATCH THE MOVIES

When You Go to the Movies Keep a Close Eye on the Popular Actress of the Play.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 7. — When you go to the movies, keep a close eye on the popular actress of the play.

Likely as not she will be wearing just the kind of creation you'd like to have; just the kind of dress most suited to your taste and needs.

More likely, even, the star of the movies will be showing you the latest model fashion has decreed for the coming season. In fact, she will try to go even further and anticipate the trend of fashion for at least half a year.

The reason for this is that movies last so long, going their rounds of the country, the star's costumes would be considered old-fashioned toward the end of the movies' run. The costumers for the films have the additional problem of selecting a mode before the scenes are taken, and yet having their designs at the height of fashion when the film is exhibited.

Examples.

Yet it is generally safe to appropriate for oneself the modes shown on the films. Here are the cases of two actresses, for example, to show how successfully they anticipated the styles of today.

When you see Jacqueline Logan in "Flaming Barriers," you may notice her in an afternoon dress that is supreme today. It is an accordion-plaited nutria brown georgette. Ruffles of ecru lace and pearl buttons range down the sleeves and straight down the left side from shoulder to hem. Her hat also is of nutria brown, with plaited roll brim. Tan suede oxfords with brown leather openwork finish the costume.

Suitable, Too.

In this picture she comes out in a girlish afternoon frock that matches her brown eyes. A plain overblouse of cerise georgetee tops a skirt designed with layers of cerise georgette ruffles over a cream-tinted taffeta slip. Long drooping sleeves, ruffled about the cuffs, give a touch of personality to the costume.

These are only two of the numerous fashion suggestions a woman can glean from viewing a popular movie.

The play isn't all for many women. To them the actress and her taste for dress are almost, if not just, as important.

PACKERS TELL HOW MEAT IS SELECTED.

Cheaper Cuts Are More Savory Than Expensive If Properly Prepared — Some Hints.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. — (United Press).—Sirloins, tenderloins, porterhouse steaks and rib roasts would be, comparatively, a drug on the market if housewives were familiar with cheaper cuts of beef, according to the National Livestock and Meat Board here.

One fourth of a carcass of dressed beef costs more retail than the other three-fourths, say the packers, and cheaper cuts are much more savoury when properly prepared than expensive steaks and roasts. Rump roasts, hamburger and roundsteak should not be despised but exalted, the board holds.

The effort to secure "choice" cuts and not the high cost of raising, shipping, packing and marketing meat is held responsible for meat selling at 40 to 60 cents a pound. If there were more demand for "second" cuts, comparative costs would be equalized, the board claims.

Loin and rib cuts are classified as choice. They are in most demand because they are easier to prepare rather than because of tenderness and flavor. On the other hand, shanks, rounds, rumps, flanks, chucks and briskets require longer cooking to be as palatable as the steak which can be cooked by the "busy" housewife after an afternoon of bridge. The fireless cooker is recommended to remedy that.

Nor should the heart, kidneys, liver, tongue—even the tail—be neglected. These are preferred by the epicures when properly cooked. Oxtail soups, liver, hearts, brains and sweetbreads supply the needed mineral matter, according to the board, and should be included frequently in the family menu. "Iron" and calves' brains are synonymous, it argues.

Careful study of meat charts, personal trips to market, experimenting with "undiscovered" cuts and preparing meat in a variety of ways are recommended, both for trimming the family budget and improving the family's health.

In selecting the best meat, the board's bulletin offers the following as a guide:

Beef—Firm, of even texture, bright red in color and streaked or "marbled" with fat through the lean flesh. The suet would be white or cream color.

Veal—Less firm than beef and pink in color, with little "marbling."

Pork—Dark pink in color, with the fat less hard than beef suet.

Lamb—Pale or a light dull red and firm. The fat should be firm and creamy white.

Mutton—Darker red and the fat slightly tinged with yellow.

BANKERS TO CHICAGO

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(United Press).—The 1924 convention of the American Bankers' Association will be held here in Chicago, it is announced by F. N. Shepherd, executive manager of the organization.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—An experiment in shipping peaches to England has proven successful.

LETTERS ON POLICE CAR UPKEEP

To Editor Examiner:—

I am not desirous to get into a newspaper controversy or to get my name unnecessarily in your paper. I might say this is my first time to write a letter to your paper other than an address in the election, and would respectfully ask you to allow me space for a few lines.

In your issue of yesterday my name was one that was mentioned in connection with a contradiction by Chief Newhall of figures published last week as expenditures on the police car. I am not familiar with the system of book-keeping in effect in the Treasurer's office—that is, I cannot say if separate accounts are kept for "Repairs"—(overhauling), tires, tubes, batteries, auto top and curtains, chains, license, motor league, oil, grease, gas, lamps, rentals, car hire, etc., etc. Nor do I know of there is a separate account for "Education Fees."

But I will say the following figures for 1922 were handed to me by F. Adams, City Treasurer, a very reliable officer, and I believe them to be correct. The figures for 1923 have not been as yet audited, but I have confidence enough in Mr. Adams figures to quote them. And for information to citizens as to expenditures on the car, I am asking you to please publish both 1922 and 1923 figures as well as some other figures that should interest the citizens.

Below are a few items that do not appear in 1922 or 1923 accounts, being accounts contracted in 1922 and paid in 1923.

I have taken the stand that expenditures have been too great, whether the Chief calls them repairs, oil or gas—or Education accounts.

I will stand by these figures as the expenditure on car, etc., and will make the proposition to Chief Newhall on the strength of figures printed today.

I will ask Mayor Taylor to call a special meeting of Council, and I will tender my resignation as Alderman if he will tender his resignation as Chief of Police, and I will allow my name to be on this year's ballot if he will allow a question to go on the ballot as to whether the citizens want him or me back in our respective office.

I am not trying to withdraw any statement I've made in connection with expenditures on the car, nor am I trying to make expenditures more. This is reason for asking publication of all figures and explanation. If the citizens want to allow Chief Newhall to draw his own conclusions as to how the Treasurer should keep his accounts, and if they are not kept under separate headings to suit him, I would suggest he see Mr. Adams as he is one of our most approachable officials, and discuss the matter with him. The past Councils have been satisfied and why should Chief of Police or I dissect accounts as we choose.

The people are the judges and jury and court and public opinion, and if I have quoted wrong figures I will cheerfully accept their verdict.

I will be pleased to meet the Chief and make an agreeable arrangement if satisfactory to the Mayor, Council and Police Commission and to ourselves, and promise herein I will not walk by him and not return his salute as he did to me oh Tuesday afternoon on George St.

M. J. MAHER.

In reference to appended bill certified to by Chief Constable, he apparently lays great strain on word over hauling. Were you to accept his definition of overhauling and deduct $85.00 for painting car, from his his certified bill you have $506.63. Why does he not deduct—3 items of oil $2.00, $3.25 and $1.35, leather and rubbers? If above are deducted, he is wrong If added to and I believe they are expenditures he is wrong in his figures.

Certified Correct, (Signed) Samuel Newhall, C.C.

Received Payment July 4, 1923.—White & Ackford, (per L.)

Ald. J. Crowe's Statement.

Now, Mr. Chief Newhall, I do not dispute the White & Ackford account. But I am taking in all the repair accounts on the car for the year 1923 rendered and paid up to the time that you gave evidence in court, viz.:

The question was asked by Mr. G. N. Gordon:

"A.—No; not a joy-riding machine at all, and the repairs on the car didn't amount to over $600.00."

For comparison in gasoline accounts, not included:

Charged to police car, 1320 gallons, cost $389.15½ for eleven months of 1923.

Gasoline for Fire Department for the same period, $156.06.

JOSEPH CROWE.

A CITIZEN'S LETTER

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—After reading the various speeches of the City Councillors on Monday night's meeting, I was amazed to note the publicity this city is receiving at the hands of a few men, surely to refuse and ignore their City Solicitor's advice and particularly one Alderman ignoring the wisdom of a learned barrister's letter is to say the least, impertinent They may well say, supposing the guardians of the law were to quit, what will we do, that question was not long being clearly answered by Chief Newhall and his loyal staff, who said the citizen's will not be left unprotected, even if the Council are doing everything to disorganize us, they could if it were not unwise to enter into a controversy, have said a great deal more, but wise men hold their counsel. How long is this farce going to last and who is going to pay the ever mounting and expensive costs incurred by all this nonsense.

The amount the Council unwisely slashed (not pruned) from the police estimates will not begin to pay for their folly and could have been spent to much better advantage.

Yours Sincerely,

A much disgusted ratepayer.

WAGON DAMAGED BY AUTOMOBILE

Accident to Wilbert Jones Last Evening

Wilbert Jones suffered a dislocated shoulder yesterday evening when he was dragged from his seat in a delivery waggon which was struck by an auto on McDonnel street. His waggon was damaged to some extent, and the auto suffered slight damages.

Jones, who resides at 282 Romaine street, and is employed by Stevens and Co., 186 George street, was driving his waggon east on McDonnel street between the Collegiate Institute and George street, when the accident occurred at 6.15. The car, owned by Gerald Dunsford and driven by Matoucho Ronco, of 544 Dongal street, was proceeding west, and struck the waggon about the front wheel.

The horse was freed from the waggon by the shock, and in bolting it dragged Jones to the roadway, dislocating his shoulder.

Ronco said Jones was driving near the centre of the road, but admitted he himself was not keeping his position near the sidewalk on his side. He was not travelling over ten miles an hour, he said, and was corroborated in this by Jones.

Jones claims he was driving as close as he could to the sidewalk on the proper side of the roadway in an attempt to keep clear of the auto.

The horse was caught by Thomas Dawson at the corner of McDonnel and George streets.

MANY NATIONS INTERVENE IN CHINESE RAID

British, French, Japanese and American Vessels Rushed to Canton to Prevent Capture of Custom House by Sun Yat Sen.

LANDING EFFECTED

(By Ray Marshall.)

PEKIN, December 6 (United Press). — French and British intervened to-day to prevent Sun Yat Sen, the former dictator of South China, who now is warring against the Government of the North, from seizing the Custom House at Canton.

The Southern general had announced his intention of taking over the Customs, which are under foreign control, although the money is paid to the Northern Government.

British marines joined a French landing party, which fortified the Customs Building, it is reported, and other foreign gunboats stood by, supporting the landing.

When visited by the British commander-in-chief and the French admiral, Sun Yat Sen is quoted as promising non-interference, "if the measures you take are sufficient to prevent me."

Many Nations on Watch.

Parties of marines from foreign gunboats anchored off Canton are reportel to have taken possession of the Custom House there, and troops are said to be equipped with machine guns, says a despatch from Hong Kong.

Six foreign gunboats are known to be anchored off Shameen. They include two American vessels, Asiaville and Pamphanga, the British ships Cicala and Moorhen, and the French gunboats Maliciense and Craonne.

The British flotilla has also been strengthened by the arrival of the gunboats Magnolia with Admiral Deveson aboard, and Tarantula, according to later advices received here.

The Japanese gunboat Matsu and the destroyer Sugi also have arrived at Canton, advices state.

BURNED SKELETON FOUND IN COTTAGE

Edward Sailstad Was Arrested on a Charge of Arson by Request of the Superior Wisconsin Authorities Yesterday.

NAPA, Cal., December 6 (Canadian Press). — Three years after being burned, the skeleton was found in his summer cottage at Lake Nebagammon, Wisconsin, and identified and buried as his, Edward Sailstad, former president of Eau Claire, Wis., Phonograph Manufacturing Company, was arrested near here yesterday at the request of the Superior, Wisconsin, authorities on the charge of arson.

With him was Dorothy Anderson, of Chicago, his stenographer, who was held for further questioning.

Sailstad confessed, according to Thomas C. Anglim, District Attorney, that he had robbed the grave of Allen McFee, placed the body in the cottage, fired the structure, and fled with Miss Anderson.

It was to solve financial difficulties which had beset him, as head of the Phonograph Company, as well as to cover his flight with the stenographer, with whom he was in love.

JAMES J. COOPER TOOK A DOSE OF CARBOLIC ACID

A Verdict of Suicide Was Returned Last Night by Coroner's Jury.

BROCKVILLE, Dec. 6.—A verdict of suicide by carbolic acid poisoning was last night returned by the coroner's jury investigating the death of James J. Cooper, aged 64, whose body was found underneath a loading platform adjoining the Whyte Packing Company plant, last Thursday. Evidence was offered to show that Cooper had been much depressed because of ill-health and that he frequently expressed a wish "to be out of the world."

FRANCE IS READY TO SAY NO AGAIN

No Priority Right Over Reparations Payments

PARIS, Dec 6.—(United Press.)—Even before the request was received, France is ready with a firm "no" to the suggestion that Germany be permitted to raise a bond loan with which to buy her winter food. The proposals would involve priority over reparations and while Great Britain is understood to favor it, the French and Belgians do not. If the United States wishes to grant such a loan to Germany—the sum of $70,000,000 has been proposed—sequestered German property might be used as security, the French say, but France will not permit any further priorities over reparations such as would be involved if German bonds were floated in England and in the United States. Unanimous consent of the Reparations Commission is necessary before Germany may offer bonds abroad.

Today's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, December 6th. — United Press. — The business news which appeared over night was highly constructive, setting forth a sharp decline in crude oil output and a pronounced gain in the sales of chain store companies, like Kresge and Woolworth.

With Congress organized on a satisfactory basis, stocks began to discount the constructive message expected at noon from President Coolidge and a buoyant tone was evidenced in the early dealings. Tobacco products was an outstanding feature of the industrial specialists soaring to a new high on the movement at 71 on heavy sales. Stocks continued to display marked buoyancy through the first hour. Extraordinary activity was maintained in the low priced rails and further substantial gains were scored by Erie, St. Louis South Western, Southern Railway and M. K. and T. Among the industrials, specialties were still favored, Manhattan Shirt spurted five points, in response to reports that the dividend would be increased to $4 from the present $3 rate. Manhattan's business is running at a record and the plants are well sold ahead. Earnings this year are expected to be around $8 a common share.

No let-up occurred in the demand for stocks in the late morning, and bullish demonstrations went ahead in every part of the list. Columbia gas went into new high ground on the movement at 34 3-4, reflecting completion of forced liquidation of some middle western holdings.

Motors were a strong group, Mack Trucks, Studebaker and Chandler reaching best levels of the current up-swing.

MR. J. H. BURNHAM ON HALIFAX ELECTIONS

Objects to Government Ownership Policy of Mr. Meighen.

Commenting on the result of the Halifax bye-election today which resulted in the election of the Conservative candidate by a large majority Mr. J. S. Burnham, said "It seems to me that the issue was simply that of whether the maritime provinces would have production for the benefit of the young men or send these young men wherever the goods are produced, which is the United States. This desolation of the maritime provinces simply means they will have to have a higher tariff. But this Mr. Meighen has a policy of government ownership which would mean that the manufacturer, if he ever got the reins of power, or any other section of the nation, would have the rest of the country at its mercy. Government ownership is not tariff protection."

AND HEAVY ONE, TOO!

His wife had a cold, and could not go to church. But she insisted that he should go in her place. "Well," she inquired on his return, "and what was the burden of the vicar's sermon?" He sat down with a weary sigh. "All of it, my dear," he said. —London Daily Express.

CHEER UP!

Why double other people's woes by looking grim and grey?
Let's whistle up a hope or two to chase the fears away!

Say—what's the use of envying the feasts we haven't got?
Let's count the currants in our buns 'twill cheer us up a bit.

We won't talk glibly, dismally, of trouble, grief, and loss—
We'll chat of blessings, thankfully, and hide each petty cross.

For don't we know—of course we do—life must have tracks of care?
But still it has some sunny smiles—thank God that they are there!

ALL TEACHER'S FAULT.

A schoolboy who had brought home excellent weekly reports at the beginning of last term, returned with unsatisfactory reports toward the end.

"How is it you are not doing so well?" asked his father anxiously.

"It's teacher's fault," was the reply. "He's moved the boy that sat next to me." — People's Home Journal.

DECORATIONS ARE VERY DANGEROUS

Constant Vigilance and Care Must Be Exercised to Prevent Fires at This Period of the Year.

Fire Chief Gimblett has received the following warning from the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association:

Following our usual custom of pointing out these dangers at this season of the year, from Christmas decorations such as draperies, scenery, cotton to represent snow, etc., which are very inflammable. To prevent any danger these decorations should be soaked in commercial ammonia phosphate, which will offer considerable resistance to fire until again washed. This mixture gives the best results when one pound of phosphate is mixed with a gallon of water.

If this is not practicable, a few simple rules can be followed:

See that inflammable material is clear of and not hung over heating and lighting devices.

See that your electrical circuits are properly fused and not overloaded by the addition of temporary lights.

Examine your fire extinguishing devices and see that they are in proper order.

See that all exits are plainly marked and not obstructed.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Clive Roberts Barton

LUMPITY, LUMPITY

"Humpty Dumpty," said the Riddle Lady, "you must not get offended at my new riddle."

"Humpty Dumpty," said the Riddle Lady, "you must not get offended at my new riddle. It isn't about you at all. It just sounds as though it was. It's called Lumpity Lumpity, and the answer is not an egg. It is something entirely different and cannot be eaten. Is everybody ready?"

"Yes!" shouted all the Riddle Land people, for every one was anxious to see who would get the prize today. The Twins decided not to guess too hard, for already, since coming to Riddle Land, they had guessed most of the answers.

"Well, then here it is," smiled the Riddle Lady. "Put on your thinking caps.

"Lumpity Lumpity's up in the air,
Sometimes he's round, sometimes he's square,
Sometimes thin, but often thick,
His suit is stone and trimmed with brick.

"Lumpity Lumpity's breath is hot,
Perhaps it's fever, but I think not,
Summer's heat nor winter's chill,
Ne'er caused Lumpity a doctor bill.

"Lumpity Lumpity likes to smoke,
Keeps it up till you'd think he'd choke.
Wig-wags messages to the stars.
Sends up news to the folk on Mars.

"Lumpity Lumpity's mouth's so wide,
That birds and sweeps can get inside.
And Santa Claus so round and fat,
Has no more trouble than thin Jack Sprat.

"He slides right down with his bag of toys,
And Lumpity laughs but makes no noise.
An' holds his breath till Santa's gone,
In his little sleigh by reindeer drawn.

"What is it?"

"I know! I know! We know!" cried everybody at once.

"My, my! I must have made it too easy," laughed the Riddle Lady.

And now, my dears, I'm not going to tell you what the Riddle Lady said the answer was. As it is such an easy riddle, perhaps you can guess it for yourselves. But let me whisper this: It begins with ch—."

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour Gassy Stomach and Acid Ingestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion you have already tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know that these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but the pure Bisurated Magnesia, which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach, which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little Bisurated Magnesia immediately after a meal you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

RADIO AMATEURS MAY KEEP TRAINS MOVING ON TIME

If Wires Go Down This Winter Along the Traffic Route of the Sante Fe Railway Radio Will Be a Great Help.

LA JUNTA, Colo., Dec. 5.—If the wires go down this winter in the blizzard swept states of Colorado Kansas and Idaho along the traffic route of the Santa Fe railroad, which has its headquarters in this city, radio amateurs are prepared to piece together the tangled web of communication and keep trains moving on schedule.

In view of the terrific storms which have disorganized railroad traffic in Colorado and vicinity, this special emergency plan by which radio will be used to dispatch trains has been worked out by representatives of the Santa Fe and Norman R. Hood, manager of the Rocky Mountain Division of the American Radio Relay League.

This is the first step taken by the League in connection with its co-operation with the American Railway Association, a committee of which is now being selected to work out a nation program for radio relief in railroad emergencies. Details of the tentative arrangement for the immediate protection of the Santa Fe have been worked out by M. O. Davis, district superintendent of the A.R.R.L. and traveling air brake engineer for this western railroad system.

He has drilled a number of amateurs in relay work until he now has six good stations along his route in daylight range of each other with the possible exception of the extreme western section of the state. The Denver-Billings route is complete according to Mr. Hood, and dispatchers will soon be notified of the definite plans.

"When amateurs in Utah have linked up with the route," he says, "we will have the Santa Fe covered from Kansas to the Idaho border, across the division and the C. & S. and C. B. & Q. from Denver to Billings, Mont. The next time a storm tears things to pieces, we are pretty sure that we can meet the emergency by means of amateur radio."

RADIO MAY UNITE N. AND S. AMERICA.

It is not improbable that the tremendous expanse of 5,000 miles between this country and Argentina may be covered by radio during the fourth series of transatlantic tests organized by the American Radio League between December 22nd and January 10th. In response to the urgent request of members of the Radio Club of Argentina the A.R.R.L. is sending a schedule of the tests to South America.

As the tests this season will be primarily a listening contest for American and Canadian amateurs, this will mean that amteurs in this counry in addition to tuning up their receivers for incoming signals from France and England, will listen also for the faint notes of C. W. stations operated by their South American brothers.

A communication addressed to the A.R.R.L. from amateurs in Argentina state that between twenty-five and thirty transmitting stations are prepared to send their signals on schedule time. They will base their calculations on Greenwich Mean Time.

The greatest obstacle with which the South American amateurs will have to contend in sending their signals as far north as the United States is the difference in temperature and atmospherics which are bound to accompany their summer climate.

The radio technical publication called the Revista Telegraphica" is interested in South American amateur participation.

The radio technical p

While radio has progressed in Argentina to the extent that amateurs are able to cover distances between 500 and 1,000 miles by radio telephone, their CW code transmitters of course have a much better range and in fact their range has never been proven to the satisfaction of the respective operators.

STILLMAN CASE BEFORE COURTS

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—James A. Stillman made another effort yesterday to overthrow Supreme Court decisions denying him a divorce and upholding the legitimacy of Baby Guy Stillman. The court reserved decision after hearing four hours' argument.

His attorney appeared before the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn and argued that the decisions, rendered by Supreme Court Justice Morschauser on recommendtaion of a referee, were rendered after letters alleged to have been written by Mrs. Stillman to Fred Beauvais, Indian guide co-respondent, were thrown out of the record.

Former Governor Nathan Miller, chief counsel for the banker, centred his attack on the admissibility of these letters as evidence. He maintained that their authenticity had been proved in divers ways and that the referee had erred in ruling them out.

Bought Letters.

Isaac Mills, counsel for Mrs. Stillman, denied, however, that the letters had been written by the banker's wife, declaring they had been written by Beauvais. Mr. Miller, a short time before, had admitted that the banker's attorneys had paid the Indian guide $15,000 for several of the letters.

Mr. Miller spent two hours in a lengthy review of the entire litigation. He asserted that early in 1920, 280 days before Guy's birth, the following November, Beauvais joined Mrs. Stillman at her country home, at Pleasantville, N.Y., at her telegraphic request. Although she said she brought him from Canada to chop wood, because of a labor shortage, Mr. Miller declared she housed him in her home and not in the servants' quarters. No other members of the family were with Mrs. Stillman during the Indian's story, Mr. Miller declared.

After visiting with Beauvais in Canada in February of the same year, he added, Mrs. Stillman the following month visited doctors in Boston, Buffalo and Providence, seeking relief.

Dr. Russell, a Buffalo osteopath, testified before the Referee that Mrs. Stillman told him that Beauvais was the father of her expected child, Mr. Miller declared. Dr. Russell also testified that Mrs. Stillman told him she had written this fact to Mr. Stillman. The Referee ruled out the letter, (the so-called "Confession Letter") and Dr. Russell's testimony, on the ground that they were privileged communications and necessary to the doctor in his treatment of her mental trouble. The doctor has denied that such communications were necessary.

"The letter she wrote is here. She does confess she was going to have an Indian baby. Of course, it was confidential, but when she published it to the doctor ,we insist that the fact that she wrote it removes the seal of confidence."

Answering criticism that Stillman had kept Mrs. Stillman in his home for a year and a half after the birth of Guy, Mr. Miller declared that the banker had done so in an effort to "lock his shame in his home." He added:

"We have it from Mrs. Stillman's own lips that it was she who precipitated this unfortunate controversy."

He defended the purchase of the letters from Beauvais, declaring "payment of money for them does not change the meaning of them," and concluded:

"The wrong that has been done Stillman can never be erased. Shall the court judicate a fraud? Shall the son of an Indian pass as a child of white blood?"

"Beauvais had been bought before the letters he sold had been introduced," Mr. Mills declared, in answering Mr. Miller. "Beauvais is the author of these letters. One has but to read them and their crudities and misspelled words to learn that Mrs. Stillman, an educated and refined woman, could never have written them."

In denying Mr. Miller's contention that Mrs. Stillman had been permitted to remain in the home of her husband after Baby Guy's birth because Stillman wanted to "lock his shame in his home," Mr. Mills declared that the banker had not at that time accused his wife of infidelity.

IS YOUR NAME WRITTEN HERE?

Have You Accepted the Opportunity to Get Well, Be Strong and Happy?

Or, Do You Continue to Drag Along the Victim of Stomach Trouble, Catarrh, Weak Kidneys, Rheumatism, Sluggish Liver, Constipation and Impure Blood, When Relief is so Near at Hand?

Hundreds of citizens in this city and vicinity have taken advantage of the chance to rid themselves of those troubles in an economical way. They have given Dreco, the great root and herb remedy, a fair trial and proclaim it satisfactory in every way.

The names published here are persons who have purchased three or more bottles of Dreco. Some of them you possibly know. These responsible citizens find Dreco a pleasant remedy, which is convincing evidence that it is a medicine of real merit and one you can take with perfect confidence.

CONSTIPATION. When the bowels refuse to act regularly, the system becomes clogged with decaying matter. Results are diseased intestines, liver, kidneys and other ills. Dreco corrects constipation promptly, producing regular actions of an easy normal nature.

CATARRH is a disease often the result of a cold which the system was too weak to throw off and often leads to deafness. It should not go unattended. Dreco has proven highly successful in cases of catarrh of the nose, throat and stomach.

WEAK KIDNEYS. The kidneys are the filtering plant of the body. If the kidneys are weak and fail to strain the poisons from the blood, you have backache, painful joints, too frequent or too scanty flow from the bladder. Dreco promptly aids the kidneys.

LIVER DISORDERS, A sluggish, torpid liver leaves poisonous bile in the blood which upsets the whole system; dizzy spells, indigestion, oppression in the stomach, flatulency, coated tongue, headaches, constipation often follow. Dreco never fails to arouse a sluggish liver to full action.

STOMACH TROUBLE. When the digestion is weak the food we eat does not properly nourish the body. Gas in the stomach, pains, griping, choking sensation and risings are some signs of stomach trouble. No remedy offered the public has proven more successful than Dreco to overcome stomach trouble.

RHEUMATISM can cause more suffering than any other disease. Acute, Chronic, Muscular, Inflammatory, Lumbago and Sciatica are some of the forms of rheumatism over which Dreco has positive action to relieve. Many people declare Dreco brought relief after everything else failed.

POLLING BEGAN TODAY AT EIGHT O'CLOCK AND ALL PARTIES HOPEFUL

Polls Will Not Close Until Nine O'clock Tonight Result May Be in Doubt Until Tomorrow.

EXPECT SURPRISES

(By Wickman Steed, Former Editor the London Times, Editor Review of Reviews, Registered in Accordance with the Copyright Act, 1923).

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Polling began at eight o'clock this morning throughout the country. It will continue in many places until nine to-night. The results of some 244 constituencies will be declared before midnight, but the declarations of the remainder of the 371 contested seats will not be known until Friday evening.

Naturally all the parties are proclaiming their faith in their own triumph, Stanley Baldwin believes "the country is going to adopt the Government's policy by a vast majority. Labor headquarters in London say the minimum strength of the Laborites in the new Parliament will be 171, compared with 144 in the last. The Liberals are more cautious, declining to make any definite forecast, but suggesting that, if promises that have been made are fulfilled, everybody is in for a big surprise."

Surprises there will probably be. Some prominent politicians may find themselves unseated, and many confident calculations may be falsified by the play of incalculable factors like the women's vote. The closing contribution of Lord Rothermere to the campaign is exceedingly comic. Fearing after all lest Baldwin, whom he has done his best during the last three weeks to discredit, be beaten by the housewife vote, Rothermere exclaims plain and lively this morning: "Your food wont cost you more," but he still cannot bring himself to tell his readers frankly to vote for Baldwin. Indeed, the performances of the trustified press have been the one joyous feature of an unnecessary, confused and dangerous election.

How dangerous it may be gathered from the stream of continental observers arriving in London the last few days. It is as though Europe were holding its throat until it knows whether in the near future Great Britain will be a calculable quantity in international politics or not. The majority of these foreign inquiries assume that Baldwin will be sufficiently victorious to pursue a policy of agreement with France and the promotion of the settlement of Europe. The suggestion that the election will possibly entail a change of government fills them with apprehension, mitigated only by the hope that Viscount Grey of Falloden might then be the Foreign Secretary. The defeat of Baldwin on any serious displacement of the centre of political gravity in England might indeed affect the precarious stability of the European situation in a dozen ways.

This was clear from the beginning. The mystery of why Baldwin nevertheless plunged the country into an election has been harder than ever to solve since the unlikelihood of his getting a definite mandate to introduce Protection became clear even in the eyes of his immediate supporters. Collectively, the election will cost the candidates approximately $2,000,000. The cost to the country will be far greater. If the only result is to exchange the relatively settled position of the parties for a period of unsettlement, necessitating a series of general elections, the disatisfaction will be wide and deep.

But in truth all the political prophets and judges of public feeling are working in the dark. No precedent exists to guide them. The nearest analogy to this campaign was the election in the winter of 1905, when the Conservatives believed themselves to be winning, but were swept away by a wave of feeling that put the Liberals in power and kept theme there for ten years. Nobody knows the political temper of the new electorate. Last year's election gave no real clue, while the election turned entirely on the war and was influenced by the desire of the electorate to reward its faithful and valiant public men and punish the faithless of lukewarm. If it were known what meaning the rank and file of the electors attach to words like Protection and Free Trade, it would make it easier to prognosticate the result. To former political generations these words were symbols evoking almost religious fervour. Now hardly one voter in a thousand has ever heard of Cobden or been told of his fight for the abolition of the corn laws in the middle of last century. Public men are in the presence of a problem of new dimensions, if not of new quality. Not only is the electorate huger than ever before but far better educated and perhaps more intelligent than of old. Hence the impossibility of gauging public tendencies until to-night and to-morrow, when the ballot boxes will yield up their secrets.

PRICES LOW IN TURKEY MARKET

Buyers Offer 26c Dressed at King's Wharf — Farmers Needed Rain.

KING'S WHARF, Dec. 5.—Farmers are greatly disappointed in the turkey market. Last week the buyers were paying 28c. alive and now they won't buy them alive at any price and are only paying 26c. dressed. There are a number of flocks around here and the slump in prices was not expected. The price for geese and other fowl is unchanged. Geese are 18c. alive, ducks 14c. and chickens from 12c. to 16c. alive. Eggs are very scarce and are selling at 40c., while butter is plentiful at 35c.

Trucks Off Routes

The two cream trucks, Southworth's from Omemee and Flavelle's from Lindsay, who have been going through here all summer, have quit for this season, as all the people have quit milking owing to the shortage of water.

Threshers Are Through

The Pigeon River Syndicate threshing outfit and the Curtin Bros. have all finished threshing for the season and pulled their outfits home. It was a very good season and the crops were good but the prices are very low.

Welcomed the Rain

The rain was very welcome coming as it did and all the people were glad as most of them had to drive their stock to the lake for water. More is badly needed also as there is not nearly enough water yet.

The farmers have started plowing again since the fine weather came and we hope it will continue as the stock is all on the ranches yet and as long as the fine weather continues it is a great saving on feed.

The cattle buyers are numerous this last week around here and prices are looking up for a time the people thought they would have to keep their cattle over winter. However, the cattle around here are nearly all sold now.

BAD BLOOD PIMPLES AND BOILES Banished By Burdock Blood Bitters

Miss Irene A. Matthews, Stayner, Ont., writes:—"I thought I would write and tell you of the experience and benefit I have derived from Burdock Blood Bitters.

Some few months ago I was troubled with bad blood which broke out on my face in the nature of pimples, boils and ring-worm, and I got so bad I really did not know what to do.

I was ashamed to go anywhere, and the itching and burning caused such a terrible sensation I could get no relief day or night.

One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I used one bottle and felt quite a relief, and by the time I had taken 3 bottles I was completely relieved.

I cannot praise B.B.B. enough and I hope anyone afflicted like I was will get the same benefit I received."

Burdock Blood Bitters is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PRESENTATION TO MEMBERS OF CHOIR

Mrs. Leo Harrington and Mr. Albert Carroll, of Downeyville, Honored.

DOWNEYVILLE, Dec. 5.—On Friday evening the members of St. Luke's choir met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Harrington (nee Mary Milloy) and presented Mrs. Harrington with a beautiful mantle clock as a token of esteem from the choir of which she has been a member and also they presented Albert Carroll, another member who was recently married, with a smoking set. The weather was very unfavorable and and not as many were present who might have been had the weather been fine. However about thirty attended and an enjoyable time was spent in music, singing, card-playing and dancing. A delightful lunch was served by the hostess. Afterwards all went home wishing Mr. and Mrs. Harrington a long and happy wedded life.

Women's League

The Catholic Women's League of Downeyville held their annual meeting in the Parish Hall Monday evening for the purpose of electing officers and closing the business for the last year. The retiring president, Miss Mae O'Donnell, opened the meeting with an address and the secretary, Mrs. John Perdue, read her report, and the treasurer, Miss Reda Clancy. Mrs. Edward Costello reported from the convention at Cobourg. The election of officers followed: President, Mrs. Joseph Scully; 1st vice-president, Miss B. A. Morrissey; 2nd vice-president, Miss Rose Downey; 3rd vice-president, Miss Mary Piggott; Rec. secretary, Mrs. W. C. Herlihey; Cor. secretary, Mrs. John McGuire; treasurer, Mrs. Geo. O'Donnell.

The meeting then closed by an address from the secretary.

Successful Social

A very successful social was held in the hall at Downeyville Thursday evening. Progressive euchre was played at about thirty tables and Hooper's orchestra, of Lindsay, furnished music during the evening. After the cards a lunch was served by the ladies and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

There was a large crowd in attendance from Raeboro, Lindsay, Omemee and Dunsford.

St. Luke's Bazaar

The annual bazaar of the Women's Guild of St. Luke's Anglican Church commenced a two-day session in the Market Hall yesterday, where the ladies are conducting a sale of useful and fancy articles, home-made cooking, ice cream and soft drinks, fish pond and fortune-telling booth, with afternoon tea and supper later. A large enclosure is reserved for dancing, which takes place in the evening. Mrs. H. Butcher is the present head of the Women's Guild, and Mrs. G. J. Bousfield is general convenor of bazaar arrangements.

The booths are arranged about the side walls of the big Market Hall, leaving the centre free for patrons and dancers. The supper tables are at the right of the entrance, flanked by a small space for afternoon tea service. Large flags drape the windows, and a fringe of overhead pennants marks the tables, decorated with plants in bright red holders. In charge of the supper and afternoon tea tables are Mrs. Geo. Curtis and Miss M. Calcutt.

The booths are prettily decorated and contain every variety of pretty and useful things for Christmas gifts. The dolls, a good selection of rag and bisque and porcelain beauties, include all sorts, from the aristocratic lady who goes to sleep instantly to the rag baby and the brown hula dancer with a shredded wheat skirt and a black yarn wig. Little grey elephants and dolls' clothes accompany their owners at this table, which is arranged in red and yellow on a white lattice work, and is in charge of Mrs. H. Perry and Miss Leah Rogers.

Next door is a red-arched booth, fringed with yellow, and trimmed with deep red poinsettias. This is the candy booth, where home-made confections peep out of deep red paper roses and pink buds. Miss A. Nicholl has charge here.

Mrs. J. Butcher has the large square enclosure, done in stripes of black and white, where quilts, aprons and underwear are sold, and Mrs. T. H. Adams is in charge of the fancy goods sale, a counter trimmed with red and green paper and holly wreaths over a pretty trellis. Children's embroidered dresses, woollen goods and dainty linens are on view.

The "white elephant" booth, with its dainty trimmings of green and white, is the "old curiosity shop" of the bazaar, where many novel things may be purchased, including a child's perambulator, a double bird-cage, a filagree silver photo frame, and many other odds and ends. Mrs. F. Whitehouse supervises this sale.

Mrs. C. Butcher has the sale of home-made cooking, preserves and delicacies, decorated in red and white, where a toothsome-looking three-tier Christmas cake occupies the place of honor, surrounded by home-made cakes, cookies and bottled fruits.

The A.Y.P.A. of St. Luke's Church has a corner booth in blue and white, where they sell ice cream, soft drinks and chocolate. Heber Rogers is president of this society, assisted by Gordon Maniece and Victor Sedgewick.

Another corner section is the fish pond, in charge of Mrs. J. R. Scott, and there is a decorative-looking red and white striped tent, where fortunes are told by ladies in quaint gypsy costume. Miss Zoe Doyle is convenor of this section, assisted by Mrs. C. G. Graham, Mrs. R. H. Turner and Miss E. Nichol.

Music for dancing was supplied last evening by Paul Gliddon's orchestra.

"BLACK OXEN"

by GERTRUDE ATHERTON

Published by arrangement with Associated First National Pictures, Inc. Watch for the screen version produced by Frank Lloyd with Corinne Griffith as Countess Zattiany.

(Copyright, 1923, by Gertrude Atherton.)

When he arrived at the house he was shown into the drawing-room. He had never seen it before and he glanced about him with some curiosity. It was a period room, Louis Quinze. The furniture looked as if made of solid gold and Madame Du Barry herself might have sat on the dainty brocades. The general effect was airy and graceful, gay, frivolous, and subtly vicious. (An emanation to which the chaste Victorian had been impervious.) He understood why Madame Zattiany did not use it. She might be subtly anything, but assuredly she was neither airy nor frivolous.

Then he realized that there was a painting of a girl over the mantel and that the girl was Mary Ogden. He stepped forward eagerly, almost holding his breath. The portrait ended at the tiny waist, and the stiff satin of the cuirass-like bodice was softened with tulle which seemed to float about the sloping shoulders. The soft ashen hair, growing in a deep point on the broad, full brow, was brushed softly back and coiled low on the long, white neck. The mouth was soft and pouting, with a humorous quirk at the corners, and the large, dark gray eyes were full of a mocking light that seemed directed straight into the depths of his puzzled brain as he stood gazing at that presentment of a once potent and long vanished beauty. . . . Extraordinarily like and yet so extraordinarily unlike! But the resemblance may have well been exact when Mary Zattiany was twenty. How had Mary Ogden looked at thirty? That very lift of the strong chin, that long arch of nostril . . . something began to beat in the back of his brain. . . .

"What a beauty poor Mary must have been, no?"

He turned and forgot the portrait. Madame Zattiany wore a gown of that subtle but unmistakable green that no light can turn blue; thin shimmering velvet to the knees, melting into satin embroidered with silver and veiled with tulle. On her head was a small diamond tiara and her breast was a blaze of emeralds and diamonds. She carried a large fan of green feathers.

He had believed he had measured the extent of her beauty, but the crown gave her a new radiance—and she looked as attainable as a queen on her throne.

He went forward and raised her hand to his lips. "I insist," he said gallantly. "Anything else would be out of the picture. I need not tell you how wonderful you look—nor that after tonight you will hardly remain obscure!"

"Why do things halfway? It has never been my method. And Mary told me once that Nile-green had been her favorite color until she lost her complexion. So—as I am to exhibit myself in a box—enfin! . . . Besides, I wanted to go." She smiled charmingly. "It was most kind of you to think of me."

"Would that all 'kind' acts were as graciously rewarded. I shall be insufferably conceited for the rest of my life—only it is doubtful if I shall be seen at all. Shall we go?"

When they arrived at Sherry's they found the large restaurant almost deserted. It was barely seven. After he had ordered the dinner—and he thanked his stars that he knew how to order a dinner—she said casually:

"I had a call from your friend, Miss Dwight, today."

"Yes? You did not see her, I suppose?"

"Oh, but I did. We talked for two hours. It was almost comical—the sheer delight in talking to a woman once more. I have never been what is called a woman's woman, but I always had my friends, and I suddenly realized that I had missed my own sex."

"I shouldn't fancy that you two would have much in common."

"You forget that we were both nurses. We compared experiences: methods of nursing, operations, doctors, surgeons, shell shock, plastic surgery, the various characteristics of wounded men—all the rest of it."

"It must have been an exciting conversation."

"You never could be brought to believe it, but it was. Afterward, we talked of other things. She seems to me quite a remarkable woman."

"Entirely so. What is it she lacks that prevents men from falling in love with her? Men flock there, and she is more discussed as a mind and a personality than any women among us; but it is all above the collar. And yet those handsome-ugly women often captivate men."

"You ask one woman why another cannot fascinate men! I should say that it is for want of transmission. The heart and passion are there—I will risk guessing that she has been tragically in love at least once—but there is something wrong with the conduit that carries sexual magnetism; it has been bent upward to the brain instead of directed straight to the sex for which it was designed. Moreover, she is too coldly and obviously analytical and lacks the tact to conceal it. Men do not mind being skewered when they are out for purely intellectual enjoyment, but they do not love it."

Clavering laughed. "I fancy your own mind is quite as coldly analytical, but nature took care of your conduits and you see to the tact. You cannot teach Gora how to redistribute her magnetism, but you might give her a few points.

"They would be wasted. It is merely that I am a woman of the world, something she will never be. And in my hey-day, I can assure you, I was not analytical."

"Your hey-day?"

"I was a good many years younger before the war, remember. Heavens! How rowdy those young people are! A month ago I should have asked if they were ladies and gentlemen, but I have been quite close to their kind in the tea rooms and their accent is unmistakable; although the girls talk and act like gamins. One of them seems to know you."

ELECTRIC CHAIR AWAITS TESTING.

Usually Five Applicants For Every Civic Position, But None For the Official Tester of Death Chair.

MANILA, Nov. 6.—(Associated Press).—Ordinarily there are five applicants for every Government job in the Philippine Islands, but one position that of necessity has been created is going begging. No one seems to want it. The duties of the position are to test the electric chair, which has arrived from the United States and which will be used to carry out death sentences. This form of capital punishment succeeds hanging, which has been prohibited by a law which went into effect recently.

There are four or five prisoners in Bilibid prison waiting to expiate their crimes with their lives.

One prospective applicant for the position of tester cross-examined the officials regarding the working of the chair. When informed there would be no danger if the chair is not in working order he promptly asked: "But what if the chair works?" When told what probably would happen he departed without filing his application.

Mr. H. A. Reid, Upper Musquodoboit, N.S., writes:—"I am very thankful fro the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

When I came home from overseas, in 1920, my heart was very badly affected by concussion, and my nerves were a dreadful wreck. I was very short winded, and could not possibly sleep at night, in fact, I was in such a condition I felt as if I did not wish anyone to speak to me. I thought I would try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before I had taken two boxes I could enjoy a good night's rest as well as anyone.

There are lots of returned men who are suffering the same as I did, and I feel sure that if they would only try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills they will receive the same relief that I have."

DRANK U.S HOOCH AND PARADED NUDE

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 6. — (United Press).—Spring is here, and its effects are sometimes astonishing. A man surprised the people waiting for trains at the Central Argentine Railway Retiro station by rushing along the platform in a state of complete nudity.

Perhaps the fact that a few policemen and porters pursued him had something to do with the hurriedness of his gait, but in spite of his rapidity, not a few ladies were scandalized.

When the man was finally captured, he protested that a friend just come from the United States, had let him have a sample of drink brewed under the prohibition statutes and that spring was here anyway, and clothes were quite excessive, since it was no longer cold.

Despite his protests, a burly policeman wrapped him in his coat and an old lady contributed her black cloak to cover the wild man, who said that his name was Adam. Trains were fifteen minutes late.

STAY AWAY FROM HERE.

LAHORE, Afghanistan, December 6.—Some Americans think their Prohibition laws are about the toughest thing in the world. But they would change their minds if forced to observe Afghanistan's.

A soldier, who had sipped a bit too much here recently, was fined $145.00, lashed 80 times, and paraded through the streets as an example to others who might fall by the wayside, as he did.

UNABLE TO SLEEP— DEPRESSED AND NERVOUS

Quickly Relieved by Wincarnis

"For several years I had been in a weak and run-down condition. I had frequent fainting spells which always left me almost completely exhausted. I suffered so with nervousness that the least little thing would make me jump and it got to be almost impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. I would get terrible fits of depression which would last for days. I had taken doctors' medicines and tonics without number, but nothing seemed to do me much good.

I saw Wincarnis advertised and decided to try a bottle. In an incredibly short time I got back my strength, my nervousness disappeared and I could sleep as peacefully as a child. I really believe Wincarnis is the greatest of all tonics.

POLAND IMPROVES ITS RAILROADS

WARSAW, Dec. 6.—(Associated Press).—Poland today has a railroad organization of its own, created since the war, and made up of three old systems, the Russian, the Austrian and the German. Colonel A. B. Barber, an American, has been the technical adviser of the Government in this work, which has presented many difficulties.

The financial burden is still heavy, and there is a deficit. Some people suggest private ownership, but to this the Government is opposed. It will at once reduce the number of employes and increase rates.

SOCIETY TO-DAY IS A JUNGLE OF JAZZ.

Walk Into Any Place of Amusement and You Will Find It Thick With Smoke, Perfume and Powder.

By HORTENSE SAUNDERS)

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—A jungle—so Fannie Hurst's summing up society today.

"Just walk into any cabaret or other place of amusement, and you have dense, tropical atmosphere, thick with smoke, perfume and powder," the famous author declares.

"Crowded people huddled together in small space, choked on all sides by people. You find young and old women only slightly more covered than our Mother Eve. Everyone are made conscious of the beast only to the physical side of affairs.

"People are trapped and befogged and bewildered, as if they were animals in a tropical swamp."

I asked her if this applied only to New York.

"Certainly not," she replied. "New York is merely the big jungle—the one which sets the pattern after. But smaller and smaller jungles, a little less dense, possibly, but more vicious when you get beneath the surface.

"Jazz dancing, barbaric music and physical excitement—in these we seek an escape from life, using no more intelligence than the beasts do trying to escape from the jungle."

The Way Out

Personal achievement and an individual solution of one's problems is the only way of escape Miss Hurst believes in. She thinks we are all trying to cut our lives from the same pattern.

"We ought to avoid the tyranny of unimportant things," she went on. "To become a slave to a large establishment because of a belief in a social position, or bowing to useless conventions just because your neighbors do, will keep you in the jungle."

Her own apartment, though not large, is most satisfying, with its Italian furniture and hangings and quantities of books.

"I never want a home so big I can't shut it when I want to, and go vagabonding around seeing new faces and touching new lives," she said.

"I don't care for new things," she told me, when I admired a particularly beautiful hanging. They haven't the mellow, aged feeling I like in materials and in wood. My tastes are for old Italian and Spanish things, with the edges rounded, the shine off and the colors toned down from their flamboyancy. I'm that way about people, too. I like them pleasantly tired from a real contact with life rather than struggling to be eternal Peter Pans.

There's Hope

In her new book, "Lummox," Miss Hurst devotes a chapter to the jungle aspect of modern life, and does an impressionistic picture of a fashionable dance.

"But don't make me out a croaker," she concludes. "Things go in cycles and we are living today in a time of strife between Puritanical standards and the opposite. We are tearing down false gods and everywhere clay feet are protruding.

"And some of us are suffering from an embarrassment of riches after the war.

"But we are sound at heart, and we'll find out way out of the jungle—in time."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

THE PROTESTANT CHRISTMAS

(By J. H. BURNHAM)

Methodism, if it were not about to return to that state of union from which it sprang, would in a year or two celebrate its two-hundreth anniversary. It sprang from the Church of England in the form of a Holiness Movement fathered by that famous man, John Wesley. The piety and system of living instituted by him were of so strict and methodical a character that outsiders called the adherents of the new movement the strict or methodical Christians—Methodists. The name became in time that by which the Holiness Movement was generally known. The Church of England form of government was retained by Wesley and when he was asked to give a constitution to Methodism in the U. S. he did so by retaining the Episcopal system which to this day is that of the Methodists in that country. In Canada Methodists broke away from the Episcopal system yet called themselves Wesleyan Methodists. Now let us go back to a period before Methodism began. England, Scotland and Ireland were at one time subject to the Pope in ecclesiatical matters.

We will not stop to discuss why England and Scotland broke away but for reasons or influences which we will not debate they broke up the ancient unity and created churches of their own. In England arose the Church of England and in Scotland the Church of Scotland. Scotchmen were in those days much more closely in touch with the continent than with England, hence the Church of Scotland adopted that form of Protestantism which prevailed upon the continent with its leader and apostle at Geneva, Calvin. Then Presbyterianism, as it came to be called in Scotland, began to break up, not, however, breaking away from its unity of faith, but of church government. We will not stop to refer to the Church of Scotland or the Auld Kirk and the U. P.'s and the Wee Free's and all the rest of it. Ultimately, however, these different phases of the same thing settled down into their own niches and became units in the great national life of Scotland. The Highlanders had remained largely Catholic. To) this day Presbyterianism is the name for Scottish protestantism. Except for the Catholics (about one-eighth of the population) and a few Methodists and Baptists, Scotland is, broadly speaking, Presbyterian. This same Presbyterianism was sent out or brought out to Canada. Up to recent times Presbyterianism in Canada was true to its home faith. It was Calvinistic of which the character is chiefly that of predestination which is a profound belief in the omniscience of God from the beginning to the end. In Canada, however, there has recently sprung up a desire to wipe out the particular doctrines of Presbyterianism and to substitute something of a more general and colourless character as a creed. People will be required to accept the Bible as the rule of faith but not the old Bible. The old Bible was revered as a holy book, as the actual Word of God to man, which, if any man took from or added to, he was accursed and that too by God Himself. So the old Bible said. But a new generation of ministers has sprung up who confess that they believe in examining (criticising) the Bible as they would any other book. So that the new creed will not be what God makes it but what man makes it. It will not be as formerly one unqualified testimony of belief in God and in the Bible as handed down to them, but in the Bible as approved and amended by the ministers themselves. It will be a man-made Bible, a man-made creed and a man-made and man-governed church with the chief power not as of yore in the congregations, but in the great general committee governing the new church. To this new form of united government (in the hands necessarily of the few) will pass also the very property itself of the congregations so that the whole of Presbyterianism both faith and form of congregational government, will pass away into a new body called the United Church of Canada (not the "U. C. of Christ." Who being shown by the critics to be a mere cerring man and not even versed in Higher Criticism could not expect to have a church called after Him). "Into this Church will go the Methodists and they also give up their old faith for a new one.

Methodists, except in Wales, were never Calvinists, but it does not really matter what they were since they do not think it worth presenting. As Protestantism in Scotland (and in the continent also) fell into a number of varieties of the same faith (which is belief in the individual's right to commune directly with God as distinguished from that faith which says that Christ left his representative on earth so in England it al so fell into varieties and there are in that country besides the adherents of the Established Church, Independents (Congregationalists), Presbyterians, Methodists, Baptists and so forth. Now the Methodists in Canada have reached the same conclusion as the Presbyterians in Canada, viz., that these varieties were a mistake and that people should squeeze all their varieties of faith in God and in church-government into a sort of botch-potch or stew in which, if you have good eyesight you will see the original constituents, but they are not there for that purpose. They are not to be talked about. It's the stew or United Church that is alone to be talked about as ruled by a Committee.

This new movement discloses the astonishing fact that Presbyterianism and Methodism are a mistake. This movement has the same idea in it as that promulgated by Sir Robert Borden when he proposed to wipe out all political parties and squash them together into one (of which he would be the head). The new political movement instead of proving to be a United Church of Politics so galled the oxen who were pulling the load that they ran away and turned up in the form of not two parties as formerly but of about five or six. Freedom resents a yoke no matter what we call it. (That good quality is still left in the human race if government ownership which means ownership of the people as well as of properties does not extinguish it.) It will be interesting to see if a United Protestantism will last any longer than a United Party. Will people suppress their predilections, their hopes, their fears—and their faiths? That is the problem confronting us in Canada, this Christmas, this anniversary of the birth of Him Whom Protestantism has now declared in the words of the Rev. Professor Jackson to be nothing more than this: "Christ, for example, assumes the Mosaic authorship of the Penateuch and the Davidic authorship of the 110th Psalm: modern scholarship denies both."

If this is all Protestantism is, it is surely time it disappeared in any and every form. What it becomes or where it goes will not much matter. And yet this is Christmas which we propose to celebrate!

ULTIMATELY FIND MISSING PERSONS.

More Than 11,000 Girls and Women Reported in 1922 But Most Were Found.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(Associated Press)—More than 11,000 girls and women were reported missing during 1922 by police headquarters in 33 American cities, and approximately 900 of them had not been located by December 31st. These figures were gathered by the National Association of Travelers Aid Societies of this city in an effort to estimate the number and type of persons who drop out of sight each year. Reports from 37 cities, the association said, gave a total of 31,638 men, women and children who disappeared, about 2,500 of whom were not found.

Seeking for people who disappear is a part of Travelers Aid service which protects inexperienced travelers from harm by giving advice and help at railroad stations and steamship piers, according to John R. Shillady, general director of the national association.

"Travelers Aid workers in 160 cities helped more than 2,000,000 persons last year," he said, "saving thousand of girls from being lured off by designing individuals in crowded stations. The service helps all travelers, from mere information seekers to those in dire emergency. Police reports show that in New York City 2,446 girls and women were reported missing in 1922, 1,652 of whom were girls under 21 years. Chicago recorded 1,549; Los Angeles 1,020; Philadelphia 1,006; St. Louis had 798; San Francisco 471 and Detroit 311. About 92 percent of the missing were finally located—dead or alive—but the records show that many had undergone experiences worse than death.

Large as these figures are, they represent only about one-half of the actual number of those who actually dropped out of sight at some time during the year, in the opinion of Captain John H. Ayers, Chief of the Bureau of Missing Persons, New York City.

"People often fail to report disappearing members of their family to us because they mistakenly fear we will bring publicity upon them, when that is the last thing we want to do," said Captain Ayers in a statement to the National Association. "Many also drop out of sight who have no one sufficiently interested to make a report. In our best judgment, we feel it is fair to double our actual figures, making a total of 4,892 women and girls in New York city, of whom 3,304 were under 21 years of age. If the same ratio of disappearance holds good for the United States as applies to New York city, then we can arrive by an arithmetical computation at the total for the United States, which will approximate 60,000 girls who probably disappear annually. Of course, it must be understood that those are not permanent disappearances, as a very large percent are are accounted for. Our record for last year was 98% found."

A Unique Biscuit Sandwich

(These sandwiches were recently served to 12 men, who lunch together each Wednesday. They all asked for an "encore" the following Wednesday)

2 teaspoonfuls Crisco
2 cupfuls flour
4 teaspoonfuls baking powder
½ teaspoonful salt
milk to make a soft dough
1 egg
1 teaspoonful cold water
chopped celery with mayonnaise broiled bacon
lettuce

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together four times. Rub Crisco in with the fingers and then stir in the milk. Roll on a floured board about ½ inch thick and cut in rounds with a biscuit cutter. Bake about twenty minutes in a hot oven. To make a rich brown glaze, put the yolk of an egg in a teacup—add one teaspoonful of cold water and mix together. Brush over the top of the biscuit before putting in the oven. Have ready some chopped celery mixed with mayonnaise and for each biscuit three slices of broiled bacon. Split the biscuits while hot and butter lightly. Put a lettuce leaf on half and cover it with the chopped celery; then the three strips of bacon and cover it with the other half. Serve while hot.

He Is Making Good His Promise to Dry Up New Orleans By Christmas.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7.—You called for a "shot" and you got it.

And no questions asked either.

Scotch, Canadian, port, sherry, Gordon gin or old lager—all were dispensed freely over 2500-odd bars.

Those were the "good old days," when New Orleans was one big oasis in the vast American desert, when folks called it the "wettest city."

But "them days" are gone—since Izzy Einstein breezed in.

For Izzy is making good his promise to "dry up New Orleans by Christmas.

Sixty-Five in a Day

And Izzy today told how he's been doing it ever since he signed up with the prohibition enforcement department three years ago.

He has engineered something over 3500 raids in those three years—raids in which nearly 4,000,000 quarts of illicit liquor, worth between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000, have been confiscated by Uncle Sam.

"My best day's work," says Izzy, "was done in Brooklyn. Between dawn and dusk, we 'pulled' 65 places.

"The biggest single haul was 2000 cases of bonded whisky and 368 barrels of brandy. That was in a garage in New York. I had worked there two weeks as a drunkard glad to get a job washing automobiles."

Izzy was born in Austria. He came to America when he was 20, with "just enough money to get past immigration inspectors."

Florist's Helper

"My first job," he declares, "was clerking in a florist's shop. But you can't eat orchids. So I went to work in a delicatessen. That's where I got this figure. (He tips the scales at a little above the 200 mark.)

"In 1917 I bedcame clerk in the main postoffice in New York. Three years later I sought and obtained a transfer to the prohibition department as a field agent. Then things started.

"How do I do it? Oh, that's simple. I register at a hotel under a 'phony' name.

"I get out in overalls and rustle rough jobs. I work in restaurants, garages or on the wharves. I drive a truck. I'm a business man looking for some new line to invest in. I've letters of introduction from chambers of commerce to business men, and go into their clubs.

Runs Booze Cargo

"I've been a night-hawk chauffeur. I've even had a job as a door-guard at a place I hadn't been able to get the dope on before. I play the slide-trombone, and it got me an orchestra job in a big half in Brooklyn that we raided a day or two later.

"At night I put on tuxedo or evening clothes, hire a taxi and blow into the cabarets, restaurants and night clubs. Sometimes I'm a retired brewer.

"I've worked for bootleggers and pinched 'em after I helped run their cargoes. Once I was a grave-digger, helping bury some booze.

"There was one guy in Philadelphia who never would sell me a drink, though I'd been working in the neighborhood in overalls. Didn't hesitate to tell me he didn't like my looks.

"Then I dressed up in a decent riggin', polished up my gold badge and called on him.

Got the Drink

"'You're a good one,' I laughed. 'Now will you give a revenue agent a drink?' He laughed, too.

"'Sure I will,' he says. And he did. Then I pinched him.

"It's all there to get, if a fellow goes out to get it. It's just a lazy or a crooked prohibition agent that can't show results these days.

"Yep," concludes Izzy, "it's all there to get. And I'm getting it."

And the boys up in the clubs and out in Bucktown and through the Tango Belt agree he's doing a good job when it comes to getting it.

BOY'S BAD COLD TURNED TO BRONCHITIS

The frequency with which bronchitis develops into pneumonia is appreciated by very few mothers. The danger of pneumonia is, probably, well understood too, but how many mothers take into consideration that a neglected attack of bronchit-is frequently leads to this dangerous disease.

We would advise all mothers to give their children Dr. Wood's Nor way Pine Syrup the first moment they show any symptoms of a cold or cough as by doing this they save them from an attack of bronchitis or pneumonia.

Mrs. Lawrence Quick, Sandwich, Ont. writes:—"My little boy, six years old, had a bad cold which turned to bronchitis. I tried every thing I thought would be best for it but did not see him getting any better. I was told to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after giving him two bottles he got wonderful relief. I cannot praise it enough."

PROPER CLOTHING ASSET TO HEALTH

Quality of Garments Worn in Winter More Important Than Quantity.

Wool and Cotton Good.

(By DR. BLAIR SPENCER
Director, Department of Public Health

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7.—In attempting to keep out the cold there is a tendency for many persons to overburden themselves with clothes. On the other hand, there is a large group of persons, principally young women, who in the effort to maintain style, dress too scantily to protect the body from cold.

It is not so much the quantity as the quality of materials used in the makeup of our garments which protects and preserves the normal function of the skin and prevents undue chilling. Excessive and heavy weighted clothes not only cause a feeling of discomfort, but predispose the body to the detrimental influences of sudden changes of temperature indoors and outdoors resulting in the common winter complaints of coughs, colds and pneumonia.

Skin Sensitive to Heat and Cold

The skin is much more sensitive to heat and cold than is readily believed, being abundantly supplied with blood vessels which are under control of an intricate nervous mechanisms called the vasomotor system. This nerve supply increases the flow of blood to the skin under the influence of heat by dilating the blood vessels supplying it. Cold, however, causes a contraction of the blood vessels through the same vasomotor system and sends the blood to the deeper structure and internal organs. In this way the human temperature is regulated and the body protected from cold and excessive heat.

Any interference with this heat regulating system may lead to deleterious effects upon the body. For this reason, it is desirable that the skin be protected tby proper and sufficient clothing to preserve the normal activity of the skin.

The kind of material for underclothes has been the subject of much discussion from the standpoint of their relative merits to protect the body from cold and at the same time to permit the skin to carry on its respiratory function and that of eliminating the poisonous products of waste. Woolens, cotton, linen and silk have their advantages and disadvantages, and each may serve its purposes in the commercial field in the manufacture of clothes. Wool and cotton, however, are the most practical materials which are within reach of us all so far as value and usefulness are concerned.

Wool readily absorbs the sweat of the body and permits a slow evaporation, preventing a rapid chilling of the body. Cotton, however, does not absorb as readily as wool, and moreover permits rapid evaporation, causing an uncomfortable chilly sensation. All-wool underclothes are not serviceable because of shrinkage after washing. A combination of wool and cotton, therefore, is best suited from a health standpoint and for practical use. Close-fitting garments of loose texture impart a pleasing sense of warmth and at the same time permit the proper exchange of air which is essential in maintaining the respiratory function of the skin.

Comfort Should Be Guide

The choice of short or full length undergarments is largely a matter of individual taste to suit one's comfort and ease. Some persons wear lightweight undercloths throughout the year and suffer no discomfort. Others must have heavier and warmer clothes. During inclement weather all persons should use such additional garments as will prevent undue exposure.

Outer garments should be selected depending upon the kind of employment. Those engaged outdoors will of necessity choose clothing which will confine the body heat. Such clothes, however, need not be heavy or of tightly-woven texture, because the desired comfort can be obtained from light weight, loosely-woven woolen outer garments. Those employed indoors should choose the lighter weight clothes. The prevention of the acute respiratory diseases of the winter months depends in a large measure upon the kind of clothes used. The best guide to determine the quality and quantity of garments used is that which assures comfort and ease

GREAT BOWLING AT WATER STREET ALLEYS.

Last night was productive of some wonderful bowling both in five and ten pins at the Water Street Alleys last night.

In the Mercantile Five Pin League there was witnessed some of the finest bowling in this league since it opened. The Bell Telephone and the Western Clock hooked up, the former winning two straight, losing the third by only two pins. The Telephone gang rolled an extra fine score in their first game when they knocked the pins for 914. This is a nice score for a five team in five pins. Some mighty fine scores were rolled by the bowlers on each side, five men going 500 and over. Dick Lush was the high man for the evening with a score of 679 for three games. He not only got the high score for the evening but also the high score for three games in the Mercantile League to date. Lush rolled over 200 in every game. He also had the high single of 240. There were eight 200 and over games rolled last night in this league.

In the Brinton Carpet League the Arbedils took two from the Carletons. There were some nice scores rolled, Shaughnessey being high man with 547 for three games. He also had the high single of 199.

In the City Ten Pin League the Crescents took two from the High Rollers, winning the last game by three pins. Some good scores were rolled, particulary that of J. Green who set up a high average for three games for the City Ten Pin League when he rolled the brilliant score of 633, for his three games. He went over 200 in two of his games, one of them giving him the high single for the evening of 225. This is nice rolling for ten pins.

In the Western Clock Five Pin Intershop League, the Trade Repair Department took two out of three from the Watch Department. Curry had the high three games with 522, while Gash had the high single of 197.

Besides all the scheduled league games which were played last evening other bowlers were over playing, including some young ladies who rolled several games.

WESTCLOX INTERSHOP FIVE PIN LEAGUE.

In the Westclox Intershop League Trade Repair Department won two out of three from the Watch Department. Curry was high man with 522 for three games, while Gash had the high single of 197. Following are the scores:

Trade Repair Department—

JACK JOHNSON ON THE SHELF

Cannot Get a Boxer's License From Commission

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., December 6 (Canadian Press). — The State Athletic Commission yesterday refused to grant Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, a boxer's license, but unanimously agreed that he could have a trainer's license in order not to deprive him of a living at the boxing game.

Johnson's age, 45 years, was given by the Commission as the principal objection to a boxer's permit.

SUDBURY WOLVES MET THIRD LOSS.

Star Defence Man Packs His Grip For Pittsburgh.

SUDBURY, Dec. 7. — Sudbury Wolves met their third loss from Regular Squad last night when Alex. McKinnon, star defence man, packed his grip and departed for Pittsburgh, to take a good position and play hockey with the Pittsburgh team in U.S.A.H.A. This leaves only five of last year's squad and there is a chance that two more of these may be missing when the team takes the ice. However, local executive believe they will be able to build up a team that will cope with the best the Soo and Iroquois Falls can produce.

Continues Unbroken String of Victories.

In the afternoon match Francis S. Appleby defeated Jack Klinger 250 to 82.

Floyd Fitzsimmons Released By Court.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 7. — An indictment charging Floyd Fitzsimmons, fight promoter, with failure to pay the federal admission tax on a bout held several months ago in his arena at Michigan City, Ind., has been dismissed in Federal Court here. Investigation showed no basis for prosecution, court officials said.

Charles W. Paddock Sprained His Ankle.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Dec .7. — Charles W. Paddock, world champion sprinter, is confined to his room in a local hotel as a result of a sprained ankle, injured while he was practicing with the New London, O., high school basket ball team.

PROMISING RECRUITS.

Even though Carl Mays is about through, Bob Shawkey slipping and Joe Bush past the peak of his game, Miller Huggins of the Yankees is not worrying about pitching. In Pipgrass and Roettger he has two of the most promising rookie right handers in the country. Another year's experience and both will be about ready to step in and deliver.

Everett Buckingham, president of the Omaha stockyards, although not a college man himself, has missed but three games in which the Nebraska Cornhuskers have played in 16 years. He pays railroad fare and gives all employees a half a day off to attend games.

HANGED A LIVE TURKEY.

Grocer Fined $5.00 for His Cruelty to the Bird.

NEW YORK, December 7. — When Nuncio Russo, 53 years old, a grocer, was arraigned before Magistrate Max S. Levine, in the Tombs Court, on a charge of cruelty to a live turkey, he said.

"Your Honour, this was my turkey, and I don't think it is anybody's business but my own what I do with it. The fact that I hung up the turkey in front of my store doesn't mean anything because I'm going to kill it anyway."

"The fact that you are going to kill it does not give you the right to hang it up on a hook and let it suffer unnecessary pain," interposed the Magistrate.

"You are fined $5.00."

Don't Meddle With the Count

New Piece of Boxing Legislation Paves Way For Ring Trickery.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

You might be moved to say, offhand, that the New York boxing commissioners, in ruling that a referee shall not start to count over a stricken boxer until the opposing boxer has retired to a far corner of the ring has enacted a creditable and commendable reform.

In the last heavyweight battle of the summer season, for example, Jack Dempsey aroused the ire of fair-minded ringsiders by crouching over Firpo after the South American had been knocked to the floor. This act made the champion liable to disqualification. There is a rule in the boxing code which demands that the conquering boxer shall retire to a far corner of the ring immediately after registering a knock down.

The referee in the Dempsey-Firpo fight did not enforce this rule. We would not have cared to see Dempsey disqualified, but he should have been warned after the first offense. The rule, as written, is a just one, and practical. If it is to remain in the code it should be enforced.

New Rule All Wrong.

I think it is considerably better than the new one the commissioners have just drawn up—better for the reason that it contains less dynamite. Any time you give the referee the right to handle the count as he sees fit you are inviting grave and serious trouble. Ten seconds are 10 seconds and should remain 10 seconds.

Fight referees, as a class, are honest, but the inevitable exception exists, and the new "stop-the-count" rule places a premium on trickery. It certainly gives a "sympathetic" referee all the chance in the world to prolong the count. We see no merit in a move that eliminates a minor evil and promotes a major one.

Incorrect timing in the ring — whether done with a purpose or not —is criminal. A short count is as bad as a long one. Firpo claims he got a short count in the Dempsey fight. He didn't. He got a long count in the first round, when he was down for 13 seconds.

A confused referee who walked clear across the ring before starting his count deprived Dempsey of a one-round knockout against Jess Willard.

A crooked referee gave Johnny Wilson a long count in a Cleveland ring and robbed Bryan Downey of the middleweight championship.

Short and Long Counts.

Willie Jackson knocked out Lew Tendler at Philadelphia, but got no credit for the feat because it took Pop O'Brien, the referee, more than 20 seconds to count 10.

These are merely a few interesting examples of what a referee can do with the count, as conditions stand now. With the new rule in force the third man in the ring will be able to get away with murder if he wants to.

A painter's brush that is thick and soft is preferable to waste for use in removing dust from the engine.

THREE BOUTS FOR CHILEAN FIGHTER.

Third to Be $50,000 With Benny Leonard.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.— Luis Vicentini, Chilean lightweight, has signed a contract with Tex Rickard, for three fights, the third to be a $50,000 match with Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, providing the South American disposes of his other two opponents, it was learned today.

Vicentini, who has gained prominence by knocking out three opponents in a row since coming to the United States two months ago, will have his first test, under the contract, in a 12-round fight with Johnny Shugrue, of Waterbury, Conn., December 14, at Madison Square Garden.

If he defeats Shugrue, the Chilean's next opponent probably will be Pal Moran, of New Orleans, who recently established himself as a title contender by knocking out Charley White, of Chicago.

CROP REPORTS

The following is a summary of returns made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

There can be little excuse for unfinished fall plowing this season. The unusually open weather of the last three or four weeks has enabled farmers to do much plowing and other fall work. The land is yet in excellent condition for working.

Fall wheat as a rule is well topped, and looks ready to enter the winter in unusually vigorous condition.

Grey—Some are drawing wheat to market for taxes, but the majority are bringing their sweet clover out at $4 to $6 per bushel. It is maintaining well in price and even at rates quoted there is fair value in growing this soil renovating crop.

Elgin—Roots are practically all harvested, excepting an odd lot of sugar beets. The latter have been a very fair crop, running from 8 to 10 tons per acre. Farmers expect to net around $60 per acre.

Middlesex—Sugar beets have yielded about 8½ to 9 tons per acre, and a thousand tons have been shipped out during the last two weeks.

Waterloo—Turnips are selling at 20c. to 25c. per bushel for shipping purposes.

Kenora—From observations of the past three years one is lead to believe that this is a barley producing district. This crop has always given a good yield and a first-class sample with little or no injury from either rust, smut or frost. Early oats also have done well, but later varieties have been hit hard with rust, with an estimated loss to this crop alone of 20%. Peas do exceptionally well but are only grown by a very few farmers.

Peterboro—The water situation has been very critical here all fall. Yesterday's heavy rain should help to relieve this, particularly in the shallow wells. It is very doubtful, however, if there will be any improvement in the deep wells.

Bruce—According to Judges Fraser of Guelph, and McNeill of London, Walkerton poultry and Pet Stock Association has just held one of the most successful shows ever held in Ontario north of Guelph. There were approximately 600 entries, many of which would make very creditable entries either at Guelph or the Royal Winter Fair.

Lennox and Addington—Twelve cars of dressed poultry, containing approximately 170 tons were shipped from Napanee on Turkey Fair days, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The value of the poultry amounted to approximately $85,000. The prevailing market prices were as follows: Turkeys, 25c. per lb.; chickens, 16c. to 22c.; fowl, 12c. to 16c.; geese, 12c. to 18c.; duck, 15c. to 18c.

Prescott and Russell—Bees were put in winter quarters at the usual time, that is, during the second and third week of November. But due to very mild weather it has been difficult to keep down the temperature in the cellars, and a slight loss has occurred by bees flying out of their hives, and not finding their way back.

Nearly all the cheese factories have closed down so far as their special work is concerned, but a number of them are acting as cream-gathering stations.

Waterloo—There is a big demand for dairy cows at the present time. Grade cows are selling at sales as high as $135. The supply of milk is rather limited at the present time.

Middlesex—Dairy cattle bring various prices. Forty grade cows sold during the past week averaged $120. At some other sale the price is nearly $80. Forty-five purebred Jersey heifers were distributed during the past week at $100 to $150 each. These are going to several men who are just starting in the Jersey business.

North Simcoe—Very low prices are offered for live stock. Stockers bring as low as $2.50 per lb. Cows at a recent sale sold at $45 to $55 apiece. Young pigs weighting about 50 lbs. sold at $6.00 each.

South Simcoe—Comparatively heavy shipments of live stock were made from the various loading points in the county this week. $7.20 per cwt. was the price paid for hogs on the thick smooth basis, and as high as $10 per cwt. for lambs. The price of calves ranged all the way from $4 to $9 per cwt., too many of which would grade as heavies. Good milch cows brought $90 each. $5. per cwt. was the top price paid generally for butcher steers.

Hastings—All classes of live stock are in very good condition generally speaking. Grade milch cows are selling at from $50 to $90. There have been a large number of hogs marketed during the week, the price being the lowest for a long time at $7.75 per hundred.

Rainy River—Most of the good stock in Rainy River was shipped early. A few carloads are still being picked up, but they are bringing only from 3c. to 4c. per lb.

Prescott and Russell—A carload of good draft horses were sold this week at Navan on auction sale bases. They went for the average price of $120 each. One was paid as high as $230.

FASTEST TRANS-OCEANIC CABLE IS NOW IN USE

NEW YORK, N.Y. Dec. 6—(Canadian Press). — The largest and fastest transoceanic cable ever manufactured has just been put into service between New York and Paris by the Postal Telegraph Commercial Cable System. It is being operated between the systems New York Office, at 20 Broadway street and its Paris Office, at 24 Boulevard Des Capucines. According to Clarence H. Mackay, president of the system, this will supply virtually instantaneous communication between the two continents. First messages to be transmitted over the new cable were exchanged between Mr. Mackay and M. Millerand President of France. Being the largest long cable ever submerged, the operation of laying it presented difficulties which had not been previously experienced in work of this kind. Then in addition to the Normal difficulties usually attendant upon such a delicate undertaking, bad weather at sea was encountered which rendered the task ever more arduous.

REAL WESTERNER FILMS "VIRGINIAN"

Tom Forman, Former Cowboy, Achieves Ambition to Direct Wister Novel

Tom Forman, erstwhile Texas cowboy, realized a lifetime ambition when he completed the screening of Owen Wister's classic, "The Virginian," admittedly the greatest story ever written of the West, which comes to the Royal Theatre next Monday. Through a remarkable chain of circumstances every detail of the production was in the hands of men born and bred to the life led by the novelist's picturesque hero.

Beginning with Forman as director, the picture had the services of two other men familiar with the western cattle country. Louis D. Lighton, scenarist, was a cowpuncher at one time while Col. William Hawley, a personal friend of Wisters and the man who staked out Casper, Wyoming, where the novel was written, contributed historical accuracy to the picture.

Forman, who had the final decision in all matters pertaining to its production was born on a big Texas cattle ranch and was a full-fledged cowpuncher, working for his father, before he had reached the age of fifteen. In fact, Tom, when he wasn't going to the little prairie school-house in the long, cold winters, was riding his "string" with the best of Lone Star State riders, before he was twelve. At this age Owen Wister's novel was his text-book and the black-haired Virginian his beloved hero.

"I carried Wister's novel in my saddlebag when I was a kid and when the herds were quietly feeding laid on my stomach in the prairie grass, reading the book until I knew it by heart," said Forman.

AT THE CAPITOL.

MRS. WALLACE REID IN NOBLE WORK.

Crusades Against a Foe Many Times Stronger Than the Infidels of Old.

Why did Mrs. Wallace Reid leave her house of mourning for the glare of the studio spotlight?

Why has she broken the usual rule of widow's retirement, to re-enter moving pictures?

The answer is this: Because she, of all women has had brought more forcibly to her the need of a moral awakening—another great reformation—a twentieth century crusade against a foe many times stronger than the Infidel of old.

She has made a supreme effort to collect the broken threads of her life and piece them into one fabric—to carry on a noble work. To see her in her present aspect of crusader, one would say she was a Gibraltar of stocisim. Yet it is sheer grit and detremination that is keeping her sorrow-benumed faculties together.

Her devotion as a wife and mother, her talent as an actress, her conviction as a reformer—all these innate forces she has combined in building up the greates achievement of her career. In "Human Wreckage," the great picture sermon which she has completed with the aid of such prominent people as William J. Burns, Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles, Dr. R. B. von Kleinsmid, President of the University of Southern California, and Benjamin Bledsoe, United States Judge of the Twelfth Federal District, she has projected on the screen her conception of the problem which confronts the world.

"Human Wreckage", her great anti-narcotic picture is at the Capitol today, Friday and Saturday, is not the story of a weakling. It is the story of a man, big both in nature and stature; a man bitterly opposed to the illegal traffic in narcotics; a leader, in fact, in the ranks of those who strive to wipe this evil from the face of the earth. His downfall coming through overwork, as it does in so many cases of similar nature, he fights the same fight that others have fought before him—for health and recovery. It is to these silent fighters, who, in solitary places, wage war against the unseen Beast, that Mrs. Reid pays tribute in "Human Wreckage."

AT THE REGENT.

A photoplay that more than does justice to the splendid novel from which it is filmed is "The Mysterious Rider," Benjamin B. Hampton's photo-dramatization of the best seller by Zane Grey, the newest Hodkinson release, which is presented at the Regent Theatre to-day. A love story of compelling sweetness, powerful drama, mystery, suspense and intrigue; a sparkle of fun and humor throughout, and a great throbbingly human theme at the base of it all—those qualities sum up "The Mysterious Rider."

Seldom has a better group of artists been assembled for a single cast than in "The Mysterious Rider," and certainly that cast has never been excelled in point of fitness for the various story roles.

Claire Adams, who is fast making an enviable record for herself as an emotional actress, plays the girl, "Columbine," about whose mysterious parentage and whose love struggle the story builds itself. Robert McKim, one of the most polished, subtle and powerful actors of either stage or screen to-day, is "Wade," the man whose life has been spent in a secret quest.

Carl Gantvoort, internationally famous leading man of the light opera stage, who has shared honors with Mitzi, Hazel Dawn and other beautiful stage stars, proves that the screen should have claimed him long ago by his work opposite Miss Adams. James Mason, Maude Wayne, Frederick Starr, Frank Hayes, Walter Whitman and Aggie Herring, the other principals, contribute remarkable characterizations.

A sweet wholesome love story, a drama of compelling power, humor, pathos, and a touch of tragedy before love's sunshine breaks forth at the end—that's "The Mysterious Rider," the newest Hodkinson photoplay, presented at the Regent Theatre to-night.

Having been encouraged by the patronage on its first Canadian tour last year, I have formed a company, stupendous in its scope and unequalled in its merit, and have come to you to present a programme far superior to shows seen in Paris, London or New York.

The entire members of the company join me in extending our sincere invitation to the public and ask them to come and inspect the programme. We are here to please and surprise you.

PETERBORO MALE VOICE CHOIR

A good attendance marked the rehearsal of the above choir last night and two hours good work was accomplished in the various selections undertaken.

At the business session it was unanimously decided to close the membership list for this season on Tuesday, Dec. 18th. Persons wishing to join may do so on application to Mr. C. S. Thompson, secretary, on rehearsal nights of Dec. 11 or 18. New arrivals mar the progress of the choir as a whole in difficult musical selections. After December 18, a regular attendance of members will be all that is required, coupled with the work of the musical director, to build up a well-balanced male voice organization and show tangible results.

Special offerings will be taken at both services and the management of Knox are hopeful that their objective of $2,500 will be reached.

THE KINGDOM OF GOD.

God had a kingdom in the past, 1 Chron. 2, 8-5. This kingdom was overthrown on account of Israel's sin, Ezekiel 31, 25 to 28. It will not be restored until Jesus comes to take possession. God will give it to him, whose right it is This kingdom will not be restored, until God has taken out from the Gentiles a people for His name, Acts 15, 14 to 18. This people (who will comprise the Bride of Christ) will reign with Jesus upon the earth, Rev. 5, 9-10. The words "reign upon the earth," cannot be construed to mean "reign beyond the skies." According to hymnology Jesus the King shall reign for ever, and of His kingdom there shall be no end, Luke 1, 32-33. It was the glad tidings of the kingdom of God that Jesus and the apostles preached, Matt. 9, 35. Jesus was sent to do this work, Luke 4, 43. The disciples expected Jesus to set up His kingdom at His first coming, and were disappointed when He was crucified. It is a blessed comforting truth to know that His kingdom will come; and that epoch of time is drawing very near. We who know somewhat of the blessedness of that kingdom say, Come, Lord Jesus, come quickly. M. T. Butcher.

CONGRESS HEARD COOLIDGE TODAY

First Address of President Since Becoming Chief Executive of United States—Waterway Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(Canadian Press).—President Coolidge addressed Congress to-day for the first time since he became chief executive. The adherence of the U.S. to a world court with reservations was endorsed, but Mr. Coolidge declared this was not a partisan question and should not assume an "artificial importance. He declared he would not propose any change in the policy of declining to enter the League of Nations, but said that the United States recognized an obligation to help others, reserving the right to decide the time, place, and method.

Among matters of particular interest to Canadians that were dealt with by Mr. Coolidge was the projected deep waterway from the great lakes to the sea. He advocated that a continuation of efforts to bring about the realization of this plan be continued.

St. Lawrence Discussed

"The great power and navigation project of the St. Lawrence River," as he termed it, was one of several waterways projects which he favored. He pointed out that "efforts are now being made to secure the necessary treaty with Canada," and declared that waterways projects should have an immediate "consideration of Congress" and be adopted as fast as plans can be matured and the necessary funds become available." President Coolidge opposed revision of the tariff except in cases where the necessity for this was proven, but did not state his views in regard to the proposed increase of fifty per cent in the wheat tariff to shut out Canadian competition.

By implication it was understood by his hearers that he does not consider this tariff increase essential.

BALDWIN CABINET MAY THROW DOWN REINS AT MEETING NEXT MONDAY

Conservative Party Will Hold Council of War and Survey the Wreckage on the Battlefield of Protection—Speculations As to Future.

MINORITY ABOUT 90.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—(Canadian Press).—With the exception of a few seats in the Orkney and Shetland Islands and some of the universities, returns from which have not yet been received, the new House of Commons is now complete. At eleven o'clock last evening the returns from Thursday's general elections showed the standing of the parties as follows:

Conservatives	259
Labor party	185
Liberals	148
Other parties	10

Thus, in the new House, the Government will be in the minority in the neighborhood of ninety votes, as against the combined Opposition parties. These figures, however, may vary somewhat, according as different compilers regard scattered members as belonging to one or another of the big parties.

It is understood that Premier Baldwin has summoned a meeting of the Cabinet for Monday to consider the situation, and that a meeting of the Conservative party to debate its next step, and possibly to elect a new leader to replace Mr. Baldwin, will be held in the course of the coming week, as it is generally held that Mr. Baldwin, whose policy the country has rejected, will resign and that, in any case, owing to the unseating of several of the ministers, reconstruction of the Government is unavoidable unless, as seems extremely likely, the whole Cabinet should resign.

If Not Tariffs Something Else

LONDON, December 8 Canadian Press Cable). — Premier Bruce of Australia, speaking at Hull yesterday, said that if the people of this country did not want tariffs and preference they must think of another method to guard their trade from being undercut by countries which, with a lower standard of life, deliberately dumped goods into this country.

If the Dominions were to develop and Britain was to prosper, it would be necessary for her to retain the markets she already had in the Dominions.

PARTY DIVISION ON FREE TRADE ISSUE A CAUSE OF DEFEAT

LONDON, Dec. 8.—(Associated Press).—The moral of the general elections which have resulted so disastrously for the Government of Premier Baldwin is that the British people still are, as they were in 1906, convinced supporters of free trade.

The fate which has come upon the Conservative party so soon after it discarded the coalition leadership of David Lloyd George is due primarily to the free trade convictions of the people, but also partly to a number of other attendant circumstances.

The first of these circumstances is that the party itself was divided on the wisdom of choosing the plank of protection upon which to challenge a new mandate from the country, since, judging from the experience of 1906, there was every prospect of a repetition of the disaster which overtook the party when it trod a similar path pointed out by Joseph Chamberlain. No policy other than that of protection could have been selected with a greater prospect of reuniting the Liberal party and bring to the Liberal side the surpassing talents of David Lloyd George in electioneering and in the political game generally.

Government Was Weak.

The second circumstances, say observers, was that the Baldwin Government during its year in office, had no single achievement to its credit to recommend it to popular favor, and moreover it had shown much weakness in its foreign policy, so much so that it even had been asserted that the recent concessions in the reparations problem made by M. Poincare, the French Premier, had as their motive a desire to influence the British elections and keep Mr. Baldwin in power because it was feared if the Liberal or Labor party obtained the reins Poincare would find either of these parties much harder to deal with.

The resentment felt by the Labor [illegible] Premier Baldwin's tactics [illegible] the third circumstance. Labor alleged that the Premier's tactics had as their object the springing of a quick succession of elections, with the aim of exhausting the Labor party's attenuated election funds and thereby giving advantage to the wealthier rivals of the party.

The fourth circumstance was the women's vote, which is believed to have been given with much greater unanimity than ever before in a determination to prevent at any cost a possible rise in the prices of commodities.

Reason for Election.

The history of the circumstances

Loss of $125,000 From Fire Caused By a Gasoline Coffee Urn in Hotel.

GLEICHEN, Alta., Dec. 8.— A fire which threatened to destroy this town was brought under control yesterday afternoon after the flames had consumed a whole block, including the branches of the Royal Bank of Canada and the Canadian Bank of Commerce, a hotel and seven stores. The loss is estimated at $125,000. One minor injury was reported.

The fire broke out in the morning from a gasoline coffee urn in the hotel, and for three hours between 70 and 100 men were engaged in fighting the flames. The Calgary fire brigade was sent for, but had not arrived before the fire had been controlled. The flames were prevented from spreading northward by spraying the walls and roofs of the neighboring buildings and by using the road as a fire guard.

SEVEN PERSONS BURN TO DEATH

Five Children and Mother Were Among Victims—In Lonely Farm House

WALLACEBURG, Ont., Dec. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Seven persons, two young women and five children, ranging in age from six months to six years, were burned to death last night when the farmhouse of Harry Babcock, near the village of Charlmont, about seven miles from here, was destroyed by fire in the absence of Babcock, who is an auctioneer, and was attending a sale at Dresden. Those who perished were his wife, aged 27 years, their four children: Hugh aged 6, Gladys aged 4, Kathleen aged 2 and Myrtle aged six months, Mrs. Babcock's sister, Mrs. Ramsey of Sarnia, and her little boy aged 6.

The farmhouse, which is on Lot 26, Concession of the Township of Sombra, was observed by neighbors to be in flames about eight o'clock. An effort was made to get into the house, but the doors had been locked and the fire soon gained such headway that it was impossible to effect a rescue. It was not until several hours later, when the house, a frame structure, had been consumed by the flames, that access was effected and the charred remains of the two women and of the children were found. It is thought that a lamp may have exploded and caused the fire.

EGYPTIAN HEAT PROLONGS WORK IN LUXOR TOMB

Golden Doors of Outer Shell to Tutenkhamen's Shrine Removed By Howard Carter.

FIND INNER SHRINE.

LUXOR, Egypt, Dec. 8.— The first stage of the work of dismantling the golden canopy forming the outer shell of the shrine in Tutenhamen's tomb was started Friday when the folding doors were taken off their hinges and removed to the ante-chamber.

Before the work on the shrine began, however, the remainder of the scaffolding erected to protect it was removed and the dust left everywhere by the demolition of the wall between the mortuary chamber and the ante-room, carefully swept up. Removal of the wall revealed nothing of interest—that is to say, no potsherd or boxes were discovered as there were among the rubbish filling the well and staircase of the tomb.

Difficult Task

Removal of the doors of the shrine was a long and difficult task, lasting the greater part of the morning. The doors are about five feet high and together measure some six and one half feet across Howard Carter spent from nine o'clock in the morning till one in the afternoon in the sweltering heat of the tomb without emerging. When he and Mr. Callender came out for lunch both were abundantly smeared with plaster from the walls of the tomb, showing in what close quarters they had been forced to work.

The doors are righly decorated with gold. One has a bolt on the front from which hangs the original seal and the other a bolt at the top which fitted into a socket in the roof of the canopy. The door of the second shrine, now clearly revealed, is a single batten of bituminized wood with gold decorations and hinges of bronze. The doors of the first shrine will be given a preservative treatment within the tomb.

Careful Handling

Intricate scaffolding and various pads and cushions must be provided for the next stage of the operation, the taking down of the roof of the canopy, which is in several parts. Owing to the heat, the excavators are working only in the mornings.

CUT CARLOADS OF CHRISTMAS TREES.

Parry Sound Jury Acquitted Toronto Man of Theft Charge.

PARRY SOUND, Dec. 6.—At the sessions for the District of Parry Sound the charge against John Briggs, a settler of Shawanangan township, of robbing a summer cottage near Point Au Baril, was heard and about ten o'clock Tuesday night the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. A canoe found in the possession of Briggs and said to have been stolen was said by him to have been found by himself and a companion near Francis covered with evergreen branches in the woods, and a partridge which they had been chasing was sitting on the canoe Briggs said he notified Constable Jones of the finding of the canoe and said he was ready to give it up when the owner was found.

Cut Christmas Trees.

All to-day was occupied in the hearing of an alleged theft by Fred Passcore, of Toronto, of several carloads of Christmas trees, the property of Mr. Robert Menzies, also of Toronto, from his lands situated in the fifth concession of the township of Perry in this district.

There was no denial of the cutting and taking away of the trees, but in the matter of taking them with intent to steal and not pay for them was wherein the accused was, he claimed, not in any way guilty and the jury agreed with him, promptly returning a verdict of not guilty after an absence of a few minutes. This having completed the criminal part of the business the jurors were all discharged from further attendance, the grand jury having completed their labors last evening and were complimnted by the judge.

Labor Will Not Form Coalition With Liberals Says the "Herald"

LONDON, Dec. 8.—(Canadian Press).—The possibility of the Labor party forming a coalition with the Liberals is emphatically repudiated by the Herald, the official mouthpiece of Labor.

"Nothing of this kind will be listened to for a moment, either by the leaders or the rank and file of the Labor party," declared the Herald in an editorial.

EIGHT WOMEN IN BRITISH HOUSE

Three Represent Labor and Two Are Liberals—Twenty-Six Defeated.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Eight women will sit in the new British Parliament, it was indicated by election returns last night, as compared with three who held seats at the time Parliament was dissolved. The three were Lady Astor, for the Sutton Division of Plymouth; Mrs. Margaret Wintringham, Liberal, for the Louth Division of Lincolnshire, and Mrs. Margaret Philipson, for the Berwick-on-Tweed Division of Northumberland.

All of them were re-elected, and they fill be joined in the new Parliament by the Duchess of Atholl, Conservative; Lady Terrington, Liberal, and Miss Susan Lawrence, Miss Margaret Bondfield and Miss Dorothea Jewson, Labor.

The Conservatives and Laborites will have three feminine disciples, and the Liberals, two; thus, the women will be well divided according to the strength of the parties.

The success of the five newly-elected women is the more remarkable because in each case they won their seat for their party and forced the fight against sitting members of the last parliament. Against these victories, the returns show that 26 women were defeated at the polls.

Three peeresses now will sit among the Commoners, dividing Parliamentary glory with their husbands who sit in the more austere Chamber.

U. OF T. HOCKEY TEAM DEFEATED

TORONTO, December 8 (Canadian Press). — Last night's Sportsmen's Patriotic Association Junior game, in which the fast Owen Sound team defeated the University of Toronto by 3 to 2, was the best of the season so far.

There was not a dull moment, and both teams maintained a fast pace, which could only be expected of the players in mid-season form.

The visitors won on their merits and showed that they will be strong contenders for S.P.A. and Ontario Hockey Association championships.

The Owen Sound team is well fortified in every position, and substitutes are as good as regulars.

Graham, who started as relief man, was as effective as any other player on the ice, his back checking breaking up rush after rush.

Smith played well in front of the net, and his defence, Grant and Cain, gave him good protection.

Welland was great at centre, and the wing players, Keeling and Elliott as regulars and E. Wright and Graham as subs, did not weaken the team to any extent.

Varsity's team fell down badly on the wings.

CANADA'S WEALTH $2,500 PER HEAD

OTTAWA, Dec. 8.—Canada's national wealth is estimated by the Bureau of Statistics at $22,482,841,182 —which works out around $2,500 per head of population. The estimate has been reached under the "Inventory" method. This consists in totalling the amounts known to have been invested in agriculture, manufactures, dwellings, etc. Farm values are the largest item in the total, these—which include buildings, machinery, live stock, etc.—account for $6,592,351,789. The next largest item is urban real property, totalling $3,944,000,000.

The estimate is based on returns for 1921 (the latest year for which the sttaistics are available.) It is pointed out that in that year money values of commodities reached their peak.

Among the famous inventions of the Chinese are the following: The compass, printing, lithography, suspension bridges and gunpowder.

FORGOT FUTURE OF OUR COUNTRY

C. P. R. Says Canadians Became Worst Advertisers of Their Own Country

HALIFAX, N.S., Dec. 8.— Addressing the Canadian Club and members of the Board of Trade here yesterday, E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stated that the interests of his company would be confined for some time to its existing properties and such extensions of them as the development of the province warranted.

Mr. Beatty stressed the necessity of immigration and declared that lack of men, lack of capital and lack of those forward policies which would enable the country to realize within a reasonable time its own manifest destiny was what the east in common with the west was suffering from. Arguments of a surplus of labor at the present time and land being cultivated under a loss were used in opposition to the plan for intensive immigration, but said Mr. Beatty, "we forgot our faith in the ultimate future of the country and we ourselves became the worst advertisers of the country."

This was one of the causes why many thousands of immigrants in the past three years had been induced to emigrate to countries which do not and did not offer better opportunities than Canada.

Efforts of his company to develop Canadian immigration had not been confined to the west but had been also specifically aimed at Nova Scotia in which province special efforts had been made to induce officers of the Indian army to settle with their families.

Turning to the question of railway workers' wages, Mr. Beatty stated that the percentage of wage increases since 1917 still exceeded by a substantial margin the percentage of increase in the cost of living during that period.

WATCH LOST IN SPRING.

BROCKVILLE, December 8 (Canadian Press). — Last April, while ploughing on his farm at Junetown, Clark Turner last a gold watch from his pocket. Diligent search failed to reveal the watch, but a few days ago, while doing his fall ploughing, Mr. Turner unearthed the watch, which, when wound up, commenced ticking off the seconds apparently unharmed.

U.F.O. CONVENTION.

TORONTO, Dec. 8.—(Special).—The Drury-Morrison battle is to be reneewd at the U.F.O. Convention next week. It is reported the Ferguson Government favors the Morrison faction. There will be a lively fight for the presidency.

THE WEATHER.

Still mild, no freeze-up, and no immediate sign of it. In this connection an old man, who claims to have watched the progress of the seasons for over 60 years, says that he has noticed that the snow never remains on the ground after it falls unless there has been a previous freeze-up of mud and slush on the country roads, that when the snow then falls it does not then drift off owing to the rough surface, and remains until spring. A Scotsman has handed me the following clipping, which explains itself. The district referred to is Ayrshire, the birthplace of Bobby Burns, Scotia's sweet singer: "It will be no surprise to our readers, acquainted with the weather conditions of the past few months to learn that September was the wettest month for over 30 years. At Loch Finlas, the source of the town's water supply, the rainfall during last month was 9.31 inches, or the highest recorded for the month of September for the past 38 years. It was actually three times more than was the case last September. Whatever else may be scarce, certainly water is not. Now that all hope of ever experiencing a dry spell seems gone, we can only wish that some morning we may awake to find it snowing. Anything for a change." Items of general interest along weather lines are thankfully received.—W. P.

QUITS FACTORY AS HEIRESS TO FORTUNE IN OIL

Girl of 16 Dresses Up As First Cheque For $11,000 Arrives — Will Improve Education.

FROM AN ORPHANAGE

INDIANAPLIS, Dec. 8.—Leona Coyle, 16 and pretty, with big baby blue eyes and a luring blonde-bob, has quit her job as a splicer in a tire factory here to join the ranks of the idle rich.

She has become heiress to land and oil wells in Oklahoma worth more than $250,000.

Fifteen years ago her father, Landers T. Coyle, who worked at anything left their home in Berea, Ky., and went into the new Klondike of Oklahoma. For $600 he purchased 180 acres of land near Ardmore; for $200 he purchased 640 acres near Wilson, Okla., and then put in his efforts turning this prairie into a farm.

Because Coyle declined to return to Kentucky, Mrs. Cole obtained a divorce after waiting a few years and Coyle later married Myrtle Warden an attractive young Woman at Ardmore, and continued his agricultural efforts.

Leona With Mother

Leona remained in Kentucky with her mother, where the two of them struggled along trying to make both ends meet.

Ten years ago Coyle was found murdered on his farm. A knife had been stuck into his back. The second Mrs. Coyle's former husband was arrested, tried and acquitted, on a charge of murder and Coyle's death went along as another of Oklahoma's unsolved mysteries.

It was like occasion of Coyle's death that took the first Mrs. Coyle and her daughter to Oklahoma where they attempted to claim a parcel of the land. In the meantime, the second Mrs. Coyle went to New York and the land apparently reverted to the Indians from whom it had been purchased by Coyle.

In An Orphanage

A few months later the first Mrs. Coyle died and Leona, a child of 7, was left an orphan. Friends took her to Oklahoma City where she joined the ranks of the state orphanage and where she remained until two years ago.

Then her father's sister, in Indianapolis learned her whereabouts and sent for her. She has been living her, since then and working along with the rest of the family to meet the ever increasing costs of life

But to-day Leona holds title to 90 acres of land at Ardmore worth $180,000 and a one-third interest in the 600-acre tract are two producing wells which through a compromise will bring her $20,000 a year in lease and a royalty on production.

The first third of this year's lease was received by the girl the other day. It amounted to nearly $11,000 and after fitting herself out in beautiful garments such as a girl of her wealth should possess, she put the rest in the bank to further the more or less mediocre education she obtained in the Oklahoma City orphanage.

JOSEPH E. WEST SHOOTS HIMSELF

OTTAWA, Dec. 8. — Joseph E. West, Chief Despatcher at the Canadian Pacific Railway offices here, shot himself in the chest early today at his home inflicting a wound, which according to Dr. J. E. Craig, might prove fatal. West was taken to St. Luke's Hospital where his wife, Mrs. Agnes Fullerton West, was buried yesterday.

By a former marriage, Mrs. West had two children, Charles Stanley McFarlane, now of Toronto, and Miss Agnes McFarlane. It is understood that Mrs. West's will left the bulk of the estate to her daughter and son.

West is a man of 55 to 60 years of age and came here from Montreal five years ago.

Every Province Is Represented

OTTAWA, Dec. 8.—(Canadian Press).—At the close of the Cabinet meeting last evening, Prime Minister Mackenzie King expressed pride in the fact that, as he said, for the first time in the history of Canada every one of the nine Provinces of the Dominion had been represented. This, Mr. King said, had been his intention when he came into power, and it was now realized. Every member of the Cabinet was present today with the exception of Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding, who is still confined to his home by sickness.

There will be another meeting on Saturday, when it is proposed to have the Ministers photographed as a group at the council table.

The Prime Minister said last night that he would not make any announcement relative to the opening of Parliament, before the end of the year.

SILVERMAN IS CHARGED WITH SELLING LIQUOR

Well Known Sudbury Merchant is Released on $4,000 Bail.

SUDBURY, Ont., Dec. 8.—Meyer Silverman, well known Sudbury merchant, has been released on $4,000 bail pending trial on a charge of having liquor for the purpose of sale and will appear for trial next Thursday. Arrest was in connection with the seizure of 1,060 gallons of high wines, valued at over $20,000 around Espanola last month and Provincial Police are continuing efforts to locate "the man higher up" and further arrests will likely be made before Silverman goes on trial. Police have information that a steamer load of 3,000 gallons was landed at Cutler last month.

AMERICAN COMMENT MACKENZIE DEATH

Sir William's Story is Not Likely to Be Repeated—His Career Concludes a Period.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(Canadian Press). — Referring to the recent death of Sir William Mackenzie the Herald today says, his career is not likely to be repeated in the history of Canada, because his death marks the closing of a period in the development of the Dominion. Sir William, it stated, was one of those strong and engaging personalities which passed out of life almost a generation ago

The development of her (Canada's) Western Empire, beginning as late as 1880 in the formation of a syndicate which completed her first trancontinental line, is still going forward, it says.

"It has passed, however, into the second phase and it is scarcely too much to say that the conclusion of Sir William Mackenzie's career also concludes a period. Sir William's story is the story of the union between personal financial power and empire, which, with greater or less variation, was being written all over the world a generation past. But it is not likely to be repeated in the future. Even with Canada times have changed."

BUYING QUIET LOCAL MARKET THIS MORNING

Death and Sickness Seems to Be a Favorite Topic With the Market Senate

TODAY'S PRICES

Buying was desultory on the farmers' market this morning. There were plenty of patrons, but they spent a great deal of time standing around and exchanging views on the weather and kindred topics, while would-be purchasers slid around convenient angles of the massed groups and priced the commodities on view. Perhaps the gentleman who said this morning, "I like to poke around this place on Saturdays" expressed the general viewpoint of the numbers who block the downstair thoroughfares and congregate in bunches about the stove in the upstair section.

Market habitues talk about many things, but a general topic of conversation seems to be death and sickness. The probable chances of 'him' or 'her' recovering from some mysterious disease are debated pro and con in many of the subdued interchanges of opinion between ladies, who interrupt their talk to answer inquiries as to the age and price of a dead goose or chicken. The probable price of a fur coat and the mistaken opinions held by others were likewise subjects of talk caught on the fly.

In the basket section, tables at noon were piled high with produce. Fowl were everywhere, with a slow sale on account of the mild weather. Butter was very plentiful, and eggs have evidently come out of their retirement, for their numbers were numerous this morning.

Downstairs, a gentleman vendor had them for 60 cents a dozen, but the upstair price ranged from 65 to 70 cents a dozen.

Butter was 38 and 40 cents a pound, the latter the general price, Chickens were 20 and 23 cents, geese 23 and 25 cents, ducks 30 cents, and turkeys 30 to 35 cents a pound, with a great variety of fowl of every sort to choose from.

Cream was 23 cents a pint.

Commerce in other than farm wares is gradually invading the basket section to quite an extent. Upstairs this morning there were sales of candy, home-made cooking, and woollen socks and mittens, fancy work, Vetcraft novelties, and two enterprising little boys had rigged up a regular Christmas section at an end of one of the tables with a little bell to attract custom to the red and green decked table where Christmas cards were displayed.

"Get your cabbages over here," was the loud-voiced cry of two little lads downstairs, in charge of a small hand-waggon filled with ball-head specimens of the chou, as the French call it, that ranged in price from a nickel to a quarter a-piece.

Axe-helve vendors, red and white, were prominent on the market this morning, and a couple of youths had a quantity of Christmas trees, at a quarter and a half-dollar each.

Apples and meat sales had the crowd this morning. Apples were plentiful and were enjoying a quick sale. By the bushel box, one could purchase Spys or Peewalkies at $1.25 and golden Russets at $1.00. Another vendor had Spys at $1.50 a bag and Russets at 35c a peck.

Beef was 10 and 12 cents a pound, lamb 20 and 22 and 20 and 25 cents a pound, and pork 14 and 16 cents and 15 and 17 cents, at different sections.

Winter radishes were selling at 50 cents a peck, carrots at 35 cents, potatoes, fairly plentiful, were $1.50 a bag.

Disease Germs Doomed

Many have lost terrors for the Scientist

The progress of recent years in medical research is little short of marvellous. Daily, science kills germs by the million. Daily, new ones are being discovered, isolated and exterminated by the march of medicine.

Science is winning. What were once regarded as serious diseases are now laughed out of countenance by the doctors. Fearlessly they plunge naked hands into swarms of them, their only precaution being to rinse their hands afterwards with a reliable germicidal preparation. We are witnessing the birth of an era when the world will have little to fear from microbes.

Absorbine Jr., besides being the all-purpose liniment that removes pain and soreness, and hastens healing, is a powerful antiseptic that is death to the microbe world.

Absorbine Jr., is just what is needed in the house in case of accidents and to correct the many little household hurts that constantly occur. $1.25, at your druggist.

DISMISS THEFT CASE HAVELOCK

Magistrate Declared Stolen Property Was Not Shown to Have Been in the Hands of Accused.

HAVELOCK, Dec. 8.—(Special.)—Rita Munroe was dismissed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, when charged yesterday afternoon with the theft of $80 and a bank book, the Magistrate saying it had not been proven that the $20 bill admitted to have been in the possession of the accused was one of the bills stolen, and consequently the onus of proof was not on the defense. Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C., conducted the prosecution and F. H. Fleming appeared for the accused. Witnesses for the prosecution were Oran M. Munroe of Cheboygan, Mich., the complainant; Charles Armstrong, of the Armstrong House, Havelock, and Harrison Wigg, merchant, of Havelock. The defence called Miss Rita Munroe, the accused, and her foster mother, Mrs. Mary Munroe.

Oran Munroe is in the habit, it appeared from his evidence, of making visits to his relatives in this part of the country and spending a great deal of his time at the home of his neice, Mrs. Mary Munroe. On his arrival in Havelock on this occasion he had $123, of which $100 was in five bills of American issue of $20 each. The last time he saw this money was when he went into Wing's store to pay for salt he had sent for. He took one $20 bill from his bank book, leaving four bills secured by an elastic band in the inside pocket of his coat.

On his return to Mrs. Munroe's home had dinner, took off his coat and went to chop wood. Not having occasion to use the coat, he left it there until Monday afternoon, when the accused told him she had heard at Marsh's restaurant that a man who had been staying with the Munroe's over the week end, had been arrested in Campbellford for theft. Munroe immediately thought of his money and on investigation discovered that it was gone from his pocket.

Varty Suspected.

Mr. Munroe suspected this man at first, and went to the restaurant to learn more. Not being satisfied there, he went to the Armstrong House, and Mr. Armstrong told him how he had changed a $20 American bill for the accused on Sunday. In the witness stand Miss Munroe admitted having changed the bill, receiving $10 and two $5 bills for it.

Comment was made upon the accused's evidence, which was given in an open, frank manner. As she was on her way to call on a neighbor on Sunday morning, she said, a railroad man on a C. P. R. engine called to her and beckoned. On her approach he asked her to get the bill changed for him, and directed her to the Armstrong House. She went there and secured the change, giving it to the trainman. She did not know whether the bill was American or Canadian.

The stepmother corroborated the story as told by the girl, adding that her suspicions of the man referred to were heightened by the fact that he returned a week later, but left immediately upon learning that Munroe had lost $80.

The counsel for the defence covered the case in a creditable manner and Mr. Hatton outlined the story, drawing attention to the fact that no attempt was made to bring the man in the engine as a witness.

Magistrate Langley said he could not allow the motion for sentence, and dismissed the case.

AT OMEMEE AND DISTRICT

OMEMEE, Dec. 7.—The Women's Guild of Christ Church, Omemee, held their annual bazaar in the Sunday School room on Wednesday afternoon and although the weather was not at all inviting yet many citizens availed themselves of the opportunity to visit the bazaar and patronize the different booths.

The room was prettily decorated for the occasion with streamers, silver tinsel, flags and bright red, white and blue paper, all of which presented a warm and cheery appearance.

On entering the basement the guests were graciously received by Miss R. Stephenson, and as one passed along an array of fancy-work, aprons, warm mittens, sweaters and bonnets and many other gift suggestions were displayed where Miss A. Stephenson, Mrs. W. Fee, Mrs. E. Jamieson and Miss Irene Clement were in charge.

Miss Edith Robinson had charge of the novelty table and did a flourishing business in smallwares.

The candy booth was well looked after by Mrs. J. Bannon and Miss Woods, but the demand was greater than the supply and before the evening had well advanced the quantity was exhausted. This was probably due to the Fish Pond having been done away with, this year.

The home cooking booth presided over by Mrs. George McQuade, Mrs. V. Jones and Mrs. Arthur McQuade, presented a tempting array of delicious pies, cakes, etc. A scripture cake made many sales. Here a slice of toothsome-looking fruit cake accompanied by the recipe sold for the small sum of 10c.

Next in line came the tea-room where Miss E. Curry, Mrs. G. Fee, Miss C. Cornell, Mrs. F. Bent, Mrs. F. Clement and other assistants catered most willingly to the numerous visitors who dropped in during the tea hours.

While the bazaar was not as large as in previous years, owing to other recent activities in the church, yet those in charge are more than pleased with the splendid success attained with very little expense attached. The proceeds amounted to something over $105.

Monthly Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the W. M. S. of the Presbyterian church was held at the manse on Thursday afternoon, with a small attendance of members present. After the devotional exercises conducted by the President, Mrs. S. J. Mackey, an excellent report of the attendance of members throughout the year, correspondence written and received etc. was given by the secretary, Mrs. E. H. Mitchell, who was later tendered a hearty vote of thanks.

The treasurer's report followed, which showed a small decrease in the amount of money raised in comparison with last year.

The election of officers then took place as follows:

Honorary President—Mrs. S. J. Mackey.
President—Mrs. (Rev.) Black.
1st Vice-president—Mrs. H. Lamb.
2nd Vice-president—Mrs. L. Windrim.
Secretary—Mrs. E. H. Mitchell.
Treasurer—Mrs. L. A. Mahood.
Pianist—Mrs. F. G. Sandy.
Home Helpers Secretary—Mrs. L. Windrim.
Home Helpers Treasurer—Mrs. S. J. Mackey.
Strangers Secretary—Mrs. S. T. Wilson.
Literary Secretary and Messenger Secretary—Mrs. M. J. Parsons.
Supply Committee—Mrs. B. Courteney and Mrs. O. G. Williamson.

A committee of Mrs. Sandy and Mrs. Williamson were appointed to interview the pastor, Rev. J. Black, regarding the organization of a Young People's Guild. At the close of the meeting the hostesses, Mrs. Black and Mrs. Mackey, served refreshments. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. O. G. Williamson, when the new officers will be in charge.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a 16-oz. bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

BALDWIN ROUT NOW COMPLETE RETURNS SHOW

Conservative Government in England Will Soon Be a Thing of the Past

THE NEXT MOVE?

(By Wickham Steed, former editor of the London Times, Editor Review of Reviews. Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act of 1923, by the Montreal Star.)

LONDON, December 8. — The Conservatives are routed and Baldwin's government utterly beaten. At the moment of cabling out of the 602 seats already known the Conservatives have got 259, Laborites 185, Liberals 148. There are nine independents, mostly Laborites, one Nationalist from Belfast, and one constituency where a bye-election will be needed as the Liberal candidate died soon after nomination. But even if the Conservatives get the whole of the fourteen outstanding seats, which is unlikely, they will still be far short of a majority in the House of Commons. The Conservative government will therefore soon be a thing of the past.

Though as far as the Conservatives are concerned this result gives me some melancholy personal satisfaction, since I predicted three weeks ago that the Conservatives would return with between 252 and 275 strong it is a despairing sequel to Bonar Law's brave fight of twelve months ago when he created a possibility of a stable British government for several years.

It is disappointing also that the Conservatives and the Liberals should have had so little gumption as to make the Laborites a present of a large number of seats by cutting each others' throats in triangular contests.

Through this folly Labor candidates were returned by minority votes in fully fifty constituencies, a phenomenon I did not foresee when allotting Labor only 150 seats in the new parliament, and the Liberals a minimum of 190.

Labor has thus realized its ambition in retaining the place of the second strongest party in the State.

"What next?" is now the anxious or eager inquiry from all quarters.

Will Baldwin— who came back to Downing street last night from his home constituency, where he was elected by an increased majority—resign office forthwith or hold on as the head of the strongest party until Parliament meets January 8th. If he resigns, will King George send for Ramsay MacDonald, who was also elected triumphantly, or seek the advice of Asquith and Lloyd George? It is not possible to answer these questions. I understand that Labor is not willing to join in any coalition. On the other hand the differences about the fiscal issue on which the election was mainly fought may render a Conservative-Liberal coalition impracticable unless a common fear of Labor induces them to join hands against it. The best way out pending a fresh appeal to the country which is is widely though to be inevitable after the budged is passed next spring, would seem to be the formation of a stop gap administration under a great statesman like Lord Grey of Falloden on a programme which all parties would be able to support. The programme of such a government might be an earnest endeavour to find a basis for settling reparations and for the gradual reconstruction of Europe in agreement with France and the Allies under the general auspices of the League of Nations.

This suggested way out will possibly be blocked by the selfishness of party politicians and their respective machines, but it would give the country a breathing space and a chance of taking stock of its position before a fresh appeal to the electors. The best chance of its adoption may lie in the undeniable improvement in the temper of the French Government during the last fortnight. Reasonable men feel it would be a pity to allow this chance to escape without utilizing it. It is still too soon to analyze the voting in detail.

Out of over 14,000,000 votes cast in constituencies where results have already been proclaimed, the Conservatives got over 5,000,000, Labor and Liberals over 4,000,000 each. Protection therefore is completely rejected.

Among the prominent victims of the polling are Sir Donald MacLean, who lead the Liberal whip, when Asquith was defeated in 1918; McCurdy, Lloyd George's chief whip, and Sir Walter Runciman, the former Liberal president of the Board of Trade.

On the other hand Sir John Simon and Sir Robert Horne had easy victories.

Frank Hodges, the popular and able secretary of the Miners' Federation, enters parliament for the first time, while Newbold, the notorious Communist, was defeated.

Eight women members are elected, including besides Lady Astor and the Duchess of Atholl, and Mrs. Philipson, Conservatives, Lady Terrington, and Mrs. Wrintingham, Liberals, Miss Margaret Bondfield, and Miss Susan Lawrence, Labor.

Apart from the crushing defeat of the Conservatives the general reduction of the majorities of the Conservatives elected is a most striking feature of the election. The revolt of the voters is quite as marked in English country constituencies as in the towns. Resentment at Baldwin's snap tactics undoubtedly affected a large number of moderate Conservatives but the chief reason in my opinion is that the Conservative candidates failed to appreciate the fact that the standard of intelligence is now much higher than it was formerly and that the stock Conservative arguments were ineffective against the reasoning of Liberal and Labor candidates. Whatever its contributory causes the Conservative overthrow cannot be gainsaid, and the situation resulting therefrom will require the most careful consideration by the representatives of the middle class in the immediate future.

THE BRITISH ELECTION.

Britain still stands by free trade—that is the clearest note that issues from the mass of election statistics.

Despite the millions of unemployed, the sad condition of many industries and the general depression, the people are not prepared to support a departure from the tariff principles that have ruled the old land for nearly a century, and the appeal of Premier Baldwin for a clear mandate to introduce a system of limited protection has fallen upon deaf ears.

The majority won by Bonar Law a year ago has disappeared in the face of the distrust of the British electors in anything that savoured of a relinquishment of free trade.

Mr. Baldwin heads the biggest group in the House, but he lacks a majority over all, and unless some form of coalition is arrived at, and there does not seem even a faint chance of that development, another appeal to the country would appear to be inevitable.

In the turnover Labour has been the biggest gainer, surpassing even its own predictions as to the result and upsetting the calculations of opposition and neutral observers.

Labour is a political force to be reckoned with, and the success scored Thursday in spite of the fact that the unexpected election caught the party with a depleted treasury, will make Labour even more formidable in the next trial of strength.

NO APATHY THERE.

Although the campaign in Great Britain was much shorter than is considered necessary in the case of Canadian elections, it is significant that the despatches declare that the heaviest vote in the history of old country elections was polled.

The brevity of the fight in no way mitigated against general interest in the election — in fact, the short contest enabled voting to be held when interest was at its height, and not when it had been consumed by its own intensity as is liable to be the case in a campaign that is unduly prolonged.

There is a lesson in this for Canadian politicians, and in the very large percentage of the voters who exercised their franchise there is also a lesson for Canadians generally.

The women voters turned out in very large numbers, and the hesitation noted among many Canadian women to interest themselves in politics and to take advantage of the franchise that has been conferred upon them was nowhere in evidence in the old land, where, it is said, charwomen voted on their way to ork in the morning, voted on their way to work in work in morning, housewives left families in care of their husbands, while they marked their ballots, and women of every station in life went to the polls.

The men, too, did their duty everywhere, and the percentage rolled up throughout the Kingdom, makes the best Canadian showing, indeed, a sorry one.

WHAT ABOUT THE FUTURE?

From all candidates who enter the municipal campaign the ratepayers have a right to ask a plain straightforward statement of what they propose to do if elected to office.

Miracles are not expected from anybody, nor are candidates to be expected to outline a long list of achievements that they will carry out in the event of their bring chosen.

But they should have something definite and concrete to offer—something more than mere promises to insist upon rigid economy and all that sort of thing.

Canada is on the eve of a great development following the depression of the after-war years—with her immense resources such a development cannot fail to come.

And as a city Peterborough wants to share in that upward leap to prosperity and needs men with vision enough to plan for the event.

To stand still is to go back, and too many candidates whose only plank is that they'll keep the tax rate where it is or reduce it if possible may not be an unmixed blessing.

What steps should Peterborough as a city take toward preparing for the development that Canada is justified in expecting?

Will any real progress be made by a policy that consists merely of cheese-paring and trimming, regardless alike of present needs and future requirements?

The candidates in the field and others about to enter the lists should be heard from on these and other municipal questions.

HOLDING OUT FALSE HOPES.

Canada's immigration plans are not destined to get very far or to accomplish any very appreciable results unless care is taken to correct some of the abuses that have characterized immigration efforts in the past.

The Ayrshire Post, published at Ayr, Scotland, throws some light upon this subject in a recent editorial as follows:

"Because the emigration project is working out in many instances very badly, and because complaints, by no means few, are appearing in the British press, it does not by any means follow that any material blame is to be laid on Canada itself. Canada is a land of infinite resources, with a remarkable past behind it, and with a still more remarkable future before it. But there is something undeniably wrong and cruelly unfair in the system that may be luring men out to the Dominion by prospects of good wages and steady employment, only to find that, when they get there, the wages are not good, the employment is lacking, and the men themselves are treated as undesirables, after being lured away from the old country with the prospect of starting a new life under smiling auspices. There are, of course, many to whom that prospect is realized; to others it is a miserable and an unwarrantable fiasco. On the face of it, it seems only fair that when a man is invited to Canada to make his home there, and when he is willing to work, he ought not to be sent back as if he were an incubus or a waster. Whatever their emigration agents or the Canadian Government may say, it is plainly obvious that neither the agents nor the Government itself, can compel the farmers, nor any class of labour employers, to pay the wages that are advertised and by which so many emigrants have been baited, and induced to make the western journey. The Canadian farmer, being human like his neighbours, is no more likely than the farmers here, to pay at any higher rate than he can help; and to all appearance he looks for a fuller return in labour, which is not always in the power of an unaccustomed man either here or in Canada to give. There has been a great deal written and spoken of late about encouraging emigration, in the interest of the empire, and there is no room to question that, in our present national conditions and with a view to meeting the needs of an expanding Dominion, a well-considered system is much to be desired. But the system itself should precede the emigration and not come as a corollary to the partial failure of a plan that lures men away in high hopes and brings them back again to exhibit themselves as horrible examples of what the existing system has meant for them."

It is to be feared that in the main this charge is largely true. Too rosy promises have been made to prospective immigrants, too glowing a picture painted of wage conditions in Canada, too careless a representation made of what the newcomer might expect here.

Our immigration policy, if it is to succeed, must be based on a solid foundation.

The man who is thinking of coming to Canada should be told frankly what he can expect in the way of remuneration should he desire to accept work on a farm, or what wages he can count on in following an industrial occupation.

Holding out false hopes is a plan that can only temporarily succeed—and then completely fail.

RELAXING THE GRIP ON THE RUHR.

The swiftness of Premier Poincare's decision to unloose a tourniquet which France has been applying in the occupied areas of Germany since last January, if only by a half-turn, will cause a wagging of heads in London and Paris. It is a decision of major importance and there will be much speculation as to the motive which inspired it.

Month after month France hinted and suggested that as soon as the policy of passive resistance was abandoned by Germany she would begin to withdraw her troops from the Ruhr and the Rhineland and loosen the iron grip which she held on that territory. Germany held to this extravagant and foolish policy until the entire financial fabric of the nation collapsed and the mark became the laughing-stock of the bourses of Europe. It was not until she faced chaos and disintegration that Dr. Stresseman finally gave way.

Germany waited week after week for some sign from France that the pledge of withdrawal would be fulfilled and her bitterness increased. Yet Poincare stiffened his resolve to stay in the Ruhr and talked plainly of occupation for security. The policy of the French Government was summed up in an article in L'Intransigeant on the day that the grave crisis in Anglo-French relations were passed.

"The only thing for use to do is to turn to the Rhineland and the Ruhr and install ourselves there as much for security as for reparations. In so doing we will make of the occupied provinces a barrier against Germany. So long as Germany is obliged to begin another war without the Ruhr and with the Ruhr and the Rhine to cross, she will not start it."

Quite a little history has been written since this article appeared three weeks ago. In the first place, Poincare's position is not so firm in its security as it was then. The dispute over the electoral reforms and the threat of President Millerand to resign his high office if there is any reversion to the old system of ward elections which was abandoned eighteen months ago shows the gravity of this problem and indicates that opposition to the changed order may be greater than the French press has so far revealed. It may be that Premier Poincare has certain groups to mollify if he is to hold his supreme place.

In the meantime also Germany has shown considerable recuperative powers and seems to have emerged at least for a few weeks from the political crisis which confronted her. Dr. Marx is assuming office on a policy of consolidating all the forces and groups that wish to see the unity of Germany continue and Premier Poincare may see in him the new Moses to lift the country out of the wilderness of internal squabbling. Moreover, the election campaign which started three weeks ago with the stock of Premier Baldwin quoted at an exceedingly low figure has changed its aspect and it is generally admitted today that Premier Baldwin will be returned to power. M. Poincare, as one of the ablest political strategists in Europe, may want to discount any effect which the result of the election may have upon Anglo-French relations by showing a disposition to be more conciliatory and to extend the olive branch of friendship even before the shouting dies down in the British arena.

Whatever the motive that has inspired the change of attitude, it will be most welcome. Any movement which brings the two great war allies together will create a reflex of thankfulness throughout the Empire and an expectation of a swifter return to peace and stabilization in Europe.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is still going to be "free trade as they have it in England."

Labour's gains in the British elections show how easy it is for the political prophets to make a mistake.

Britain faces the prospect of another election in the near future. If the campaign is no longer than the last one the two could be run off in less time than it takes Canada to hold one election.

Like Premier King at Ottawa, Premier Baldwin has not a majority over all in the House. But the King Ministry continues to carry on in spite of that fact.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, December 8. — The week's supply of all cattle was 8,300 head, and in addition to this the abattoirs received some fair-sized Western shipments direct. The weather is bad for hanging meat, and the packers say their space is now well taken up, except that left for next week's holiday carcases.

Under the conditions, packers' buyers were hard to interest on Wednesday and Thursday, although the commission men were prepared to talk what they thought attractive prices. Under the circumstances it would be perhaps unfair to call these prices fixed for any period, unless the market continues to be flooded, as it is at present.

The exporters took a supply of about 700 head of fat steers and paid an average of about $6.55 a cwt. This was a little higher than the purchases made two weeks ago. They also bought 270 short keeps from $5.50 to $6.25 a cwt., and 55 bulls from $3.75 to $4.75 a cwt. The price for bulls was steady, while the short keeps were higher. Choice medium weight and other butchers were bought on Monday at steady prices, the top paid being $6.75 a cwt., but following this, none made much above $6.00. On Thursday, only $5.50 was bid for really choice heifers.

For the coming week there will likely be a fair market for any choice Christmas cattle, but no fancy prices are expected. The exporters have no boat space for the week, and will only buy at a price that will pay to carry them over for a week. For anything below the good to choice butchers the market promises nothing better than the close of this week an' commission houses are strongly advising any shipments of this kind until the bad market situation has been rectified. Drovers who take losses under the circumstances have only themselves to blame.

Good calves have all been wanted, and this market holds firm at 10 1-2 cents to 11 1-2 cents a pound. Good medium calves are selling up to 9 cents, but the heavy calves are still slow sale at as high as 6 cents.

A jump of two dollars a cwt. was registered this week for lambs, with a top of 12 1-2 cents for light ewes and wethers. The advance held at the week-end, and lambs over 100 pounds each sold at 11 3-4 cents.

Hog dealers have had a trying week owing to the general complaints of shippers at the low prices which have had to be accepted. The packers tried to drag the market down to $7.25 a cwt. f.o.b., but the resistance was too strong and one buyer stemmed the decline below $7.50 a cwt. and the market had a firmer look on Thursday.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.— Demand for spot supplies of oats was quiet to-day. There was no actual change in the condition of the flour market. A fair demand was done in millfeed and demand for rolled oats was steady. A fair feeling prevails for baled hay. There is a steady demand for eggs. Prices for butter are steady at the present advance. Business in cheese is very quiet.

Egg quotations to-day were: Extras 40; firsts 35; seconds 30.

Butter—No. 1 pasteurized 41 3-4 to 42 1-4; No. 1 creamery 40 3-4 to 41 1-4. No other grades quoted.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Storage extras are being offered in eastern Ontario at 37 1-2 f.o.b. shipping point. Some storage firsts are reported having arrived Montreal for export costing 35 1-2 delivered. United States government warehouse report for December 1, shows a surplus over last year of 740,000 cases which is less than was anticipated and has resulted in a firmer feeling in United States markets. The early arrival in the east of western turkeys has given rise to the idea that there are more turkeys in the west to market this year than previously. From reports received it appears that western turkey crop has been over-estimated and in all probability will not run any heavier than last year.

Toronto, unchanged, United States refrigerators arriving freely costing 29 1-2 to 29 3-4 f.o.b. Chicago.

Montreal, quiet, fresh unchanged. Storage extras jobbing 40 to 42, firsts 35 to 37, seconds 30 to 32.

Western markets unchanged.

Chicago spot fresh 46 to 50.

New York eggs unchanged. Poultry dressed box fowl heavy 21 to 28, barrel 14 to 28, turkeys steady young 30 to 35, fair to good 26 to 29. Live fowl firm 28, heavy 29 to 31, chickens firm, turkeys weak 28 to 32.

WINNIPEG LIVE STOCK.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 7. — Receipts, 720 cattle and calves, 1,200 hogs and 40 sheep and lambs.

The few desirable killing cattle on offer were in good demand at steady prices. Stockers and feeders were in request but butcher cows were inactive at 50 cents below the opening of the week.

Good lambs were priced around $10.50 and a few weighty sheep sold at $5.00.

Packers were bidding $7.00 for thick smooths on the hog market and $7.70 for select bacons.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.— Wheat underwent a material setback in price to-day, chiefly as a result of slackness of demand during the last half hour. The close was heavy, 5-8c to 1 1-8c. and 1 1-4c. net lower, December $1.03 3-4 and 7-8, and May $1.09 1-2 and 5-8 to $1.09 5-8. Corn finished unchanged to 1-8c. off; oats unchanged to 1-4c. up, and provisions unchanged to 30c. higher.

Unfavorable weather and scantiness of rural offerings led to higher prices for corn, but later the market sympathized with wheat weakness. Oats were scarce and May touched a new high price record for the season.

Provisions were firmer, mainly as a result of bullish inferences concerning the president's message.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.— Cattle, receipts 5,000; active; strong; bulk short fed steers, 7.25 and 10.00; mixed yearlings 12.00; the top, best matured steers 10.75; market unevenly higher than a week ago; undertone heavy; bulk vealers to packers 9.00 and $9.50; selected kind 10.00 and 10.50 and above to outsiders; bulk stockers and feeders 5.80 and 6.75.

Hogs, receipts 55,000; mostly steady; bulk good and choice 230 to 325 pound butchers 7.00 and 7.10; top 7.15.

Sheep, receipts 12,000; fat lambs uneven; better grades, strong to around 15c. higher at 12.75 to 13.25; fat sheep and feeding lambs steady; choice handyweight ewes upward to 7.00.

FIGHTING BREAKS OUT IN MEXICAN REBELLION CENSORSHIP ON NEWS

Government's Campaign Against Revolt Reported Going Smoothly—Rebel Leader Appeals For Aid of Soldiers and Civilians

Troops Transported.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 8. — The Government's campaign to crush the rebellion of General Guadalupe Sanchez, Military Commander in the State of Vera Cruz, is being carried out smoothly, according to an announcement yesterday by the secretary of war, General Francisco Serrano.

STIFF FIGHTING.

JUAREZ, Mex., Dec. 8.—Control of communication by the Obregon and Calles factions effectually clamped the lid upon news of the De La Huerta revolt in the south yesterday.

Although border military officials here were advised that stiff fighting was in progress in the States of Guerrero and Vera Cruz they were not informed of the revolt, being ordered only to take precautions against uprisings of any kind.

THE REBEL APPEAL.

VERA CRUZ, Dec. 8.— General Guadalupe Sanchez, leader of the rebellion against the Government of President Obregon, in a message sent Friday to all the chiefs of military operations in Mexico, announces that 22,000 men, 230 machine guns, four batteries of artillery and all warships in the Gulf of Mexico, and, last but not least, the power of public opinion are backing the Huertista movement against the Obregon Government and General Calles.

"Public opinion," adds the message, "is tired of tolerating a government of indecisions and outrages, which is seeking popularity in anarchy and trying to impose a candidate for the presidency. As a consequence, all those who fought against Carranza must again oppose the candidate of the Obregon Government."

General Sanchez then makes a plea to the country, inviting the people to join the movement in order to avoid bloodshed.

The gunboat Bravo sailed yesterday for Tuxpam with troops under orders of the rebel leaders.

Thus far there has been no abnormal occurrence, either at Vera Cruz or the advanced posts held by the rebel troops.

BALDWIN CABINET

which led Mr. Baldwin and his colleagues to adopt the policy which has proved a millstone round their necks still remains somewhat of a mystery. It is believed, however, that Mr. Baldwin himself never contemplated such a hurried appeal to the country, but was driven to it by the extremists of his party. One curious bit of speculation which has been advanced in some quarters is that the decision was made to forestall David Lloyd George, on the supposition that Mr. Lloyd George during his tour in America had been imbued with protectionist ideas.

Whatever the genesis of the policy, the fact remains that the Government has barely escaped complete defeat, and will enter the new Parliament in a minority against the combined vote of the Liberal and Labour Parties, instead of, as in the last Parliament, with a majority of seventy over all the other parties combined.

The Conservatives will still be the largest single Party in the House, but it is inconceivable that they now can propose a Tariff Bill, even should they decide to meet the House of Commons as a Government.

Mr. Baldwin presumably will hold a meeting of his Cabinet before deciding on his next step.

Prospect of Coalition.

The situation opens up the most perplexing and extraordinary set of alternatives ever experienced in British politics, which most likely will have to be solved by another general election in the near future. For the time being the British Parliament is committed to the group system which prevails in European countries, and none of the three political parties is likely to obtain a majority large enough to enable it to form and carry on a stable Government.

Thus, as much as the British people dislike coalitions, there seems to be no other solution of the present situation in sight.

Mr. Baldwin possibly may elect to carry on his Government by the avoidance of any controversial subject, in the hope of securing support from some portion of the Liberal members; but the general impression is that he will decide to throw down the reins of Government and hand over his difficult task to the next strongest Party, namely, the Labourites.

The belief prevails that the Labour Party will not be anxious to form Government under the existing conditions in Parliament, where it would be likely at any moment to meet defeat at the hands of a combination of the Conservatives and Liberals, for it is well known that there is almost as much antagonism between the Labourites and the Liberals as between the Labourites and the Conservatives.

Possible Alternatives.

Among the possible alternatives of the immediate future are:

First: A coalition between the Conservatives and Liberals. In some quarters this is thought to be possible through the resignation of Mr. Baldwin and the placing of the formation of a new Conservative Government in the hands of some statesman like the Earl of Derby, Secretary for War, who favours Free Trade, and might be supposed to be able to secure support from the Liberals to prevent the advent of a Labour Government.

Second: A coalition between the Liberals and the Labourites. This is also supposed by some people a not impossible development. It would be conditional, however, on the willingness of the Liberal leaders to serve under a Labour Premier, and would mean the temporary dropping of some of the extreme planks in the Labourite platform, like a capital levy and the nationalisation of industries.

Though such a development is considered rather unlikely, it is thought it might, if H. H. Asquith, Mr. Lloyd-George, and other former Ministers were willing to take office under J. Ramsay MacDonald, the Labour leader, as Premier, be preferred by the Labour leaders to taking the risk of another expensive general election in the immediate future.

Labour Funds Low.

The present elections were undertaken by Labour with very sparse funds, and their campaign was made possible only through collections taken up at campaign meetings and small contributions for its election fund, but these nowadays are in no wise so large as they have been in the past.

While it is impossible to predict what course will be taken in the face of these various possibilities, there exist good precedents for Mr. Baldwin still trying to carry on his Government. One thing, however, seems certain, whatever Government is next in power, it will endeavour to introduce some measure of electoral reform, in the shape of an alternative vote or proportional representation to avoid the complexities of triangular contests, which, on the present occasion, have favoured the Labour Party much more than either of the other Parties.

THAT HANG-ON COUGH MUST GO

Home Made Cough Mixture Best of all for the Cough that Sticks.

MAKE IT YOURSELF IN TWO MINUTES

The coughing season is on and every home should have a supply of the best cough remedy to be had, and as you can make this supremely excellent cough mixture yourself why pay high prices for the common kind.

Get from any druggist one ounce of Parmint (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar and enough water to make one half pint—that's all there is to it.

Then when any member of the family starts coughing or catches cold in chest or head, or has acute catarrh, you are prepared as you should be.

And the children love to take it. With speed almost beyond belief, this home made cough mixture stops the toughest hang-on cough, and all because in it there is a substance (too costly for ordinary cough syrups) that immediately covers the membrane like a soothing, healing poultice, and blessed relief comes at once.

And you should also bear in mind that any remedy that overcomes catarrh, partially or wholly, is bound to be of benefit to those who are troubled with head noises and catarrhal deafness.

Get Parmint and get better.

POPLIN POPULAR.

Poplin is a favored material for dresses and three-piece suits. Usually there is a lining of bright color, or some relief in the way of embroidery or braiding.

RADIO WIRES FOR MONDAY WASHING

Aerials Becoming Numerous at Warkworth and May Serve Dual Purpose

MARMORA, Dec. 8.—The number of radio enthusiasts in town is steadily increasing. Most report that they are having very good results with their sets. If the popularity of the radio keeps on increasing the aerial wires will be as common as clothes-line wires.

The very mild fall has been a boon to most householders who have been able to conserve the contents of their coal bin and their wood pile for use later on in the winter. Wood is not being offered in very large quantities and is selling for $10 a cord for dry stove wood and $8 for green.

Mrs. Wm. Hughes returned from Kingston on Thursday.

COMMUNITY FUND

One more step will be taken on Monday evening next, December 10th, in the consideration of establishing a Community Fund in the city for the financing by one campaign for the year of social service organizations.

The meeting is being held under the auspices of the Young Men's Section of the Chamber of Commerce and official representatives from social service organizations will be present to express the attitude of the respective organizations.

The Community Fund project is being operated successfully in increasing numbers of municipalities and should be worthy of serious consideration by all citizens as well as organizations which may be affected, and the meeting at 8 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms has therefore been opened to all who may be interested.

This in an appeal not only to the organizations but to all citizens interested in the application of business principles of philanthropies for public service.

A POLICEWOMAN IN WASHINGTON.

Police Chiefs of Other Cities May Get a Good Tip From This Department.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Police chiefs of other cities may get a good tip out of this city's police department.

It concerns the inauguration of a woman's service, conducted solely by women for the protection of women.

It's success is assured by the woman who has made this new angle of police work possible. She is Lieutenant Van Winkle, or Mrs. Mina Van Winkle in private life.

Lieutenant Van Winkle has built up a woman police force in this city of which not only she, but the whole community, is proud. That's because of the unusual average intelligence of her staff, she says. Every member of her force has had to show educational qualifications above the requirements for the men on the same police force.

The graduate nurse, Lieutenant Van Winkle finds, makes the ideal policewoman.

Not Like Cops.

The women learn the use of firearms, and some carry pistols. They wear no uniforms. Neither do they swing night sticks. Their duties, Mrs. Van Winkle explains, mostly concern women.

"One woman in my department is detailed solely to the work of finding missing persons," she says. "She's an expert at it—last year she uncovered 364 who were lost, strayed or stolen.

"Two more are detailed to watch railroad stations for runaways.

"Others visit picture houses and public dance halls and they're instructed to disperse children who should be at home in bed, if it's night time, or in school, if it's day.

Cranks and Such.

"Still others have to take care of the cranks who come to Washington to talk over their private troubles with the president. One of these wanted Mr. Coolidge to find a publisher for her latest song: 'Too Much Good Material Going to the Graveyard.'

"Another insisted that she had been in telepathic communication with President Wilson during the war and now would like to discuss, personally, the League of Nations with him."

Readjusting delinquent girls to their proper sphere is the main aim of the policewoman. They do anything that is morally, physically and financially beneficial to girls, including buying them the right kind of clothes, introducing them into decent society and establishing church connections.

People about them were tittering. One young man burst into a guffaw. Madame Zattiany was calmly eating her dinner. The tirade might have fallen on deaf ears.

Clavering's skin had turned almost black. His eyes looked murderous. But he did not raise his voice. "Go back to your table," he said peremptorily. "You've accomplished your revenge and I've had all I propose to stand. . . . By God! If you don't get out this minute I'll pick you up and carry you out and straight to your grandmother."

"Yes you would—make a scene."

"The scene could hardly be improved. Will you go?"

He half rose. Even Madame Zattiany glanced at him apprehensively.

Miss Oglethorpe laughed uncertainly. "Oh, very well. At least we never furnish material for your newspapers. That's just one thing we think beneath us." She rose and extended her hand. "Good night, Madame Zattiany," she said with a really comical assumption of the grand manner. "It has been a great pleasure to meet you."

Madame Zattiany took the proffered hand. "Good night," she said sweetly. "Your little comedy has been most amusing. Many thanks."

Miss Oglethorpe jerked her shoulders. "Well, console dear unky. He'd like the floor to open and swallow him. Ta! Ta!" She ran back to her table, and its hilarity was shortly augmented.

Madame Zattiany looked at Clavering aghast. "But it is worse than I supposed!" she exclaimed. "It is really a tragedy. Poor Mrs. Oglethorpe." Then she laughed, silently, but with intense amusement. "I wish she had been here! After all! . . . . Nevertheless, it is a tragedy. An Oglethorpe! A mere child intoxicated . . . and truly atrocious manners. Why don't her people put her in a sanitarium?"

"Parents count about as much today as women counted in the cave era. But it is abominable that you should be made conspicuous."

"Oh, that! I have been conspicuous all my life. And you must admit that she had the center of the stage! If any one is to be commiserated, it is you. But you really behaved admirably; I could only admire your restraint."

Clavering's ferment subsided, and he returned her smile. "I hope I didn't express all I felt. Murder would have been too good for her. But you are an angel. And for all her bravado you must have made her feel like the little vulgarian she is. Heavens, but the civilization varnish is thin!—and when they deliberately rub it off"——

"Tell me of this adventure."

"It was such a welcome adventure after leaving you! She told practically the whole of it. She had been to a party and her host was too drunk to take her home. She couldn't get a taxi, so started to walk. After I had fed the little pig I took her home. Of course I had no intention of mentioning it to any one, but I hardly feel that I am compromising my honor as a gentleman!"

"But will Society permit this state of things to last? New York! It seems incredible."

"Heavens knows. It might as well try to curb the lightning as these little fools. Their own children, if they have any, will probably be worse."

"I wonder. Reformed rakes are not generally indulgent to adventurous youth. There will probably be a violent revulsion to the rigors of the nineteenth century."

"Hope so. Thank Heaven we can get out of this."

They left the table. As he followed her down the long room and noted the many eyes that focussed on the regal and beautiful figure in its long wrap of white velvet and fox he set his lips grimly. Another ordeal before him. For a moment he wished that he had fallen in love with a woman incapable of focussing eyes. He hated being conspicuous as he hated poverty and ugliness and failure and death. Then he gave an impatient sigh. If he could win her he cared little if the entire town followed her every time she appeared on the street. And she had been very sweet after that odious flapper had taken herself off. He had ceased to feel at arm's length.

XXII.

They entered the box during the nuptial hymn. Farrar, almost supine in the arms of the seducer, was singing with the voluptuous abandon that makes this scene the most explicit in modern opera. She had sung it a thousand times, but she was still the beautiful young creature exalted by passion, and her voice seemed to have regained its pristine freshness. She had done many things to irritate New Yorkers, but in this scene, whether they forgave her or not, they surrendered; and those to whom love and passion were lost memories felt a dim resurgence under that golden tide.

Clavering had no desire to surrender. In fact he endeavored to close his ears. He had received a cold douche and a hot one in the course of the past hour, and he felt that his equilibrium was satisfactorily established. He had forgotten to warn Madame Zattiany of the step at the front of the box, down which so many novices had stumbled, but she had taken it and settled herself with the nonchallance of custom. Odd. Once more something beat in the back of his brain. But he dismissed it impatiently. No doubt many boxes in Europe were constructed in the same fashion.

FREQUENT HEADACHES

A Sure Sign the Blood is Watery and Impure.

People with thin blood are more subject to headaches than full-blooded persons and the form of anaemia that afflicts growing girls is almost always accompanied by headaches, together with disturbances of the digestive organs.

Whenever you have constant or recurring headaches and pallor of the face, they show that the blood is thin and your efforts should be directed toward building up your blood. A fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do this, and the rich, red blood made by these pills banishes the headache.

More disturbances to the health are caused by their blood than most people have any idea of. When your blood is impoverished, the nerves suffer from lack of nourishment, and you may be troubled with insomnia, neuritis, neuralgia or sciatic. Muscles subject to strain are undernourished and you may have muscular rheumatism or lumbago. If your blood is thin and you begin to show symptoms of any of these disorders, try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as the blood is restored to its normal condition the trouble will disappear. There are many people who owe their present state of good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and most of them do not hesitate to say so.

If you are suffering from any conditions due to poor, watery blood, or weak nerves, begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now, and note how your strength and health will improve. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

STARVATION DIDN'T KILL GIRL'S LUCK.

Collapses on New York Street, Job Promised at Last.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Weeks of loneliness and three days of sheer starvation which ended in her collapse on a downtown street corner on Tuesday night, merely have strengthened the lure of New York for Nanette Prevost, 19 years old, of Denver.

On a cot in Bellevue Hospital, where she is recuperating, Nanette declared her ordeal had strengthened her determination to stay in the big city which she had watched, hopefully at first and later with despair, from park benches and subway seats where she sought refuge when her funds were gone.

The girl said she was graduated from a Denver High School June 26, lost her mother, a widow, three days later, and had come to New York with $60, roseate hopes, and a desire to become a stenographer.

There were no jobs in Denver, and she found there were none in New York. Penniless, she left the Y.W.C.A., where she had been living, and went to live in the subway. Frantic with hunger, she emerged Tuesday night, and fainted as she reached the street.

Social workers said they would find a job for her when she left the hospital.

A THOUGHT

I was eyes to the blind, and feet was I to the lame.

But to support him after.

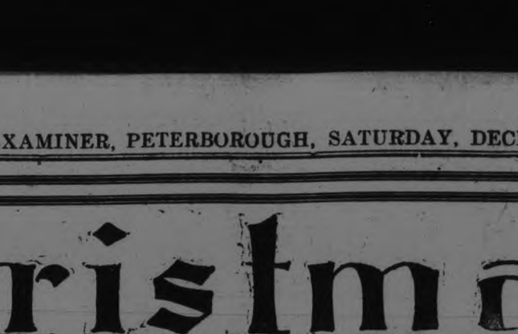
NICK'S OWN RIDDLE



"If our coat tails catch fire, we burst with a crack."

The next riddle was Nick's. Of course the Riddle Lady helped him with the rhyme, but it was his own idea and he was very proud of it. This was it:

"I'm as round as a pencil and long as a bean,
With the brightest red jacket that ever was seen,
I have fifty brave brothers all strung in a row,
Exactly alike from collar to toe.

"We are not jumping-k MMM MMM
"We are not jumping-jacks, but we end with a string,
And like jumping-jacks, we all know how to spring.
If our coat tails catch fire, we burst with a crack,
Our lovely red jackets split right up the back!

"We are fond of gun powder—it's chiefly our diet,
But after we're stuffed, we must keep very quiet,
Not only because we're not fond of a racket,
But each of us hates to have holes in his jacket.

"Dates we cannot remember—there's no use to try,
But one thing we know—that's the Fourth of July.
Then our enemies fight us—they're matches and punk,
And after the Fourth we are nothing but junk.

"The older folk hate us—we make such a noise,
But we give pecks of pleasure to rackety boys,
And that, we are told, is a fine way to
And that, we are told, is a fine way to end,
To willingly give up your life for a friend."

"What is it?" asked Nick proudly.

"Yes, what is it?" repeated Nancy who was in the secret.

"My goodness! I don't know!" declared Jack Sprat.

"And I don't know!" said the Fat Man. "They don't have such things as the Fourth of July in Bombay where I live."

"It's nothing I know about," said the Pieman, who was going through Riddle Town on his way to the Market Town Fair.

"I'm relieved to know that there is somebody else besides myself who is afraid of getting a hole in his jacket," chuckled Humpty Dumpty.

Nobody knew and Nick had to tell them. I'll whisper the answer to you very softly, but don't you tell.

It was a fire cracker!

PUFF SHELLS

The clever woman who believes in preparedness should keep puff shells in her emergency cupboard during the holiday season.

These shells are used as cases for desserts, salads or creamed meats. They can be kept, reheated and crisped for a week or longer.

Creamed shrimps with peas served in a delicious shell is something very different from the same mixture creamed on toast. Creamed chicken, mushrooms and eggs or sweetbreads are quite as satisfactory served in puff shells as in patty shells. And the puff shells are much less trying to make.

This recipe is sufficient for 18 average sized puffs:

One-half cup butter, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup flour, 4 eggs.

The water should be boiling when measured. Put water in a perfectly smooth sauce pan and add butter. When the boiling point is again reached add the flour, which has been sifted, all at once. Stir vigorously.

The mixture will soon make a stiff ball, drawing taway from he sides of the pan. Remove from the fire and add the eggs, unbeaten, one at a time. Each egg should be thoroughly incorporated in the mixture before another is added. Drop by spoonsful onto a buttered cookie sheet or inverted dripping pan. Bake half an hour in a moderate oven.

Do not look at the puffs for the first 10 minutes they are in the oven. At the end of 10 minutes the heat should be slightly reduced. If the dough is allowed to cool before the eggs are added the shells will be in layers of flakes. This flakiness is especially desirable if they are wanted for a creamed entree.

Care in Baking

Care must be taken in the baking that the shells are well done. If they are not thoroughly baked they will fall. A safe way to do this is to take one from the oven. If it does not fall after two or three minutes the rest may be removed with safety.

Eclairs are made from this same mixture. The puffs are shaped in fingers four or five inches long and one and one-half inches wide. After baking they are split and filled with boiled custard, then frosted with chocolate, maple or vanilla.

The puff shells are split in half when used for salads or creamed entrees, each half forming a case.

If used as a dessert the shells can be opened at the top of the puff, the filling put into the case and the top put back. A particularly delicious concoction is made by filling a shell with maple mousse, replacing the top and pouring marshmallow sauce with English wanuts over the whole. No cake is served and the dessert is distinctly a surprise.

Rich Filling

Whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with vanilla makes a rich sauce for a filling of ice cream or a cold-fruited cream of any sort.

This same mixture can also be used to make tiny cheese puffs to serve with salad. Add two tablespoons grated cheese to the mixture before baking and season with salt and paprika. Drop by the half-teaspoonful, spreading flat, on an oiled and floured baking sheet. Bake well in a moderate oven. Sprinkle with grated cheese and melt in a hot oven before serving.

Tiny puffs are made and filled with any rich, highly seasoned sandwich filling for the afternoon tea table. Drop from a teaspoon, but do not flatten. Bake and remove tops. Fill and replace top.

It may be more convenient to fill them by splitting a little at one side. These puffs must be very small, not more than two bites, or they will be most unpleasant to eat.

"My Heart Would Palpitate, I Had Weak Spells"

Mrs. L. Whiting, 202 King St. West, Brockville, Ont., writes:—

"I took very sick with my nerves and stomach, and seemed to be all run down. At times my heart would flutter and palpitate so and I would take such weak spells in the pit of my stomach that I sometimes thought I would never get better. I had almost given up hope when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I did not stop until I had taken twenty-five boxes. It has done wonders for me and I want to recommend it to everyone."

PRESS COMMENT ON ELECTION

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—(Canadian Press).—Terming verdict of British people in general elections thoroughly deserved defeat for Conservatives "World" scores Baldwin for its foreign and domestic policies.

"Tory party in Britain has received beating it so thoroughly deserved," says "World." "It's foreign policy a failure, its domestic policy a muddle, it has brought nothing but confusion into politics."

Under Conservative Government, adds World, British prestige sank to its lowest point in generation, and in conclusion it says, "M. Poincare as well as Mr. Baldwin, was beaten in British elections."

Tribune thinks off hand manner in which Premier Baldwin forced tariff issue upon British public irritated both politicians and electors. And Times think result of election greatest political upset in Britain sinc Disraeli was defeated in 1880. Premier Baldwin, it says, now stands among ruins of his hopes and wreck of his government.

He went to country "with bribe in either hand" it declares. It sees in result strengthening of demand for capital levy and burial of tariff issue in Great Britain.

This Gift Brings Many Merry Christmases

By far the best Christmas gift for some people is a Canadian Government Annuity. To an aged parent or other relative, a retiring pastor, an old teacher, or a faithful employee or domestic who has been long in your service, it should bring happiness and contentment through many years.

You may yourself buy the Annuity for the person to whom you wish to present it, or you may join with others in the purchase. Such Annuities may be of any value from $50 to $5,000 a year. They may be purchased at any age, to start at any age you choose, and, of course, will last as long as the life of the Annuitant. There are special plans of purchase by which provision may be made, if necessary, to protect the interests of the Annuitant's dependents.

No medical examination is required. The terms of purchase are remarkably easy. For full information, fill out this coupon and mail it as directed. No postage is necessary, as it is Canadian Government business.

MILD WEATHER HAS SAVED COAL BILLS

Reports From All Over the Dominion Show Moderate Weather Prevails.

TORONTO, December 8. Canadian Press. — From Sault Ste. Marie to the Atlantic seaboard temperatures higher than the freezing mark, have prevailed during the past 24 hours, according to thermometer readings at local stations received at the observatory here this morning.

Kingston with 42 degrees during the night and 46 at 8 o'clock this morning, made the best showing in the battle with King Coal, although temperatures of 15 were recorded at St. John, N.B., and Halifax yesterday.

The prairies are having more seasonable weather, the mercury falling as low as 12 above at Prince Albert and Calgary, while on the Pacific Coast Victoria and Prince Rupert both reported temperatures of 36 at 8 o'clock this morning.

Toronto, in common with the rest of the country has been enjoying unusually moderate weather. Since Nov. 19th, when the day's average did drop 29 degrees, the daily mean temperature has been away above where it is supposed to be. The lowest the mercury has reached since that date was 35 degrees, while the average for the past 70 years has been 30 degrees.

TRINITY BAZAAR

The Young Ladies' Mission Circle of Trinity Methodist church held a very successful one-day bazaar in Reid street hall yesterday afternoon and evening. This small sale was one of the daintiest of the season's list of bazaars. The members achieved an exceptionally pretty effect with their decorations of the four booths and the tea-room, different soft colors carrying out a general charming arrangement. The president of the Circle, Mrs. A. Parker, acted as general convenor.

The tea-room, a lovely section arranged with tall vases of pink cherry blossoms and quantities of bluebirds, was in charge of Miss Greta Giles. The fancy work booth, with numerous dainty wares on view, was a bower of yellow and blue festoons, with painted flowers centreing the large table. This section was presided over by Miss Flossie Derry. A feature of this booth was the adornment with gay butterflies, contrived in original fashion with the aid of a gilded clothespen body, and stiff blue and yellow paper wings.

Miss Olive Marshall was convenor of the booth where aprons were sold, a section done in attractive reds and greens, with little red Christmas bells as decorations.

The candy counter was an arbor of rose pink and white, streamers of the bright paper hanging from the light above and festooning the white table coverings. Rose and white paper holders and a fern centrepiece completed a very dainty effect. Miss Edith Preston was in charge of the candy sale.

Miss Alice Carver was in charge of the sale of home-made cooking, at a table effectively decorated in bright orange and white streamers, with yellow candles and central bowl of everlastings.

The inclusion of quantities of Christmas evergreens in the arrangement of the different booths added to the general Christmasy effect of the interior.

MOTHERS' ALLOWANCE WORK IS EXPLAINED

An interesting and instructive address on the workings of the Mothers' Allowance Commission, was given by F. H. Dobbin last evening, at a meeting of the Prince of Wales Home and School Association. The president, Mrs. J. S. Peters, occupied the chair.

An enjoyable musical programme included vocal numbers by the Misses Cooper and Weatherhead, an instrumental selection by Miss Olga Johnston, readings by M. Clark, Ashton Fife and Betty Hopwood, and a dance by four small pupils of the school. The service of refreshments followed the business session.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

If an investment, made after thorough investigation and in accord with competent advice, should turn out unfortunately, it is no reason to say "I'd do better to follow my own hunches."

In recent years investing has become a science. Consequently, many have made it their profession and spent a lifetime studying and practicing it. Such experts in making or advising investments.

However, no one is infallible and conditions arise within the investment field which no one could possibly have foreseen, and sometimes unpreventable losses occur.

For some reason, the average individual believes that he is a natural born expert in the subject of investments, and his first reaction to a loss, even though it could not have been prevented, is likely to be: "I know I shouldn't have made that investment—after this, I will follow my own hunches."

Would this same individual follow his own hunches in law, medicine, or any other science which he knew as little about as the science of investing, just because an unavoidable mistake occurred?

No. A hunch is merely a guess and is more likely to be wrong than right. Stick to the advice of the man who makes investing his profession.

There are times in periods of unemployment when a flood, fire, earthquake or some other catastrophe seems a blessing, because it provides work. Is it?

A catastrophe which provides work for idle men is a blessing to them, of course.

However, these men are a relatively small proportion of the population of the whole country. From the standpoint of the country as a whole their labor in rebuilding what is destroyed is waste effort.

In the last analysis the deciding factor as to whether a country is rich or poor is the amount of goods withing the country to be divided among all. It is not so important who has those goods, or how they are divided.

Consequently, if these goods are destroyed, the whole country is poorer, even though one class may temporarily benefit in repairing the damage. The illustration above makes the point clear.

CHEAPER ORANGES AND DEARER LARD.

One Angle of the Buying Situation For Peterboro Housewife.

Cheaper oranges and dearer lard. That's one of the angles of the Christmas buying situation for the housewife. If she makes an orange cake, she saves on the fruit, but she pays more for the shortening that goes into it. It's like the Italian gentleman who lost on the banan' what he made on the peanut, and it's all the fault of the law of supply and demand. Valencia oranges, the late summer fruit petered out to a vanishing point some two weeks before the seedless navel oranges were ready for market, so the fruit pickers of Florida and California got busy, and picked so heartily and so well that the market is flooded with citrus fruit for the holiday trade. Consequently the price goes down.

What is the matter with the lard is the reason that the pig is either losing his appetite, or his owners aren't feeding him so well. Fat hogs are scarce, therefore more high-priced. Besides, there's a bigger demand for lard at this time of year, and that always makes the price higher. Bacon, however, remains unaffected by the diminishing cult of the heavy porker. Lean and streaky sides are the favorite for the breakfast table.

Sugar, after its little temperamental flurry of a fortnight ago, seems to have settled down to a sedate existence for awhile. The wholesale price still remains at $10.92 a hundredweight.

Another burden has been added to the life of the grocer by reason of recent Governmental regulations with regard to grading of eggs. As one large dealer expresses it, "the grocer is evidently going to be made the goat" in connection with these rules. A Government inspector descended on Peterboro this week, with the evident intention of discovering laxity in their carrying out. What harrasses the grocers is the fact that they are supposed to sell eggs strictly by grade, while the farmers' wives may sell on the open market without any such hindering strings. A grocer is allowed to buy only fifteen dozen ungraded eggs at a time, which he is then obliged to sit down and examine carefully by way of the candling process, a laborious and unsatisfying procedure. If he wants to buy any greater quantity than fifteen dozen, they must be graded. However, telling the lady or gentleman who purveys them that they must be graded is only a matter of lost time, for the vendor can go to the market and dispose of the ungraded product without loss of time or trouble. Eggs are graded according to aircell space, which is supposed to be dependent on the age of the specimen Eggs regarded by the Government as Number One Extras may be anywhere from one to four days old.

So many eggs were brought into local stores from the farmes' market surplus last Saturday that the price has decreased in some place by a nickel on the dozen, eggs selling from 70 to 75 cents a dozen this week.

To balance matters a little, the Government is not enforcing the regulations with regard to the sale of fruits and vegetables by the pound. Public aversion to the new idea and the cluminess involved in carrying it out, were contributing factors to its discontinuance.

According to reliable authorities, business in many lines of trade is resuming more of a pre-war aspect than at any time in the past five years. Disused lanes of commerce, on the high seas and overland routes, are being opened up again. An indication of this is the fact that many things are being brought into Canada and in Peterboro also by direct ways. In the storage warehouse of Walter Oke are banked-up heaps of sacks, huge and knobby, containing the first shipment in many years of almonds direct from Spain. Filberts from Sicily, walnuts from Italy and France ,chestnuts from Italy, too, are coming in direct, instead of by the former circuitous routes, through the hands of several brokers and middleman. In a George street store the other day were parcels of socks, direct by mail from Ireland. Perhaps the wool went from Canada. It is hard to say. At any rate, the dealer declared that, with customs duty and all minor expenses considered, it paid him to hardle these things direct from their source.

The last of the blue grapes for this season are hanging on to a late finish. One store has baskets of them at fifty cents.

A new arrival in the fish world is the shrimp, glowing in its own bright hues, at half a dollar a pint. Oysters range from 75 to 80 cents a pint, from $1.40 to $1.75 a quart. Big green peppers all the way from California are worth fifteen cents apiece.

"Vicks Is Best For Croup"

So Declares Mother of Twin Babies.

Mrs. Frank Cox, R. R. No. 2, Mountain Grove, Ontario, says: "My twin babies aged twenty-one months were seized with convulsions and croup. They were so choked up that I did not know what to do. Finally I rubbed their chests and throats with Vicks VapoRub and applied hot flannels. This immediately relieved the spasms. I also had the babies inhale the vapors from a tin cup and they grew quiet and slept. Vicks is the best croup remedy ever in this house."

If the child seems croupy, apply Vicks over throat and chest at bedtime. It usually averts a night attack. In severe cases heat a tin cup, drop in a teaspoonful of Vicks and as it melts hold the cup so vapors can be inhaled.

Vicks is a salve that acts like a plaster and a vapor lamp at the same time. It is absorbed and inhaled. This makes Vicks the ideal treatment for children's cold trouble s; it avoids so much internal dosing. Just as good, too, for grown-ups' colds and for cuts, burns, bruises, sores, stings and skin itchings.

At all drug stores, 50c a jar. For free test size package write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul St., W., Montreal, P.Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

SMITHS LOSING OUT.

New York.—The Smiths have had to take back seats. The Cohens have edged them out of the front row. New York's latest city directory lists approximately 6,500 Cohens and Cohns and only about 5,800 Smiths and Smyths. And in the Cohen columns are 233 Abrahams.

SAVED BABY'S LIFE

Mrs. Alfred Tranchemontagne, St. Michel des Saints, Que., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent medicine. They saved my baby's life and I can highly recommend them to all mothers." Mrs. Tranchemontagne's experience is that of thousands of other mothers who have tested the worth of Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a sure and safe medicine for little ones and never fail to regulate the bowels and stomach, thus relieving all the minor ills from which children suffer. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MILLBROOK, December 8. — Rev. Canon and Mrs. W. Cartwright Allen quietly celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their wedding day on Thursday evening, 6th December, with a family dinner party at the rectory. The dining-table was beautifully decorated in an attractive colour scheme of red and white, the handsome wedding cake occupying the place of honour in the centre.

The fortieth anniversary being the "crystal wedding," a number of dainty gifts in cut glass, and in flowers, were received. Congratulatory speeches were made, to which the rector replied in his usual ready and effective manner, and the "bride and groom" were also the recipients of sincere and affectionate wishes for "many happy returns of the day."

During the evening of pleasant social intercourse, Mrs. D. C. King, of Peterborough, sang, and other musical selections were enjoyed, Mrs. L. H. Winslow, the daughter of the home, whose ability in this line is so well recognised, contributing a share.

Shortly after his ordination in 1878 Rev. W. C. Allen travelled in Palestine and Europe. While in England he was curate in the parish of Shenley for two years, and it was during this time that his marriage took place. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. Justinian Newcone, assisted by Rev. George St. A. Godson, of Chelmsford, Essex.

On the 6th of January, 1924, it will be forty years since Rev. Mr. Allen returned to Canada bringing his bride, the only daughter of Dr. Linnicar, of Shenley, Hertfordshire, with him. Under his father, the late Venerable Archdeacon Allen, who was rector of the parish of Millbrook and Cavan for fifty-two years, Mr. Allen became curate, and since his father's death in 1905, has occupied the position of rector, being only the third to hold that office in a history of over one hundred years.

The guests on Thursday included only the immediate relatives of the family, and were, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Winslow, the three grandchildren, Miss Audrey, Claire, and Allen Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, Mr. H. B. Allen, Dr. D. C. and Mrs. King, of Peterborough, Mrs. J. Deyell, Miss Gertrude Fitzgerald, and the newly appointed curate and his bride, Rev. M. G. B. and Mrs. Williams.

Association Met.

The December meeting of the Ministerial Association was held this week, the speaker being Rev. W. H. Privett, Anglican missionary at Kwei-teh, China. Mr. Privett, who had been preaching in the parish the previous Sunday, addressing the congregation at St. John's Church, Ida, in the morning, Christ Church, Bailieboro, at 3 p.m. and St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook in the evening is an exceptionally fine speaker, and the Association had a rare treat in having him present at their meeting. Rev. Mr. Privett spoke on the present condition of unrest in China, and also dwelt upon what Christianity can contribute to that troubled Empire, presenting, too, the reverse side, what China can contribute to Christianity.

In the absence of the president, Rev. G. S. Vervan, the secretary, Rev. R. M. Paterson, took the chair.

Others present included Rev. G. L. Craw, of Springville, Rev. H. Wilkinson, of Pontypool, Rev. R. T. Richards, of Cavan, Rev. S. T. Tucker Rev Canon Allen, and Rev. M. G. B. Williams.

The annual election of officers will take place at the January meeting.

Elson, G. Smith, M. Wood, A. Kells, H. Todd, M. McBain, E. McIndoo, Messrs. T. W. McIndoo, W. Douglas, Dr. A. Jemison, and W. H. Coombe.

FOREIGN STUDENTS DEMAND ATTENTION

Hospitality of Christian Homes Advocated By Church and Y.M.C.A. Committee.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—(Associated Press).—Presidents of colleges and preparatory schools in the United States would assume personal responsibility for the well-being of foreign students, on the ground that their training is an international trust, if recommendations of the Council of Church Boards of Education, co-operating with the Friendly Relations Committee of the Y. M. C. A. are adopted.

Declaring that 12,000 students from nearly 100 foreign countries are now in preparatory schools and colleges in the country, the Council has recommended:

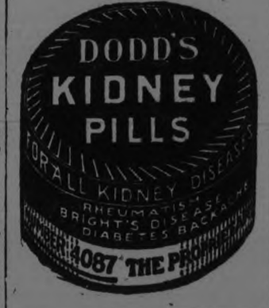
That the presidents of institutions assume personal responsibility for the well-being of foreign students, on the ground that their training is an international trust.

That when the number is too great to exercise this responsibility the presidents delegate it to a faculty advisor to foreign students.

That the president, or his representatives, keep in close touch with the Christian Associations in respect to their work among these students, and assure the latter the same attention that is given to the American student body.

That every student from abroad be afforded the friendship of the faculty members outside of the class room; hospitality of Christian homes; whenever possible, a home where he can come and go as a true friend; fellowship of a friendly church, through personal introduction; opportunity to participate in the church's work; means of self-expression and presentation of his own country in talks to churches, clubs and schools.

Evansville College, Indiana, has decided to grant free tuition to foreign students.



Neuritis Victim Now Active as a Youngster. Says Internal Bathing Chased Pains Away.

Neuritis, that painful inflamation of the nerves, will yield to Internal Bathing. Warm water, circulated through the large intestine, rids the body of harmful waste matter that poisons the system. By thus keeping the large intestine, or colon, clean the body functions normally and the purity of blood is maintained.

Mrs. J. E. Edmonton, writes :"I suffered from neuritis very badly and tried everything possible as I thought, but I got worse. A friend who had been the same as myself used your Cascade, which he declared cured him.

"I immediately sent for one and I used it a short time, when I found the pains had entirely left me—before I used the Cascade I was unable to dress myself. I am nearly 58 years and I can throw my arms and legs about as well as some of the youngsters."

As well as neuritis, Internal Bathing relieves constipation, insomnia, billiousness and other complaints that are the direct result of a congested, unhealthy and blood-contaminating colon.

The J.B.L. Cascade is the perfected invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell of New York for Internal Bathing. It is now being shown and explained at Warne Drug Co.

Phone or ask them for free booklet about it, or write Tyrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College Street, Toronto.

COBOURG NEWS

COBOURG, Dec. 7 (Special).—The County Councils of Northumberland and Durham, after a long discussion, has decided to reforest about 1,000 acres of waste land in the 7th and 8th concessions of Haldimand Township. This decision will be very gratifying, it is believed, to the majority of residents of these counties. A number of councillors joined intelligently in the discussion, one taking the ground that a similar step should be taken in regard to the waste land in all the municipalities.

The majority of the council favored the proposal with regard to Haldimand Township, and the report of the special committee appointed to take up the matter was finally adopted. This briefly provides that: "The counties will purchase not less than 1,000 acres of suitable lands to be approved by the Minister of Lands and Forests."

The government is to provide suitable trees, plant them and care for them. All necessary funds, other than those required for the purchase of the property.

It is estimated that several hundred acres of this land can be purchased at an average price of $5.90 an acre.

HARWOOD, Dec. 7.—The funeral took place here on Tuesday of Ernest James Lebielle, who passed away at Capreol, Ont., where he has resided for about four years, and where he was employed on the C. N. R. Deceased was married about four years to Miss Euphemia Robson, of this village. He was an overseas veteran, enlisting at Ottawa in 1916. He was attached to the 73rd Battery and spent four years overseas, being three times gassed. A few days before his death he was stricken with penumonia, and, owing to a weakened condition, no doubt due to overseas experiences, was not as well able to combat it.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. T. McCord, pastor of the Bethesda and Harwood Presbyterian Churches. The pall-bearers were military comrades, among whom were Lieut. Drope, Harwood; Lieut. A. E. Hiscock, Sergt. Le Tessier, John Duncan, Cobourg.

YES, THERE IS PLENTY OF TEA

London.—Tea production will reach between 750,000,000 and 800,000,000 pounds this year, leading merchants estimate. In 1922, it amounted to about 681,000,000 pounds. Prohibition in the United States and poor beer throughout Britain is blamed for the increased consumption of England's national beverage.

G. A. GILLESPIE SPOKE TO "G. M." SOCIAL CLUB

Advised Boys to Take Interest in Citys Politics.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie gave the social club of the Y. M. C. A. a very instructive little talk at their regular Friday evening supper in the dining hall. Mr. Gillespie has been president of the local branch of the Y. M. C. A. for the past nine years and, as the chairman, takes a keen and constructive interest in the "Y" movement.

The speaker gave the young men some advice and hints on how to get the most out of their business career. He said that life was but a game, and the boys should treat it as such and play it as they do rugby, cleanly and sportsmanlike. To do one's best to beat the other fellow, but do it fairly. He mentioned Sir Thomas Lipton's maxim: "There's no fun like work," one that he himself also follows closely. He told the boys that it was their duty to take a keen interest in municipal and national questions and politics, and to aim at entering public service as mayor or alderman. He said that his experience in public life has proved to him that the men in the legislatures of Canada are not as crooked as they are painted, and that whatever one does someone will criticize.

The chairman, Mr. Wallace, added a few words to Mr. Gillespie's talk. He said that what was needed, more than anything else in the business world of today, were smiles and a little optimism.

The number at the supper exceeded double the number at any of the previous ones. Rev. W. Harold Young will speak next week.

Leading Bankers Review Developments of Year

At Annual Meeting of Bank of Montreal Sir Vincent Meredith, Bart., the President, Reviews Business and Agricultural Conditions in Canada and Deals With Principal Features of Revision of Bank Act.

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, General Manager, Emphasizes Necessity in Canada For Reduction in Cost of Living and Taxation.

An opportunity of obtaining a thorough knowledge of present conditions, as well as to gauge the outlook for the next year in Canada, was afforded at the annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal.

Sir Vincent Meredith, Bart., the President, and Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, the General Manager, in their addresses to the shareholders of the bank, referred in most interesting manner to the important developments that had occurred during the past year and the way in which the country had been able to meet them. Sir Vincent dealt more particularly with the outstanding features of the country itself, touching on such important questions as business in Canada, agricultural conditions, immigration, the burden of taxation and reviewing the situation both in Great Britain and the United States.

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor reviewed the progress made by the bank during the past year, and also touched on other important questions, the solution of which would tend to improve the general situation in Canada. Sir Frederick took the view that Canada's economic position will not be satisfactory until the country succeeds in balancing public revenue and expenditure, including railways.

Sir Frederick also expressed the opinion that Canada cannot progress as she should until the cost of living in this country and taxation are less than across the line in the United States. The remedy, however, he pointed out, is in our hands and is practicable. He stated that Canada has priceless advantages as a place to live in, work in and play in. These should be obvious to all, as indeed they are to our friends in the United States, who now have $850,000,000 or more commercially invested in Canada.

The President's Address.

Sir Vincent Meredith, Bart., President, in his address to shareholders, said, in part:

"Our banking year has been one of many perplexities. Our profits, in common with banks at home and abroad, are not so large as during war and succeeding years, but I feel sure it has been a gratification for you to know we have been able to pay our usual dividend as well as a two per cent. bonus.

"The lessened profits are due partly to the fact that our customers have chiefly because we felt that in view of the possibility of untoward developments in the banking world, our cash reserves should be kept exceptionally strong to enable us to lend aid if and when called upon to do so.

"There is also the incidence of much heavier taxation to be considered in connection with the balance sheet. Our resources, however, are so large and our earning power so constant that I have no misgivings as to the maintenance of substantial profits.

The Bank Act Revision.

"The revised Bank Act embodies no novel principles. The powers and privileges of the banks remain very much as before, neither enlarged nor contracted; but provision has been made in the way of wider authority of auditors and heavier responsibility of directors, by which means it is hoped to strengthen the safeguards for depositors and shareholders. It is true to say that however rigid the law, the solvency of banks—as for that matter, of all business—depends upon the integrity, diligence and perspicacity of the management.

"The amended Act continues to the banks scope for wide and helpful operation in finance and commerce, restrained by considerations of safety, but not so hampered as to prevent fair profits under prudent direction. In this connection it may be observed that, despite the notion held in some quarters respecting the profitable nature of banking, capital has not greatly sought this source of investment. In the quarter century from 1876 to 1901, the capital of Canadian banks remained stationary, and in the subsequent twenty years of rapid commercial development, less than $60,000,000 was added. Banking resources, apart from deposits, have been derived for many past more from accumulated reserve of profits than from the investment of new capital, a condition which it may become desirable to correct when trade expands, in order to maintain an adequate note circulation.

The Burden of Taxation.

"I make no apology for stressing again the desirability, one might even say the imperativeness, of moderating public taxation, federal, provincial and municipal, in order to lighten the load pressing upon business and deterring development of resources. The margin of profit in all business is seriously curtailed by the accumulation of taxation, a condition that retards enterprise and discourages thrift. In making this remark, I am not unmindful of some recent signs of improvement. The rising revenue of the Dominion Government promises a balanced budget at the close of the fiscal year, and if out of this, with further reduction in expenditure, comes some remission of direct taxation upon trade, it will undoubtedly operate to the general advantage.

"The outlook in Canada as I see it, is for a continuance of reasonably satisfactory condition with possibly some further revival in trade, but we cannot hope for substantial and permanent betterment until world-wide conditions show a marked improvement and this is likely to take time."

General Manager's Address.

Sir Frederick Williams - Taylor, General Manager, in his review of the affairs of the bank during the year, said, in part:

"Canada's economic position will not be satisfactory until we succeed in balancing our public revenue and expenditure, including railways.

"I venture to suggest to the Government that a healthy and more widespread interest in the finances of our Dominion would be stimulated by the publication regularly in the press of simple standardized figures giving the essence of the whole position, including the result of our National Railway operations.

"For the time being we are handicapped in three distinct respects, two of which are common to all countries engaged in the war from the beginning and at present endeavoring to balance their budgets, viz.: high cost of living and high taxation. Further, Canada is suffering from lack of adequate population.

"As the first two handicaps diminish we shall doubtless attract a greater volume of immigration and, what is still more important, we shall retain the people who come, as well as our natural increase. Therein lies economic salvation for the Dominion. The remedy is in our hands and is practicable. We have only to conduct our personal and public affairs more economically than do our neighbors in that most wealthy and free-spending of all countries, the United States.

"Adversity is a severe teacher, but out of our trials of the last two years surely good will come.

Priceless Advantages.

"Meanwhile we must not lower our flag, nor is there any occasion for doing so. Canada has priceless advantages as a place to live in, to work in and to play in. These should be obvious to all—as indeed they are to our friends in the United States, who now have $850,000,000 or more commercially invested in Canada—and they will without question attract to us in the fulness of time the people we need.

"Prosperity in full measure cannot, however, return to the country until agriculture, or chief industry, becomes again more profitable. The lot of the farmer in the last few years has been hard, owing to low prices for products and high cost of requirements. This unfortunate state of affairs still persists. It is the result of world-wide, not local, conditions, and is by no means confined to Canada. Agriculture, however, cannot be permanently depressed. In the nature of things an improvement is bound to ensue, but the burden in the meantime bears heavily upon this vital industry. For your information, of this bank's current loans in Canada, upwards of $33,000,000 are to the agricultural community."

CONSERVATIVE HEADS HAVE NOT UNCOVERED SOLUTION OF IMPASSE

Baldwin Will Consult as to Advisability of Resigning—Labor Announces No Coalition With Liberals—France Disappointed.

BALDWIN BLAMED

(By Lloyd Allen)

LONDON, Dec. 8. — (United Press). — Prime Minister Baldwin will consult his colleagues of the Conservative Party during this week end, to determine when he shall present his resignation as chief of the government.

Resignation of the Baldwin Cabinet was considered practically certain. The exact time the Conservative Government will step out, however, had not been determined.

Lord Stamfordham, Secretary to the King, visited Downing street at 11.50 a.m. presumably to arrange for a visit by Baldwin to His Majesty.

The Conservative Chieftains headed by the young Lord Cave conferred with Baldwin earlier in the day.

Labor Declaration

Ten minutes before noon the Laborite political headquarters issued a statement declaring the party had elected 193 members of the new Parliament.

Labor chieftains will meet on Monday to discuss the situation.

It was indicated that the standing of the new Parliament would be approximately as follows:

Conservatives 259, Labor 193, Liberals 148, others 2, total 602.

Ramsay McDonald to-day issued a statement on behalf of the Labor party saying:

"It has been a red letter day in the history of the Labor movement. Against concentrated attacks from all sides, Labor has won within 65 seats of as many changes in the new Parliament as the Tories."

Moreover Labor has received a most remarkable vote of confidence from the country. It is the greatest proof we have had of the peoples' faith in the Labor movement.

"The future now depends on what use our party makes of its power and our experience during the last year is ample proof that we will make good use of it."

Returns up to early to-day showed the popular vote by parties as follows. Conservatives 5,391,831; Labor 4, 368,836; Liberals 4,247,755; Independants 223,648; Total 14,232,070.

There is no longer a communist in the British House of Commons. J. Walton Newbould, was defeated at Motherwell, Scotland by an independent Conservative H. Ferguson, by amost 1,000 votes.

France Disappointed

There is bitter disappointment in France over the results of the British elections with the exception of one section only of the populatin. The manufacturers, who rejoice to see protection defeated, says a Paris despatch.

Otherwise the majority of Frenchmen and especially the government had hoped for the re-eiction of the Baldwin Ministry with whom they believed they were more likely to negotiate a resumption of the entente than with the Liberals.

The present situation is that none of he big problems, including the Ruhr occupation, the appointment of a committee to study the German capacity for payment and other matters, on progress further until the reassembling of Parliament, when it will be seen what is likely to be Labors stand thereon. Political authorities here are confident that there will be no difficulty in reaching an amiable understanding with British Labor.

French manufacturers are looking for British co-operation on a plan to prevent the dumping of goods by Germany.

Baldwin to Blame

According to Lords Rothermere and Beaverbrook, Mr. Baldwin has himself to blame for the result of the election, says at despatch from London. Commenting on the returns, the two leading journals of these publishers, which it is claimed in some quarters, have done so much to aid the Conservative disaster, openly condemn the Premier.

Says the Express: —"All the forces which, through the course of many years were accumulated by Bonar Law have been dissipated by his successor in six months. This over throw is due to the stupidity and miscalculations of Mr Baldwin and the little ring that surrounds and advises him."

Says the Mail:—"The entire responsibility for the disaster rests with Mr. Baldwin. Beyond question the fatal policy of hostility to France with which he allowed Lord Curzon to identify the Government, was one of the principal causes of disaster"

How Divisions Voted

An indication of the way the various divisions of the United Kingdom voted in the elections so far as reported, is given in the following returns.

London—29 Conservative, 11 Liberal, 22 Labor.

English Boroughs— 81 Conservatives, 44 Liberal, 66 Labor, 2 others.

English Counties — 110 Conservative, 67 Liberal, 50 Labor, 2 others.

Scottish Boroughs, —8 Conservative, 8 Liberal, 16 Labor, 1 other.

Welsh Boroughs—2 Conservative, 2 Liberal, 7 Labor.

An analysis of the vote cast shows a total of $14,186,438. Combined electorate has a possible vote of 19,-193,754.

Egerton Wake, chief agent of the Labor party officially announced today that there would be no Liberal-Labor Coalition. The Daily Mail quotes the secretary of Lloyd-George as stating that there will be no Liberal-Conservative coalition.

What Prime Minister Baldwin will do now that his party has no majority over the combined opposition and how the administration of the country will be carried on are cognate questions to which public, press and King's ministers are trying to find satisfactory answers. Since he returned to London from his triumph at Bewdley the Premier has kept silence and none of the Conservative leaders has made a public statement.

One of the favorite guesses is that Mr. Baldwin will resign both the Premiership and the leadership of the Conservative party. Political writers today exhaust their ingenuity in seeking a solution of the impasse. Nearly all turn to two alternatives; either that some coalition is possible or that Conservaives as the strongest party numerically will continue the government by sufference of the opposition.

Canadian Stock Exchange —And Mines— | New York Stock Exchange —and Curb Prices—

Today's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, December 8 (United Press). — Further acceleration of the rapid pace recently set on the stock exchange took place in the closing session of the week and enthusiastic bullish demonstrations were staged in many sections of the list, principally among the high-priced industrials like General Electric, Kresge, and Dupont. Kresge sold at 300 up 5.

Operations for the rise went ahead vigorously in various groups. The forward movement in the motors and accessories issues attaining possibly the broadest proportions in that practically every representative stock of this class received its share of speculative attention.

Naturally enough, the market had to absorb heavy profit-taking following the week's further upturn and the realising sales created considerable irregularity in the last hour.

But the cross-currents could not prevent continuance of the activities in many industrial stocks and the action of the market as a whole suggested that the dividend paying rails attracting increasing interest as the movement progressed.

Heavy realising sales in General Electric, Tobacco Products, Schulte, and the other early favourites served to check bullish enthusiasm in the final dealings, but the profit-taking offerings were absorbed in satisfactory fashion, and operations for the rise went ahead in stocks like the low-priced oils and industrial specialties.

Marland reached new high ground on the movement at 34, while American Ice sold at 88 against Friday's low of 83 1-2, recovering from the depression caused by reports of a dividend cut.

Overnight consideration of Secretary Mellon's prediction that this year's business and industrial revival would continue during 1924 gave impetus to the strong market in progress at the previous close, and the general tone was buoyant in the early dealings.

Davison Chemical scored a sensational gain on the initial transaction, while good sized gains took place in Baldwin, Dupont, Schulte, Corn Products, American Can., Chandler, and other leaders of the current upsurge.

NEW WATER MAIN ON MORROW STREET

Will Be Laid Under Agreement With Township

The Waterworks Department has started with a large gang of men to lay a 6-inch main on Morrow Street, from Lock to Sherbourne Streets.

This main is being laid under agreement with the North Monaghan Township Council whereby the cost of the main is assessed against the property as frontage, under the Local Improvement Act.

Water services will be installed at the consumers' expense, so that the city will have no investment in either main or service.

The minimum water rate for each house will be $2.00 per two months, with a 25 per cent. prompt payment discount.

The consumer will be allowed water up to this amount and will be charged for all water used in excess of the minimum at the rate of 50 cents per 100 cubic feet. Meters will be installed in the basement of each house.

New System of Fat Reduction

Here's a new way for all fat people to laugh together at that old bugaboo—Obesity. The saying that there is nothing new under the sun does not now apply to fat people any more. Here is something new for them—a new sensation, a new pleasure, a new and graceful figure, easily found by anyone who is passing beyond the limits of slimness. Everyone has heard of the Marmola Prescription; that harmless combination of fat-defying elements perfected by one of the foremost physicians. Now from the same high authority there comes another idea — the idea of condensing these same pure, harmless, ingredients into a pleasant little tablet. Taken after eating and at bedtime they help the stomach to dispose of all the fatty foods, converting them into compact, solid flesh, muscle and energy, without dieting or exercise. Marmola Prescription Tablets regulate the entire system— do for you what bodily exertion and self denial cannot do, and the fat, once routed, is gone for good. You can prove all this at a trifling cost. Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists or sent postpaid by the Marmola Company, 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. A box—sufficient to bring results—is but one dollar.

NEWARK CLUB IS SOLD AND WILL HAVE NEW PARK

First Moves In Shake-up of International League—Montreal Negotiating For Syracuse Franchise.

DEFINITE ACTION.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The first step in a shakeup of International League club ownership was made known yesterday when President John Conway Toole announced the Newark, N.J., franchise had changed hands. At the same time Mr. Toole disclosed that negotiations are under way to shift the Syracuse, N.Y., club to Montreal.

Purchase of the Newark Club by a syndictae of Newark business men, headed by Michael McTighe, prominent real estate man, from William Ashton and Bernard Moan, of Baltimore, is expected to smooth out a situation which has been a bone of contention in League circles for some time. Charges had been made that the Newark and Baltimore clubs were too closely linked and the acquisition of the New Jersey outfit by home interests, it is predicted, will do much to strengthen the circuit.

The syndicate plans to bolster the Newark team, which finished seventh this year and expects to erect a new stadium by 1925. The price paid for the franchise was not revealed by Mr. Toole, but he said the investment would amount to about $425,000, including the new park. The deal was closed at a conference attended by Mr. Toole, Mr. McTighe and Mr. Ashton.

Before the transfer becomes effective, it must be approved by the league magnates at their annual meeting in Chicago next Monday, but Mr. Toole declared this would be merely a formality. The new owners are expected to be in full charge by January 1.

Transfer of the Syracuse franchise to Montreal has been a subject of gossip for some time but apparently definite steps have been taken by Canadian interests to establish the International League there. Mr. Toole said that the matter would come before the annual meeting and added that he knew of no obstacle to the transfer providing the Syracuse owners approve the negotiations.

SOFTBALL FINAL PLAYED TONIGHT

This evening the Belmonts, last year's champs, meet the De Laval nine in the final game for the championship of the Softball League. Two games have been played and each team has taken one by close scores after an exciting battle. The first game went ten innings and the second was only won in the ninth frame. The sides of the armouries will likely have to stretch to hold the crowd that will crowd the benches to see tonight's fixture. Alex Kay will get them off sharp at 7.30.

STORM DRAIN COMPLETED.

Alderman Walter Stocker, chairman of the Board of Works, informed The Examiner to-day that the city storm drain programme has been completed this week, and the men are all employed at the Waterworks.

RUTH AND SPEAKER TOPPED LEAGUE FOR SENDING RUNS HOME

Each Drove in 130 Runs and Heilmann Third With 115.

Tris Speaker of Cleveland and George Ruth of New York sent more runners over the plate than any other pair in the American League during the season of 1923. The two are tied at 130 runs for which they were responsible.

Harry Heilmann, of Detroit, and leader in batting, brought in 115, while Joe Sewell, of Cleveland, sent in 109 and Wallis Pipp, of New York, 108. Leon Goslin, of Washington, missed the century figure by one, being responsible for 99 tallies.

Ruth set a record for the American League by getting to first on base on balls 170 times. Encountering the concentrated skill of the American League pitching, it is natural that he should strike out as often as the majority and his record of 93 leads the next 11. William Kamm, of Chicago, although not the swinger of the Ruth type, fanned 82 times and drew 62 bases on balls on balls to offset it.

The one who baffled the pitchers the most was Eddie Collins of Chicago, who only struck out eight times during the season. The Chicago second sacker, however, did not make his hits count for as much as others batting in only 67 runs. In this connection his sacrifice hits record in advancing batters, and his walks must be taken into consideration.

Bassler and Jones Hard

Among others whom the pitchers found hard to fool were Joe Sewell with 12 strikeouts, Ty Cobb with 14, Edgar Rice of Washington 12, Bassler and Jones of Detroit, and Tobin of St. Louis with 13 each, and Speaker of Cleveland with 15.

Joe Sewell worried 98 passes out of the pitchers, and Blue of Detroit 96, these two being next to Ruth Speaker walked 93 times and Eddie Collins 84, while Jamieson of Cleveland was passed 80 times.

Manush, of Detroit, has a unique record by being hit by a pitched ball 17 times although he figures in only 109 games. Next to him was Stanley Harris, of Washington with 13, and Hauser, of Philadelphia and Mostil, of Chicago, with 12 each.

Cleveland as a team had the best "waiters," with 633 bases on balls. Next comes Detroit with 598, while Washington and Chicago are tied with 532. New York figures fifth with 521 and then come Philadelphia, St. Louis and Boston, the latter with 391.

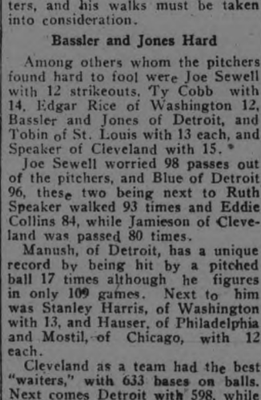
Philadelphia, with a number of hard swinging batters, compiled the biggest record in strikeouts with 517 New York was only one behind. Cleveland and Detroit were the two hardest teams to pitch to, the former leading in the fewest number of strike outs with 384, Detroit having only one more.

Detroit batters profited most by being hit, 55 times getting in the way of the ball during the season. Cleveland, closely competing with the Tigers in several departments of the game was next with 49. St. Louis had the fewest number of hit batters with 26. New York profited only to the extent of 34.

JUNIOR MANITOBA JUDGE.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.— The current Canaad Gazette contains notice of the appointment of Alexander N. McPherson, Winnipeg, to be junior judge of the County Court for the Eastern Judicial Division of Manitoba.

SEEK COACH.



John "Stuffy" McInnis

John "Stuffy" McInnis, one of the game's greatest first sackers, is said to be ready to retire from the majors and take up college coaching.

It is understood that McInnis is an applicant for the job at Harvard made vacant by the recent resignation of Jack Slattery.

In former years it has been the custom to select some veteran player who had outlived his usefulness as a player for the coaching job. Yale got away from this custom when it picked Joe Wood. It is said Harvard is anxious to work along the same lines.

SUCCESS OF COBB AND SPEAKER AS MANAGERS INSPIRES COLLINS

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—When Kid Gleason resigned as manager of the Chicago White Sox, the general impression was that Eddie Collins, captain and star second sacker, would succeed him. Under the Gleason regime, Collins was the first lieutenant to the Kid, and his views on all questions received the greatest consideration.

Collins, who suffered an injury to his knee last season that handicapped his play considerably late in the year, has several times expressed the desire to manage a major league club before passing out of the big show.

The fact that in recent years such stars as Speaker, Cobb and Sisler have taken a fling at the managerial game no doubt fired Collins with the ambition to try it. The appointment of Chance to lead the Sox is considered by many as a direct slap at Collins.

It is a well-known fact that Collins was much disappointed last spring when the trade with New York failed to go through. He was one of the White Sox wanted by New York in exchange for Ward and Meusel. Ward's great work at second this year has killed off the probability of Collins getting a chance with the Yankees. He has always wanted to play in the big city.

It is questionable if Collins would be content to play as a private under Chance. For that reason he may figure in a winter trade. At present a deal with Washington is being widely circulated, making Collins the manager of that club.

By rolling up such a great score, Parker now takes the high average for the Mercantile League, which was last night set up by Dick Lush. RINK COMPANY WANT A BONUS

The Rink is a Centre of Attraction in Lakefield During the Winter Months.

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 7.—A meeting will be held on Monday evening in the Town Hall, at which the ratepayers are invited to discuss the request of the rink company for a bonus. The Council have not been able to agree on the matter and now the ratepayers are asked to decide what is really a momentous question. One must consider several points (a) What is the rink worth to the municipality? (b) What is the rink to the individual? (c) Could Lakefield do without the rink? One can answer all those questions easily enough and one must deal fairly and squarely with the question in order to make a decision.

The rink is the gathering place of young and old of Lakefield and the vicinity during the months of January, February and March; there is a common saying: "If you want to find a person, try the rink." It is a fine building and a credit to the village, but one must remember that the cost of upkeep is very large and the time has come when the village must make some concessions or the rink will not open. The annual expenses include taxes, insurance, government tax, light ,heat and a multitude of smaller items which eat up a good deal of the revenue which has been extremely gratifiying during the two seasons since the building of the rink .It is hoped that the ratepayers will carefully consider all these points and be prepared to express unbiased opinions at the meeting.

The curling and skating rink have been further divided by a partition and an outside door has been put in the east side of the curlers' sitting room. These changes have been made during the past week.

Held a Bazaar.

The sale of work and afternoon tea held on Thursday afternoon, under the auspices of St. John's Choral Guild was very successful in spite of poor weather conditions, in point of numbers and contributions and also financially, nearly $75 being cleared during the afternoon.

Mrs. H. G. Fitzgerald, president of the Guild, took the personal supervision of the sale of fancy articles, which were nearly all made by members of the Guild and were of many varieties, baby's jackets, shirts and "woolies" and articles both ornamental and useful to tempt the adult shopper.

The dolls and "Vetcraft" soldiers were in charge of Miss Atwood, while Mrs. Todd and Mrs. Langley presided over the home cooking and candy table, on which were many tcothsome looking dainties which quickly were bought and carried off. Mrs. W. J. Webster, Mrs. J. C. Strickland, Mrs H. J Stuart and Miss Crawford were in charge of the afternoon tea, which was dispensed to a large number of visitors, mainly of the fair sex. The tea tables were centred with quaint little silver baskets filled with bright blooms and provided a note of color.

The interior of the post office is being re-decorated and presents a handsome appearance. The ceiling and upper walls are pure white and the lower side walls are golden brown. Trueman Jewell is in charge of the work.

Mrs. Cameron left on Friday for Toronto, where she will spend the winter.

Mr. C. E. Elmsley, who has spent the past year in the village, left this week for his home in Toronto.

James Campbell was a visitor to Peterborough on Tuesday evening.

Mr. G. Hamilton, who has been in lower Quebec for the past year, returned to the village last week.

Owing to the illness of Miss "Srookie" Elmsley, Mrs. G. J. Elmsley was unable to visit Kingston this week.

Poor Infighter Siki's Weakness

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Battling Siki, the saturated Senegalese, showed the same vital weakness in his American debut against Kid Norfolk that marks the efforts of practically every European fighter. Siki knew nothing at all about infighting; he could not fight in close himself, and he had no defense against Norfolk's short body jolts.

In this respect he was exactly like Georges Carpenter, who was battered to pieces at close quarters by Jack Dempsey. Had Siki known anything about defensive and offensive infighting he might have whipped Norfolk. In all other respects he was at least as capable as the Baltimore negro.

COUNT SKARIATINE," IN "A CIGARETTE MAKER'S ROMANCE" AT THE GRAND, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 15TH.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

REX STOCK CO. BACK AT GRAND.

Ovation Accorded Popular Actors in "Too Many Husbands" Last Night.

The Kingston Whig says:

Welcomed by a capacity house the Rex Stock Company opened a return engagement at the Grand Opera House last evening in a delightful comedy, "Too Many Husbands" and again displayed that they are the cream of stock companies playing on the stage to-day. Every available seat in the theatre was occupied and the large audience cheered Rex Zana, Hazel Williams, Billy Seymour Billy Yule and the other actors to the echo, while the efforts of all in the play were splendid.

At the rise of the curtain a splendid tribute to the popularity of Zana Vaughn was paid when the audience accorded her an ovation, which was only equalled by the reception given to Rex Snelgrove himself when he appeared on the stage. The play was a charming comedy, being the tale of the predicament of "Victoria" (Zana Vaughn), who had married Major Frederick Lowndes, D. S. O. (Rex Snelgrove), believing that her first husband, Major William Cardew D. S. O., (Billy Seymour), had been killed in action. The unexpected arrival of the first husband made matters extremely uncomfortable, and was only solved in the last act when Victoria took unto herself a third husband in the person of Leicester Paptoon (Billy Yule), after a very convenient double divorce had been secured for her by her lawyer, Mr. Raham (Herbert Lewis.)

The acting of the old favorites in the company was unexcelled, while the new actors more than displayed that they have rare ability. Ethel Van Order as "Mrs. Shuttleworth," was splendid, while Betty Leslie played the role of "Miss Denniss" in excellent fashion. Marie Sanger as Taylor completed the fine cast.

A splendid feature of the play was the specialties between the acts. Billy Seymour and Hazel Williams drew forth several encores by their singing and dancing, while Fred Daner, a new man with the company proved to be a most capable vaudeville performer.

In all the Rex Stock Company seems better than ever and their popularity went up several points by their sterling performance last evening. "Too Many Husbands" is being presented again this evening and on Saturday afternoon and evening at the Grand.

After the second act Rex came before the curtain and expressed the pleasure of the company at being back in Kingston. He announced that next week "Twin Beds" would be played and said that the stay of the company in the city would be as long as possible.

The Grand Opera House had a good patronage last evening for an excellent bill of varied vaudeville offerings. Terpsichore, the interpretive dancer, scored another success in her Oriental, Spanish and Hungarian dances. Liane D'Eve, the dainty French comedienne, repeated her repertoire of clever songs, gowned in gorgeous fashion; Polo and Palet, the musical clowns, skilful performers on the piano accordeon, received the repeated applause that greeted their act on the previous night, and Tameo Kajiyama, the Japanese exponent of mental simultanism, gave a notable exhibition of quintuple concentration. A French equilibrist and a Dutch comedienne, Batancourt and Miss Eunice Noel, round out an entertainment that is exceptionally good.

The announcement that Sir John Martin-Harvey, who at the last minute was persuaded to include "A Cigarette Maker's Romance" in his itinerary, and is to appear at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, December 15, came as a most pleasant surprise to local theatre-goers, who had almost given up hope of seeing him this season.

Another delightful bit of news in connection with Sir John's visit here is that he is to appear in "A Cigarette Maker's Romance," the play in which he scored quite as popular a success as "The Only Way," and which has been substituted for the latter on this tour.

Sir John has just completed a tremendously successful season at the Century Theatre, New York, where he was received with open arms by Broadway's captious play reviewers and theatre-goers. The Messrs. Shubert offered every sort of inducement to inviegle him into remaining at the big playhouse all season, which he would have done, were it not for the fact that he would not break faith with the Canadian public after the tour had been announced.

AT THE ROYAL.

"THE VIRGINIAN."

For Twenty Years a Masterpiece of Western Literature, Now Picturized—At Royal Monday—Produced on Massive Scale.

Where will the "locations" for big feature productions of the future be found?

With the tendency of film production running toward the elaborate, unusual pictures that require the building of really stupenduous settings, location hunters for Los Angeles producers have found that the big open spaces once so common in and about the city are becoming alarmingly few.

The location question has been raised through the difficulties that presented themselves during the filming of B. P. Schulberg's picturization of "The Virginian," which required a faithful reproduction of the town of Casper, Wyoming, just as it looked when Owen Wister first visited it to write his epic of the West.

Finding a spot near the city big enough to permit the building of the picturesque town was itself a task. But a conscientious effort to actually reproduce the atmosphere created by Wister called for rolling country that was absolutely free from dwellings or even shrubbery.

Lost Angeles real estate boosters, however, had made this practically impossible. Open spaces that are not already being converted into sub-divisions are so nearly ready for such improvements that no real estate man would permit it to revert to days of "The Virginian" for even a short time.

Six weeks' search throughout Southern California finally revealed just the variety of site needed on the outskirts of the town of Alhambra. A part of a tract of two hundred and forty acres of clear, rolling land was acquired for a period of one year, during which the subdivider is ruled off of the horizon and Casper, as Owen Wister first saw it, will live again.

The longest street built on it is one thousand feet from end to end. It includes such luxuries as two wide open saloons, rooming houses and livery stables of a variety that could never house an automobile.

Director Tom Forman has begun shooting his exterior scenes on the street with a complete population of cowboys, bar tenders, gamblers and other essentials of a Western town.

"This has solved the 'location' problem for us temporarily, but there is no denying that it is getting to be a serious one," said B. P. Schulberg, who is producing Preferred Pictures. "Producing pictures far from studios means portable generators and other costly paraphernalia. Even a few miles out from Los Angeles, with the time consumed in transportation of large numbers of players, and other incidentals, adds materially to the cost of a production."

"The Virginian" is playing at the Royal Theatre Monday, with Kenneth Harlan in the title role.

EMERSON HOUGH'S GREAT NOVEL TO BE SEEN ON SCREEN

Picturization of Famous Book Deals With "Tomboy" Reared on Great Ranch in Wyoming.

"The Man Next Door," by Emerson Hough, author of "The Covered Wagon," "North of 36," "54°—40' or Fight," and "The Mississippi Bubble," will be shown at the Royal Theatre next Thursday.

This is one of the most famous of the long list of novels of American life by this popular writer. It deals with life on a great ranch in Wyoming, and tells the story of a motherless girl who is reared by hard-fisted cow punchers.

Bonnie Bell Wright is the daughter of the richest cattleman in the State, and the girl is petted and pampered but never spoiled by her indulgent father and Curly, the foreman of the Circle Arrow ranch. When the girl is sixteen, Old Man Wright send her to finishing school in the East, and upon her return the old cattleman believes that Bonnie Bell must have the luxuries of an eastern metropolis.

There Bonnie Bell learns that riches do not guarantee friendships, and it is the struggle of this girl to find happiness that makes "The Man Next Door" one of the most human comedy dramas offered on the screen

The production was directed by Victor Schertzinger, is headed by David Torrence, Frank Sheridan, James Morrison and Alice Calhoun David Torrence plays the old cattleman and Alice Calhoun his daughter, Bonnie Bell'

AT THE CAPITOL.

"ASHES OF VENGEANCE" IS NORMA TALMADGE'S GREATEST PRODUCTION.

Four hundred horses and armed riders were used in the set reproducing medieval Paris for Norma Talmadge's spectacular historic romance, "Ashes of Vengeance," coming to the Capitol Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

These scenes, in which hired foreign troops were sent through the streets of Paris by Charles IX. to run down and slay those whom he believed to be his enemies, were reproduced with the greatest realism under Lloyd's direction.

A number of extras were hurt when the horses came galloping through the streets, trampling the bodies of those stricken down by their riders. However, there were no very serious mishaps. A whole quarter of 16th century Paris was built, under supervision of Stephen Goosson, famous screen architect, for these scenes.

"Ashes of Vengeance" is a Joseph M. Schenck production, directed by Frank Lloyd.

In the cast, besides Norma Talmadge, are Conway Tearle, Wallace Beery, Courtenay Foote, Josephine Crowell, Betty, Francisco, Claire McDowell, Andre de Beranger, Murdock MacQuarrie, Boyd Irwin, Carmen Phillips, Winter Hall, William Clifford, Hector V. Sarno, Earl Schenck, Lucy Beaumont, Forrest Robinson, Mary McAllister, Kenneth Gibson, Howard Truesdell, Frank Leigh and little Jeanne Carpenter.

The story of "Ashes of Vengeance" is laid in the time of Charles IX. of France. Forty-eight massive sets, including one 330 feet long, reproducing the Louvre Palace ball-room, and another showing an entire section of Paris in 1572, were built for this production.

"PIONEER TRAILS" GREATESTMM "PIONEER TRAILS" GREATEST INDIAN PICTURE

An Indian attack on a prairie caravan is one of the big scenes in "Pioneer Trails," a Vitagraph special production, which will be shown at the Capitol Theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. David Smith, director of the picture, has reproduced in this sequence one of the more famous Indian massacres, preserving carefully every historical detail.

To insure that the attack be historically correct, Mr. Smith availed himself of the services of an old Indian scout, "Pop" King. King, who is ninety years old, is the sole survivor of a group that started to California in the gold rush of 1849. All the others were killed off during an Indian attack, in which King, thought dead, was scalped. He was rescued later and brought back to health.

King made the trip when he was seventeen years old. According to his story, the vanguard of the train hurried back to the main body when the Indians were discovered, evidently on the war path. The defense was speedily formed by drawing up the carts into a circle. Boxes, trunks, bedding and other baggage were packed into the openings between wagons.

Hardly had the barricade been completed when they were surrounded by the fast riding, yelling Indians. After several hours' battle practically every member of the party was either killed or wounded. The Indians broke through the ring.

The next thing he knew he was lying on a cot in a military barracks, his head in bandage. He had been picked up by a troop of cavalry sent in pursuit of the marauding Indians. King had been scalped. He was one of the few men that survived such an experience.

King proved quite helpful in the making of the caravan scenes in "Pioneer Trails." His knowledge and experience helped Mr. Smith in correctly portraying an Indian attack, which forms one of the most thrilling sequences ever made.

The old rifle used by King figures in the photoplay. King loaned it to Vitagraph. It is six feet two and one-quarter inches in length. It is a smooth bore, muzzle loading affair, taking a slug seven-sixteenths of an inch in diameter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Curtis Return From Pleasant Trip to the West.

Mr. and Mrs. George Curtis of 117 Robinson street have returned home after three and a half months vacation in the west with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Curtis of Kirmichael, Saskatchewan and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Brown of Saskatoon

Mr. Curtis reports that they had a bumper crop in that district, but the farmers were disappointed over the slump in the price of grain. On account of them having such a poor crop the last five years and they need all they can get for their grain. He stated that he did not know of anybody in that district who was holding their grain back for a higher price. Mr. Curtis said the crop this year was far better than it was five years ago when he and his wife, visited that district.

The harvesters this year were paid a very high price. Most of the harvesters are now returning home, but a few will stay there for the winter.

THE RUM RUNNERS HAD A SUCCESSFUL EVENING

ATLANTIC CITY, December 8. — The coast guards to-day reported that during the night rum runners from Atlantic City and vicinity completed one of the most successful landings from the rum fleet ever made south of the Highlands, hitherto the centre of the smuggling operations.

It was the first day of the Christmas sale and the coast guards were expecting a renewal of the business to-night. There is nothing secret about the operations of the smugglers. As they departed they waved farewell to some of the guards.

HAYING OPERATIONS REPORTED IN WEST

The Irma Times, the official news paper of the town of Irma, Alberta, comments on the fact that haying operations are going on in its vicinity The Times says:

So far we have had no snow and the weather up to now has eben exceptinally fine."

Had a Weak Heart Was Very Nervous For Three Years

Miss Jessie Peterson, Zealandia, Sask., writes: "I wish to let you know how much good Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me.

"For nearly three years I was very badly run down, had a weak heart, and was so nervous that sometimes I would almost faint away.

"I heard of many people who had recommended your Heart and Nerve Pills, so I decided to give them a trial. After I had used two boxes I found they had done me good, and after having taken five boxes I was completely relieved.

"I cannot recommend your Pills enough, and I would advise anyone having a weak heart or troubled with nervousness to use them."

Milburn's H. & N. Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

OBITUARY

RICHARD BRADFIELD.

The death occurred yesterday afternoon of Richard Bradfield, aged 76 years, at his late residence, lot 3, concession 8, Douro township. Mr. Bradfield was thrown from his horse about two weeks ago and had never fully recovered from the shock. He was a loyal member of the Loyal Orange Lodge umber 457.

He leaves to mourn his loss, besides a sorrowing wife, three sons, Roland at home and William and Fred of Saskatchewan, one sister, Mrs. Menzies of this city and one brother, Thomas Bradfield, of Toledo, Ohio.

ARTHUR LIPSETT,

The death occurred yesterday afternoon of Arthur Herbert Lipsett, aged 26 years and 5 months, after a lingering illness of several months. The death occurred at the residence of his parents, 70 Hunter street east. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, A.F. and A.M. Number 77, Lindsay, and was also on the First Aid team of the St. John's Ambulance Association. In 1912 and 13 he won the junior athletic championship at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute. He also played with the Lindsay intermediate hockey team and senior baseball team for several years. He was an all round athlete and was highly respected by his fellow employees of the C.N.R. station staff, where he worked for seven years and also his many friends, both in Lindsay and Peterborough. Before going to Lindsay he worked for four years at the G.N.W. Telegraph Office, this city.

He leaves to mourn his loss, Olive Graham of Lindsay, his sorrowing young wife, to whom he was married but six months ago, his parents, Mr. George Lipset and Mrs. Louisa Lipsett, four brothers, John, Lional, George and Clarence, two sisters, Helen and Dorothy, all of this city. LORETTA GOSELIN.

A death which was a shock to her family and the community in which she lived was that of Loretta Goselin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goselin, 51 Crescent Street, who passed away at eight o'clock this morning at St. Joseph's Hospital, from complications following an operation which was performed on Monday of this week.

The deceased, who was in her twentieth year, was a popular student at the Normal School, and had been attending classes up to last Friday night, without any perceptible signs of serious illness. Her sudden death came as a terrible blow to her parents, who just recently celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their wedding, without a death in their family of twelve children. On the occasion of her parents' anniversary celebration, Loretta read the address from their sons and daughters.

She was a faithful member of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin of the Church of the Sacred Heart, and a general favourite among her associates.

Survivors are the sorrowing parents, four sisters, Mrs. J. P. O'Neil, 28 Romaine Street, Mrs. John Kelbrick, 53 Crescent Street, Annie and Lena at home, and seven brothers, Joseph, Frank, Leo, Peter, Fred, Alfous and Vincent.

POLITICAL CONFUSION AND UNCERTAINTY NET RESULT OF ELECTIONS

Premier Baldwin Is Expected to Resign — Lord Derby Mentioned As the Probable Conservative Leader If Party Assumes Duty of Government.

MANY SPECULATIONS.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—(Canadian Press).—While the various leaders and press organs of the three big parties are loudly proclaiming that they will not enter any coalition, it is self-evident that only by some sort of coalition can the King's Government be carried on without resort to another general election. This none of the parties concerned desires immediately, if only on financial grounds, as it is estimated that the elections just held involved an expenditure in the neighborhood of £1,500,000.

It is assumed as almost a certainty that Premier Baldwin will resign, but beyond that everything still is speculative. If the Conservatives desire to carry on the Government, it must be under the Earl of Derby or some statesman not strongly committed to the protectionist policy, and this would rule out men like Austen Chamberlain.

Form Centre Party.

The present stalemate situation, with the three parties of such nearly equal strength as to prevent any of them from forming a stable administration, gives opportunity for a solution said to have been long in the mind of Mr. Lloyd George. This solution also would in a measure obviate the objections to a coalition. It involves the creation of a new "centre party," formed from the more moderate elements of the Conservative and Liberal parties, and is an idea which might appeal to a very large number of men in both these parties, who desire above all things to prevent a Labor Government.

Lord Birkenhead, Winston Churchill and other close associates of Mr. Lloyd George in the last coalition ministry are said to favor this plan, and in the peculiar position brought about by the late elections it may find much more favor than it has heretofore.

Alternative Voting.

While on the question of the future Government everything is vague, there is one point on which almost all are agreed, namely the necessity of finding some way by an alternative vote or proportional representation to prevent the vagaries of triangular contests. In the 1922 election these triangular contests mainly favored the Conservative party. It was probably this consideration which made the Conservative Government indifferent to any reform of the electoral laws, but this year, although the Conservatives still did the best in these contests, the Laborites did better than they ever had done before in such contests, securing sixty-nine seats by minority votes, as compared with 94 secured by the Conservatives and 48 by the Liberals.

As showing the enormous importance of these three-cornered contests, out of 158 seats which changed hands in the elections, 80 were in triangular contests. The realization that nothing could be predicted as to how these contests would go, and that they cannot always be considered as favoring the same political party, is expected to include a general desire for a reform obviating such anomalies before another general election is held.

It is remarkable that although Labor's total poll in the recent elections was only about 200,000 above their poll in 1922, they secured 192 seats against 143 in 1922, and thus did much better than they themselves had expected.

Baldwin Attacked.

Premier Baldwin will be a brave man if he stands to the helm, for seldom has such a storm broken around the head of any leader. The bitterest attacks come from the newspapers and members of his own party. But for his decision appeal to the electorate on the protection question, they say, the Conservatives might have remained in power for some years, pursuing the policy of tranquility which the country welcomed so warmly when the late Andrew Bonar Law renounced it, hardly more than a year ago.

Of all of Baldwin's one-time supporters, the Morning Post is almost alone in reiterating its confidence in his and arguing that the party must not drop protection. The Premier has spent the week-end at the palatial country place, Chequers Court, which Lord Lee gave the nation as a residence for Premiers, and there he will confer with the party leaders. No word has yet been given to the public regarding Mr. Baldwin's plans, if he has yet decided upon them.

Hostilities in Mexican Revolt

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 10. — (Canadian Press).—Direct rail communication between Juarez and Mexico City has been severed, according to passengers who arrived Sunday afternoon from Torreon, where the train that left the border Friday was turned back. Revolutionists have blown up a section of the line at Canitas, Zacatecas, 515 miles north of Mexico City, travellers were informed.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW.

The military forces of Neuvo Laredo took over that city this morning at one o'clock and placed it under martial law. All De La Huerta officials were deposed and supplanted by Obregon men, according to reports, which state that General Huertado also was relieved. The establishing of martial law was done quietly and without demonstration.

CANADA SHOULD BE OPTIMISTIC

The Canadian Dollar Is Practically at Par With That of United States, Says Manufacturer.

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 10.— A general uncertainty in the business world as to whether prices would fall to pre-war levels, or be kept at present height by the changed conditions of the last few years was the cause of the apparent paralysis of business conditions to-day stated Robert Magor, president of the Magor Car Corporation, New York, who arrived in Winnipeg Monday. Mr. Magor's present headquarters are at Hamilton, where his company has recently taken over the National Car Company of Hamilton, of which he is also president. In the steel industry there had been a change from the 12 hour to the eight hour day, Mr. Magor continued, and it looked as if the price of this commodity basic to the railway industry would continue at its present price level. For this reason Canadian roads had not purchased as many cars this season as they had previously averaged. Other reasons for the smaller purchases were less cars were needed owing to the increased efficiency in handling rolling stock and uncertainy on the part of the railways as to what their season's traffic would justify. "I was surprised to find pessimism in Western Canada," Mr. Magor said. "In Canada all the basic essentials for success are available. For instance there are wonderful and, as yet, practically untouched natural resources. Canada's stable government is another factor which should make for prosperity and should encourage capital to come to this country. Lastly there is the Canadian banking system, which I believe to be fundamentally one of the best possible. Such failures as have been experienced in the past few years are merely impurities being worked out after the war period but basically the system is sound. In proof of this is the fact that the Canadian dollar is practically on the par with that of the United States with all the essentials Canada should be optimistic and it is a national deflection to be otherwise."

BALDWIN IN A CONFERENCE ON ELECTIONS

Issue Was Discussed With the King This Morning and Baldwin May Stick

STOP GAP MINISTRY

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Dec. 10. — Premier Stanley Baldwin visited the King at Buckingham Palace today. Returning from Chequers, the country residence set aside for British Prime Ministers, the man held responsible for the Conservative debacle in the general election, summoned his party leaders to No. 10 Downing street.

After a conference, which was to determine whether he should resign, Baldwin drove to the Palace.

Baldwin conferred with King George for forty minutes. Then he returned to Downing street and immediately sent for Sir Laming Worthington Evans, Secretary of State for War in 1921.

The two were closeted for more than an hour.

The best information obtainable early this afternoon was that Baldwin had not tendered his resignation to the King but had acquainted His Majesty with the Conservative Party's views on the situation.

The Morning Post understands that summons to the Palace came at Baldwin's request.

One apparently reliable report was that the Prime Minister intended to retain office until Parliament should meet.

"I have nothing to announce," the Prime Minister said on his return from Buckingham Palace.

A semi-official report to the effect that the King, after full consultation with local and constitutional authorities with regard to the present political crisis has decided that if Premier Baldwin resigns he has no alternative than to ask Ramsay MacDonald, Labor Leader, form a government has given pause to negotiations and may result in Baldwins retention of the Premiership, until his party is officially dismissed from office by parliamentary vote.

The Prime Minister called on the King to-day. He was not summoned to Buckingham Palace, but was accorded the interview at his own request.

He had previously had consultation with his cabinet and is again closeted with his advisors at Downing street this afternoon.

While no official statement has been made, it is believed that he has not tendered his resignation and that final decision on this point has not yet been made.

BRYAN STRIKES AT MODERNISM IN THE CHURCH

If Bible Is Not the Truth Then There Is No God, He Declared at Meeting in New York.

WAVE OF SKEPTICISM

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—William Jennings Bryan went unannounced and unexpected to the Calvary Baptist Church Saturday afternoon and addressed the mass meeting, one of the many called at the church to stop the advance of Modernism in the Baptist denomination.

Mr. Bryan's speech was interrupted several times by handclapping and "Amens" from persons in the audience, He said:

"The question of the infallibility of the Bible as the word of God is the fundamental question and greatest issue in this country today. It is a question of whether there is a God. Since we get from the Bible our conception and opinion of God and since it is the only source of knowledge of God, if the Bible is not the truth, then there is no God.

"There is a most deplorable wave of skepticism and atheism in America today. More than one-half of the greatest scientists in the country do not believe in God, nor do they believe in the immortality of the soul.

Education at Fault.

"It has been said that belief in God is dying out among the educated in the land. If that is so we can choose from two alternatives. Either the present system of education is wrong or belief in God is wrong.

"In other colleges fifteen per cent. of the freshmen, thirty per cent. of the juniors, and forty-five per cent. of the graduates do not believe in a personal God or a personal immortality.

"This is the influence of the men they study under. These students are being taught that the Bible is a lie.

"If we take away from civilization and society a belief in God, both civilization and society are undermined. Without God there can be no religion; without religion there can be no morals.

"And the Bible is the only standard for our actions. We believe that those who wrote it were so divinely inspired that they could make no error.

"It has come down to a question of whether we must take religion to the scientists to be okeyed or whether we shall preach it from the Bible. Yet there has never been any scientific discovery made, not any great truth found which the Bible fears.

Evolution a Guess.

"Evolution' is a guess. Shall we take that guess and substitute it for the Word of God?

"Evolution denies man's creation, the miracles of the Old Testament, the supernatural manifestations, the Virgin birth, Christ's resurrection, His miracles, and the inspiration of God. Let these men who are its exponents be proud of their family tree, if they choose, but they cannot make monkeys of our ancestors."

Discussing Dr. Percy Stickney Grant's recent controversy with heads of the Episcopal Church, Mr. Bryan said:

"Why do these men take their vows, become pastors of churches, and then renounce the religion they are supposed to stand for? Why do they misrepresent their churches? Why don't they get out?"

At this point the audience cheered the speaker.

Christ Most Needed Now.

He added:

"It is the duty of the laymen to restore the ministry to its former position in public opinion. In education let the child choose to know less of geology and more of Christ, less of the ages of the rocks and more of the Rock of Ages. I would rather have my son an ignorant man outside prison walls than a scholar in the penitentiary."

Hanged Himself To Tree in Orchard

CARGILL, Ont., Dec. 10.—(Canadian Press). — Herman Schrieber, a Brant Township young man, aged 29, committed suicide by handing himself from an apple tree on his mother's farm on the 10th Concession of Brant, near Elmwood, Saturday.

The young man, along with a younger brother, William, went to the barn after breakfast to do the morning chores. He left the stable some time later, and when the younger brother had finished the work and was returning to the house he was horrified to find his brother's body hanging from the tree.

His friends can give no reason whatever for his action.

TEN YEARS FOR THEFT OF A CAR

Howard Patterson of Cornwall Sentenced to Kingston Penitentiary.

CORNWALL, Dec 10—Ten years in Kingston penitentiary was the sentence handed out in the police court Saturday to Howard Patterson alias Edward Marsden by Police Magistrate Kline on a charge of breaking into the garage of the Cornwall Electric Service Co., on 4November 16 and stealing a touring car. Eight witnesses were examined among them Constable Henry Godin, of Montreal, from whom Patterson escaped at Montreal, by jumping out of an automobile and leaving his overcoat in the officer's hands.

Several other charges face Patterson on his release from the penitentiary.

ROBERT GRAHAM IS FOUND DEAD

Body of Aged Resident of Fraserville Found in Woods Near the Village on Saturday Night.

BAILIEBORO, December 10 Special to The Examiner). — Robert Graham, an aged resident of Frazerville, was found dead in a wood about half a mile south of that village on Saturday night.

Mr. Graham went to work in his usual good health, apparently. On his not returning for supper on Saturday night, Mrs. Graham raised the alarm, and search parties were organised.

Some of the neighbours who went to the woods, found the unfortunate man lying dead where he had been at work.

The cause of death is unknown, but it is supposed that it was heart trouble.

He is survived by his widow and one daughter May, of Peterborough.

Interment will be made in Frazerville Cemetery this afternoon at two o'clock.

THE WEATHER.

The unusually mild and spring like weather is the subject of remark by everyone. The highest temperature on Saturday locally was 51 degrees, and the highest on Sunday 47. The sky was azure blue, across which lazily floated snow white clouds the sun was warm and everything betokened a day in May. At the Smith street bridge canoeists were enjoying a paddle while at the golf links on Saturday several were enjoying the beautiful day on the green. Amongst others Mr. Joe Wearing apparently felt the rejuvenating effect of "spring" as he could be seen enthusiastically playing golf. This is an unusually late date even for him.—W.P.

GIRLS DISPLAY ARMS BRANDED BY STEPMOTHER

Livid Scars Seared By Hot Iron Testify to Torture of Children—Starvation Is Also Charged.

IN NEW YORK CITY.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—There was a time in the dark ages when white hot branding irons were seared into the quivering flesh of captives. It was believed that torture would cause a captive to tell the truth. Sometimes martyrs died while the irons were burning them.

But that was in medieval days—and even then children were spared. But in the year 1923, in enlightened civilization—but read this:

"Anna, roll up your sleeve—don't be afraid, we are not going to hurt you."

Little Anna Ferger nine with the light of a hunted creature in her eyes shrank back from the officers of the Children's Society. Anna feared all mankind.

"Come—we are friends—"

Finally the child went forward. Slowly she pulled back her sleeve. There on the forearm was a livid scar, two and a half inches long, and freshly made. It looked as though someone had smeared her with a white-hot branding iron.

"Now, Anna, the other sleeve."

The memory of the torture came back to her, and she burst into wild sobs:

"Don't—don't—please don't hurt me—"

Then the child revealed a scar on the other arm, and her seven-year-old sister, Pauline, showed scars on her legs.

Stepmother Accused.

After this the children's stepmother Mrs. Josephine Ferger, 100 Gunther Avenue, Corona, was arraigned in the Children's Court, Jamaica, charged with torturing her stepchildren.

Warren Mason, an officer of the Children's Society, testified that the stepmother on Wednesday heated a steel knife sharpener and burned the children on their arms and legs. He said she admitted doing this, and asserted in justification that the children had "told lies." She wanted the truth, so she seared their flesh.

A battery tester, belonging to Mrs. Ferger's own child, Allen Gaicia, aged thirteen, had been broken accidentally. That was one thing Mrs. Ferger desired the truth about. Who smashed the tester?

Mason said his investigations revealed that the stepmother frequently beat the stepchildren and deprived them of food.

Woman Silent.

While all this was being told, Mrs. Ferger stood stolidly in the dock and said nothing. She preferred to hire a lawyer before she talked, so her case was postponed for a week. Anna, Pauline, and the woman's own son were remanded to the care of the Children's Society by Justice Ryan.

With scarcely a glance at the children, Mrs Ferger turned and walked out of the Court Room. The moment she set foot on the sidewalk she was re-arrested and taken before Magistrate Doyle, in Long Island City, charged with cruelty to children. She was held in $500.00 for examination on 11th December, in the Flushing Court, where Magistrate Doyle will preside.

Robert W. Hebberd, superintendent of the Children's Society, charged that Mrs. Ferger, in her anxiety to "obtain the truth," did more than brand little Pauline and Anna with burning steel.

Hungry Two Days.

He said the woman withheld food from the children two days, took away their clothing, tied them to chairs, and beat them until their cries were heard by neighbours.

Hebberd also charged that the stepmother forced the step-children to sleep on a wire bed spring, and that once, when a neighbour gave Pauline fruit to share with Anna, Mrs. Ferger jerked it from Pauline's hands and beat the child with what looked like a pancake turner.

The superintendent said that a year ago Mrs. Ferger beat the girl's brother Mitchell so severely that he had to be taken to Flushing Hospital. Later he ran away. Hebberd went on:

"The children were examined by our agents We found that the complaints made by neighbours of maltreatment—on which we started an investigation—were entirely true. There were burns at least two and one-half inches long on the arms and legs of both girls. They told of constant beatings and other torments of which I cannot at present speak.

"They are such nice and quiet children, it is beyond me how they could have provoked the treatment to which they were subjected. They refused even to talk of returning to their home, saying that they are afraid."

Merchant Robbed of Saturday Cash

CORNWLLA, Dec. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Allan M. Snetsinger, merchant, was held up Saturday night, while on his way from his store at Moulinette to his home, and robbed of $140 in cash and notes, Post Office orders and stock certificates by a man who placed a revolver at his head and demanded his grip, which contained the money and papers. The papers were later discovered along the Canadian National track between Mille Roches and Moulinette, but so far no trace has been found of the holdup man. The local and Provincial police are working on the case.

INSPECTION OF IMPORT CATTLE

The British Minister of Agriculture Accedes to Canada's Request Regarding Store Cattle From This Country.

OTTAWA, December 10. — Prime Minister Mackenzie King made public on Saturday evening particulars of a memorandum received from Hon R. L. Sanders, British Minister of Agriculture, regarding the interpretation of the Importation of Animals Act.

The memorandum is in accordwith Mr. Sanders' promise to put into writing proposals made by his department to the Canadian representatives while attending the recent Imperial Conference in London.

At that time Dr. J. H. Grisdale, Canadian Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Duncan Marshall, Agricultural Commissioner, and the Canadian ministers who were attending the Conference, made strong representations to the British authorities with regard to methods being used at the landing ports with regard to Canadian store cattle.

A particular complaint was that cattle sent from Canada as stores were being adjudged 'fat' at the port of entry and ordered to be slaughtered immediately.

The memorandum sets out that while the British Minister of Agriculture cannot surrender the final word in deciding whether any particular animals come within the provisions made for the admission of store cattle into the United Kingdom at the same time every desire is felt to meet as far as possible the desires of the Dominion.

License for Removal.

Accordingly it is proposed that in the case of cattle which the inspector at the port of entry is satisfied can reasonably be regarded as suitable for feeding for a period of not less than 28 days before slaughter, the inspector will grant a license for their removal to any authorized premises for this purpose.

In the case of cattle where the inspector is not so satisfied, the inspector will either (a) grant a license for their removal to a slaughter house for slaughter, and will not require them to be slaughtered at the landing place, or (b) if the owner is prepared to undertake that they will be removed to a suitable place and fed for not less than 28 days, a license to this effect may be granted.

Other cattle must be slaughtered at the landing place as heretofore.

Cattle which have not complied with conditions applicable to stores, that is three days' isolation in Canada before shipment and supervision by a veterinary surgeon on the ship, must be slaughtered at the wharf.

Desire to Co-operate.

"I make this offer," says the British Minister of Agriculture, "with the desire of meeting so far as possible the views raised by the Canadian representatives, consistently with my primary duty to safeguard the interests of the British agriculturists." He makes the request that the Canadian government will also co-operate in giving instructions that the Canadian officials do not certify as store cattle animals which cannot reasonably be regarded as suitable for feeding for the period of 28 days. The Minister expressed himself as satisfied that with good will on both sides the act can be administered satisfactorily.

NINE DEAD AND 30 INJURED IN WRECKED TRAIN

Pullman Car of Twentieth Century Limited Telescoped in Rear End Collision — "Wild Bill" Donovan Killed.

EAST OF ERIE, PA.

FORSYTH, N. Y., Dec. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Eight passengers and a Pullman porter were killed and approximately thirty passengers and trainmen injured, five seriously, when the last section of the New York Central Twentieth Century Limited, westbound, telescoped the observation Pullman of the forward section in a rear-end collision here at 1.40 Sunday morning.

Six bodies were taken to Erie, Pa., four tentatively identified, on a relief train reaching the scene ahead of the wrecking crews. Three more bodies, extricated when acetylene torches had cut through the crushed car, were taken to Fredonia, N. Y. Two were identified Sunday afternoon.

W. B. ("Wild Bill") Donovan, manager of the New Haven, Conn., Baseball Club of the Eastern League, lost his life.

Forsyth is 35 miles east of Erie, Pa.

Side Ripped Off.

The crushed car was canted sideways on the rails and one side ripped off against the steel Pullman ahead. The two leading Pullmans left the track, one turning partly over.

All of the dead were taken from the rear car.

Farmers living nearby were the first to reach the wreck They aided in taking out six bodies from the telescoped car and the more seriously injured from the two cars ahead.

Wrecking crews from Buffalo and Ashtabula, Ohio, recovered the last three bodies from the observation Pullman after cutting through the bottom with acetylene torches.

All four tracks of the New York Central were blocked from the time of the wreck until after daylight.

JAPAN OFFERS LARGE MARKET

Canadian Trade Commissioner Tells of Reconstruction Activities in 'Quake Zone.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Dec. 10. — Canada should hark to the sound of Japanese hammers and act quickly according to A. E. Bryan, Canadian Trade Commissioner to Yokohama, who reached Vancouver to-day on the Canadian Pacific S. S. Empress of Canada. Speaking at a luncheon of the Foreign Trade Bureau of the Board of Trade at the Hotel Vancouver, Mr. Bryan stated that barracks were going up in Yokohama at the rate of 1,500 a day, that Japan had a tremendous need at the present time for lumber, galvanized and corrugated sheets and cement, and that Canadian business men should take advantage of their opportunity to play a part in her reconstruction programme which was estimated at a cost of 750,000,000 yen.

Since the earthquake, Mr. Bryan has received many enquiries for products never before asked for by the Japanese and shortly before he sailed for Canada an order had been placed for several thousand Canadian telephones. An investigation into the cement industry in Canada with a view towards entering the Japanese market with this commodity will occupy much of Mr. Bryan's time while in Canada. The destruction of the world's second largest cement factory in the recent disaster offers Canaad an unique opportunity to do business with the Orient on a large scale along this line.

Primarily, Lee, although titular head of the company bearing his name, was a dupe himself, taken in by a few suave promoters, who paid him $50 a month for use of his pretended relationship to the famous Confederate leader.

With dress and appearance similar to what one might expect in a Confederate veteran, Lee forgot that the highest plane to which he had risen in life was a janitor in Boise, Idaho, and plunged willingly into the frenzied financial whirlpool.

Made "Geologist."

An avalanche of high-pressure, faked advertising brought him before the public as an "eminent geologist" who had been keeping secret a great find in oil, and now wanted to let the "dear public" in on it.

Calling himself a nephew of the real General Robert E. Lee, this counterfeit relation, in a pamphlet captioned "The Honor of the Lees," said in substance that his promotional idea "was the supreme achievement of a lifetime."

From janitor to geologist, and then to kinship with a figure in history was a mere trifle for this character, whom we find later on as saying in his bait to trusting and patriotic southerners as well as folks everywhere in the country:

"General Robert A. Lee, the miracle man of geology, makes the outstanding announcement of his long and successful career."

"Always a Success."

"General Robert A. Lee has been a success all his life. A career as important in its sphere as those of his illustrious ancestry in other lines of human endeavor—politics, statesmanship, welfare, education and religion. General Robert A. Lee's life is an inspiring series of events."

"An organization erected on the solid foundation that a lifetime's reputation has built up."

For perpetration of this fraud, which drew $200,000 and wrecked many homes and hearts, Lee was fined and sentenced to the penitentiary for a year.

In most instances the lurid presentation of golden opportunity which deluged the country from oil promotional offices was of such high-explosive character that it seemingly paralyzed the better judgment of even skeptical prospects.

One promoter, now under arrest, surrounded his particular advertising with a picture of Leavenworth penitentiary showing the prison with the gates ajar.

Government Aroused.

Over the whole thing he printed this in large type:

"If I'm a fraud, the gates of the penitentiary will open to receive me."

Now that the investigation is under way here on a wholesale scale, indictments are being returned and will be asked for, not only against oil fakers who made misstatements of fact in their literature, but also against promoters who converted unspent total stock sale receipts to their own purposes.

Guilt in such instances, so high Government officials declare, will rest with the jury on circumstantial evidence.

In other words, intent to defraud in the multitudinous oil promotional enterprises will be measured in great part by the jury-tested honesty of the promoter in his efforts to settle equitably with investors, from funds still in his possession when he declared his company defunct.

Hence the nervousness in promoter circles in Ft. Worth, from which went the promises of rivers of oil that were turned into rivers of tears and teacups of oil.

DOORS DEDICATED BY REV. R. B. GROBB

Impressive Service at All Saint's Church Yesterday.

At the morning service in All Saints' Anglican Church yesterday, solemn dedication was made of the beautiful oak doors which have been placed in the vestibule by Alderman and Mrs. Joseph Crowe, in memory of their son, the late Orville Crowe.

The full-robed choir filed in by the front entrance, and rendered two hymns, accompanying the impressive dedication prayers by the rector, Rev. R. B. Grobb. "To the glory of God and in memory of Orville Crowe, 1902-1923," is the finely lettered inscription on the bronze door plate attached to the handsome doors, which give a distinctive touch to the entrance from the vestibule to the church. Of dark, solid oak, they are made in artistic and beautiful fashion. The lower halves are carved deeply, and the upper sections are composed of three panels of leaded glass in diamond pattern, topped by opalescent, stained glass in conventionalized iris design. Above, the same design is carried out in small triple circles of the faint yellow prisms. Burnished bronze handles and dark bronze mountings complete a pair of exceptionally handsome doors.

Adding the word "the" before the final word "hope," as in the older Scripture translations, Rev. Mr. Grobb took his text from the fourth verse of the fifteenth chapter of the Epistle of St. Paul to the Romans: "For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have the hope."

"Hope," declared Mr. Grobb, "is one of the commonest things in the world. It is the earliest thing that takes possession of the human heart and it is the last thing that dies. We cannot live without it."

"Paul speaks here of the Scriptures as the place where the hope is to be found. Many people nowadays speak of the Bible in a very patronizing way. But the Bible is the only Book in the world where Jesus is set forth as the Saviour. In secular history, he is rarely mentioned. Even Josephus, the great contemporary historian of the Jews, scarcely mentions the name of Jesus. The Bible is the book that contains the message of the hope, the Messianic hope, the Christ hope as manifested in Jesus Himself. The world is full of messages. There is no dearth of them. Politicians, reformers, all say they have a message for the world. But in the Bible is found the only message that conquers the soul, the message of everlasting life that God has given to us, the great comfort that God would have us know."

"And that word comfort in the Bible means something more than soothing. It is not passive but active, and it means for us strength and courage and inspiration. This is the comfort that we get by coming into God's house. It is the particular commodity that the Church of God has to dispense, in the place where the preacher does not preach politics or sensationalism, but God's word. It is the thing that makes the Church unique."

"Then think of the significance of these beautiful doors. They are beautiful in material and workmanship, but the most beautiful thing about them is the fact that they open the way for us into God's House. There is something beautifully symbolical about a door. Jesus Himself said: 'I am the door,' or, in other words, 'I let you in.' These doors bid us come in to this place where we get strength and refreshment for our souls."

Quoting a parishioner who said that these doors were a symbol of the excellence of the life of him whose memory they commemorated, Mr. Grobb declared that the cutting off of a young life, "just on the verge of manhood," was not the sad thing generally considered. "It is not sad when you think what manhood really is. Manhood is indeed the crown of youth, but it is only the entrance into a larger life. We are not moving down to the dark, but up to the day. Life does not become narrower and narrower, if we think of it rightly, but it is continually opening up before us into something better, if we are only in contact with the living God. The tree in the time of its budding, when the leaves clothe it, and when the fruit appears upon it, is a wonderful thing, but it is only in the time of its sere and leafless state that we can look up between its naked branches and see the stars. These doors, then, even as representing one who is gone, are a symbol of his entrance into a larger life."

Rev. Mr. Grobb spoke in feeling terms of the life and character of Orville Crowe, as a member of the confirmation class and the Young Men's Bible Class of the church, "one of the choice young men of the congregation."

"I believe he knew God, and there is no cutting off for such a young man as that. There is much that we cannot understand. What we need is faith and patience and hope. Let us think of these doors and of him as having entered into a larger life, and of our own hope of the great eternity that God has prepared for us in the name of Jesus Christ."

LET US BE HAPPY SAYS AN ACTRESS.

Are the Ambitious, Hard-Working Women of This Generation Overlooking Happiness.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Are the ambitions, hard-working women of this generation, who are making such strides in art and business, overlooking a big chance for happiness?

Lady John Martin-Harvey, wife of the famous English actor, believes they are. And the opinions of this charming English woman with the golden voice and magnetic personality are peculiarly restful in this strife-torn, high-strung age.

"I believe every woman has a career," she tells me, "but it is not necessarily a spectacular, individual career. The wonderful quiet pleasure a woman gets from giving herself and her own ambitions for another cannot be equaled by the hard struggle that sometimes necessitates her being cruel and, ruthless to succeed."

Lady Harvey doesn't mind being called old fashioned, just because she admits her husband is her job and always has been. Years ago, before her marriage, she was a brilliant actress with prospects for fame just as alluring as those that beckoned her Sir John.

Only One Supreme

"But before I promised to marry I had the inevitable fight with myself and decided to play my husband's career rather than my own," she recalls. "I don't believe there can be two great ones in a family

"While I often appear in plays with him, it is always for the production as a whole and not my personal glory. I have preferred to do most of my work off stage—designing costumes and properties and following up a thousand details, both stage and personal, that a woman alone can do.

"And I have never been sorry, for I believe I am as responsible for his success as he is. I believe it is the first duty of every woman to be a good wife and a good mother and to be content to live for the work of her husband or her son, if they need her most."

Still a Difference

Lady Harvey believes there are still jobs that belong solely to men.

"Because there is a masculine and a feminine brain," she insists. "There is no question of one being better or more capable than the other—they are just different. Sometimes the masculine brain is needed for a job, just as masculine strength is."

She believes parliamentary work is essentially man's, but she would not bar women from politics. Woman is a most effective campaigner for her husband, she thinks, and should take active part in the municipal affairs.

It is every woman's duty to keep healthy in body and mind and to produce good, healthy citizens, she goes on.

STRANDED FARMER WAS A SOCIALIST

TORONTO, Dec. 10.—(Canadian Press.)—British harvesters stranded in Toronto yesterday "compromised" with Albert Chamberlain, of the British Welcome League in order to obtain two meals in a Chinese restaurant(William Leslie, one of their number, told an audience in the Labor Temple last night, when given an opportunity to appeal for assistance on behalf of his comrades.

Before he had finished his address, he revealed himself as a Socialist, calling upon wage earners to organize themselves to secure a co-operative commonwealth.

The compromise, according to Leslie, was attendance at Bond street Congregational church in return for breakfast in a restaurant.

"We made the compromise with Mr. Chamberlain," said Leslie. I said: "We go to church after getting breakfast." We got a twenty cent meal in a Chinese restaurant.

"We left England to escape the conditions existing under capitalism," he went on. "We are only a small group, but we are going to show the unemployed of Toronto what organization means."

LOOKING FOR FIGHT.

PARIS, Dec. 10.— (Canadian Press.)—Francois Descamps, on behalf of Georges Carpentier, has cabled a challenge to the winner of the Gene Tunney-Harry Greb fight to-night for the light heavyweight championship of the world. Should the match be arranged, Carpentier would leave France immediately after New Year's day and be ready to box in February.

News of the challenge met with mixed reception in sporting circles, where feeling in many quarters is that Carpentier, having gone back tremendously, should first wipe off his crushing defeat at the hands of Battling Siki ,who is regarded here as better qualified than Georges to meet to-night's winner.

EMULATE DUMBELLS AT GROVE SCHOOL SUPPER

Football Team Eulogized For Successful Season—Sports Day Prizes Presented and the Students Display Talent As Entertainers.

Tribute to Principal.

LAKEFIELD, December 8.—The annual football supper of "The Grove" school was held on Friday evening and was even more successful than any in the previous history of the school. The larger school room, decorated with greens and bunting, presented an appearance of festivity and good cheer. The school colors (green and red) were combined with the decorations and the result was most attractive. Above the table occupied by the football team hung suspended a football. Including the 60 boys of the school about 100 persons sat down to the supper, which was a feast for the gods, and was much enjoyed by all present. When the supper was concluded the toast list was run off.

Rev. A. A. W. MacKenzie, principal of the school, was the toast master and occupied the post in his accustomed happy manner. The first toast was of course "The King" and was duly honored in singing the National anthem. The second toast was the silent toast to the men who gave their lives in the great war for the cause of freedom at the call of their King and Country.

Major M. G. Hamilton proposed the toast to the school coupling with it the name of the headmaster, Mr. Mackenzie, whose work has done so much to make the school the success it undoubtedly is. "Education has advanced year by year until now at 'The Grove' it seems to be the perfect system, allowing the boys to discipline one another and with a great amount of personal contact with the Masters. In honoring this toast we honor our friend, Mr. MacKenzie, the dear old school itself, the old boys who fell in freedom's cause, the boys who are out in the world doing for themselves, and also the bright faces before us."

Stimulate Intellect.

Mr. Mackenzie in his reply modestly disclaimed the credit of making the school what it is, a great deal was due to the co-operation of Mrs. Mackenzie. The school was not built up by one man but by the co-operation of the masters and the boys themselves. The speaker did not agree with the man who described the schoolmaster's life as "the life of a dog, the pay of a navvy and the work of a housemaid." Comparing the older methods of education with the modern, Mr. Mackenzie said that by the old method the pupil accumulated (or was expected to) a vast store of knowledge, while nowadays the object is to teach more intelligence rather than making children store houses of knowledge. A. E. Dawson, in a bright, "neppy" little speech, proposed the health of the ladies, and Master I. Flick replied in a decidedly original manner.

T. B. Marling proposed the toast to the team. Last year the team seemed to have reached the pinnacle of its existence but this year it has been even better. In proposing the toast he coupled with it the name of the captain—Little I. In his reply Little I disclaimed the credit given him of making the team better than last year's, which was captained by Gray I, who this year is in the first team at Upper Canada College. Little expressed his appreciation of the co-operation of the team and the assistance and encouragement of Mr. Marling.

H. G. FitzGerald proposed the toast to the old boys and absent friends, referring to the note of sadness which the thought of the absent friends always brings.

J. C. Strickland replied, being himself an ex-Grove pupil. He expressed satisfaction at the progress being made at the school chapel, which is the gift of the old boys as a war memorial to those men who fell for the honor of their country and the old school. It is a credit to the old boys and will be a benefit to the boys of the present and the future.

Rev. H. Britton proposed the toast to the new boys in a witty speech, giving as an illustration an allegory, or fairy tale, the moral of which was obvious, which was interesting to all in the audience from the smallest boy to the oldest adult, all of whom appreciated the masterly way which Mr. Britton told his story and unfolded the puzzle.

F. H. Dench replied to the toast in a manly little speech.

Prizes Presented.

After the prizes were presented to the boys who had earned them on the sports day held October 13th, and also for the special races held during the term:

Special Races and Prizes—

The Cowley Medals, R. H. L. Massie; time prize Little II.

The Seaforth Cup, Big Side, Griffiths I; Little Side, Cote.

Mr. Britton's Cup (half mile) — Loosemore.

Shield for the pole vault, Rainnie.

Grove Cup, Griffiths I.

Junior Grove Race, 1, B. Mackenzie; 2, Witherspoon.

Seniors Entertain.

After the prize giving an adjournment was in order as the older boys had prepared a very fine entertainment which was along the lines of the Dumbells, but was highly original and full of topical hits which provoked roars of laughter from the audience. The programme was as follows:

The Fish Balls present their new new show, "Here We Are Again."

1. "Here We Are Again" — The company.

2. "Si and the Book Agent"—G. F. Rainnie, M. G. Griffiths and R. H. Loosemore.

3. "Lamentations"— M. G. Griffiths.

4. "Oh Mr. Gallagher" — G. F. Rainnie and R. H. L. Massie.

5. Dream of the Orient —R. G. Young, A. R. Little, G. H. Loosemore, E. G. Pullen and R. T. Barnard.

Chorus—The Company, solo Rainnie.

10 Minutes Intermission.

1. "Visions of the Night," a Prophecy—J. S. Little, E. Fawcett, R. H. L. Massie, R. H. Loosemore.

2. A selection by the Fish Balls Orchestra— E. Fawcett, piano, J. Flick violin, M. G. Griffiths mandolin, and Pringe, drum.

3. An address and reading by Mr. Kudyard Ripling—G. F. Rainnie.

4. A Wandering Minstrel — J. Flick.

5. "You Gotta Put Up With It"—R. T. Barnard.

6. Chorus—R. G. Young, soloist, and company

7. "Lights Out"—Company.

In the sketch, "Si and the Book Agent," Rainnie made a big hit in the "hick" part with his clever local hits which brought down the house. Griffith's "Lamentations" was clever, the audience recalled him over and over. "Oh, Mr. Gallagher" by Rainnie and Massie was one of the best hits in a programme which abounded in good things. The "Dream of the Orient" was a bright little Chinese song sung by five boys in Chinese costume. The first half of the programme closed with a solo by Rainnie, transformed into a fair maiden with decidedly vampish tendencies, with a chorus by the company.

"Visions of the Night" was the opening number of the second half of the programme and was a rather more serious selection, being the vision of an early voyager whose prophetic eyes sees on this wood crowned hill a large and flourishing school. He is visited by the spirit of football (Loosemore), the shade of hockey (Massie) and the spirit of cricket (Fawcett) who assure him that a fine school will stand on this site and that these games will flourish. Little took the voyager's part. The address and reading by Rainnie as Mr. Kudyard Ripling was a striking hit, and the violin selection by Flick, which showed real musical talent proving that the new boys are worth while. Barnard's melancholy rendition of "You Got to Put Up With It," was a striking contrast to his cheerful appearance which suggested the spirit of frolic rather than despair.

Young took the solo in the last chorus, "Who's Sorry Now," being a love lone damself who had been jilted by her lover (Pullen.) The company formed the chorus.

"Lights Out" was naturally the last number and scored yet another hit with solos by Griffiths and a most spooky recitation by Rainnie.

The singing of the National Anthem brought to a close a very fine entertainment which contained many hits and not one "dud" number. Mrs. Fawcett was stage manager and assisted in playing the accompaniments. The work of the orchestra was worthy of special mention and also Rainnie's part in the programme, not only in the acting, but as the composer of most of the verses used in the songs. He possesses fine talent and is extremely versatile. Loosmore's was the inspiration of the "Vision of the Night," which was one of the specially good numbers: "The Grove" possesses a company who are youthful rivals of the Dumbells.

Out of town visitors were: Major and Mrs. Little of Woodstock, A. G. Fawcet, A. E. Dawson and Mr. Underwood of Toronto, Mr MacRae and Dr. Jack of Montreal.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Missionary Meeting Held at Home of Mrs. L. Rea

MILLBROOK, Dec. 5.—The December meeting of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of the Methodist church was held at the home of Mrs. L. Rea on Wednesday afternoon with over thirty members in attendance though the weather was most unfavorable. The president, Mrs. S. T. Tucker, took the chair for the opening devotional and business period, after which, Miss Hampton, leader of group "B" which was responsible for the programme this month, took charge.

Speaking for the department of Christian Stewardship Miss Stella Hetherington referred to the fact that the estimated income of the Methodist people of Canada for 1923 was $370,000,000. A tenth of this given for the Lord's treasury would have meant $37,000,000, but instead only $11,000,000 was the total amount in response to the church's appeal. Of this $9,000,000 went for local church needs, leaving but $2,000,000 to be spent outside the "self requirements." It is evident that if tithing were generally practised there would be no lack of money for the propogation of God's work.

Mrs. C. W. Richards read a report of the committee meeting of group "B" held at the parsonage the previous week when ten members were present. When the business had been concluded a social hour was enjoyed and Mrs. Tucker served a delicious lunch. One new member, Mrs. Rea, was reported for this group, and group "D," Mrs. Offa Williamson leader, reported four new names on their list. Five points are given for a new member, fifteen for a life member, and one each for attendance, fees paid, and for a visitor brought to the meetings. A healthy spirit of competition has been encouraged since the groups were organized which is increasing the attendance each month and will make the membership roll and amount of money raised probably the largest in the history of the Auxiliary when the year's returns are made up the end of April.

The hymns chosen for Wednesday's meeting were appropriate to the season, and Miss Hampton gave a reading, "The First Christmas," from "Ben Hur," after which the Scripture lesson from Luke 2:2-20, "The Adoration of the Shepherds," was read by Mrs. Richards.

The 4th chapter from the study-book, "Immigrant Builders from Northwestern Europe," was taken up in a most instructive manner by Mrs. L. Rea, the main point being "unless these are hand-picked they will only complicate Canada's problem." A general neighborliness, with the influence of the Public school in teaching the children of our foreign population to speak English, will greatly aid in arousing a Canadian spirit.

Miss Luella Kennedy read the story of "Mike," a Ukrainian immigrant who made good after coming to Canada and taking a homestead in Alberta. The meeting closed with all repeating the W.M.S. watchword, "Not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit," saith the Lord of Hosts. "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith."

Mrs. Rea and Miss Hampton, assisted by the group, served refreshments during the social hour, which was enjoyed before the guests left for home, a hearty vote of thanks being moved by Mrs. F. Johnston, seconded by Mrs. J. McKnight. Those present included: Mrs. H. Lang, Mrs. G. Locke, Mrs. J. Hatherly, Mrs. C. W. Richards, Mrs. S. Tucker, Mrs. T. Luxon, Mrs. F. Johnston Mrs. W. Mullen, Mrs. H. A. Elson, Mrs. W. Elson, Mrs. M. Sutton, Mrs. A Kennedy, Mrs W. Lowes, Miss L. Kennedy, Miss E. Kreiger, Mrs. W. Tremaine, Mrs. O. Williamson, Miss M. E. Hetherington, Mrs. W. Turner, Mrs. A. E. Brown, Mrs Elmer Miss S. Hetherington, Mrs. G. Freelove, Mrs. T. H. Aiken, Mrs. T. Douglas, Mrs. F. Smith, Mrs. J. McKnight, Mrs. G. Spence, Mrs. L. H. Rea and Miss A. Hampton.

MILLBROOK HAD BUSY BURGLARS

Three Toronto Men Arrested by Provincial Police Following Burglaries in Millbrook and Garden Hill.

TORONTO, Dec. 10..—(Canadian Press). — Clarence O'Connor, Bruce Godfrey and Raymond Hutchinson, all of Toronto, were arrested at Port Hope, yesterday by Provincial Constable Cousins of Cobourg, on a charge of burglarizing the general store at Millbrook and the Post Office and general store at Garden Hill during Saturday night. They also are charged with stealing a motor car, said by the police to have been stolen on Saturday from Joseph Burke of Port Credit. The three men are being held in Cobourg jail.

Provincial Constable Cousins was notified yesterday morning by W. H. Coombes, general store keeper at Millbrook, that his place had been entered on Saturday night and a large quantity of boots and shoes and rubbers stolen. Almost at the same time the Postmaster at Garden Hill informed Cousins that his store and post office also, had been robbed on Saturday night. Here the robbers obtined a quantity of cigars and cigarettes and there was evidence that the post office had been ransacked.

Constable Cousins immediately set out by motor car to the scene of the robberies, while on his jurney he met three young men walking along the road, one of whom appeared to be injured.

Farther on Constable Cousins came across a motor car ditched at the roadside.

KING GEORGE IS IN A DIFFICULT SITUATION IN CALLING A LEADER

Facing Unprecedented Condition in British Parliamentary History - Requires Singleminded Effort to Do Best for Country and Empire

LABOR IS READY

(By Wickham Steed, former Editor Review of Reviews registered in accordance with the Copyright Act of 1923.)

LONDON, December 10. — The least enviable man in Great Britain to-day is the King. Whether Baldwin tenders his resignation this morning, as some of his colleagues would have him do, or carried on until Parliament meets on Jan. 8, as others advise, or attempts to transfer the leadership of the Conservative party and the premiership to Lord Derby or Austen Chamberlain, he will before long be freed from immediate responsibility.

The other party leaders like Ramsay MacDonald and Asquith seem willing and even anxious to form a sol-called "care-taker' administration, so great is their devotion to the public weal, but the King, who cannot resign, and who is conscientiously weighing the possibilities of the situation, is seriously perplexed.

As ever his chief thought is for the country. With all the party leaders his relations are equally friendly. During the past few years prominent Labor men have often been guests at Buckingham Palace, and the King has also met them socially. Apart from correct constitutional practice the King would certainly feel no personal or political antipathy towards a Labor government under Ramsay MacDonald, should Baldwin resign and recommend His Majesty to send for the leader of the opposition.

Labor would Accept.

In the Labor party the movement in favor of acceptance of office, if the King offers it, has gained strength in the last two days. The chief Labor organ this morning argues that should MacDonald decline the offer his supporters all over the country would believe him afraid to tackle the situation, with which the Laborites everywhere during the election proclaimed that the Labor party alone is able to deal, but since some Liberals, including Lord Buckmaster, also propose the formation of a Labor Government for the purpose of dealing with unemployment and housing questions the Laborites may suspect a trap and sheer off.

In the Liberal camp the opinion prevails that the best solution would be a Liberal Government under Asquith, with the tacit support of Conservatives and Labor on a restricted programme.

The Liberal party, it is claimed, is the only party really victorious. Whereas the electors rejected Baldwin's policy of protection and declined to give a majority to Labor's proposal for a capital levy, neither of these parties are entitled to hold office. Only two men are in the running—Asquith or Grey or Fallodden. But for the moment speculation is entirely premature. The King faces an unprecedented situation, such as was certain to arise when Baldwin allowed himself to be hustled into the fatal plunge by short-sighted schemers. If a single-minded desire to do the best for his country and empire can find a way out, the King may be trusted to find it, in all other respects the future is on th knees of the Gods.

Funeral of E. C. West on Saturday—Band Gave a Concert on Sunday Evening.

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec 10.—The funeral of the late E. C. West was held Saturday afternoon afternoon at half past two at the family residence. Rev. Mr. Clarke, of Belleville, late of Christ Church here, had the service with Rev. B. Greatrix, of Peterboro, assisting Mr. Greatrix was an old time friend of the late Mr West, ever since Mr. Greatrix's pastorate here. After the service the remains were taken to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The late Mr. West was born in Seymour township just west of the town, near where he has always lived. He was 66 years old just a week before he died. In September 1885 he married Miss Annie E. Free. They had a family of six, three boys and three girls. All are married but two. They are Marshall at home, Mrs. Argue of Deseronto, Wm. a lawyer in Toronto, Mrs. Morris of Frankford, Miss Maud, a trained nurse in Toronto, and Gerald also at home. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. A. Stewart, F. W. Wood, J. P. Archer G. A. Kingston, J. F. McGregor and Dr. G. Hay. There were many beautiful floral tributes as follows from the Oddfellows, Forresters, Water and Light Commission, the old Agricultural Society of which Mr. West was an officer, Mrs. G. H. West of Winnipeg, family and others from many friends. Relatives who attended the funeral from other places were: Mr. Carl West of Thorold, who is the only nephew of the late Mr. West's side of the family: Mrs. (Dr.) Bonnycastle of Belleville, Mr, and Mrs. McIntosh of Peterboro. All the six members of the family were present at the funeral.

The orchestra of the "Alpha Club" were in their places yesterday for the first time since re-organizing. The following members of the orchestra were present: Messrs. R. T. Cowell (leader), C. Williams, G. T. Salter, R Bell and E. Thomas. The music adds much to the help of the club. 22 men were present.

The band's sacred concert announced for Sunday night at 8.30 in the opera house, was a great success. The hall was filled to the doors. The band, with R. T. Cowell as bandmaster, were in their places at the above hour. Major J. M. Bygott acted as chairman. In his opening remarks he said he was pleased to be chairman for such a splendid organization as the Regimental Band He felt as if he were one of them. He spoke very highly of their work while with the regiment in Cobourg and of the many compliments they received there. The following programme was given:

1. Hymn selection, "Onward Christian Soldiers" by Band.
2. Overture, "The Garden of Eden," Band.
3. Saxaphone solo, "Llewella Fantasia," by Chas. Mitchell. With an encore, "One Fleeting Hour."
4. Selection, "In the Cathedral," Band.
5. Vocal solo, "O Song Divine," by M. Collison, and encore, "The Volunteer Organist."
6. Cornet solo, "My Task," Walter Lowe, accompanied by the Band.

Then followed a short intermission while a collection was taken up. The chairman explained that this collection would be used for a Christmas tree for the kiddies who would not have much for Christmas. A very generous response was made, and many bills found their way onto the plates which were passed around. While the men went among the audience with the plates, R. T. Cowell (bandmaster) gave a short explanation of the series of concerts they hoped to put on through the winter. While some of the collections would be used for charitable purposes, he hoped to reserve a part of it to purchase music for the band. He then asked Captain Froud, of the Salvation Army, to come to the platform and he gave her the collection to use as the Army thought best to bring Christmas joy to the homes of those who needed it. He also spoke of the splendid work he knew the Army did for the men overseas at the time of he war.

Captain Froud made a very suitable reply, thanking the Band for this donation and the people for their generosity, and said the Army would do their very best with the proceeds of the concert.

The rest of the programme follows:

A collection of Gospel hymns: "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" (Coronation), "I love to tell the story," Old "Antioch," "Come to the Saviour," "Let the lower lights be burning," "What a friend we have in Jesus," "Blest be the tie that binds" (Dennis), and "Ring the Bells of Heaven."

Eventide ("Abide With Me"), the Band singing the second verse.

This brought the evening's concert to a close.

The chairman thanked the Band for the splendid concert and the audience for their presence and appreciation.

BROADCASTING IS NOW HINDERED BY THE SHIP TRAFFIC.

Department of Commerce Is Now Faced With a Situation That Threatens the Listener's Pleasure.

WASHINGTON, D.C., December 10. — With the elimination of amateur interference with broadcast reception through the Government regulation providing for evening "quiet hours," the Department of Commerce is now faced with a serious situation that threatens the pleasure of many thousands of listeners — namely, the interference which is being caused nightly by scores of ship telegraph stations.

It was comparatively an easy matter to obtain the co-operation of the amateur through his organisation, the American Radio Relay League, but the proposal to keep silent ship radio stations that are handling life and death messages is another matter. Ship transmission is vital to safety at sea and to commerce.

On the one hand are thousands of listeners clamouring for relief from interference that is spoiling their concerts and on the other hand the positively essential ship and commercial air traffic. Commercial stations, both ship and shore, use that band between 300 and 3,000 meters. The Navy employs waves from 600 upward, while the Army, which causes very little interference, follows the Navy.

Among the national organisations which have announced their intention of bringing this matter before the Department of Commerce officials is the National Association of Broadcasters, the executive chairman of which, Paul B. Klugh, says:

"We agree that ship-to-shore and commercial stations on radiophone wave-lengths, during popular broadcasting hours, are the real disturbance to uninterrupted reception. We hope to bring some regulation of this at Washington.

"The uninformed broadcast listeners, enraged by interference, feels that he must blame someone, and the amateur seems to be the inevitable target. This condition can be much relieved."

AUTOMOBILES THREATEN RAILROADS IN SWEDEN

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 10.—(Associated Press).—The competition between motor omnibuses and the railroads in Sweden has become a serious menace, especially to the railroads under private ownership.

"Unless the unfair competition from motor buses is checked in some way, declares the managing director of one railroad, "we will be forced to ask the crown for permission to discontinue our local service. The passenger traffic is so small at present that rates cannot be lowered." To this the motor bus owners retort that it was because the railroads did not reduce their rates that passengers welcomed the coming of the bus lines, now numbering sixty along this particular railroad.

ORMONDE CHEESE FACTORY MEETING

One of the Best Factories in the District Produced High Grade of Cheese

HASTINGS, December 10.— The patrons of the Ormonde Cheese Factory held their annual meeting in the Council Chamber here on Saturday afternoon, and elected the following officers:

President, T. J. Lynch.
Secretary, W. C. Pickens.
Treasurer, J. F. McCarthy.
Directors, Sam McGee, W. Preston, W. McFadden, F. Lynch, M. Waddell, J. Noonon.
Salesman, T. J. Lynch.

The four leading patrons of the factory are: Sam McGee, W. Preston, Fred Warner, and Felix Convey.

Mr. P. L. Doherty was awarded the contract of supplying the wood for next season at a bid of $345.

Mr. Seales, of the Trenton Creamery, was present and assured the patrons that he would be glad to receive the whey-cream another season.

The patrons were well pleased with the treatment they received from the Trenton Creamery, and assured Mr. Seales that he would receive the whey-cream for next season.

Mr. Seales, in a few words, thanked the patrons, and also Mr. Montgomery, the cheese maker, for his interest in the matter.

Mr. Murray, a cheese maker from one of the Campbellford factories, was the next speaker, and he expressed his ideas on the care of the cheese and how the milk should be supplied to the factories.

Mr. Irwin, the Government grader, of Campbellford, was called on, and he thanked the patrons for their invitation to be present at the meeting, and was pleased to be able to congratulate Cheesemaker Montgomery on his good showing for 1923, as the Hastings factory had the highest graded cheese sold on the Belleville Board this last season, and he was also glad to see that this factory received an average of 19 1-2 cents per pound all season.

He was glad to see the interest Mr. Montgomery took in his work, as every time the cheese was shipped to Belleville he would call on the telephone to see what grade the factory was going to receive.

Mr. W. R. McCreary, sales manager of the United Co-operative Co., Belleville, was the last speaker, and he went into detail as to the way the cheese was boarded.

Before closing, he wished to congratulate Mr. W. Montgomery on the splendid cheese he had manufactured the past season.

You Can Eat Anything You Like And Not Have HEARTBURN

In all cases of heartburn there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by a disturbed appetite, as when too much food is taken into the stomach it is liable to ferment and become extremely sour, vomiting occurs, and what is thrown up is generally sour and bitter. When you are in this condition you will find that Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills will give you relief right away.

Mr. Joseph H. MacDonald, Christmas Island, N.S., writes:—"Two years ago I suffered all the time from heartburn. I took one vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and have never been troubled since.

It is very nice to be able to eat anything you like and not have heart burn any more."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WHY SHOULD PETERBOROUGH BE THE GOAT?

As a result of Judge Ward's decision the City Council has lost the first round of its legal battle over the question of its power to control the estimates of the Police Commission, and an appeal to the Court of Appeal is planned.

There are many people who are beginning to think that the Council should give the matter some earnest consideration before plunging in too deep.

The Aldermen claim that in this controversy they are fighting to clear up a point that is of great importance to every city in Ontario.

If such be the case, why let Peterborough do all the fighting?

If an appeal is considered likely to be of any value, why not ask the Ontario Municipal Association to assume the cost of any further legal proceedings, and if such support be not forthcoming let the Council accept the decision already given.

There is no reason why this city should be the goat for the rest of the Province.

COMMUNITY FUND.

The meeting to be held tonight in the Chamber of Commerce under the auspices of the Young Men's Section should attract a large and representative attendance in view of the importance of the subject that is to be discussed—the establishment of a community fund in Peterborough.

No organization interested in social service work should fail to be represented, for this question of a community fund is one in which all such organizations in the city should be deeply interested.

The application of business principles to social service work and philanthropic endeavours will not interfere in the least with the initiative of any particular organization nor chill the enthusiasm of the individual.

It will supply means that each organization will be free to carry on its own work as in the past—the only difference being that the funds needed for all the agencies will be collected in one campaign and the citizens will be relieved of the almost constant appeals for financial assistance for this, that and the other charity which keep their purses continually open under the present system.

The community fund plan has been tried out and pronounced satisfactory by other cities, the people of which vote it a much more economical and logical system than the old happy-go-lucky plan of letting each organization do its own financing.

CANADA'S RESOURCES.

The Examiner is in receipt of a very attractively printed little volume issued by the National Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior under the title "Canada, Natural Resources and Commerce" that is in marked contrast with the majority of Government publications inasmuch as it is compact and concise, covering a big subject, or rather a series of big subjects, in a manner that will make this publication of decided use.

In a foreward it is pointed out that Canada's natural resources are still largely undeveloped and by no means thoroughly known or appreciated even by Canadians.

The volume just issued has therefore been prepared especially to afford those associated with international trade a concise review of Canada's resources and of the broad features which they impart to the commerce of the Dominion by their limitations as well as by their diversity and abundance.

It is a neat, accurate and up-to-date little pamphlet, only 214 small pages in all, but covering such topics as agricultural resources, forests, minerals, water powers, commercial fisheries, fur trade, transportation, banking and manufacture, government and education thoroughly.

"Canada, Natural Resources and Commerce" should serve as a model when other Government publications are being issued, inasmuch as it will be in demand while the majority of other Government pamphlets are destined for the waste-paper basket.

A POOR ADVERTISEMENT.

On Saturday the Examiner published an article from a Scottish paper complaining of the false promises by which people living in the British Isles were lured into coming to Canada.

Confirmation of that charge is furnished by stories in Toronto newspapers that a large number of the British harvesters brought to Canada during the summer are walking Toronto's streets and "going from pillar to post," as one paper puts it, out of work and penniless.

These men were induced to come to Canada by specific promises of work at good wages in the harvest fields, and under the impression that when that work was finished there would be no difficulty of securing employment in industrial work.

They accepted these promises as bona fide, and now they find themselves after an unsatisfactory experience in the West without funds and with little prospect of employment.

What kind of advertising is Canada likely to get from these unfortunate men in their letters home?

The story of their experiences here is likely to offset, in the locality from which they came at least, all the efforts that may be made by Canada's immigration officials.

There must be an end to this reckless promising of impossible wages and steady employment to prospective settlers when the conditions do not warrant anything of the kind.

Our agents overseas should be instructed to tell the simple truth about Canada—we don't want to bring immigrants here under false pretences.

THE UPRISING AGAINST TAXES.

Faced with a rising tide of public indignation against super-taxation, the Bracken Government in Manitoba has abdicated its functions and will permit a committee of financial men to examine departmental expenditures with a view to eliminating waste and curtailing taxes. It is a radical departure, and a dangerous one; but it ought to bring home to Governments—Dominion, Provincial and municipal—that extravagance must forthwith cease.

All of our Governments have been spending too much money. Last year every Province but two spent vastly more than its income. Last year the Dominion increased the public debt by $50,000,000—and heightened public taxation.

* * *

Canada's gross interest-bearing debt stands at something like $2,800,000,000. When we add to this the combined debts of the Provinces, the debts of our ten largest cities—which are colossal—and the debts of our other municipalities—we reach the staggering figure of approximately $4,000,000,000; or about $450 for every man, woman and child in this country.

Forty years after Confederation the public debt of this country stood at about $350,000,000. During that time we built the C.P.R. and fourteen thousand miles of other railways. We paid out hundreds of millions in railway subsides; we extended and enlarged our canal system; and we constructed great public works.

* * *

Since the Armistice—not since the war, but since the declaration of peace—we have heightened the public debt by three times 350 millions—by three times more than what it was forty years after Confederation. It has been increased by over $100,000,000 since the King Government took office.

* * *

While we have been thus plunging into debt and taxation, other countries, less favorably situated than ourselves, have been reducing taxation and debt. Here is the comparison, in brief compass:

England:—Has paid off hundreds of millions of pounds of her indebtedness; has reduced her civil service to within ten per cent. of pre-war days; and, despite enormous necessary outlays for defence, for a world-encircling administration, and for unemployment doles, produced a surplus of $450,000,000 last year and reduced taxation.

Australia:—Balanced her budget last year and proposes to reduce taxes this year.

New Zealand:—Produced a surplus of over $6,000,000 last year, and, as a consequence, reduced the income tax; abolished it altogether so far as farmers are concerned; reduced the tax on amusements and lowered the duty on tea.

United States:—Reduced her liabilities by $2,000,000,000 in 1922; will have another great surplus this year; and proposes reducing her income tax.

Canada:—Increased her national debt last year by about $50,000,000 and as a consequence, practically doubled her Sales Tax.

* * *

Consequences of such financing are inevitable. They are seen in the fact that today Canadians are possibly the heaviest taxed people in the world. Ten years ago this country—so far as the Dominion was concerned—had no direct taxation. This year direct taxes will total something like $175,000,000. Ten years ago Federal taxes were well under $100,000,000. Today Federal taxes are at the rate of about one million dollars a day—over $40,000 an hour.

And on top of Federal taxation comes Provincial taxes and municipal taxes. Together they total about $100 for every man, woman and child in the Dominion —$500 for the head of a family of five.

* * *

Such a condition cannot go on. A nation is like an individual—if it goes on with profligate expenditure in obliviousness to income, the end is bankruptcy and ruin. Already the effects are apparent. They are seen in a cost of living that will not come down. They are seen in ten thousand Canadians fleeing across the border every month and taking their property with them. They are seen in a timid, depressed industry. They are seen in a still more timid capital. They are seen in a public that is becoming restless, challenging and rebellious.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is not expected that Premier Baldwin will be quite as much the apple of his party's eye as he was before he decided upon a snap election.

Christmas Eve is only two weeks away. Don't leave everything until the day before Christmas and then expect to do satisfactory shopping.

Home Bank depositors are naturally strongly in favour of Government inspection of Canada's chartered banks. And their opinion is very generally shared by nearly everybody except the banks and the Government.

President E. W. Beatty of the C.P.R. declares that Canadians are the worst advertisers of their own country. And remembering those "Whisper of Death" articles, it is difficult to refute the charge.

Our idea of a real expert would be a man who could prophesy definitely what developments may be expected in the political situation in the old land.

Toronto has staged many an exciting prize fight recently, but the Drury-Morrison bout billed for the U.F.O. convention this week promises to be the real battle of the century.

So far the open winter prophets are leading the field by a large margin. And they are carrying the people's money, too.

Our politicians should read the omen of Manitoba. Abdication of governmental responsibility is not a healthy thing. But if it brings home to Governments the perilous paths they are walking, it may be a blessing in disguise.—Ottawa Journal.

While municipalities all around are getting out their election horses and giving them their last feed of oats and mash, London goes on its way, having attended to all such matters a week ago. Christmas shopping and New Year wishes mixed with planks, speeches and ballots—well, it's not a good way. London would never turn back to the old way.—London Advertiser.

THREE RECOUNTS IN DISPUTED POLLS

One Hundred Unstamped Ballots Cost Labor a Durham Seat.

LONDON, Dec. 9. — (Canadian Press Cable.)— The lateness of the declaration of the poll in the Sedgefield division of Durham which was only announced late on Friday night was due to three re-counts. It was discovered that more than one hundred ballot papers had not been stamped by the poll officers but otherwise they were plainly marked by the electors. J. Herriotts, the labor candidate and former member, who lost the seat is convinced that he would have won the election if these ballots had not been rejected on technical grounds. The question is being brought before the miners' federation for legal advice. Major Ropner, the conservative candidate, was declared elected by a majority of 6.

COAL MINERS WENT ON STRIKE TO-DAY

SCRANTON, December 8. Canadian Press. — Seventeen thousand mine workers of the Lehigh Coal Co. employed at the Collieries in the Moosic-Pittston District, went on strike to-day. The decision to strike was made at a meeting of the General Grievance Committee last night, although other Union leaders advised the men to remain at work pending further discussion of their grievances.

The chief complaint of the miners is that the company has failed to provide each local union with rate sheets.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8. — Wheat prices had a downward tendency today in the absence of any demand except for week-end evening up of trades. The close was unsettled, 1-4 and 3-8 to 5-8c. net lower, with Dec. $1.03 3-8 to $1.03 1-2, and May $1.09 to $1.09 1-8. Corn finished 1-4 to 3-4c. down; oats 1-4 to 1-2 and 5-8c. off, and provisions at unchanged figures to 10c. decline.

The outlook was that there would be no great change of the United Staes' visible supply total on Monday, although domestic primary receipts this week showed a decided falling off compared with last week and a year ago.

Corn and oats declined with wheat. Predictions were current that arrivals of corn here next week would be larger, notably from western Iowa.

Packers' selling weakened the provision market an advance based on reports of good cash demand.

CEMETERY WILL BE IMPROVED

Warkworth Committee Appointed to Undertake Work — Extend Hydro System.

WARKWORTH, Dec. 8.—A public meeting was held in the community hall on Wednesday evening for the purpose of appointing a committee to take in hand the work to be done at the Protestant cemetery and have it put in a suitable condition as it has been neglected for a number of years. This meeting was well attended and Messrs. C. J. Boyce, C. H. Curtis and H. L. Walker were appointed as trustees.

Wm. E. Hermiston, reeve, and Herb. Nelson, deputy-reeve, are attending the meeting of the county council at Cobourg.

Mrs. H. B. Wilson spent a couple of days recently with her friend, Mrs. M. White.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the community hall on Wednesday afternoon, but owing to the bad weather the attendance was small.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, held their regular monthly meeting at Mrs. C. C. Armstrong's residence on Thursday.

The extension to the Hydro system in the village is progressing rapidly and in a couple of weeks will see it complete with 10 more houses served with light.

Denike-Arkles

In the presence of about 40 relatives and friends at high noon on December 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Arkles, Warkworth was the scene of a happy event when their only daughter, Helen G. Gerow, became the bride of Ivan W. Denike, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Denike, Norham. The marriage ceremony was conducted by Rev. E. W. Cosly, Norham, assisted by Rev. S. A. Kemp, Warkworth.

To the strains of Lohengrin's bridal chorus, played by Miss Eva Denike, sister of the groom, the bride, looking charming in a gown of white Canton crepe, with embroidered net veil caught with orange blossoms and carrying a bouquet of pink and white carnations, entered the living-room on the arm of her father. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining-room where a sumptuous repast, which was served by six girl friends of the bride, was partaken of. The dining-room was beautifully decorated in pink and white.

Later in the afternoon the happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for a two weeks' trip to Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara. The bride travelled in a costume suit of navy tricotine with black velvet hat.

The groom's gift to the bride was a wrist watch.

On November 23 a miscellaneous shower was given in Miss Arkle's honor at the home of Mrs. C. H. Curtis and on December 1 a kitchen shower was given by Mrs. W. J. Harper.

The many beautiful gifts show the high esteem in which the young couple were held.

Mr. and Mrs. Denike will reside near Norham on their return.

Mr. P. J. Moran has returned after spending a few days in Toronto with his father who has been dangerously ill.

CAVAN LADIES' AID WERE ENTERTAINED

Decided to Hold Three Socials During Winter For Young People.

CAVAN, Dec. 8.—The Ladies' Aid of Cavan Methodist Church, were entertained by Mrs. W. Douglas on Thursday afternoon. There was an unusually large attendance, considering weather and roads; 18 members and four visitors were present.

The president, Mrs. Matchett, opened the meeting with singing and prayer, after which Mrs. A. Tinney led the members in repeating the 23 Psalm.

A financial report of the fowl dinner was read; the receipts proved very satisfactory.

It was decided to have at least three social evenings for the young people of the church and community during the winter at homes of the members. Mrs. A. Kennedy and Mrs. Matchett kindly offered the use of their homes. The first social evening will be held about January 18. Details, such as date and programme, will be decided later.

A gift of $25 was voted, to be sent to Miss Luella Rorke in Japan, to be used in relief work for those who have lost all during the earthquake in September.

We know an Old Couple like this

The old folks sit alone beside the fire. Sons and daughters have married and gone — the house that used to ring with the shouts of happy children now echoes to the ticking of the clock.

It is Sunday night. A bell tinkles—the telephone! Mother hurrys to answer it!

"Hello, mother? How are you and father?"

It is son George speaking from his home three hundred miles away. This is his night to call the old folks. Tuesday will be Mary's turn; Charlie usually calls on Wednesday; Alice on Friday.

Long Distance is the greatest boon in the lives of this old couple. Four nights a week the loved voices transform the old house and bring back vanished days—a blessed conspiracy of loving thoughtfulness.

A Station-to-Station call always serves because the old folks are always at home; and the Evening rate makes it so inexpensive!

So simple; so effective; the practice is growing! Long Distance is brightening countless lives

Was Almost Nervous Wreck

Says Wincarnis Restored Her Heatlh

"Ten months ago," writes Mrs. Elizabeth McGuire, 205 West 101st street, New York City, "I began to lose my strength. My household duties became burdensome. I felt exhausted after the slightest exertion. Then my nerves got so bad that at the slightest noise I used to tremble; my legs would shake and my heart beat violently, causing me to gasp for breath. One afternoon a friend called to see me and she was shocked at my pitiable condition. She went out and bought a bottle of "Wincarnis" and gave me a dose right away. I continued taking "Wincarnis," three times a day and its effect has been almost miraculous. Gradually but surely my strength came back, a color came into my cheeks, my nerves grew steady, and it seemed as if I had taken a new lease on life. To-day I am a very happy woman because I am well."

Be guided by Mrs. Elizabeth McGuire's experience. Go to your druggist—now—and get a bottle of "Wincarnis." Remember that "Wincarnis" has been recommended by over 10,000 physicians, who have found it invaluable in such cases, and who have spoken or written in praise of the preparation.

POLITICAL CONFUSION

elections. Mr. Baldwin was pictured as introducing former Premier Asquith, Liberal leader, to Chequers. "This place is haunted," Baldwin was saying, with a wave of his hand to the background where sat comfortably in a big armchair the dim ghostly figure of David Lloyd George.

The suggestion often is heard that the eventual solution of the present chaos will be the reinstatement of Lloyd George in the direction of the nation's destinies, but that is only one of the many solutions discussed.

One fact stands forth clearly. It is that none of the people want another general election with its cost, turmoil and disturbance of business, so long as any arrangement of the Government can be devised to postpone it.

Lord Derby Mentioned.

The name of Lord Derby is coming to the front as possible Conservative leader in succession to Mr. Baldwin. Although the head of an ancient noble family and a great employer of labor, Derby is a popular man with all classes. He has a genial manner, passes as a typical, bluff, plain-spoken Englishman, and in politics is attributed with the methods of a peacemaker.

He has often played this part in party crises, and he was made Ambassador to France when Britain's relations with the French were at one of the most delicate stages since the war.

Lord Derby has one handicap as a candidate for the premiership in the fact that he is a member of the House of Lords. There has been no peer in the office of Prime Minister since Lord Roseberry, as Parliament has tended to become more democratic and the feeling has strengthened that the Premier should be a member of the Commons, where he can meet the direct representatives of the people in the rough-and-tumble of debate instead of delivering speeches in the Lords which would be more in the nature of formal announcements to the nation.

This disability has become stronger with the new alignment of parties. Labor is the principal opposition, and Labor has no representative in the House of Lords who could engage the Prime Minister in debate, or question him. This argument put Lord Curzon out of the running for the party leadership when Mr. Bonar Law retired. Curzon is not mentioned as a possible successor to Mr. Baldwin.

Need is Pressing.

But so pressing is the need for someone to carry on the Government that Lord Derby is a possibility on this occasion, despite his handicap. It is recognized after all that, even with the forbearance of the other parties and by avoiding raising questions in Parliament likely to cause strife, the Conservatives could hardly expect to continue for more than a year in office. Such a development is not unlikely, because in the first hours of perplexity over the situation no progress has been made toward any such coalition of parties as conduct business in the continental parties when there is no party that commands a majority.

The Labor party is in the peculiar position that its leaders apparently do not want to take office, even if they are asked; for one reason, some of them say their new party has not enough men experienced in public affairs to fill all the important offices which they would be compelled to fill. J. Ramsay MacDonald might decline the honor of forming a Government, if the course of events should bring the offer to him; then the opportunity might come to Mr. Asquith.

Baldwin's Choices.

The three courses from which Mr. Baldwin must choose are: To remain in office and await developments; to tender his resignation to the King and advise the King to summon another Conservative to form a Government, or to advise the King to summon the Labor leader.

In the event of the choice of the first course by the Prime Minister, the Conservatives could be overthrown immediately by the Laborites and Liberals combining on some vote against the Government; this they could easily do without any formal coalition, and in such case Ramsay MacDonald or Mr. Asquith would become Premier. The Liberals believe that protection has sidetracked the Conservative party for years, as it did before, and hope that the future belongs to the middle party, which is not associated with any radical plans of Labor. This might mean for them another chapter of Asquith Government, followed by the return of Lloyd George.

REPORTED PRINCE OF WALES WILL RENOUNCE THRONE

Refusal to Wed and Bourgeois Tastes Bring King's Censure on Prince.

PARIS, Dec. 10.—Renunciation of the British throne by the Prince of Wales has practically been decided upon, according to a sensational article by Louis Thomas in this afternoon's "Intransigeant," which says:

"After his return from India it was reported the Prince of Wales would renounce the throne, owing to poor health. Denial followed, but it is now remarked the denial was only that he would not renounce the throne on account of ill health.

"Meanwhile the Duke of York has been given guards of honor, usually only accorded the heir to the throne. Now the Duchess of York has been expressly forbidden by the King to dance in public restaurants, which is hard to explain otherwise than that she is one day to be queen.

"The reason for the King and Queen's decision seems to be the obstinate refusal of the Prince of Wales to marry, and also his 'bourgeoise tastes.'

"Also, while he was in Canada he promised to urge the Home Secretary to revise pension injustices, and when the latter protested that the Prince was exceeding his constitutional rights, the King summond the Prince to Buckingham Palace and lectured him severely. The Prince at that time is said to have retorted:

"'I have no intention of becoming King, but if I have got to be King, I will be a real one'."

CANADIANS IN CHICAGO MONEY

Many Prize - Winners at International Livestock Exposition—Sweepstakes in Wheat.

CHICAGO, Dec 10—The twenty-fourth annual International Livestock Exposition at the International Amphitheatre closed Saturday night following a record breaking week in which more than 11,000 blooded cattle, horses, sheep and swine passed in review and underwent judgment before at least 350,000 visitors. The program Saturday was devoted entirely to light horses from the local barns.

Prize winners were started on their way home last night. Among the list are many Canadians, for the Dominion showed up far better than it ever has before, taking many of the big awards in the cattle, sheep and horse department and the biggest sweepstakes in wheat in the hay and grain show. The wheat honor went to Major H. G. L. Strange, of Fenn, Alberta.

Draft Horses

A world's record for blue ribbon winners was made yesterday at the closing of the International Livestock Exposition when six lumbering draft horses made a clean sweep of all classes for draft horses. The record lies in the fact that all the horses were from the one stable of Wilson and Company.

McFarlane, a 10 year old Clydesdale gelding, took five straight victories out of five successive classes in which he was entered. In the singles, he outclassed more than 50 entries from the United States and Canada and took the world's grand championship for 1923 draft horses Then McFarlane and McDonald, a four-year-old Clydesdale gelding took first place when driven together McDonald took the reserve championship in the singles. In the classes of three, those two horses, aided by McGregor, took the first prizes and the blue ribbons for fours attached to a wagon was won by McFarlane, McDonald, Daranley and Donald. McFarlane and Burns took the ribbons in the tandem class.

NEXT CABINET MAY BE LABOR

In Event of Downfall of Baldwin Government G. Ramsay MacDonald May Be Called on to Form Cabinet.

LONDON, December 10 (Canadian Press) — Leaders of all political parties are in consultation within their own camps discussing how to bring order out of the present chaos so that some Government can be formed that can carry on.

If the Government should attempt to carry on under Baldwin or another and the Liberals refuse a vote of confidence, the King, it is generally held, would have no option under the British constitutional practice but to ask G. Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the next strongest party, to become Premier.

But while any definite statements are dangerous, it is considered certain that MacDonald would accept, move into Downing Street, form a Labour Cabinet, and then submit to defeat in the House in order to create the precedent of a Labour Government, and to encourage the rank and file of his party.

A hint that Labour would accept the King's summons, if it came, is contained in an editorial which the official Labour organ, the Daily Herald, published to-day.

It says, "Would it not be something fine, something rash, no doubt but something all the same, that would appeal to a sporting nation if the Labour Party said, 'Very good. We will take office. We are the only Party which has an unemployment policy. We are the only Party which has a foreign policy. We will take office and we will challenge the other Parties with our proposals. If they throw them out we can't carry them, but we shall not resign, save on a direct vote of censure, because we are convinced no one wants another general election for at least another twelve months."

Mr. Baldwin, who must decide whether to resign immediately or retain office for the month before Parliament meets, conferred yesterday with the Conservative leaders, and received a significant visit from Lord Stamfordham, King George's secretary.

The Prime Minister, who left later for Chequer's Court, will meet his Cabinet on Tuesday.

It's the Blade that Counts.

In the last quarter—score tied—everyone "on their toes"—each man on both teams straining for an advantage, and using his last ounce of energy toward one purpose—to "bulge" the net and score the winning "counter".

That's when the skate blade counts—it must have just the right "edge" that it has early in the game—It must grip the hard ice sufficiently to give you the speed advantage over your opponent.

In moments like this the skates are all-important—games have been won or lost on the efficiency or inefficiency of a single player's skates.

That's why, year after year, hockey players, whose names are almost household words, stick to STARR Skates with their correctly tempered blades—the blades that hold their "edge" long after ordinary skates are dull.

COUNCIL MUST NOT CUT ESTIMATES FORMULATED BY POLICE COMMISSION

Judge Ward Declares City Received the Benefit of Police Protection and Must Pay — Judgment For Chief Newhall With Costs.

APPEAL ENTERED

Chief Constable Samuel Newhall was successful in his suit against the City, according to the judgment handed down by His Honor Judge Ward late on Saturday night. Judge H. A. Ward came from Port Hope on Nobember 28 to hear the case in Division Court in the stead of His Honor Judge Huycke, who is a member of the Police Commission here.

R. R. Hall, K.C., acted for the Chief Constable and Joseph Wearing, city solicitor, and G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for the defendant city.

Judgment.

In this case, which came on for hearing at Peterboro on Wednesday, the 28th November, 1923, the plaintiff sued for $103.04 for half-month's salary and $25.50 for certain expenditures made by him as fully set out in statement of claim filed herein as Exhibit 1½.

The defendant Corporation declined to pay on the ground that the appropriation of the City Council for police purposes had become exhausted and that there was no fund available for payment.

An unfortunate difference appears to have arisen between the two corporate bodies, the City Council and the Board of Police Commissioners, as to their respective authority and power, evidently caused by the repeal of Section 363 S.S. 1 of Chapter 192, R.S.O. 1914 by Section 9, Chapter 58, 10 George V. Ontario Statutes, which amendment appears as Section 363 S.S. 1 of the Municipal Amendment Act, Chapter 72 1922 Ontario Statutes.

Under Chapter 192 R. S. O. the powers of the Board of Police Commissioners are defined; Section 359 directs that, in cities, the police force shall consist of a Chief Constable and as many constables and other officers and assistants as the Council shall deem necessary, but not less than the Board reports to be absolutely required. Section 360 provides that the police force shall be appointed by and hold office during the pleasure of the Board, etc.

Section 363 S.S. 1, since repealed, reads as follows: "The Council shall appropriate for and pay such remuneration to the members of the police force as the Board may determine and shall provide and pay, etc."

The amendment above referred to and now incorporated in the Municipal Amendment Act of 1922, Chapter 72, is Section 363 S.S. 1 and reads as follows: "The Board shall on or before the first day of March in each year prepare and submit to the Council for its consideration and approval, its estimate of all moneys required for the ensuing year to pay the remuneration of the members of the police force, and to provide and pay for all officers, watch-houses, watch-boxes, arms, accoutrements, clothing and other things for the accommodation, use and maintenance of the force."

The result of this amendment is that the power of fixing the remuneration of the police force is taken away from the Board of Commissioners of Police but not vested in any other authority and Council for the defendant contends that it rests with the City Council entirely what shall be paid for police protection and indeed that the City Council can legally withhold all supplies for the maintenance of a police force.

If this contention should hold under the existing statutory law as created by the amendment referred to then the usefulness of the Board of Police Commissioners is of very doubtful character, and the whole administration of the police force might as well be in the hands of the City Council, which result it was the intention of the original Act, creating the Board, to avoid.

Now as to the procedure adopted by the Police Board and the City Council for the current year: The plaintiff who is Chief Constable brought in his report to the Board of Police Commissioners for the year 1922, which is filed marked Exhibit No. 7.

On this report, at a meeting held on the 23rd February, 1923, the Board prepared and passed the estimates of expenditure for 1923 and fixed the amount at $28,843, and this estimate was duly forwarded to the City Council in compliance with the provisions of the statute. See Exhibit No. 1 filed.

At this meeting of the Board Mr. Mayor Taylor, a member of the Board, moved "that the police force be reduced by two men, and the estimated expenditure reduced by $3,000.00.

The motion was not seconded. The estimated expenditure was adopted on motion of His Honor Judge Huycke, seconded by Mr. Langley, Police Magistrate.

On the 5th March, 1923, the Finance Committee of the City Council reported as follows: "That the Police Department estimates be reduced to $25,000, and the Board of Commissioners of Police be so advised," and on the same day this report of the Finance Committee was adopted by the City Council.

On the 21st April, 1923, at a meeting of the Police Board, the action of City Council was considered and a resolution passed to the effect that the present Police staff was essential to the necessities of the city, and that the Board could not see its way to any reduction.

At the same meeting Mr. Mayor Taylor moved, seconded by Mr. Langley: "That the whole Board be a committee to meet the City Council in Committee of the Whole, on Monday evening, April 23rd."—Carried. These resolutions were forwarded to the City Council.

Resulting from this on May 27, 1923, the Committees of the Board and the City Council met and after discussion Judge Huycke and Mr. Langley retired. The Committee of the Whole of the City Council then took the matter up, when several resolutions were offered, and finally the following, moved by Ald. Fife, seconded by Ald. Myers was carried: "That a small committee be appointed to wait on the Police Commissioners to further consider the matter of the appropriation with a view to compromise."

Ald. Fife and Ald. Meyers then were appointed as a committee for the purpose above defined.

This committee, apparently, never functioned as on June 4, 1923, there appears as an extract from the minutes of council of that date the following:

"Ald. Fife presented a report of the Committee of the whole council. Moved By Ald. Fife, seconded by Ald. Myers, That the report be adopted.

Moved by Ald. Crowe, seconded by Ald. Phelan, in amendment, that Clause 3 appointing a committee to wait on the Board of Commissioners of Police regarding the police department appropriation be struck out."

The amendment carried, 6 voting for, and 5 against.

From a report of the Finance Committee adopted by the Council of the City of Peterboro, July 3, 1923, there is given the following recommendation. 3. "We recommend that the Chairman of the Commissioners of Police be written to and advised that in paying accounts for repairing the motor car and motor cycle it must be understood that the City Council is not prejudicing its position in regard to the amount appropriated by the Council for the purposes of the Police Department for this year."

These proceedings all appear in Exhibit No. 1—filed.

In constituting the Board of Commissioners of Police the Legislature, in its wisdom directed that its membership should consist of the County Judge, the Police Magistrate, and the Mayor of the City. Surely the County Judge and Police Magistrate are of all men in any community the most competent to judge of its requirements as to Police protection; they are constantly from their avocations in touch with the criminal element of the city, and thus better able to judge of the necessary force to cope with conditions as they exist.

The report of the Chief Constable and his evidence, are to my mind quite significant, showing as they do the work of the Force, and the action taken by the Board in the endeavor to meet the wishes of the majority of the Council:

Taking the latter first, the Chief Constable testified that early in July, of 1923, it was decided by the Board to reduce the force by dispensing with one Constable, and from his records he showed that crimes of a petty nature in the outskirts of the city for the four months previous to the dismissal of this constable numbered 27, and for the for the four months after, 91.

Then again the report shows stolen goods, $14,532.85; recovered by Police, $13,213.50; lost good, $4100.10, recovered by Police, $4028.81.

Cases under the O.T.A., 85.

See Exhibit No. 7. Pages 17 and 6.

Now as to the consideration of the estimates by the City Council under the provisions of Section 363 of the Act of 1922.

The City Council, a few days after the receipt of the estimates of the Police Board, by resolution, arbitrarily, so it seems to me, reduced the estimates to $25,000, a reduction of $3814, and this resolution was sent to the Police Board without any comment or suggestion as to how the estimates could be modified.

The Mayor, it is true, moved at the first meeting of the Police Board that the Police Force be reduced by two men, but the Board decided that this should not be done, and in this decision the Board acted entirely within the powers conferred upon it by the Statute.

On the 21st April, the Police Board took the initiative and passed a resolution appointing a committee to confer with a Committee of the Whole Council, and these committees met on the 23rd April, and although after conference between them the City Council Committee adopted a resolution appointing a small committee of its members to further confer with the Police Board yet when the report of the Committee of the Whole came before the Council the clause appointing the Committee for further conference was stricken out, and no further meeting took place.

Thus all attempts at a conference came from the Police Board, and the Council by a vote of 6 to 5 refused to recede from its position.

Was this the proper consideration enjoined by the Statute? I have no hesitation in finding that it was not.

It should be taken into consideration that conditions have changed materially in the last ten years; there is, without doubt, at the present time, a great deal of unrest, as an aftermath of the war, and consequently a large increase in crime of various kinds; there is also the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act, which even with the assistance of the Ontario Provincial Police, casts a heavy burden upon the City Police.

Under existing circumstances, therefore, I cannot agree with the contention that the City of Peterborough is over-policed.

I happen to have at hand the number of the police force of the City of Belleville, the population of which is about 12,500. That city has 1 Chief of Police, 2 sergeants, 4 constables, 1 plain clothes man and 1 police court clerk, a staff of nine. Belleville thus has one policeman for every 1,560 of its population.

The City of Peterborough, with a population of about 23,000, has 1 Chief of Police, 1 inspector, 4 sergeants, 1 detective, 9 constables and 1 police matron, a staff of 17. Peterborough thus has one constable for every 1,353 of its population.

The City of Toronto has a police force of 600 to look after a population of 540,000, or one policeman for each 900 of its population.

Now the whole question that arises in this action is, "are the members of the police force, who have served the City of Peterborough for the current year entitled to be paid?" and if they are so entitled, who is responsible for payment?

The City of Peterborough has, during that time, received the services of, in my opinion, a very efficient force, and is still receiving such service, and the citizens have the advantage of a valuable insurance covering their lives and property; the representatives of the citizens in the City Council contend that the city is not liable. Who then is to pay these men? Is it not reasonable to assume that those who have received the benefit should pay. I find that the Chief of Police of the City of Peterborough is entitled to his salary as fixed by the Board of Police Commissioners and to the amount of his necessary expenditure as passed by the Board.

In the absence of any protest by the City of Council as to the amount of remuneration of the Chief of Police, and in the absence of any provision, for the fixing of such remuneration, by the Legislature in the amendment of the Statutory Law in 1920, I think the logical conclusion must be that the Legislature did not intend to take away the power to determine the salaries from the Board of Police Commissioners, and leave it to the imagination as to where the power should vest—and in the absence of any provision of this kind, surely there must be that power and authority somewhere, and where could it be more safely placed than with the Board, constituted as it is.

Mr. Gordon, K.C., as counsel for the defendant in justification of the action of the Council, quoted Statute of Ontario, 1922, Cap. 72, Sec. 289, s.s. 1, which reads as follows:

"Except where otherwise provided "by this or any other Act, a corporation shall not incur any debt "the payment of which is not provided for in the estimates of the "current year, unless a by-law of "the council authorizing it has "been passed with the assent of the "electors."

And Section 298, s.s. 1, which reads as follows:

"The council of every municipality "shall, in each year, prepare estimates of all sums required for the "purposes of the municipality during such year, making due allowance for the cost of collection, "and for the abatement of taxes "and for taxes which may be collected."

I cannot see that this is of any particular help to the defendant, feeling as I do that a duty to provide for the estimates of the Board of Police Commissioners for the payment of the police force, imposed upon the City Council a duty to provide for payment.

In a case cited by Mr. Gordon—McMaster vs. London—1905 A.C. 426, in which the dictum is laid down "that the sanitary authorities must "use their statutory powers bona "fides and reasonably and if they so "act their discretion as to the mode "of acting cannot be interfered "with." There is no suggestion so far as I can see that the Board of Police Commissioners did not act bona fide and reasonably in its administration of police affairs. It seems to me quite clear that a duty to provide for the payment of the police force devolved upon the City Council, and the following cases cited by Mr. Hall, K.C., are to my mind strongly in support of that contention; Julius vs. Bishop of Oxford, 5 A.C. 225. In this case Lord Cairns says:

"That where a power is deposited "with a public officer for the pur"pose of being used for the bene"fit of persons who are specifical"ly pointed out, and with regard "to whom a definition is supplied "by the Legislature of the condi"tions upon which they are entitled "to call for its exercise, that pow"er ought to be exercised, and the "court will require it to be exer"cised."

Also Toronto School Board vs. The City of Toronto, 4 O.L.R., page 473, which says:

"The right of the school board in "preparing their estimate is to in"clude therein everything that, in "their best judgment, may be "needed to meet legitimate expen"diture—that is to say, expendi"ture upon objects or for purposes "within their lawful authority; and "their duty to the council is to "prepare it in such a manner as "to show generally what these pur"poses are and what is required in "respect of each. The right and "duty of the council is to examine "the estimate so far as to ascertain "that it is for purposes intra vires "the school board. If an item or "class of items is clearly for a pur"pose for which the Board is not "authorized by law to expend "money, it is the right and duty "of the council to reject it. But "beyond this in my opinion the "Council cannot go."

"The conclusoin to be deduced "from the authorities is, that where "power is given to public officers, "in the language of the Act before "us, or in equivalent language, "whenever the public interest or "individual rights call for its exer"cise the language used though "permissive in form, is in fact per"emptory. What they are empow"ered to do for a third person the "law requires shall be done. The "power is given not for their bene"fit but for his, it is placed with "the depositary to meet the de"mands of right and to prevent "the failure of justice. It is given "as a remedy to those entitled to "invoke its aid and who would oth"erwise be remediless. In all such "cases it is held that the intent of "the Legislature, which is the test, "was not to devolve a mere discre"tion but to impose a positive and "absolute duty."

Reference is made to the case of Julius vs. The Bishop of Oxford, in Craies' Statute Law, Second Edition, page 272—and McDougal vs. Paterson (1851), 6 Ex, 337. Note—"It was held that this enactment was not permissive, "but obligatory." And—"when," said the court, "a Statute "confers an authority to do a judi"cial act in a certain case, it is im"perative on those so authorized to "exercise the authority when the case "arises, and its exercise is duly ap"plied for by a party interested and "having the right to make the appli"cation."

It seems to me that the duty to pay the plaintiff was imposed upon the City Council and that it had the necessary authority to provide the necessary funds for such payment, and that such authority should have been exercised, or should be exercised.

I find therefore from consideration of the evidence, and the cases cited, that the defendant corporation is liable to the plaintiff for the amount claimed by him and that judgment should go accordingly.

There will be judgment for the plaintiff against the defendant corporation for $129.54, with costs (including a counsel fee of $25.00 to the plaintiff.)

DATED at Peterborough this 8th day of December, 1923.

H. A. WARD,
Judge.

Stay 15 days.

Appeal Issued

Acting on instructions from the City Council, Mr. Wearing has entered an appeal in the Supreme Court of Ontario, on the following grounds:

In The Supreme Court of Ontario
In the matter of an appeal from the First Division Court of the County of Peterborough Between:
Samuel Newhall, Plaintiff:
and
The Corporation of the City of Peterborough, Defendant

Take notice that the Defendant hereby appeals to a Divisional Court of the Appellate Division of this Honourable Court, from the judgment dated the 8th day of December 1923, of His Honour Judge Ward, siting for and in the stead of and at the request of His Honour Judge Huycke the Judge of the First Division Court of the County of Peterborough, and will move to set the same aside and that Judgment be entered for the Defendant with costs against the Plaintiff upon the following grounds:—

1. That there was no evidence upon which the Defendant could be found liable.

2. That the learned Judge was in error when he found that the Board of Police Commissioners of the City of Peterborough had authority to exceed the expenditures beyond the amount which the Council of the City of Peterborough considered and approved in the estimates.

3. That the learned Judge erred in his interpretation of Section 363 sub section 1, of the Consolidated Municipal Act, 1922 and that he should have found that the moneys appropriated and levied by By-law for the purpose of the Board of Police Commissioners, having become exhausted by the expenditures of the said Board, that no liability attached to the said corporation for any expenditures made without the authority of the said Council.

4 That the Plaintiff had no claim against the Defendant Corporation for salary as the Board of Police Commissioners had expended the appropriation of $25,000.00 which they knew were all the moneys appropriated and available for their purposes instead of reserving sufficient to pay salaries of constables.

5. That the Defendant corporation is prohibited by Section 289 of the Consolidated Municipal Act 1922 from incurring the debt for which the Plaintiff was given Judgment.

7. That the approval of the estimates of the Board of Police Commissioners by the Defendant Corporation's Council is a condition precedent to the right of the Plaintiff to recover and such approval was not given to estimates beyond $25,000.00.

8. That the learned Judge erred when he found there was a duty imposed upon the Defendant Corporation to supply all moneys required by the Board of Police Commissioners.

9. That the learned Judge erred in admitting and considering evidence of numbers of police for service in Municipalities of various sizes as this was outside the issue and caused the learned Trial Judge to have an obscured view of the issue, namely—whether it was ultra vires of the Board of Police Commissioners to give directions to pay the Plaintiff when the appropriation for the Board of Police Commissioners to the knowledge of the Commission had been exhausted.

10. That the learned Judge erred in finding that the Plaintiff had the right to proceed by action when the only right existing was, that a mandatory order might have been applied for commending the Council to increase the levy by By-law to an amount which the Board of Police Commissioners considered and certified as absolutely required for their purposes.

Dated this 11th day of December 1923.

JOSEPH WEARING,
Solicitor for the Defendant Corporation.

To the above named Plaintiff and To R. R. Hall, Esq., K.C., his solicitor.

Driver Arrested on a Charge of Manslangeter

TORONTO, Dec. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Injuries received on Saturday proved fatal to Mrs. Dorothy Colt, aged 35, who was knocked down in front of her husband's store on Queen West by a motor truck. Fred. Clyma, the driver of the truck, was arrested on the charge of manslaughter.

Mrs. Colt was sweeping the sidewalk in front of her husband's shoe store on Queen Street. The driver, the police stated, swerved to the south side of the street to avoid crashing into the rear of a street car. In doing so, the truck broke down a Hydro pole and a telegraph pole, then went on over the sidewalk and struck Mrs. Colt.

At Your Widow's Service

THE holder of any Imperial Life policy may direct that after his death the Company shall act as trustee of the proceeds of his insurance, and guarantee its safety. For instance:

He may specify that interest only on the proceeds shall be paid to his widow during her lifetime leaving the principal sum intact for distribution to other dependents after her death.

And he may arrange that the interest shall be paid her in either monthly, quarter-yearly, half-yearly or yearly instalments.

While in the calculation of the instalments a definite rate of interest is guaranteed, such payments in the case of participating policies will be increased by sharing in the interest which the Company earns in excess of this guaranteed rate.

This, and several other plans of settlement under which the Company's financial services are available to the beneficiaries under Imperial policies, are explained fully in our new booklet, "Safeguard Your Legacy."

It's most interesting. Write for a free copy — to-day — while you are in good health. To-morrow you may be uninsurable.

JUDGMENT WAS READY IN THE POLICE ACTION

His Honor Judge Huycke Acceded to Request for Speedy Judgment—Postponed on Protest of City Solicitor.

UNUSUAL MOVE

Acting under a section of the Division Court rules which permits the delivery of speedy judgments in cases where there is no defence, His Honor Judge Huycke was prepared at 10.30 this morning to deliver judgment in the case of the members of the police force against the Corporation of the City of Peterborough, in which they sue for their salaries unpaid. Joseph Wearing, however, acting for the city, protested, and succeeded in having the delivery of the judgment deferred until 2.30 this afternoon, when it was further postponed until Thursday at 10.30.

Mr. Wearing claimed the matter is now sub judice, since Judge Ward's decision has been appealed and the final ruling is unknown. His contention is that this court should make no ruling until the Court of Appeal has ruled on the similar case which is now before it.

On the re-opening of court this afternoon Mr. Hatton repeated his motion for judgment. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appearing with Mr. Wearing protested. The notice of action, he said, was served on Saturday afternoon, and under Division Court decision that was excluded, being the day of service. Sunday was excluded also by the rules, and today, being the day of return, is likewise excluded. There was therefore no reasonable notice.

In the second place, Mr. Gordon said, the affidavits in the case were sworn under the solicitor for the parties, which is contrary to Division Court Rules.

Regarding this His Honor Judge Huycke expressed doubt. "You may be right," he said, "but I think you are wrong."

Mr. Gordon said he had not been able to find any later ruling.

Same Defence.

"What is your defence?" His Honor asked.

"The defence is very much the same as in Newhall versus the City of Peterborough," Mr. Gordon replied. "It is that a certain appropriation was allowed by the city for certain purposes and has been exhausted—"

"I have read the judgment," the Court interposed.

Referring to the question raised by Mr. Gordon regarding the swearing of affidavits before the solicitor appearing, Mr. Hatton said he had considered it, but did not look into it closely.

"In nine cases out of ten," he said, "they are sworn to before the solicitor. Everything was pretty much hurried, and I am not sure about it."

His Honour: "The best thing to do is to adjourn this until Thursday morning at 10.30, and if you deem it wise, you may have these affidavits re-sworn."

On a protest from Mr. Gordon, His Honour remarked that the Court has some jurisdiction in the matter, and his ruling would stand.

Unusual Proceeding.

Commenting on the unusual feature of the case, Mr. Wearing told The Examiner this speedy judgment section is not invoked once in twenty years, and is, in any event, only applicable where there is no defence. In this case, he declared, the city has a defence, and is entitled to the notice that will permit of its preparing its case for presentation: Notice having been served late on Saturday, there was no opportunity to prepare this, and information as to the imminence of judgment was not conveyed to him until this morning.

Canadian Stock Exchange And Mines — New York Stock Exchange and Curb Prices

Today's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, N. Y. Dec. 10.—(United Press)—Developments over the week end cast little new light on the stock market situation and prices opened under the influence of the same factors which governed last week's fluctuations.

Such a remarkable reversal as Delaware and Hudsons $1,630,000 surplus in the September quarter against a deficit of $1,957,000 in the corresponding period last year, directed speculative attention toward the dividend pricing rails and this class of stocks led the whole list in the early dealings. Atchison gained a full point to 98 1-4 and good advances were scored by N.Y. Central, Reading and other representative issues, waves of profit taking swept over the general list in first half hour, creating reactionary tendencies in Baldwin, Tobacco Products and other rail favorites, but this irregularity failed to interfere with the confident tone of the general list and the forward movement went ahead in various groups. The rubbers shares were strong, reflecting the estimates that inventories of tire casings were at the lowest point of the year, surplus castings of inner tubes and solids have been declining for five months, production has been held at a comparatively low level, three of the leading motor manufacturers of Detroit say the auto industry in 1924 will equal if not exceed the prosperity of 1923, if this is true, there is bound to be a sharp improvement in all industries affiliated in one way or another with the automobile. Further realizing took place at the start of the second hour, but the manner in which it was absorbed demonstrated that the market had conserved its technical strength in satisfactory style while the railroad and industrial averages were climbing last week to the highest levels seen since Jun, on the whole, the action of the general list suggested that the constructive interests were pleased to see time taken for the consolidation of the markets present position before an additional advance is undertaken while this was true of the main body of stocks several specialties moved into new high ground on the movement, one of these was Otis Elevator which sold at 142 against last week low of 134 reflecting reports that the $8 dividend would be increased next year.

TWO ACCIDENTS HERE SATURDAY

Vera Gibbons Struck by Car on George Street.

While crossing George street, at 7.55 on Saturday night, Vera Gibbons, aged 5½ years, was struck by an automobile, the front wheel of which passed over her shoulders. It is not thought that her injuries are serious.

Vera Gibbons, accompanied by three other small children, and their aunt, Myrtle Taylor, were crossing George street at Brock street on the north side going east, when the auto, driven by Stanley Curtis, R. R. 8, Peterboro, approached west on Brock street and turned north on George.

The little girl broke loose from the remainder of the children and darted in front of the car. She was knocked down and the front wheel passed over her shoulder.

The car was travelling slowly it was said and was stopped immediately the wheel passed over the child, who was pulled from underneath the car by Joseph Hunter, 213 Bethune St., and driven to Dr. Morgan's office by Curtis.

Hunter said the car was travelling at 3 to 5 miles an hour, and that the driver sounded his horn before turning the corner.

Detective Sergeant W. E. Meagher and Detective W. J. Carey investigated the accident.

Cars Collide.

Joseph E. Judge, cashier for the Coca Cola Co., residing at 273 Rubidge street, drew up his car by the Minicola store on George street at 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon to deliver goods.

After unloading the boxes he turned out to proceed north on George street, when O. De LaPlante drove past, and turned towards the sidewalk in front of Judges car to avoid a street car. This forced Mr. Judge to swerve towards the sidewalk again when he struck H. Zack's car which was parked there. The last named car was slightly damaged. The car driven by Mr. LaPlante, who lives at 87 Lock street, was not damaged.

TURKS' BAD AIM SAVED SITUATION

PARIS, Dec. 10.—United Press—Bad aim of a Turkish battery which through a misunderstanding fired on a Greek refugee ship under the protection of the American Near East Relief Organization, prevented an unpleasant incident according to dispatches from Smyrna.

Two thousand Greeks who had been residents in Turkey were on board the vessel being repatriated under the exchange of populations plan. They were under the protection of P. C. Jacquet, director of the Near East Relief who has been aiding the great migratory movement. As the ship entered Smyrna the Turkish commander of the shore forts unaware of the vessels identity ordered the battery to fire a blank charge to halt the vessel. Apparently the ship did not halt for two solid shots were then fired, narrowly missing the ship.

On learning the duty of the transport, the Turkish officers apologized for the incident.

There is little demand for menageries in Germany, though the collection of wild animals founded by the late Carl Hagerbeck at Stellingen, near Hamburg, is still supplying the world with specimens.

sign, but the intimation that this means a summons to MacDonald is bringing upon Mr. Baldwin great pressure ot only from his own party but from moderate liberals.

Apparently the plans of those who were plotting for a Central Party Coalition have been frustrated and these forces which dread the formation of the Labor Government are playing for time. Mr. MacDonald of course could not form a stable Government from his own party and Labor is apparently determined not to enter any coalition. This would seem to indicate a Labor policy of forming a government with a program that would invite defeat. The votes of the Conservatives and Liberals and then appeal to the public on definite Labor issues in another election as soon as possible.

Britain dreads another election at this time and undoubtably the formation of the stop-gap ministry to carry on for a few months would be popular.

UNCROWNED IN BED

"Ye think a fine lot of Shakespeare?"

"I do, sir."

"An' ye think he was mair clever than Rabbie Burns?"

"Why, there's no comparison between them."

"Maybe no; but ye tell us it was Shakespeare who wrote 'Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown.' Now Rabbie would never hae written sic nonsense as that."

"Nonsense, sir?"

"Aye, just nonsense. Rabbie would hae kent fine that a king or queen either disna gang to bed wi' a croon on their head. He'd hae kent they hang it over the back o' a chair."

"BLACK OXEN"

by GERTRUDE ATHERTON

Published by arrangement with Associated First National Pictures, Inc. Watch for the screen version produced by Frank Lloyd with Corinne Griffith as Countess Zattiany.

(Copyright, 1923, by Gertrude Atherton.)

He had seated himself a little to the right and behind her. He saw her lids droop and her hands move restlessly. Then, as the curtain went down and Farrar was accepting the customary plaudits, her eyes opened and moved over the rich and beautiful auditorium with a look of hungry yearning. This was too much for Clavering and he demanded abruptly:

"Why do you look like that? Have you ever been here before?"

She turned to him with a smile. "What a question! . . . . But opera, both the silliest and the most exalting of the arts, is the Youth of Life, its perpetual and final expression. And when the house is dark I always imagine it haunted by the ghosts of dead opera singers, or of those whose fate is sadder still. Does it never affect you in that way?"

"Can't say it does. . . . But . . . . I vaguely remember—some ten years ago a young singer with a remarkable voice sang Marguerite once on that stage and then disappeared overnight . . . . lost her voice, it was said. . . . "

She gave a low choking laugh. "And you think I am she? Really!"

"I think nothing, but that I am here with you—and that in another moment I shall want to sit on the floor—Oh, Lord!"

The house was a blaze of light. It looked like a vast gold and red jewel box, built to exhibit in the fullness of their splendor the most luxurious and extravagant women in the world. And it was filled tonight from coifed and jeweled orchestra to highest balcony, where plainer people with possibly jeweled souls clung like flies. Not a box was empty. Clavering's glance swept the parterre, hoping it would be occupied for the most part by the youngest set, less likely to be startled by the resemblance of his guest to the girl who had sat among their grandmothers when the opera house was new. But there were few of the very young in the boxes. They found their entertainment where traditions were in the making, and dismissed the opera as an old superstition, far too long-winded and boring for enterprising young radicals.

Against the red backgrounds he saw the austere and homely faces of women who represented all that was oldest and best in New York Society, and they were their haughty bones unchastened by power. There were many more of the succeeding generation, of course, many more whose ancestry derived from gold not blood, and they made up in style and ritual what they lacked in pulchritude. Lack of beauty in the parterre boxes was as notorious as the "horseshoe" itself, Dame Nature and Dame Fortune, rivals always, having been at each other's throats some century and three-quarters ago, and little more friendly when the newer aristocracy of mere wealth was founded. All the New York Society Beauties were historical, the few who had survived the mere prettiness of youth entering a private Hall of Fame while still alive.

It had begun! Clavering fell back, folded his arms and set his teeth. First one pair of opera glasses in the parterre, then another, then practically all were levelled at Mrs. Oglethorpe's box. Young men and old in the omnibus box remained in their seats. Very soon white shoulders and black in the orchestra chairs began to change their angle, attracted by the stir in the boxes. That comment was flowing freely, he made no doubt. In the boxes on either side of him the occupants were staring less openly, but with frequent amazed side glances and much whispering. Madame Zattiany sat like an idol. She neither sought to relieve what embarrassment she may have left—if she felt any! thought Clavering—by talking to her escort nor by gazing idly about the house comparing other women's gowns and crowns with her own. She might have been a masterpiece in a museum.

A diversion occurred for which Clavering at least was grateful. The door opened and Mr. Dinwiddie entered, limping and leaning on a cane. He looked pale and worried. Clavering resigned his seat and took the one still further in the rear. But the low-pitched dialogue came to him distinctly.

"Is this prudent?" murmured Dinwiddie, as he sat himself heavily beside her. "There will be nothing else talked of in New York tomorrow. So far there have only been rumors. But here! You look like Mary Ogden risen from the dead. There's a rumor, by the way, that she is dead."

"She was alive the last time I heard from Vienna. But why imprudent? Mr. Clavering told me of your kind concern, but I assure you that I am neither a political nor a marital refugee."

"But you have a secret you wish to keep. Believe me, you can do so no longer. The Sophisticates are generous and casual. They take you on your face value and their curiosity is merely human and good-natured. But this! In Jane Oglethorpe's box! It is in the nature of an invasion. You hardly could have done more if you had forced yourself into a drawing-room uninvited. You must either come out tomorrow and tell them who you are, establish yourself . . . or . . . or——"

"Well," Madame Zattiany was smiling, and, probably, the most serene person in the house.

"I—I—think you had better go back to Europe. I must be frank. Anything less would be cowardly. You interest me too much. . . . But I can only suppose that your secret is of the sort that if discovered—and they will discover it!—would cause you grave embarrassment."

"You mean if I am Mary Zattiany's illegitimate daughter?"

"I don't think they would have minded that if you had brought letters to them from Mary asking them to be kind to you—And if you had made a good marriage. But to have it flung in their faces like this—they will never forgive you."

"And you think I am Mary Zattiany's daughter?"

"I—yes—I think I have gone back to my original theory. But there must be something behind. She never would have let you come over here with a letter only to Trent. She knew that she could rely on many of her old friends. No people in the world are more loyal to their own than these old New Yorkers."

"And suppose she did give me letters—and that I had not been interested enough to present them?"

RADIO NEWS

One of the easiest ways to start an argument among radio enthusiasts is to broach the subject of aerials.

There is no end to the different opinions held by radio amateurs as to which type of aerial will give the best results.

Some like the inverted "L," others favor the "T," which there are thousands who pin their faith to the single wire, multiple wire, indoor loop or some aerial of their own design.

For every type can be found strenuous advocates who are quite prepared to become almost oratorical in defence of their pet fancy.

Even radio engineers are not unanimous in favoring any particular design, but, generally speaking, their experience leads them to believe that almost any type of outdoor, grounded aerial will give better results for less expenditure than an indoor loop.

The indoor loop, while it has many backers among amateurs, has one defect, according to authorities on the subject. That defect is the fact that the amount of energy picked out of the air is very considerably less than in the case of an outdoor, grounded aerial.

Because of this fact it is undoubtedly true that to get the best results from the use of an indoor loop much more elaborate and expensive receiving apparatus is essential. With an indoor loop additional amplification is necessary, and this, as every radio enthusiast knows, means that the operation of a receiving set is more costly and complicated.

With radio manufacturers bending every effort to make receiving apparatus more simple to operate, it does not seem likely that the indoor loop aerial is destined to gain many adherents among the trained men who make the study of radio their life-work.

The only possible advantage of an indoor loop is the fact that its use does away with wires outside buildings, according to radio engineers. This is a feature that would undoubtedly appeal to department house dwellers. However, it is pointed out by authorities on the subject, this same result can be achieved by the use of special plugs which screw into the light socket and make the electric light circuit an aerial. These plugs may be used without having to purchase equipment of a costly or complicated nature, they state.

The Crow of Croup A Warning To All Mothers

Croup starts with a dry cough and rattling in the throat; after which the croup crow gives warning of the diseases. The child, after tossing restlessly about, will start up with a flushed face, protuding eyeballs, and a distressing look of terror and anxiety. There is a struggle for breath, and the expectoration of the mucous matter is so difficult to get rid of that the effort appears to threaten strangulation.

On the first sign of the "croupy crow" mothers should administer Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and thus give the child prompt and permanent relief, and perhaps the life saved by taking this precaution.

Mrs. H. A. Langhorn, Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"My little boy was very bad with the croup and I could not get anything to relieve him until I tried Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I cannot praise it too highly for the relief it gave him."

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

A house should be bought on the basis of value, not merely because it has certain attractive conveniences.

For the average couple starting out in life, a house is THE big investment. It is usually the first goal.

Women are often inclined to judge the value of a house by little conveniences, and, of course, these are important. However, there is no reason to pay two or three times what they are worth.

A reliable real estate man is always willing to estimate the cost of such conveniences if given a chance to do so, yet many a man, or his wife, will rush ahead and pay $2,000 or $3,000 more to get a sunken bathtub, built-in buffet, and open fireplace, or other conveniences that may have cost only $500.

In purchasing anything as important as a home, care should be taken to see that no one capitalizes sentiment to your disadvantage. Tomorrow, 'Money at Work' will bring out six main points to be considered in valuing a house.

There are at least six main points to consider in placing a value on a house.

1. The first consideration is, of course, location. Is there good transportation? Are there schools near by? Are the butcher, baker, and grocer handy?

2. What is the value of the real estate? Is the lot a choice one in the district or not?

3. What is the trend of real estate values in the neighborhood? Are they inflated? This is important, since it is the land and not the house that must bring any real appreciation in value.

4. Is the house honestly and economically constructed or was it thrown together by a poor builder?

5. What kind of neighbors are likely to move in? Is any tenement or other undesirable district moving towards the property?

6. Finally, what protection is there against annoyances?

These are not all the factors which must be considered, but they are probably the most important ones.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

A DOZEN EYES AND NEVER A NOSE

"There he stood 'midst mud and stones."

This was the next riddle the Riddle Lady asked:

"As I was going to Saint Ives,
I met a person with seven eyes,
Seven eyes but never a head,
'Good-day, my friend' I promptly said.

"There he stood midst mud and stones,
He had no blood and he had no bones,
His skin was brown, his flesh was white,
And yet he was a goodly sight.

"'I can't shake hands, good sir' said he,
'For hands I've none as you can see,
Nor feet, nor head, nor legs, nor arms,
I've few, or none, of beauty's charms.

"'But I can ask you out to dine,
For baked or fried I'm quite divine.
I'm just as toothsome boiled or mashed,
While some prefer me creamed or hashed.

"'But if you care to try my flavor,
First kindly do me one poor favor,
Take out my eyes and plant them deep,
They'll never know—they're all asleep'

"I took him home—I begged his pardon,
His eyes I planted in my garden.
Now what grew there, do you suppose,
With dozens of eyes and never a nose?'

"What was it?' asked the Riddle Lady with a twinkle in here ye.

"Was it something to eat?' asked Tommy Tucker, looking up from his piece.

"Yes," said the Riddle Lady. "They use it sometimes to put in your white bread when they bake it.

"Do they put it in pie-crust?' asked Jack Horner.

"No, I never heard of them doing that, she remarked.

The Baker Man kept muttering to himself, "Yeast, flour, hops, milk and shortening—yeast, flour, hops, milk, shortening and salt. No, that can't be it—none of them can be it Say, Missez Riddle Lady, are you sure you know how to make bread?'

"Sure I do' she declared.

Nancy and Nick thought and thought. Nancy and watched Nora, the cook, at home many times before she and Nick had started on travels into Fairlyland. Suddenly it popped into her head—what it was. But she never said a word. She and Nick had won so many prizes, she wanted to give the Riddle Land people a chance.

"I know I know' cried the Baker Man suddenly. "What a dummy I've been not to guess before It's a potato, of course'

"Right' said the Riddle Lady. "Dick Red Cap, please see that a bushel of potatoes is delivered to the Baker Man at once.'

MR. SHEAN GETS THIRD PARTNER

Ed. Gallagher's Positively Married to Ann Luther, Pretty Film Actress.

NEW YORK, Dec. —

"Oh Mr. Gallagher! Oh Mr. Gallagher."

"Well, what's on your mind this morning, Mr Shean?"

"All the people in the place look at me with doleful face,

"And they say I've last my partner to a queen."

"Why Mr. Shean, why Mr. Shean, I really do not know what they can mean.

"Where I had a pal in you, now of partners I have two."

"Absolutely Mr. Gallagher."

"Postively, Mr. Shean."

"Ed." Gallagher, of the team of Gallagher and Shean, acted the last line of their famous song yesterday when, in all the solemnity possible in a hotel sun-parlor, he stood up to be married to Ann Luther, motion picture actress.

Judge Tied Knot

Judge Albert S. Mead, very important and awesome, stood before the couple at the Pickwick Arms, at Greenwich, and asked the time honored question.

"Do you take this woman to be your lawful wedded wife, to love, honor and cherish through sickness and health, joy and sorrow till death do you part?"

Said Mr. Gallagher:

"Absolutely, Mr. —er, I mean, of course."

Ann Luther, a blushing and smiling bride, grinned, but she could hardly contain outright laughter when, asked if he would endow her with all his worldly goods, Mr. Gallagher replied:

"Positively."

The wedding was small but gay.

SIMPLE SIMONS IN THE GHURCH ARE DENOUNCED

In Thirteenth Anniversary Service in Knox Church the Pastor Tells Luke Warm People to Get Out.

CATCH THEM AGAIN

Packed to the doors with what was said by the officials to be the largest congregation in its history, Knox Presbyterian Church last night celebrated the thirteenth anniversary of its opening. Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, pastor of the church, occupied the pulpit, and W. R. McCutcheon, a concert baritone of Hamilton, was the special soloist for the occasion.

The church was honored last night by the presence of Miss Dickson,who with Mrs. W. Hall, was instrumental in starting the Sunday school, which was the origin of the present thriving congregation. Half a century ago these earnest ladies secured the use of a stable on Aylmer street and there opened a mission Sunday school.

The present fine church in its 13 years of existence, has been favored with the ministry of outstanding men. Rev. H. J. Keith, now of Winnipeg, was the first to minister there, followed by Rev. J. A. MacKenzie, who answered a call to Guelph this year. The present incumbent, Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, took up his duties in September, and has already endeared himself to his congregation.

Simple Simons.

In his address last night on "Simple Simons in the Church," Mr. Mackinnon struck hard and often at luke warm adherents of the church. Basing his remarks on Luke 5:4, the pastor called attention to the feeling of failure that overtakes individuals and churches.

"People say the Christian Church is a pretty sorry failure when after 2000 years since it launching the world finds itself to-day in the situation which you and I know to obtain. Why is this failure, if failure it has been, and to a large extent we have honestly to confess there has been failure in the Christian church

Remarking that in the case of the fishermen referred to in his text it was not a case of inexperience or inexpert workmanship, or unseasonable work or laziness, the speaker said it seemed strange to find men who are experts in their business and industrious workers confessing failure.

Applying the text to the Christian Church, he said the Church seems to be extraordinarily busy and yet to be a failure. "If the church is a failure, taken as a whole, we know it is not because God's power is not available nor because he is not ready to redeem the orld from the hell into redeem the world from the hell into a brighter era where the will of God will be done in the individual, social and international lives of men and nations."

Power of the Church.

"The man who is fishing too near the shore and too close to the surface is a Simple Simon in the church" declared Mr. Mackinnon. "There are to many Simple Simons in the church and very often the Simple Simon philosophy prevails — they are afraid to launch out, they want one foot on the shore and the other in the boat.

In an aside, Mr. Mackinnon remarked that the Simple Simon in the church is better than the one outside. The latter is living on the products of the Christian Church throughout the ages. Hope for the world to-day lies in the men and women who have some contact with the church. "But for them," declared the speaker, "the world would be a greater hell than it is."

Too many people consider the church a nursery in which they can be comforted, rather than an arena for service. "We do not want and will not have a nursery for men and women who should be grown up adults in the Christian faith. In this church at least do not expect that your minister will go in and out nursing you when you should be helping the young in the Christian faith to grow up."

"Do you expect the Church to be a fine comfortable social club? Or do you mean business? If you don't mean business then step out of the water and we will try to get you again. If you do mean business, get in with your whole soul; launch out and help your Church."

County Council

Warden George Smith tendered the members of the County Councils for Northumberland and Durham and the county officials a banquet at the Durham Hotel here on Wednesday evening, which was very much enjoyed. Mr. Thomas Green, host, put on an excellent supper which was followed by the usual toasts.

It is now stated that other parts of the united Counties of Northumberland and Durham may be similarly dealt with in regard to reforestation as has Haldimand Township.

The committee appointed by the county councils, of which Councillor Fowlds is chairman, obtained options on 600 acres of land at $6.00 an acre; 100 acres at $4.00 an acre; 200 acres at $5.00 an acre, and 100 acres at $8.00 an acre, it is stated, making an average price of $5.90.

After the counties have done their part in purchasing the land, the government will look after its establishment and maintenance a s a forest reserve. They will supply the fences, the necessary buildings, supply and pay a caretaker.

The oldest forestry plantation set out in this province is stated to be now also said to be in a flourishing condition. About 1,200 trees are planted to an acre, in rows six feet apart, and with trees six feet from each other in the rows.

Although there was only about 900 acres in Haldimand provided for in the report given, the committee has in view it is understood, another half section, which, it is expected, can be bought at a similar price to the other lands upon which options were obtained.

Mr. Osland Asks Damages

The recent accident which took place near Canton, when a threshing machine belonging to Mr. Osland dropped through a bridge in the creek, has led to a request being preferred to the County Councils from Mr. Osland's solicitor asking the council for $1,800 for his client because of the loss of his engine and $200 for costs or personal injuries. The matter was referred to the roads committee.

POOR FISH IS RIGHT! NIGHT PRIVACY'S GONE

ELYRIA, Ohio, Dec. 10.—Pity the poor fish. New even their night privacy is gone. And all because Oscar Haserodt, local sportsman, would rather fish than sleep, Haserodt has invented an illuminated bob ber, a floating cork with an electric light attachment.

This has opened a field for night fishing. It has also equipped the Husbands of the World with another alibi. Which is beside the main point.

The festive fish is supposed to be a night prowler, a cagy one, too. In the past he made a sneaky practice of nibbling bait off hooks under the cover of darkness and gliding away in safety, chuckling, probably, to himself.

So surreptitious were the movements of the marauder that the man in the boat was unable to detect that he had a bite. But now the night night fisherman has the upper hand or hook, for the moment Mr. Fish strikes at the bait, a gleam of light flare up through the water, and the fight is on. It lights when he bites.

Haserodt conceived the electric bobber idea while on a recent trip in the Michigan lakes, and with the aid of a plain cork and a tiny battery, completed the article.

REV. T.W. BUCKLEE MET DEATH SUNDAY

Believed to Have Fallen From His Motorboat

BRACEBRIDGE, Dec. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Almost at the spot which last year nearly cost him his life, Rev. T. W. Bucklee, rector of Port Carling Anglican Church, fell from his motor-boat yesterday afternoon and was drowned. Mr. Bucklee, whose charges included a number of surrounding missions, was returning from a visit to his station at Gregory when the tragedy occurred. No one witnessed the accident.

It is believed that the engine of the craft stalled and that the accident occurred when Mr. Bucklee was endeavoring to start it.

Just a year ago Mr. Bucklee was driving from Gregory over the ice when his rig fell into an ice hole. He was rescued, but his immersion resulted in a long illness.

GERMANS AND FRENCH PLAYED GAME SOCCER

MAYENCE, Germany, Dec. 10. — "We are glad to meet you in sport and forget politics," was the greeting of the captain of a German soccer club in introducing ten other members of his team to the captain of a team composed of French civilians stationed here when yesterday, for the first time since 1914, German and French athletes met in competition.

"Sports make brothers of us all," responded the captain of the French players, and the members of both teams warmly shook hands.

Both teams played in keen rivalry, and a great spirit of sport was evinced by the immense concourse of German and French spectators in the stands, who joined in applauding with impartiality the good plays of each team. At the conclusion of the match, which was won by the French, five goals to nothing, the two teams cheered each other.

SERBIA TO CARRY OUT OBLIGATIONS

SOFIA, December 10. — "We will carry out all our promises and obligations to the great powers and to our neighboring states," said King Bosis at the opening of parliament, yesterday.

Looking directly toward the diplomatic gallery, where sat the entire corps, the monarch continued: "But if we have obligations we also have rights conferred on us by treaties, which we expect will be respected."

Boris received a great ovation; even the Communist deputies joined in the applause.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT.

MANY THRILLS IN "FAMOUS MRS. FAIR

Spectacular Scenes in Fred Niblo Production of Stage Success

Although Fred Niblo's picturization of the great American play, "The Famous Mrs. Fair," at the Regent Theatre, deals with the lives of persons moving in the highest social circles, this Metro-Louis B. Mayer production has more than enough thrills and good, fast action to keep it from being confused with the ordinary tea party plot.

Blending into the main theme of James Forbes' famous stage creation and affording exciting contrast to the quietly tense developents of the story are a number of big melodramatic scenes which will bring a thrill to the more blase of theatregoers.

Probably the most spectacular event in the Fred Niblo production is a race in dead of night between a through passenger train and high-powered roadster. Cullen Landis, at the wheel, took several chances in getting realism for the screen. Roaring along at breakneck speed on the state highway that parallels the railroad trcks in Santa Barbara County, dodging cars along the route making sharp turns on mountain roads, scaling steep grades, Mr. Landis gave the cameraman something to talk about.

Flirting again with fate in his road ster, Mr. Landis, in another episode of the picture, skids his car on a wet pavement at a forty-mile gait, making a sharp hairpin turn in his pursuit of the despicable Dudley Gil lette. His overtaking the villain precipitates a fight that for bitterness and realism is rivalled only by the famous battle in "The Spoilers." Fortunately, the production schedule allowed both players a week's rest after the affair.

Francis Marion adapted "The Famous Mrs. Fair" to the screen. In the cast are Myrtle Stedman, Huntly Gordon, Marguerite De La Motte, Cullen Landis, Ward Crane, Carmel yers and Helen Ferguson.

AT THE GRAND.

TOO MANY HUSBANDS
(Due to the War)

Victoria was a very pretty and very spoiled young woman, and very popular with the male sex. She had always had her own way, and always done the thing that was "Being Done". Suddenly the war came along, every one was marrying soldiers, "Oh it was quite the thing my dear." So Victoria decided to be in the swim, that is marry a soldier. Oh not an ordinary soldier—mercy no, but something special in the military line, so she cast her eyes about and espied and captured a certain Major Lowndes, D.S.O. Very popular and home on leave. Major Lowndes is called back to duty a few months later reported officially dead. Poor Victoria has a beautiful time, mourning becomes her so well but as time goes on and she casts off the widow's weeds, people are still marrying soldiers, so she yields to the persuasion of her husband's best pal,Major Cardew, also by that time a D.S.O. who swears, for his old friends sake to make her life and that of her little son one long dream of happiness.

The play commences some time after the war with Victoria, a bit fed up on Major Cardew, and eyeing with favour a rather ancient "war profiteer," when to upset her plans, husband number one turns up, back from the dead at is were. The fun then commences, no one can think of anyway to explain the affair to Husband No. 1 and he is left in ignorance for quite some time. This fact and the fact that he sees Husband No. Two's little son, make it all the more impossible for Major Cardew, to tell him. The latter is one of those lovable fellows who is though, an awful ass.

Rex plays the part of the lovable silly ass, Cardew, Billy Seymour the Husband No. One, and Bill Yule the profiteer. Zana Vaughn is ravishing as the pretty petted and dreadfully spoiled young woman, and sighs and smiles, and wears pretty gowns as only Zana Vaughn can. Hazel Williams has a dual role, and all the other parts are taken by new members of the company at the Grand for three days commencing to-night.

SIR MARTIN HARVEY COMING TO THE GRAND.

In arranging for Sir John Martin Harvey and his London company to appear at the Grand Opera House on Saturday only, 15th December, in "A Cigarette Maker's Romance," Manager Bickell has scored a tenstrike his patrons should be very thankful for.

When Sir John originally booked the present tour it was not intended to include any but the very largest cities, but when a few of the more enterprising theatre managers in Ontario got together and sent a committee to New York he, out of appreciation for the loyal support which the Canadian public has always accorded him, promised to visit their cities if he could adjust his bookings in the United States to open up the "time."

Thus it is that the local engagement has been arranged at such short notice, as it was not until last Saturday that Sir John secured his release from the Boston engagement by getting Madame Duse to take his place at the Boston Opera House.

Sir John's New York engagement was such a tremendous success that he could have stayed there all season had he wished to cancel his Canadian bookings, and he is to go direct to Chicago for an extended stay immediately after concluding his Toronto engagement. After playing Chicago he goes to Winnipeg and thence direct to the Coast through Canada, returning to London from Vancouver.

AT THE ROYAL.

"THE VIRGINIAN," FOR 20 YEARS THE SUPREME ROMANCE OF THE WEST, AT ROYAL IN PHOTOPLAY FORM TONIGHT.

Col. William E. Hawley, who staked out the town of Casper, Wyoming, where Owen Wister wrote and laid the scenes of his classic novel, "The Virginian,' and who was a pal of the novelist more than a quarter of a century ago, was consulted almost daily by Director Tom Forman, during the filming of the Preferred Picture version of the novel, now at the Royal Theatre.

Col. Hawley, a white-haired veteran of the early days of the great Southwest, was the little "cow town's" first mayor and it was while he was Casper's ruling law that Owen Wister made his appearance and pitched hs tent on what was then known as "Ten Sleep" river. The young mayor and novelist found much in common and were soon frying each other "flap jacks" for the early morning meal.

The former mayor, now a prosperous oil promoter of Los Angeles, after meeting Kenneth Harlan, who is to play the title role of the cinema version, declared the young actor was the type Wister had in mind when he depicted the hero of his novel.

"I am amazed at the faithful way the picture is unfolding the story," said Hawley. "The scenes are true to life and make me see the days of my young manhood as they were when Wister and I sat and smoked over our campfire. Harlan will make an ideal character for the production."

Harlan has played the part of "The Virginian" in four different companies on the speaking stage. Florence Vidor plays the role of his schoolmistress sweetheart, Molly Wood.

COWBOY LARIAT THROWER ROPES CALIFORNIA FLEA

Old Timer Tells of Experience "Milt," Hard-Riding Puncher, Had in Bunk House.

A score or more genuine rough-riding cowpunchers took part in the early scenes in "Tye Man Next Door," the special production based on the story by Emerson Hough, which will be shown at the Royal Theatre on Thursday. They were the real thing and entertained David Torrence, Frank Sheridan, Jimmy Morrison and Alice Calhoun with some extraordinary stories of their prowess. One of them didn't look quite as picturesque as the others, so Director Victor Schertzinger asked a grizzled old timer whether the other were proficient with the lariat.

"Can he rope?" answered the old timer. "Why, that baby is skilful enough and smooth enough to rope the genuine California flea. And what's more, I seen him do it.

"Why, he and Milt nearly had a fight in the bunkhouse one night. He woke up and felt the blankets slipping, and suppon' that Milt was reachin' for more than his share, he reached over to swat him; but, happenin' to look down toward his feet, he found that two strange fleas had strayed in and were pulling the covers off to get at him. He had a mind to shoot 'em at first, but changed his mind and snatched the rope off his saddle-horn and roped 'em. Got a half turn around each one of their legs and then got Milt to help him brand 'em. Next day the boys made a little cart for 'em, and they started to train 'em.

"They got to be real affectionate little cusses, and that particular they wouldn't eat off everybody—just wanted their friends. Why, one day a stranger pulled in there, and these two fleas his his boots, carried his blankets away and made life a general cussedness for him until he quit.

"But they came to a sad end. One of the boys came home one night full of white mule. He tumbled into his blankets and fell sound asleep. The fleas had been playin' around, quite busy, and he was the first one they picked. They got so drunk, they forgot all about the rules and regulations and started for town. And while they were crossin' the bridge about a mile below the ranch, they both fell off and got drowned.

"Yes, sir. He kin use the rope."

AT THE CAPITOL.

"ASHES OF VENGEANCE" OPENS TO-DAY AT CAPITOL THEATRE.

Commencing today, and Tuesday and Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre is presenting Joseph M. Schenck's production of H. B. Somerville's distorical novel, "Ashes of Vengeance," a First National picture starring Norma Talmadge. "Ashes of Vengeance" is by far the most pretentious production in which Miss Talmadge has ever been presented. The impression this production made in its world premiere on Broadway is best described by excerpts from the criticisms of the New York press.

The New York World said: "'Ashes of Vengeance' is a notable mountain among the myriad molehills of the screen." Daily News made this comment: "In the full sense of the word a masterpiece." Because the love story is held prime factor in this production, instead of being secondary to opulent splendor, the Herald remarks: "'Ashes of Vengeance' actually reverses the usual form for movie spectacles. It possesses a good story and a wealth of legitimate drama." The Sun and Globe declares: "The merits of the picture are too numerous to mention. Like the two-headed calf and the Cardiff giant, it must be seen to be appreciated." The Times says: "The film is an ambitious one—the last word in gigantic and picturesque setting." And the Bronx News sums it all in a sentence: "It is romance—magnified, glorified and entrancing."

A cast of twenty notables, including Conway Tearle, Wallace Beery, Courtenay Foote, Josephine Crowell and others, in addition to four thousand extra players; and massive backgrounds of regal magnificence, and direction by Frank Lloyd, are factors of this noteworthy production.

BELMONT CLUB AGAIN WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeated De Laval in the Final Game of Softball League — Shot Out in Front in the First Four Innings and Held the Advantage.

SCORE WAS 14-10.

For the second year the Belmonts are soft ball champions. By defeating the De Laval nine 14 to 10 Saturday evening in the third game of the finals, they won this year's championship.

The number of fans who were on hand to see the battle exceeded that of any of the other final games this year or last. The crowd swelled all the eastern portion reserved for them and spread along the walls till almost the western wall was reached. Frequently play had to be stopped to push the crow back from third base. New ground rules, because of this, prevailed during the last part of the game. The fans were not as demonstrative as in the previous games because, perhaps, most of them favoured the Separator crew and that team was always in the rear.

The brand of ball played was not of the championship variety, perhaps ownig to the strain on the players due to the importance of the game. The L.O.L. 50 and many other team in the league could have stepped out there and walloped either of the teams with the kind of ball they were playing. Both teams made errors, but the Belmont boots were not quite as costly as those of the losers. Both teams hammered the ball hard. The De Laval got thirteen hits and the Belmonts fourteen, nine off Perks in four innings and five off Kennedy in the four last frames which he pitched.

Now and then the play brightened and the teams showed some sparks of the ball that won them the leadership of their respective leagues. For base running the De Laval players showed up better than the Belmonts, taking many a slide on the pavement. Holyman and Marchen each stole home from third. Marchen was only safe because of a beautiful slide. The longest hit of the game was a wallop by Fowler which carromed off the wall, but fast fielding by Fanning kept him from getting more than two bases. The De Laval pulled the only double play of the game, McIntyre to Frick.

The Belmonts took the lead in the first innings, not getting a hit, but being given three runs on errors. Ward scored the only one for his team when he got on by a hit and the next three men up also hit. The Belmonts continued chasing runs across until at the end of the fourth the score was 10 to 1 in their favour. Kennedy was sent to relieve Perks on the rubber in the fifth and with better support from the team he held the Belmonts to four runs for the remainder of the game. The De Laval got four runs in the fifth, mostly on errors, then worried around without any more until the eighth, when they ran in three more. A last effort in the ninth garnered them two. The line-ups were:

De Laval— Ward, 3b.; Kennedy, l.f., p.; Frick, 1b.; Perks, p., s.s.; Fowler, 2b.; Marchen, c.; McIntyre, s.s.; Bell, s.s., l.f.; Kingdon, r.f.

Score by innings:

De Laval	100 040 032—10
Belmonts	312 401 30x—14

BILL SMITHSON HANGS UP RECORD IN TEN PINS

Bill Smithson hung up a record in 15 consecutive games in ten pins on Friday, when he rolled an average of 222 for the 15 games. He rolled the following scores in his games: 287, 246, 212, 224, 220, 235, 202, 243, 221, 189, 238, 189, 200, 194, 230. In his first game he rolled nine strikes in a row, but spilt the 10th, or he might have got a perfect score. This is some rolling for ten pins. Big league stuff!

PARLIAMENT OF BASEBALL GOES INTO SESSION

Fifteen Leagues in Biggest Week of Conference the Game Has Known — Agenda Is Bulky.

DEALS PENDING.

CHICAGO, December 10 (Canadian Press). — Baseball began its task to-day in setting its house in order for the 1924 season.

The biggest meeting in the history of the game opens with an attendance of more than 1,200 baseball leaders, from the smallest bush leaguer to the highest powers in the major leagues.

No less than fifteen meetings of individual leagues, including the American and Natioal Leagues, a joint session of the two major leagues, presided over by Commissioner Landis ,and a meeting of all the minor leagues of the nation, and their Board of Arbitration, will go to make baseball history in the biggest week of conference the game has ever known.

It will be the first time that officials of all of the leagues of the country have assembled in one session.

Besides a flock of pending player trades and sales, the most important business of the conference appears to be the Pacific Coast League presidency dispute, which is closely interwoven with the draft problem; settlement of rumoured dissatisfaction with Commissioner Landis over the handling of the world's series, disposition of a reported $200,000 fund in the Commissioner's hands, and the Seattle Club transfer; and the draft issue in the International League, Pacific League, and in the American Association and the Western League.

It is expected that a deal involving Rogers Hornsby, star second baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals and 1923 batting champion of the National League, will be consummated, while overtures for the services of Eddie Collins, captain of the White Sox, may be made.

Urban Shocker, pitching ace of the St. Louis Browns, may be traded during the week, as a result of his dispute with the management that led to his suspension on charges of insubordination.

Commissioner Landis' office now has a surplus of upwards of $200,000, and the question of what to do with this amount is likely to bring forth some brisk discussion.

According to the contract entered into between the Commissioner and the major leagues, the President of the American and National Leagues are custodians of this sum.

KINGSTON TEAM DEFEAT SARNIA

R. M. C. Capture the Canadian Intermediate Championship By 27-3.

TORONTO, Dec. 10.—Kingston captured another Canadian football championship here Saturday when Royal Military College, Inter Collegiate champions defeated Sarnia O.R.F.U. winners by 27 to 3 in the final for the Intermediate honors. The cadets showed a smart well drilled, and well conditioned team with a powerful and versatile attack and an air tight defense. They played fine open football with plenty of snap, and dash to their plays.

The cadets also displayed a smooth line of interference plays, and though they were penalized frequently they managed to make use of them to considerable advantage. All their plays were well timed, and perfectly executed.

Lacked Team Play.

The Sarnia team had a number of very fine individual players but their team play was a minus quantity. The O.R.F.U. champions made the mistake of trying to send their attacks through too close to the scrimmage. Invariably they ran into a stone wall defense by the cadets. In the later stages of the game they changed their tactics, and were more successful in their efforts to advance. They had several good chances to score touchdowns, but when hard pressed the Limestone City boys tightened up and held the enemy out.'

Cadets Stars.

The game was very open, and spectacular, and there were plenty of long runs on both sides. R. G. Carr Harris was the outstanding performer in the first half but Hamilton and Smith were very much in the limelight in the second half.

Karn, and Perry were the best open field players on the Sarnia team. Both these men pulled off a number of splendid runs, and also did the bulk of the defense work, and did it well too. Karn was as good as any man on the field. It was on the line that the R.M.C. outclassed their opponents. On the attack they made huge openings for their backfield players, and on the defense they tightened up so well that Sarnia could make no headway at all.

R.M.C. looked good enough for the senior series of the Intercollegiate and would round out that series to a nicety, providing they could field the same team next season.

CROWD GREETED DEFEATED TEAM

Sarnia All Set For Rejoicing, But Welcome Was Warm Just the Same.

SARNIA, Ont., December 10 (Canadian Press). — Sarnia Intermediate football team returned on Saturday night from Toronto after trying in vain to land a Dominion championship for the city.

While returning on their shields, they received a merry ovation, and their efforts were sincerely appreciated by the city folk.

There was alibi and the better team won, according to the reports of the players, the R.M.C. being in fine condition and uncovering a bunch of tricks which dazzled the home boys.

The present year has been entirely successful from the point of view of football and the fact that the Intermediates got within striking distance of a Dominion championship is regarded as paving th way for the road clear through in 1924.

The city was all ready for a big night if the team won, but there is, nevertheless, only the heartiest feelin gfor the efforts of the team.

Sweaters have been laid aside, and energies will now be centred on hockey if the frost king ever steps this way, a matter which is considered doubtful with the clear skies and balmy air of Sunday, which was more like September than a fortnight before Christmas.

EHMKE FOR SHOCKER IS LATEST TRADE GOSSIP

BOSTON, Dec. 10.—A deal between the Boston Red Sox and the St. Louis Browns, involving Pitcher Howard Ehmke and Urban Shocker, is a possibility at the coming American League meeting in Chicago. It is understood that such a transaction has aready received serious consideration by both clubs.

SHOCKER

EHMKE

Shocker, who was suspended by the St. Louis club near the season, because he insisted on taking his wife on the last eastern trip after the club said no, insists that he will never play another game with the Browns. Shocker is of the determined type, just the style that would go through with the threat.

Shocker, when dissatisfied, is of no value. That is his frame of mind at present. He has expressed a desire to play under his former manager, Lee Fohl, at Boston. Fohl, who knows the great value of Shocker as a pitcher, is more than anxious to get him. Under Fohl, Shocker did his best work. It was said that St. Louis would be willing to part with Shocker if it could have Howard Ehmke in return. Ehmke, by his great work with Boston last year, is a popular favorite with the fans. To tempt fate and trade him for another pitcher who might not deviler would be taking a long chance. However, the trade is more than a mere possibility.

TORONTO'S LAST HOPE CRUSHED

Canoe Club Defeated By Loyola College For the Canadian Junior Championship.

MONTREAL, December 10 (Canadian Press). — Loyola College holds the junior rugby championship of Canada. In the final for the title played at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium here on Saturday afternoon, the local Collegians defeated the fast Toronto Canoe Club squad 9 to 2 after one of the closest and most perfectly played gridiron battles seen this season.

Everything that goes to make a hard-fought, yet spectacular, football struggle was crowded into the game between these evenly matched teams.

For the first half they ripped into one another, using all the strength and strategy at their command, and when the whistle blew for the rest period, Toronto Canoe Club stood in the lead one to nothing, their lone point having been scored just before time.

Then came the third quarter. Suinaga had punted to Sowden at the T.C.C. ten-yard line, when this stellar little half of the visiting team attempted to kick on the second down. Loyola front rank players smashed through and blocked the punt, the ball bounding over the Toronto goal line.

Out of the scramble emerged Jimmy Corcoran, Loyola substitute, as the hero of the game, for the youngster of the squad had gathered in the loose ball for the only touchdown of the game, and the points that took much of the fight out of the visitors' attack

OVERTIME DRAW IN SASKATOON GAME

Edmonton Played Home Team to Two All Decision.

SASKATOON, Dec. 10.—(Canadian Press)—Saskatoon and Edmonton battle to a 2-2 tie in the opening game of the local professional hockey season here Saturday night. The game went twenty minutes of overtime play. Each team gets a point for the draw.

Sheppard scored a fluke goal for Edmonton in the first thirty seconds of the first period. Lalonde evened the score two minutes later on a brilliant individual effort and the teams ended the period one all.

Lalonde duplicated his performance of the opening period and gave Saskatoon a one-goal lead in the second. Duke Keats tied the count in the third period when he beat the defence and stick-handled around Rainsworth for the best goal of the night.

GREAT CHANCE FOR REDS.

Pat Moran feels positive that the strength of his pitching staff will be enough to return the Cincinnati Reds as pennant winners in the National League next season. Moran witnessed the slaughter of McGraw's pitchers in the world series and is convinced that unless McGraw can dig up at least two dependable twirlers he is going to have his troubles winning again in 1924.

HUGE OVERHEAD SENDS PRICE OF SPORT SOARING

Baseball, Football, and Ring Spectacles Are All Affected By High Costs of Production.

INCIDENTALS HEAVY.

(By Henry L. Farrell.)

NEW YORK, December 8. — With the fingers of so many players leagues and commissions in the world's series pie, the clubs staging the affairs are getting into the position that they furnish the plate, and get back only the crumbs that are left on it after the feast.

The Giants and the Yankees claim that they had $80,000 left last September after the "gate" had been worked on by Commissioner Landis, the National and the American League executives and the players of the Giants, Yankees, Reds, Indians, Pirates and Tigers.

It may provoke some sarcasm from the public to hear two big league ball clubs complaining about profits for a week of baseball that came to only $80,000, but when it is considered that the receipts ent beyond one million dollars, it will be realized that the method of whacking up the money may not be equitable.

The Giants say the club made more money for the use of the Polo Grounds for the Dempsey-Firpo fight than it earned by having one-half of the world's series on the same ground.

In 1922 the Giants and the Yankees did well if they broke even, as it was a five games series and the entire receipts of the game in which Umpire Hildebrand became afraid of the dark went to charity.

From several big league sources it is understood that a suggestion may be made at the winter meetings that the practice of allowing the second and third place clubs in each league to share in the world's series money, be discontinued or that their shares be decreased.

John Heydler, president of the National League, says that he will oppose any change in this custom as he believes that its adoption was one of the best steps ever taken by the big league magnates.

It is reasonable also to figure that the club owners will play harder to get a cut of the world's series money will be strong for this arrangement as long as it does not cost them anything.

"Wait till they get into a world's series and they'll sing a different song," one of the New York officials said.

Some of the major league club owners and most of the fans who may figure that it costly gravy for the clubs in the world's series, would be amazed to learn that it cost the two New York clubs more than $10,000 each just to entertain the sport writers who came to New York to cover the last series.

* * * *

Failure to consider the "overhead" that all lines of sport production carry causes the public to get an exaggerated idea of the commercial possibilities of big sport events.

Looking over a crowd of 80,000 in the Yale bowl for the big football game of the season the casual observer might find himself thinking: "What a gate!"

With even a vague idea of what the training and equipping for a foot ball squad of forty or more players must cost,the realization of what a big stadium costs to erect and keep in repair and the knowledge that football has to provide the money with which to keep all other athletic activities going, the same observer might just as well ponder: "How do they do it?"

When Tex Rickard counts the receipts from one of the big outdoor fights the tendency is to estimate what the card cost him and what the overhead was. Usually the "overhead" is estimated far below its actual size and the deduction is that Rickard cleaned up.

It should be realized that Rickard counts up after the fight has been staged and that his biggest risk was in getting the boxers in the ring.

As soon as Rickard signs two boxers for a "battle of the century" he involves himself to the extent of at least $100,000 on the bare exploitation of his show.

If anything should happen to either of the principals that would necessitate the substitution of a fighter with a corresponding reduction in the prices or that would make it necessary to call off the fight, he would be just $100,000 "on the nut," as they say in ring parlance.

* * * *

In these modern times a promoter has to figure on giving at least 60 per cent to the fighters and in some cases more. Out of 40 per cent, he must provide an arena for the contest, he must advertise and exploit the card, he must hire a big staff to handle the tickets, he must pay the salaries of several hundred ushers, special police, etc. "Incidentals" alone amount to a huge sum, and after all that has been subtracted Rickard has to whack up the net profits, because he is not in business "on his own."

Professional baseball does not carry the freight that boxing does, but it costs plenty to carry a major league baseball team through a season where the weather gamble is a large one in the early spring and the late fall and where the salary problem is one of ever-increasing concern.

UNITED STATES TEAM WINNERS OF BIKE GRIND

NEW YORK, December 10 (Canadian Press). — Ernest Kockler, of Chicago, and Percy Lawrence, of San Francisco, riding as the United States entry, won the thirty-fifth international six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden on Saturday night, finishing one lap ahead of the field.

Reggie McNamara, of Newark, N.J., and Peter Van Kempen, of Holland, won the most points and finished second.

Eddie Madden and Harry Horan, both of Newark, N.J., finished third. They rode as the Irish entry.

Of the 16 teams that started the grind at 12.01 last Monday morning, ten remained to the close of the one hundred and forty-third hour, nine finishing one lap behind Kockler and Lawrence.

The United States entry rode a heady and vigilant race. They paid little heed to the sprints for points, realising that if they held their lap ahead, the points would not count so far as the winning combination was concerned.

The riding was desperate in the last minutes, but at no time were Kockler and Lawrence threatened, keeping well inside of the pack, and riding out when a jam was started.

Pitching For St. Louis Browns; Didn't Know He Was in Big Show

BY BILLY EVANS.

EVANS.

BOBBY WALLACE stands out as one of the greatest shortstops the game has ever produced. Bobby, no longer active in the playing end of the game, is scouting for the Chicago Cubs. At one time during his career Wallace managed the St. Louis Browns.

One day last summer I bumped into Wallace in Chicago. Our conversation drifted back to the days of his managerial career and some of the players he had on his rather misfit aggregation. I happened to mention the name of Baumgartner, who was a member of the Browns' pitching staff. When I enquired the reason for his mirth he replied:

"I never hear the name of Baumgartner but what I think of an incident that took place at the Comiskey Park in Chicago, a number of years ago.

"One of the scouts of the Browns had dug up Baumgartner in some small West Virginia town, if I am not mistaken, and sent him to the club. He had wonderful natural ability, a great fast ball. None of the good hitters hugged the plate with him doing the pitching. He was just wild enough to make them cautious.

"He started winning for us almost from the start and it looked as if the Browns had picked up a second Walter Johnson. However, Baumgartner did not improve with age. He had natural ability and that let him out. Weakness of the batters meant nothing to him, his sole motive was to make them miss the ball. The fact that Baumgartner didn't know he was in the big league will possibly best explain why he failed to stick. This story will illustrate my point:

"When it was certain that Ed. Walsh was going to pitch for Chicago I decided not to waste any of my veteran pitchers but take a chance with Baumgartner. In those days Walsh was so good that the odds were always in his favor of winning. Baumgartner beat him 2 to 0 in a pitcher's battle.

"As I was giving the battery for the Browns to the umpire, Jack Powell, then a star pitcher on our club, remarked to the rookie:

"Bummy, you ought to be quite chesty, picked to work against Ed. Walsh."

"Who is Ed. Walsh?" asked Baumgartner.

"If that's so, why isn't he in the National League?" answered Baumgartner.

Mallory of Yale, Star of Diamond And Grid. Failed to Make the Grade on Prep. School Teams

MEMPHIS, Dec. 10.—Today Bill Mallory is a name to conjure with in college football. The nation esteems him as one of the outstanding players of the year. To Yale and to Yale men he ranks with the immortals. What Coy was to the victorious Blue of another decaded "Memphis Bill" is to the triumphant Elis today.

Mallory, who is now hailed as the greatest defensive fullback the game has ever developed, as well as one of the finest place kickers in the sport, this same Mallory wasn't good enough to play on his own home-town school team, a matter of some five or six years ago.

Mallory did his "prepping" at the local university school, a school which annually turns out crackerjack kid elevens. Mallory came out for the team, a tall, scrawny, lanky lad with a keeness for the fight and an irrepressible ambition to make the team.

They put him on the scrubs. Day after day this youngster, who was destined later to become the south's most brilliant contribution to the eastern gridirons, was out battling against the varsity, doing his heroic best to win a favorable gesture from the coach.

Couldn't Make Grade.

But somehow or other Mallory just couldn't make the grade, and all the time he was at the local school he had to be content with a place in the scrubs' lineup and a seat on the varsity bench when the big games were being played.

It was the same at baseball. Mallory had the idea that he was a catcher and he tried for that berth on the varsity nine, kept trying all during his stay here. Either the opposition was most formidable or else Mallory was somewhat deficient. Anyway, he didn't get very far as a catcher on the school team.

Naturally when he went away, and eventually landed at Yale, his old buddies at home didn't expect he would exactly burn up the athletic world, certainly not as a football player or a baseball player.

Then It Happened.

But strange things happen in this world.

Not only did Mallory immediately make the Yale football varsity but he promptly became the most important cog in the whole Yale team, and finally was elected captain.

Morever, Mallory became one of the greatest catchers who ever played on the Yale varsity, and last spring he was named captain of the Yale nine. One of John McGraw's scouts is said to have made him an offer to try out with the Giants, an offer which was not considered by the Yale athlete.

There must be a moral of some sort connected with this story about Mallory. He had ambition to start with and backed it up with rentless perseverance. Ambition and perserverance are a good pair to draw to, whether you are playing the game of sport or the game of life.

TORONTO TO AID THE HARVESTERS

Matter Will Be Taken Up With the Federal Government.

TORONTO, Dec. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Temporary assistance will be given destitute harvesters from the Old Countryy by the city until an arrangement is made with the Federal Government. Mayor Maguire took the matter up with Hon. James Murdock on Saturday. Mr. Murdock referred the question to the Cabinet, and on Saturday evening the Mayor received word that Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Immigration, was investigating, and would get in touch with the city officials early next week.

In the meantime the city is providing food and lodging for the destitute harvesters.

MONTREAL, December 10 (Canadian Press). — With the exception of a few minor changes tending to clarify the existing rules, the Quebec Rugby Football Union delegates went on record at their annual meeting here on aSturday as being satisfied with the present code of the Canadian Rugby Union.

BORAH'S INTEREST MOSTLY IN HOUSE

Should the Delegates Pick the Workingman, Dollars to Doughnuts Their Choice Will be A. E. Borah.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Should the delegates to the Republican convention next June decide to pick a workingman for president, then dollars to doughnuts their choice will be—

William Edgar Borah, United States senator, just now of Boise, Idaho, formerly of Kansas and originally from the great state of Illinois!

For when it comes to work, Borah can give a lot of men in public life clubs and spades and beat them barehanded.

Is Horse for Work

What to the average senator or congressman is a heavy day's work, Borah tosses off as a before-breakfast appetizer. When other statesmen are driving to the country club for a game of golf to refresh their fagged-out brains, Borah is ordering up another truckload of statistics and a few more tomes on economics and international law and settling down to some really concentrated study.

If the presidency is a man-killing job, as has been claimed of late, no man is better fitted by training and experience to fight it to a standstill for four or eight years than Borah. Work, study, the gruelling grind of long, close application, is pie for him.

Because of Idaho's meager numerical representation among the delegates, Borah—as a matter of practical politics—carries a heavy handicap. Should Lowden, of Illinois, forego a chance at the nomination, however, Borah might properly be picked up as the "favorite son" of that state.

For it was in Wayne county, Ill., June 29, 1865, that Borah was born. He learned his ABC's at the little red school house there and then went to the Southern Illinois Academy, at Enfield, Ill. Later he studied law at Kansas State University, was admitted to the bar and first hung out his shingle in Lyons, Kas., in 1890....

Born in Illinois

In 1892 he moved to Boise, Idaho. Playing then, as he does still, a lone hand, he sought no partnership, but set up a law office by himself. Within the next five years he had established himself as one of the rising young lawyers of the state and had won Mary McConnell, tye daughter of the governor, for his bride.

Being a poor man, chiefly dependent on his senatorial salary, he sold his Boise home and his "legal residence" in the state is at a Boise hotel, where he stays on his trips back home. His Washington residence is in an unpretentious apartment house on a quiet side street.

Is Poor Man

Borah belongs to no clubs. He joined the Elks and the Knights of Pythias years ago in Idaho, but has not maintained contact with his fraternities in Washington. He does not smoke, chew, drink, dance, play poker or mah jongg. He never swatted a gold ball, swung a tennis racket or paddled a canoe. His sole recreation—outside of work—is horse back riding. His daily morning canter through Rock Creek Park is as fixed an event in his existence as eating or sleeping.

And he just loves work! It's his only interest, outside his wife and horse. If it's a worker—a courageous, two-fisted, conscientious worker the Republicans decide they want—then Borah's their big bet.

"OUIMET'S DOUBLE" NEW GOLF STAR

YOUNG McHUGH OF 'FRISCO COMES TO FRONT WITH BRILLIANT GOLF WIN

BY JOE WILLIAMS.

Second Ouimets in golf are about as rare as second Cobbs in baseball.

California calls your attention to a home-grown, sun-kissed Ouimet in the person of Johnny McHugh, 19-year-old public links star, who recently won the state amateur championship in masterly manner.

McHugh reminds you of the great Boston sportsman in many respects. To begin with he is an exact carbon copy of Ouimet in physical build and facial design. No man ever had a more startling "double."

McHugh has a temperament like Ouimet. He plays his shots with an ease and calm that might easily be mistaken for indifference. A fine shot does not seem to thrill him. A bad shot certainly does not worry him.

That is the Ouimet manner of golfing. It has been said that Francis has the most ideal temperament know to any golfer. Bobby Jones, for instance, became a national champion by schooling himself in Ouimet's ways. The Atlanta boy used to be a fire-eater and a club thrower of skill. Now he is imperturbability's little half-brother.

McHugh is breaking into fame at about the same age that saw Ouimet, graduate to the caddy ranks, spring to prominence. Ouimet was little more than a stripling the year he tied Vardon and Ray in the national open at Brookline and beat them in the playoff the following day by five strokes.

Whether McHugh will come forward with the same brilliancy that marked Ouimet's youthful career is for the crystal gazers to say. Perhaps it is stretching it a bit to link the two together in a vague way even. Bu McHugh won a real championship and beat a distinguished field in the California event.

What's more, the San Francisco youth came into his title with a decisiveness that was remarkable. His victories were not registered by one-stroke margins. The breaks of luck played no part in his triumph. All his victims were beaten, and beaten soundly by a better player, playing better golf.

McHugh qualified four strokes back of Willie Hunter, who led the field. In the first round he beat Everett Seaver, 6 and 4, and G. H. Mullin, 4 and 3. Next came Claude Edwards, who bowed to the Lincoln Park player, 4 to 3. And then Jack Neville, nationally noted, who lost 6 and 5, atfer being ten down at the end of the first 18.

In the finals McHugh drew Freddie Wright, an internationalist and a former Massachusetts state champion. McHugh continued to play inspired golf. At the end of the morning round McHugh led by five holes. At the end of the first nine in the afternoon he was dormie nine. McHugh won the tenth, and the match, to and 8.

Any player who can beat Neville and Wright by such scandulous margins must be rated as a comer, if not a second Ouimet.

Housing of Poultry

(By JAMES ABRAHAM)

There has never been a time when poultry has been more studied and scientifically treated than at the present. This proves the popularity of the poultry and the recognition afforded it.

In most of the houses I notice great provision is being made for adequate lighting, now proved to be of such real necessity in the matter of egg production. It should be the aim to provide as much light as possible on the floor, as it is here the birds require it most when scratching the litter. Windows placed on both sides of the house have the advantage of tending to keep the litter more evenly distributed over the floor, as it is the habit of birds to scratch with their heads toward the light. A simple thing. Yes, but only proved after much careful thought and experiments by Poultry Fanciers who have the good of the whole community of Poultry Keepers at heart.

Best of All Lights

A great deal has been done—we realize—by the use of artificial lights and lighting, but the best of all light is that provided by Nature's great lamp—the Sun—and as experts tell us—"Sunlight is a great purifier." and with the idea of admitting as much as possible, it has been the practice in most instances to place houses facing south-east, but on the other hand, rain, snow and wind should be excluded, and it is often advisable to study the direction from which most of this comes, and place the houses with their backs to that quarter. It is then possible to dispense with the glass usually fitted to the front in the warm weather, by having two portable frames, one made with small mesh wire and using the glass frame in the cold season. Here I would like to point out that if any success is to attend the efforts of the poultry keeper his fowls must be kept in dry surroundings. Fowls may be able to battle with some success against cold but not against wet, and if there is a combination of wet and cold, well, events are likely to terminate fatally to the stock.

Disease is caused by damp litter, and to avoid damp rising the floor of the house should be above the level of external surroundings. Next to dry surroundings, it is of the utmost importance that the housing arrangements should be kept scrupulously clean in the winter as well as in the summer, and here I must make some mention of the dropping boards which are very essential to the cleanliness of the house. It is a foolish mistake to have these dropping boards too narrow; ample room must be given, and they should be removed each day and cleared of the droppings.

Feeding

Recently in the pages I have had a good deal to say on the subject of feeding, and it is not my intention to say much on this subject in my article.

In compounding any rations the poultry breeder who is anxious that his birds should make the right progress, must keep in mind the importance of so balancing his rations that proteids, carbo-hydrates, oils, fats, mineral matter and water all are present in the necessary proportions, as poultry men should know that the proteids are essential, not only to keep the fowl going, but also for productive purposes. Again, it is as easily recognized that carbohydrates, oils and fats supply energy and heat, without which birds cannot thrive, especially in the winter.

From this brief resume of how fowls should be managed, it will be gathered that to succeed time, care and attention are necessary to study the best ways and means.

CANADA'S NATURAL RESOURCES

A wealth of information on Canada's natural resources, developed industries and commercial growth has been assembled in "Canada—Natural Resources and Commerce," a small, compact volume issued by the Natural Resources Intelligence Service Department of the Interior.

This is not a Government Bluebook, but an attractive publication, compiled especially for the business man. It gives a condensed but thorough survey of Canada's varied resources and of the broad features they impart to the commerce of the Dominion by their limitations as well as by their diversity and abundance. It gives, in short, a bird's-eye view of Canada's physical assets, developed and latent.

Separate chapters of this volume are devoted to the industries and trade that have built up around each form of natural resource—farm lands, forests, minerals, water powers, fisheries, and fur-bearing wild life. Special attention is also paid to Canada's advance in manufacturing and to her position in international trade. It is pointed out that the rapid development of the past quarter of a century has had the effect of precipitating the Dominion into international trade on a huge scale—most conspicuously as an immense exporter of farm and forest products in raw or finished state, but also as a very heavy buyer abroad of certain classes of mineral, textile, and agricultural products. Moreover, during a period of less than a generation the whole commercial aspect of the Dominion has been transformed by the sensational advance of Western Canada in cereal production and by the equally amazing rise of the pulp and paper industry in the East and on the Pacific Coast.

"Canada—Natural Resources and Commerce" is well illustrated with photographs. In addition it contains two very illuminating maps — one showing the main economic units into which the country is naturally divided, and the second indicating transportation routes, industrial areas, and the distribution of resources such as arable and ranching lands, forests, water powers, mineral areas and commercial fisheries.

Not only to the Canadian business man but to the visitor and to the student abroad this volume gives a quick grasp of the larger features of Canada's industrial and commercial life. Copies may be obtained free of charge on application to the Superintendent, Natural Resources Intelligence Service, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

BOGUS SURGEONS THICK IN STATES.

A Major Evil Going Along For Years Without the Public Suspecting It.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—At least 25,000 bogus physicians and surgeons are "practicing medicine" in the United States, according to some investigators of medical diploma mills.

The figure is startling. Here's a major evil going along for years without the public suspecting it. Fortunately, it's a scandal that can be cleaned up quickly and thoroughly—if the proper authorities so desire.

No matter how thoroughly it may be suppressed, however, this evil will grow up again like a weed unless the various associations of legitimate physicians and surgeons act more vigilantly as watchdogs. We believe the Hippocratic Oath ethically requires such watchfulness.

It amazes you to find the medical profession honeycombed with untrained quacks. Do you stop to realize that every other line of human activity is similarly honeycombed with incompetents? Yes, and just as harmful to the community at large as the phoney M. D. to his unfortunate victims.

Lawyers, judges, architects, newspapermen, financiers, managers, craftsmen—there are plenty of these who are thoroughly trained yet totally unfitted for their work by reason of warped ethics, natural incompetence, stupidity and dishonesty.

In life, real ability stands out in the sea of incompetence like the proverbial blackberry in a bowl of milk.

Any one with a sense of decency is appalled by the thought of an ignorant, untrained quack "treating" sick people who need expert help. The fact, that thousands of such quacks are at work, is a revelation of the frightful things many men resort to in the mad scramble for money. There seems to be no limit to the degradation, where money is at stake. Civilization is a wretched failure—financially.

PROLONG LIVES DRAFT ANIMALS

Good Care Bestowed on Horses and Mules in the Army Is Credited.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Army experts believe they have discovered the secret of animal longevity.

Old horses and mules in "active service" today have an average age of 14 years, while in the nominal civil activities 11-year-old animals are regarded as beyond the age of usefulness. And the "oldters" of the army herds, whether in the cavalry, artillery or transport service, are still "going strong." In one case a 25-year-old charger is still winning blue ribbons for performances in his class.

The secret, the experts believe, lies in regularity of diet, exercise, rest, grooming and all the other cares with which the army surrounds its animals in time of peace. They estimate that a five year average increase in the useful life period of horses and mules in the service has already been proved, figuring that the 14-year-olds of today will still be fit for active service two years from now.

The total number of animals in active army service is 44,423, and the average age for all of these is 14 years. Of the 26,254 horses, 80 percent are more than 11 years of age and of the 18,169 mules, 64 percent have passed the 11-year mark. These statistics indicate, according to army experts, that the bulk of animal work in the ar my is being done by horses and mules which, in civil life, would be regarded as fit only for the bone-yard or the pension list.

GIRLS, STAY OUT OF THE BIG CITY.

Few Can Escape the Disappointment and Suffering in Wait There, Warns Olive Van Horn.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Wait a minute! Think twice, young lady, or even three times, before you finish packing the suitcase and hatbag and start for New York to make your way in the business world.

Things aren't what they used to be in the Big Town.

Girls who turn their backs on Main Street, leave the home cooking and the fresh-laid eggs to the folks back home and establish themselves in a hall bedroom without cooking privileges in New York have a rude awakening before them when they learn they have yet to achieve that crowning glory of the modern young woman—economic independence.

"Girls in New York who do not get beyond a $1500 or $1800 salary are fairly certain to become an economic burden to their friends or relatives in time," says Olive Van Horn, director of the industrial department of the National Y. W. C. A.

"I am speaking," she goes on, "of the woman in business rather than of those in industry, where social demands on the matter of clothes and living are less exciting.

Costly Demands

"There are two good reasons why New York women on small salaries find it impossible to save. First, the cost of food, and second that of shelter. These two items nearly exhaust her budget if she is in the $1500 group."

The budgets for working women put out by the Federal Reserve Board and various minimum wage commissions cannot be applied to New York, Miss Van Horn believes.

"You cannot rent the smallest room that is anyway adequate for less than $10 a week," she continues. "In Brooklyn she may find one for eight or nine dollars, but usually that necessitates a longer and more exhaustive ride to and from work. This means that with her food, which she cannot bring down to less than $10 or $11 a week, she is paying out early $1100 for living alone.

"With so much spent for food and rent, $270, the usual 18 per cent allowed in budgets for clothes, a sum which obviously cannot meet replacements in a wardrobe at present prices over a period of several years, and $90 or six per cent for upkeep, which must take care of laundry, pressing, shoe shines and general wear and tear, the girl on the $1500 salary has just $60 left for transportation, vacation, amusement, dentist, charities, Christmas gifts, and the other perquisites of civilized life."

Nothing to Save

"What can she possibly put towards a savings account?

"This is a challenge to our proud boast of independence. It is a situation that should honestly be faced by business women today.

"Are we, the majority of us, paying our way, or are we, after all, more of an economic liability than an asset? How did this situation come about and how can it be met, are questions that demand an immediate answer from those who have the welfare of the business woman at heart."

Any girl coming to New York to work, should at least know the situation before she comes, Miss Van Horn concludes.

A HINDU WOMAN IS STRONG AS SANDOW

She Is Miss Jarabai, 30 Years of Age, the Theatrical Sensation in the Orient.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—A Hindu woman, said to be stronger than Sandow, is the theatrical sensation in the orient. She is Miss Tarabai, 30 years old, born in Rajputana.

One of her stunts is to bridge herself in the air, with feet on the back of one chair and neck on another and allow two men to pound with sledgehammers on a 250-pound stone resting on her chest.

This is a favorite trick of hypnotists—demonstration might be a better word than trick.

It suggests that Miss Tarabai may perform in a condition of self-hypnotism—auto-hypnosis.

Strength after all, is more in the will power and imagination than in the muscles, nerves and glands. This is proved frequently around insane asylums when it requires half a dozen men to subdue a frail little woman patient during maniacal frenzy.

In fighting our way to success natural ability and influence are excellent helps. But they are not indispensable. Any one can accomplish almost anything if he has the will and the imagination (self-hypnotism) to make himself believe he has the necessary powers.

Without self-confidence, there can be no victory. That's why men of exceptional ability so often lose out.

Confidence in self is fully as important as will power (determination), possibly more so. Carried to extremes, it becomes ridiculous—conceit. But self-confidence, held in bounds, is a short-cut to success.

Encourage children when they talk of the tremendous things they are going to accomplish later. If they continue believing, they'll probably turn imagination into fact. Ridiculing a child destroys his ambition and powers of accomplishment at the roots.

NEEDS FIRST SACKER.

One of the big problems that Tris Speaker of Cleveland faces the coming season is the development of a capable first baseman. Brower was just so-so at first last year and it is understood that Speaker is figuring on someone else to cover the initial sack for the Indians. It is possible that Bob Knode, former University of Michigan star, who was carried by Cleveland last year, will fill the bill.

Cleanliness—A Modern Idea

SHORTLY before the Civil War, Boston made it a prison offence to take a bath except on the advice of a physician. The Philadelphia Council tried to make it illegal to bathe between November 1 and March 15 and failed by one vote. Virginia placed a luxury tax of $30 on each bathtub in the state.

Ideas regarding cleanliness have changed materially since then. In fact, ideas on almost everything have undergone something of a metamorphosis. To-day, these changes are taking place more rapidly than ever before. There has never been a time when evolution hit such a furious pace—when conditions changed so quickly—when standards of living were raised so consistently.

You may not realize it, but advertising is responsible for much of this improvement. Advertising has taken its place as a leading force in solving the wants of the people.

Stop and think how many of the appliances you use, the foods you eat, the clothes you wear and other articles entering into your daily life, were popularized through newspaper advertising.

Then you will realize what a debt you owe to advertising.

The advertisements mean a lot to you
Don't fail to read them

"MELBOURNE AGE" ON THE ELECTION

Believes Britain Has Shut Out the Dominions and is Behind Times.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 10 —(Canadian Press).—Although sensitive about foreign trade, Great Britain has slammed the door again in the face of the Dominions, the Melbourne Age says in commenting on the British elections. The elections have been fine education in British electorial law, which is still a generation behind modern intelligence, the Age continues.

"The Dominions naturally will look to their markets abroad," the Age declares, "and will be specially careful that regard for foreign trade in Britain does not lead to the preference already granted being used for the advantage of transhipped foreign products."

The Melbourne Argus greatly deplores the fact that such drastic alterations in Britain's fiscal policy were determined on at a moment of grave danger and that the Baldwin Government risked a hasty decision of precipitated action.

BOY'S QUICKNESS SAVED HIS CHUM

FORT WILLIAM, Dec. 10. — (Canadian Press).—Just as a grey timber wolf was about to leap upon his chum, Leroy Bonnett, thirteen years old, pulled the trigger of his .22 rifle and shot the animal through the head. It was his presence of mind that saved Arthur Lucas from coming to grips with an angry wolf, disturbed while taking his morning meal, consisting of a rabbit snared by Bonnett.

"Oh! what do you think the angels say?"
Said the children up in heaven,
"There's a dear little boy coming home to-day.
He's almost ready to fly away
From the world we used to live in.
Let's go and open the gates of pearl,
Open them wide for the new little boy,"
Said the children up in heaven.
"God wanted him here, where His little ones meet,"
Said the children up in heaven.
"He'll play with us in the golden street.
He has grown too fair, he has grown too sweet;
He needs the sunshine, this dear little boy,
That gilds this side of the gates of pearl,"
Said the children up in heaven.

DIPLOMA MILL HALTED BY U.S.

Fraud Order Ends Existence of School With Phantom Professors — Novel Degrees Invented.

HARTFORD, Dec. 10—A diploma mill master mind, hitherto unnamed in the Grand Jury investigation into activities of fake doctors, was identified by two witnesses as a St. Louis quack. He boasted that he had obtained licenses in New York City for nearly fifty quacks to whom he had sold diplomas.

The man is "Dr." Sam. Kaplan. It is predicted the Grand Jury will ask he be extradited to this State. Later, it is believed, a transcript of his testimony will be turned over, together with documentary evidence presented to District Attorney Banton.

Named By Brundidge.

Kaplan wsa named as the man responsible for the filtering of quacks into New York City by Harry T. Brundidge, of St. Louis, who started the Connecticut investigation, and by Professor William B. Sachs, the diploma mill leader who turned State's evidence.

Following his testimony, Professor Sachs hurriedly left for his St. Louis home, to return with documentary evidence naming New York quacks for whom Kaplan secured diplomas and licenses. Kaplan, Sachs testified, was a freshman student in Liberal Arts in 1916 under Sachs, who was then director of the National University of Arts and Science in St. Louis.

Sold Him Diplomas.

Sachs also testified that he had sold Kaplan numerous diplomas and high school certificates, which he said Kaplan told him he was selling for New York consumption.

Kaplan boaster, Sachs swore, of the ease with which he was enabled to slip his many "customers" through New York State's rigid medical license examinations.

Brundidge, also testifying, revealed the purpose of his sudden trip to St. Louis, at which time, he said, he attempted to induce Kaplan to return, under promise of immunity, to name the quacks who are practising in New York City as a result of his activities.

FUNERAL TO-DAY.

The funeral of Loretta Goselin, the young girl whose death occurred suddenly on Saturday morning, took place this morning from the Sacred Heart Church, which was filled with friends and relatives of the deceased, to St. Peter's Cemetery.

At nine o'clock Solemn High Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. J. J. O'Brien, assisted by Rev. J. Power and Rev. P. Butler, as deacon and sub-deacon. Requiem Mass was sung by children of the Sacred Heart School. Rev. P. Butler officiated at the cemetery.

Father O'Brien, speaking at length, delivered a warm eulogy on the virtuous life of the young girl, whose piety and zeal in the cause of religion were an example to all who knew her, and whose devotion to God and home and duty would be a consoling memory to the afflicted parents mourning her loss.

Honorary pall-bearers were girl classmates of the deceased: Helen Grady, Ethel Armstrong, Phyllis Picard, Mary Ryan, Louise Letellier and Felicitas Moher. Six of her brothers, Frank, Fred., Leo, Peter, Angus and Vincent, acted as pall-bearers. Students from the Sacred Heart School, St. Peter's High School and the Normal School, where the young girl received the various phases of her education, were present in large numbers. Boy pupils of St. Peter's High School assembled in a body at her late home, 81 Crescent Street, to march to the Sacred Heart Church and the cemetery. Quantities of floral and spiritual tributes testified to the esteem and affection in which the late Loretta Goselin was held by a large circle of friends and class-mates.

THE EMPLOYER'S RESPONSIBILITY IS POINTED OUT

W. R. Breyfogle Discusses Industrial Relations in Interesting Address to Rotarians.

GIVES EXAMPLES

That the Golden Rule, if generally followed, would wipe out all differences between employer and employee, and cause industrial difficulties to disappear, was the statement of Mr. W. R. Breyfogle, in the course of a most interesting address at to-day's luncheon of the Rotary Club at the Empress. The meeting was in charge of the Business Relations Committee, the chairman of which, Rotarian A. L. Killaly, presided most acceptably.

At the beginning of the luncheon Chairman Killaly outlined the programme laid down for the Business Relations Committee by District Governor Andy Wallace, and read a list of the obligations laid upon Rotarians in regard to their business relations.

In introducing the speaker of the day, he said that the committee and directors had been unanimous in their opinion that Mr. Breyfogle was the proper man to deliver an address upon the relations between employer and employee.

Mr. Breyfogle's talk dealt chiefly with the responsibility of the employer towards the men in his employ, and it was illustrated by some very interesting personal reminiscences based upon the speaker's own experience in DeLaval Company, incidents which drove home the main points of the address in a very effective manner.

Mr. Breyfogle emphasized the importance of the employer going himself to his employees, mentioning the case of an industry in which the head, who had been many years in the business, had developed very close relationships with his men and took a great interest in their personal problems. On his death his son, educated for a business career, introduced a number of improvements, such as cafetarias, recreation grounds, etc. Strange to say, however, in spite of these things, dissatisfaction developed in the plant and finally on investigation it was found that the trouble lay in the fact that that while the men appreciated the improvements that had been made, they resented the fact that the new executive had gone about with a frozen face, had not recognized any of them outside of the plant and had taken no personal interest in them. It was not his money, but himself, they wanted.

The speaker stressed the desirability of taking employees into the firm's confidences as to the business programme, prospects and plans, as likely to develope a greater loyalty in the shop personnel. The latter, he pointed out, was as essential to the business as the office or sales staff, and the men should be made to feel that there was a mastership in craft in the things they produced.

The employer could do much too to see that the men in his employ found their proper channel in life. Sometimes it was the case that some of them were better adapted to something else than the particular occupation they were following, and the employer who took an interest in his staff might often, by wise counsel, lead some of them into a field of service much more in keeping with their ability. Several instances of this kind in which the speaker had been interested were related by Mr. Breyfogle.

The address was thoroughly appreciated by the members of the Club, and Chairman Killaly expressed the thanks of the Rotarians.

It was announced that the Christmas Cheer Committee delegated to look after Yuletide gifts for the boys who attended Rotary Camp and their families, and also any other boys who were considered as needing such cheer would be headed by Rotarian Dr. McNair, with Rotarians Dr. Bruce Marshall, J. Kenneally, W. H. Thompson and Rev. Harold Young as members of the committee.

WEDDING BELLS

LAING—PARSONS.

A pretty wedding took place on 10th November at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Laing, 1236 12th Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, when Helen Laing, daughter of William E. Laing, became the bride of William E. Parsons, both formerly of Peterborough, Ontario. Rev. Robert Stansell was the officiating clergyman.

The ceremony took place under a canopy of pink and white, with a large white bell. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attended by Miss Adelle Whittemore, and little Dorothy Laing, her niece, carried the ring in the heart of an American Beauty rose.

The best man was the bride's brother, Mr. Reuben Laing. The wedding march was played by Master Keith Laing.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served in the dining-room prettily decorated with pink and white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons will be at home after 1st December at 405 King Street.

The visiting brethren all expressed confidence in this new enterprise. It is to be noted they were all from King Edward Seventh Lodge No. 97, Toronto.

At the conclusion of the meeting Cheu's Cafe was stormed and the inner man satisfied by a splendid banquet, at which many encouraging speeches were made.

It is expected that a Briton Lodge will shortly be formed in Lindsay.

FAKE OIL WELLS KEPT PROMOTERS IN ROYAL STYLE.

As Long As Victims Send In Cash Promoters Grind Out Prospectuses to Bring More—Lurid Promises.

A story is told of one promoter who wrote his own ads. When a new batch of literature was needed he secreted himself in a hotel room and started a phonograph.

Equipped with a play-over device, the machine would grind out "Banana songs" without a stop, during which serenade, the promoter would write reams of high-pressure copy under the music's stimulus.

With prodigal hand, it was a case of "come easy, go easy," so far as the promoter and his money were concerned.

At the outset he kept away from actual misstatements of fact, because such gulleless lies are open to prosecution as evidence of intent to defraud.

Promises Grew Lurid

Later on, however, because nothing officially was done to curb him, the promoter grew careless from long immunity and started faking openly.

He no longer, in scores of cases on file, even went to the pretence of drilling a well for the purpose "of covering up" as a means of demonstrating his "honest intentions in producing oil."

Drunk with conquest and bulging bank accounts, he started to lie about the status of his record, his company, what he had done, and what he would "positively" do.

He no longer promised rivers of oil. He said he already had such rivers. But as the fable runs, the rivers turned out to be teacups of oil. And the investors filled the promised rivers with their tears.

FIVE MEN STILL BELOW THE EARTH

ay Not Be Able to Rescue Miners Until Tomorrow.

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 10.—(United Press.)—No real progress has yet been made toward reaching the five men entombed in the Mount Jessup Coal Company's stope at Jessup, ten miles from here, since Saturday.

Officials say it may be to-morrow before the men are reached.

Officials who have been at the mine since Sunday say there is hardly a chance that any of the five workers will be found alive.

They believe they met instantaneous death in the fall of the roof that occurred in the grassy vein covering an area of 1,500 feet J. J. Walsh, secretary of the State Mining Bureau, is due to arrive at Jessup this afternoon to supervise the work of rescue.

The entombed men are Evan Jones, mine foreman, John Neville, Mike Soleshock, Andre Buerbeck and John Kahul. Four of the five are married.

Jones is believed to have died a hero. He had escaped from the mine after the first fall, but went back to help others out; it was then that he and the four others are thought to have been crushed to death.

MUSSOLINI DESIRES TO DEMONSTRATE THAT HE HAS PEOPLE'S SUPPORT

King Signs Decree Paving the Way to the Dissolution of Parliament—The Premier Surprises His Opponents By Voluntary Action Before Term Runs Course.

HIS PARTY UNITED.

ROME, Dec. 11.— To show the world that Italy is ruled by the will of the majority of the Italian people and to secure a Parliament which coincides with the wishes of the electorate, Premier Mussolini, with the consent of the Cabinet, obtained yesterday the signature of the King to a decree closing the present session of the Chamber— an act which inevitably leads to dissolution and new elections.

The decree signed by King Victor Emanuel closes the present session of Parliament, but before final dissolution of the Chamber the issuance of another royal order will be necessary.

Dissolution will probably occur the early part of January, and, in that event, elections will be held in April.

The Premiers bold decisive step ends voluntarily his own dictatorship and re-establishes the government along the usual constitutional lines. There is not the slightest doubt that Mussolini had the present Chamber well under control he had only to ask for full powers for another year, and these would have been granted by an overwheming majority. As little or no opposition was manifested against him, his retention of power could have been prolonged until the present Chamber died a natural death in 1926, when by the constitution another election would occur automatically.

Prove People's Consent

But the Premier chose this time to prove that his rule was not derived from the lavish use of the "Big Stick" or repression, but was based upon acceptance of his programme by the Italian people as a whole. In addition it was the Premier's desire, as elections were recently held in Great Britain and will soon be held in France, not to have it believed abroad that he was unwilling to refer the policy of his government to the vote of the people.

Mussolini has already announced himself as not being in favor of the existing docile chamber; he wished the Parliament to be made up of representatives who would speak out for the interests and desires of the country. His opponents in the chamber are almost negligible, consisting of a few followers of former Premier Nitti, Socialists and Communists, and affairs in his own party are considered most favorable.

Country Prosperous

He has set his house in order, apparently satisfied disgruntled sections and dissidents, and his united the Fascist rank in their devotion to him. The country itself is enjoying more than ordinary prosperity and quiet and the belief is that the country is heading toward a period of general prosperity which is expected to last well into the new year.

In the present temper of the nation even its opponents concede that the Fascist Party will be able to sweep the country. This would entitle its representatives, according to Italian law, to two-thirds of the seats in the Chamber; the remaining third would be divided among the opposition.

The Italian has 535 deputies, of which the predominant party would have 357 seats, the remainder being divided among the minorities.

Mussolini's opponents assert that his move has been actuated by a desire to evade hostile speeches in the Chamber on the extension of full powers; they contend that on that measure many points would be brought up which Mussolini does not desire to have broadcast to other countries, and, to forestall that eventually, he took the course of appealing to the country, choosing propitious moment.

Woman's Franchise Bill

The fate of the votes for women programme becomes uncertain, but the issue is not expected to die. This is the second time the equal suffrage bill has met with misfortune—the first time under Premier Nitti, when the Chamber after passing the bill, adjourned before the Senate adopted it. The new law already drawn up will likely be presented in the next Chamber.

Mussolini must await the extension of full powers by royal grant. This is expected to be forthcoming to be used in the interim until the convening of the next parliament.

The Premier's latest move caught many deputies unawares. Not a few of them were already in Rome for the Chamber session yesterday, while others were on the way to Rome to attend the session.

Dandelions May Supplant Holly

MONTREAL, Dec. 11.— The dandelion and fragrant lilac may supplant holly and evergreen as Christmas decorations in Montreal if Indian summer continues. Hundreds of pansies are being picked in the gardens around Montreal, and bunches of dandelions were gathered at St. Hilaire yesterday.

Pansies one inch and a half in diameter are blooming in the garden of Mrs. J. R. McKay, Chateuguay Heights. The plants were put into the ground last May and have blossomed ever since.

LIBERALS WON'T CONTEST A SEAT

Avoid Three - Cornered Contest in Manitoba By-Election — Government Majority Small.

WINNIPEG, December 11 (Canadian Press). — The Liberals of the Provincial constituency of Mountain yesterday afternoon decided not to contest the by-election to be held on 24th December.

George M. Fraser, of Pilot Mound, has been nominated by the Conservative Party to contest the seat against the Hon. C. C. Canon, Minister of Education, whose acceptance of his portfolio necessitated the by-election.

The Liberals and Conservatives of Carrion constituency, where Hon. Albert Prefontaine, newly appointed Provincial Secretary, will seek reendorsement on 24th December, have not decided whether they will put forward opposition to the Minister.

Locally it is expected he will be returned by acclamation.

Interest in the by-elections is centred on the possibility of the Farmers' Government receiving a defeat, which would technically place them in the position of governing with a minority. The Government's majority in the Manitoba House at present is one, including the Speaker, over the combined opposition of the Labourites, Liberals, Conservatives, and Independents.

While special despatches have been sent out from here speculating on the probability of the Bracken Government resigning and appealing to the country in the event of their becoming a minority Government, there has been no official intimation made that such would happen. In Opposition circles it is, of course, hinted that the fate of the Farmers' Government depends on these by-elections, but it is also pointed out that Premier Norris' administration successfully weathered the political storms in this Province for almost two years with a combined majority against the Liberal Party of thirteen.

In this connection it might be stated that there are eight Independents in the present House, and the favourable vote of one-half of these would enable the Government to carry on.

Defer Judgment In Roberts Libel Case.

MONTREAL, Dec. 11. — After lengthy argument by counsel for the defence and the prosecution in the case of John H. Roberts, publisher of a local weekly, who is charged with criminal libel by the stock broking firm Logan & Bryan, judgment was reserved on a motion of the prosecution to reject the accused's plea of "not guilty on the ground of justification." The case was then adjourned sine die and Chief Justice Martin remarked that he did not think it possible it would come up again before next February.

Roberts had previously stated that he had been assured verbally by Charles Lanctot, K.C., Assistant Attorney General of the Province, that a "nolle prosecui" would be entered by the Crown in the case of Logan and Bryan against himself.

PARTIES POINT TO EACH OTHER TO ADMINISTER

Curious Political Spectacle As Solution Is Sought to Apparent British Stalemate — Baldwin Visits King.

CRISIS UNCHANGED.

LONDON, December 11. Canadian Press. — The political crisis made no progress toward solution yesterday, and out of the many rumours only two definite facts have emerged —that Premier Baldwin, who had an audience with the King yesterday, had not presented his resignation, and that the King has not summoned the Labor leader, J. Ramsay MacDonald, either for consultation or to invite him to form an administration.

The situation which has arisen in British politics is so novel and embarrassing and requires suchcareful consideration all around, that it may be some time before a solution is reached. Meanwhile all the parties and statesmen concerned are holding daily meetings and conferences for the exchange of views.

Complex Situation.

With a highly delicate and difficult situation abroad and an equally difficult situation at home, including the questions of how to balance the coming budget and deal with the unemployment problem, and also the discontent of the farmers, as the government's project subsidizing arable lands falls to the ground with the defeat of Mr. Baldwin's protectionist proposals—no government formed by any of the three parties could hope to reap any credit under existing conditions.

Hence the somewhat curious spectacle is presented of each party pointing to the other as the proper party to form a government, and prominent members of the government who might be considered eligible to fill Mr. Baldwin's place as Prime Minister, tumbling over each other in their anxiety to persuade the Prime Minister that there is no reason why he should not carry on and meet parliament.

Haste not Urgent.

The date for the reassembling of Parliament is January 8th, therefore it seems needless to hasten the solution, more especially as it is believed there will be no urgent development in the reparations problems between France and Germany until after the French general elections to be held in January, which may return a new French Chamber of a different political complexion than the existing Chamber, and with it some modification of French policy in the Ruhr.

Most of the political leaders—Mr. Lloyd George, Ramsay MacDonald, and H. H. Asquith—as well as the actual members of the government, are exceedingly reticent, evidently waiting on Mr. Baldwin's next move.

EATS HORSE STEAK FOR ADDED SPEED IN RACES

By JOHN O'BRIEN

PARIS, Dec 11.—(United Press). —Eat horseflesh and you'll feel like a two-year-old—and run like one, too, according to Henri Cloche, one of the sprinters of the Olympique Club of Montmartre.

"I want to run faster than I ever did in my life this afternoon," said Henri to one of his pals as they were about to lunch previous to going out to the Colombes track, where Henri's club was matched against the cracks of the Racing Club in a relay race, "therefore, get me a thoroughbred steak—good and thick."

Henri got the steak and didn't leave a square mellimeter on his plate. "Now," he declared, "I can run like Charlie Paddock—or Zev. He did. His team won.

Peterborough Loses An Old Veteran

Oak Tree That Existed Here Before Civilization Cut Down.

One of Peterborough's oldest landmarks, an oak tree over 160 years old, is in process of removal from Mr. A. B. Cunningham's lot at 774 Water street, to make room for a new bungalow.

This remarkable old oak is 40 inches in diameter at the stump and measures 10 feet in circumference. The rings marking each year's growth are very distinct, 153 of these were counted, which with a decayed portion of the heart about 3 inches in diameter, indicate that the tree is over 160 years old.

It was probably a good sized tree when the first settlers arrived in Peterborough. The tree shows signs of old age in its upper branches, which are beginning to decay, but the trunk and main limbs are sound. Some of these limbs measure 15 inches in diameter. Residents of the vicinity naturally regret the passing of the old landmark.

NEW SYSTEM OF FINANCES FOR ONTARIO

Ferguson Administration Said to Have Radical Plans for Financing Public Service Projects

NOT THIS SESSION

TORONTO, Ont., December 11.—Canadian Press. — Just how long the province can continue to borrow on behalf of public service projects, no matter how tangible may be their returns, is a question which is exercising the minds of the Ferguson administration, report says.

The Ministers are now within an appreciable distance of introducing their first budget to the Ontario legislature, and thus they are being forced to face squarely the problem as to whether or not the province can continue for another four years to borrow annually $40,000,000 for capital expenditure.

The decision which the government has practically reached in the matter, it has been learned, is that the province has come to the parting of the ways, that from this time forward public service projects must finance their own expansion or else be paid for by specific taxes on their account, which will not leave them a charge upon the credit or the future of Ontario.

Kill Hydro Slogan.

Such a decision carries with it an intimation that the famous Hydro slogan of "Power at cost!" must go by the Board in favor of a policy of rates that will provide for the system's future need of extensions.

Good roads, too, will cease to be a charge upon the province's debentures, and credit, will be financed instead by taxes levied on their account upon those who benefit most from their use.

These changes are now likely to be brought about at the next session. It is almost certain now that the present government will bring in none of these radical changes during the coming session of the House.

Their details, however, are already being worked out, and they are policies which will be given effect within the next year.

Boats Will Be Used to Store Grain In.

FORT WILLIAM, Dec. 11—The approaching close of navigation is causing some speculation as to the number of boats which will remain at the head of the lakes for winter storage. In addition to three United States vessels which are already here and will take on nearly a million bushels as soon as navigation is over there are charters posted for loading between 350,000 and 460,000 bushels on Canada steamships boats for storage here and it is reported that this will be increased until this line will have about a million and a quarter aboard ships for the winter which will lie here.

BALDWIN WILL STICK TO JOB

Cabinet Meeting Held This Morning to Discuss Issue.

(By Lloyd Allen, U.P. Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Liberals and Laborites joined to-day in bitterly excoriating Stanley Baldwin for his failure to resign immediately. The Prime Minister called a meeting of his Cabinet for this morning at which, it was understood, it will be determined definitely just what course Baldwin will pursue. The Ministers met with the Premier at 10 Downing Street shortly before noon, at which time it was generally believed they would approve his proposal to remain in office until Parliament meets. A suggestion that the Prime Minister might decide to hold on and face Parliament without a majority met with strenuous opposition from the Liberal and Labor press.

The clarification of the stalemated political situation is expected by next week-end. Besides to-day's Cabinet meeting, sessions of the Labor hierarchy Wednesday and Thursday was expected to help clear the air. Opponents of Baldwin were emphatic to-day in pointing out that the electors rejected his Protection scheme to ameliorate unemployment, wherefore he should step out and allow others to help Britain's 1,500,000 jobless. Some believed the reason Baldwin was reluctant to resign was that a Labor Government might be able to carry on, with a constructive problem espousing foreign and domestic measures on which the Labor and Liberal platforms harmonize. The Daily Herald declares the following legislation could be passed by a Labor Government without the slightest possibility of the proposals that would lead to a defeat in the Commons:

1—Full and complete recognition of Russia to which, says the Herald, only a small section of the Conservative "die hards" could object.

2—Calling of an international conference to deal with reparations, war debts and the Versailles Treaty, to which could be invited, besides the Allies, Germany, Russia and America.

Thus the first real step toward rehabilitation of Europe would be taken, says the Herald. The Labor newspaper declares the possibility of democratic legislation is even brighter, confident that unemployment which Baldwin sought to aid through Protection can be relieved.

3—Building houses, thus killing two birds with one stone, for the housing shortage still is acute.

4—Construction of the necessary national works, giving employment to other scores of thousands.

5—Obtaining funds for the above by drastic economies in the army, navy and air force expenditures.

QUIET MONDAY IN LUXOR TOMB

LUXOR, Egypt, Dec. 11.—Howard Carter and his fellow workers made a quiet day of it yesterday, not beginning work in Tutankhamen's tomb until eleven o'clock and quitting shortly before one. Their work consisted in removal of objects found lying between the first and second walls in the mortuary chamber, disclosed by the removal of the linen pall which covered the second shrine.

The articles taken out Monday morning are understood to have included what at first appeared to be a beautiful alabaster vase elaborately carved with the figures of goddesses, probably Nephthy and Isis. The vase would appear to be similar to one found standing on the ground be side the canopy when the sepulchral chamber was first opened.

A square alabaster jar or box, surmounted by a crouching representation of Anubis, the jackal-headed god of death, also was found. Both vases were transferred to the ante-chamber, which is becoming uncomfortably crowded with treasure trove.

A large number of wooden traps for conveying the treasures from the tomb to the laboratory in the tomb of Seti II, have been assembled at the entrance. Timber guards, especially mad, in the expedition's carpenter shop according to exact measurements for shielding the sides of the canopy during the dismantling operations, were taken into the tomb this morning.

TOBASCO FRONT IN REVOLUTION IS WARMING UP

Rebel Column Carrying Out Orders to Occupy Capital of That State—Revolutionists on March

AND HAVE "75'S."

VERA CRUZ, Dec. 11. — The column of revolutionists proceeding by way of the Inter-Oceanic Railway for Mexico City is taking with it four batteries of 75 milimeter guns and four batteries of machine guns, in addition to sufficient ammunition for both categories. The column was able to increase its gun- power from pieces obtained from the San Juan De Ulua Castle and from the warships in the harbor here.

Another column of troops, which is to be under the personal command of General Guadalupe Sanchez, is being formed and will go toward the capital by way of the Mexican Rail way to aid the columns already advancing.

Tobasco Sector

Advices received from the port of Frontera are to the effect that Colonel Vivanco is carrying out the orders sent him by revolutionary headquarters here to March upon Villa Hermosa, capital of the state of Tobasco, against Governor Garrido, a follower of President Obregon.

No advices have been received here as to the happenings in Yucatan. Governor Carrillo Puerto is a pronounced follower of General Calles and dominates Yucatan. The revolutionists, however, are not giving him much consideration for the present, awaiting the developments of events in other parts of the republic.

Wireless communication between headquarters in Vera Cruz and the headquarters of General Enrique Estrada ,commander of the western forces, is being freely carried out.

Among the new prisoners who arrived here to-day from Jalapam which was captured by the revolutionists Saturday, is Angel Casarin, who was acting Governor of the state during the absence in Mexico City of Governor Tajeda.

A Rebel Capture.

NOGALES, Ariz., Dec. 11.—Tepic, capital of the State of Nayarit, Mexico, has fallen into the hands of the rebels, according to un confirmed advices received here today from Tepic.

General Manuel Daigez, commanding officer under Carranza during the latter's regime, is reported to have led the uprising of 200 men at the federal garrison who stormed the post in an attempt to captur, it Sunday, the advices stated. Information received here is meagre and no official confirmation of the clash is obtainable.

NO DECREASE IN FAMILY BUDGET

Slight Average Advance in Sixty Canadian Cities During November.

OTTAWA, December 11. Canadian Press. — Retail prices throughout Canada for November showed a very slight average advance over the previous month, as also an increase over the average for a year ago. General indications are that the post-war deflation has now exhausted itself.

The cost of the family basket of 29 staple foods for an average family of five in some 60 Canadian cities was $10.69 at the beginning of November, as compared with $10.65 for October in November, of 1922, these foods cost $10.25; two years ago the cost was $11.08, when prices were at the peak; in June of 1920, the budget cost $16.92, whereas in November of 1914 the cost as $7.96.

Eggs showed a substantial rise in price last month, while there were smaller increases in the price of cheese, butter, silk, sugar, prunes and lard. Potatoes showed the most pronounced decline while there were smaller decreases in meat and evaporated apples.

Including the cost of fuel and rent with that of foods, the total budget averaged $21.19, in November, as compared with $21.16 - in October. Fuel and rent showed little change.

NO ASSISTANCE TO HARVESTERS IDLING IN CITY

The Federal Government Issues Statement That These Immigrants Are Required on Farms.

MANY ARTISANS.

OTTAWA, December 11 (Canadian Press). — Old Country immigrants who came to Canada to work in the West as harvesters and are now out of employment will not be assisted by the Federal Government unless they are prepared to continue as farm workers.

This was the concensus of opinion expressed last night by officials of the Department of Immigration when their attention was called to a despatch from Toronto stating that destitute harvesters in that city would receive municipal assistance until an arrangement is made with the Federal Government."

Officials of the Department of Immigration claim that there should be very few destitute harvesters if the men from the Old Country who worked in the West, saved their money.

"Those men," said a prominent official, "received from $4.00 to $6.00 a day. If they saved a fair portion of that money, any one of them, who had employment, should be able to purchase his passage home."

That it is quite possible to provide work for Old Country harvesters so long as they are prepared to go upon farms is the opinion of immigration heads. Supporting this contention, the claim is made that from 12 to 15 men who came to Canada as harvesters, were placed upon farms last Saturday.

"The trouble is" declared a member of the Federal Immigration staff, "that many of the men who came to Canadian harvest fields are artisans, and they are looking for work in the cities instead of farm jobs."

IMMIGRATION POLICY HAS BEEN DECIDED ON

MONTREAL, Dec. 11. — (Canadian Press).—According to a statement issued this morning from the Canadian National Railway headquarters, an important and definite policy of immigration and colonization has been decided upon by the department of colonization and immigration of the Canadian National Railways as a result of a series of conferences held last week at the general headquarters here. This meeting, which was presided over by W. D. Robb, vice-president in charge of this department, was attended by officers of the department from all parts of the system.

MONTREAL PEER SUCCUMBED TO HEART DISEASE

Stricken on Sunday, Lord Shaughnessy Rallied Briefly But Passed Away After Only a Short Illness

SKETCH OF LIFE.

MONTREAL, December 11. By Canadian Press. —Lord Thomas Shaughnessy, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway, died at his home here at 7:40 last evening.

His Lordship was taken ill at the opening of the Knights of Columbus Hall here on Sunday, and his physicians at once recognized his condition as serious. He rallied for a time but little hope was entertained of his recovery, and he succumbed to heart disease and complications last night.

Lord Shaughnessy was in his 70th year.

Lord Shaughnessy was born in Milwaukee, Wis., October 6,1853, the son of Thomas and Mary Shaughnessy. At the age of sixteen he was employed in the purchasing department of the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, and from 1879 to 1882 he was general storekeeper of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway. In 1882 he joined the Canadian Pacific Railway as general purchasing agent, becoming assistant to the general manager in 1884. In the following year he was made general manager. He was then in his 32nd year. He remained in that position until 1889, when he was promoted to assistant to the President. In 1891 he became Vice-President, and a Director of the C. P. R., and on June 12, 1899, he moved up to the Presidency, retiring in October, 1918.

In 1916 he was raised to the peerage as Baron Shaughnessy of Montreal, Canada, and of Ashford, Co. Limerick, Ireland. He married Elizabeth Bridget Nagle, daughter of N. Nagle, Milwaukee.

FALL WHEAT WELL ADVANCED BY RAIN

Wells Replenished and Land Well Soaked By Heavy Precipitation.

TORONTO, Dec. 11. — Fall wheat throughout Ontario is in first class condition, according to the weekly summary of farm conditions made to-day by the Ontario department of agriculture. Late planted fields have been brought along to such an extent by the recent rains and the comparatively mild weather that they now have a good top for entering the winter. Anxiety that prevailed in a number of rural districts over a shortage of water has been relieved in a measure by the rains of the past week. Creeks and wells were replenished to a certain extent but the land, which was very dry, absorbed most of the rainfall. Although, it is the general opinion that more fall plowing has already been done this session than for many years past, farmers are taking advantage of the weather and the improved conditions of the ground through last week's precipitation.

REPORTS CURRENT OF BIG DISTILLERY DEAL

TORONTO, Dec. 11.— (Canadian Press.)—Reports were current here yesterday that one of Ontario's largest distilling businesses had been sold to interests in Montreal, which were planning a general amalgamation of all the distilleries in Eastern Canada. It was said that the deal involved millions of dollars and that the purchasers desired to avoid publicity at the present time. Several Toronto business men interested in Ontario distilleries were interviewed last night but they stated they did not know of any deal being made or negotiated.

LORD SHAUGHNESSY A GREAT CANADIAN

SASKATOON, Dec. 11.— Delegates to the Saskatchewan Provincial Conservative Convention were shocked when informed of the death of Lord Shaughnessy, past president of Canadian Pacific Railway, in Montreal, Monday. "I am terribly shocked to hear this news," said Hon. Robert Rogers, former Minister of Public Works. "I feel that I have lost a great personal friend and that Canada has lost one of her greatest citizens. He had a great mind and a great grasp of detail."

Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, former Dominion Minister of Agriculture, was loud in his praises of Lord Shaughnessy.

"Although he was an American by birth, Lord Shaughnessy became one of Canada's greatest Canadians. His name will god down in history as an empire builder. Although I did not have many personal contacts with him, I felt his influence, as did every Canadian who was alive to public affairs."
